Getting Here

Prince George is home to a modern, international airport served by Air Canada, Westjet, Pacific Coastal Airlines and Central Mountain Air. Daily direct flights to and from, Vancouver, Victoria, Campbell River, Calgary, Edmonton, Kamloops, Kelowna as well as BC's smaller northeast and northwest communities make it quick and convenient travel to our city no matter where you are.

If you are driving to Prince George, we are situated at the junction of Highways 16 and 97 – both well maintained Class A provincial highways that offer a more leisurely yet scenic route if you have the time.

Where to Stay

When it comes to accommodations, you can choose from over twenty motels and hotels located throughout the city. Locally owned properties and the larger chains will suit any budget, style or size of your group. Don't forget about our local campgrounds and B + B's and if you are in Prince George between May and August you can stay right on campus at the furnished Residences at UNBC.

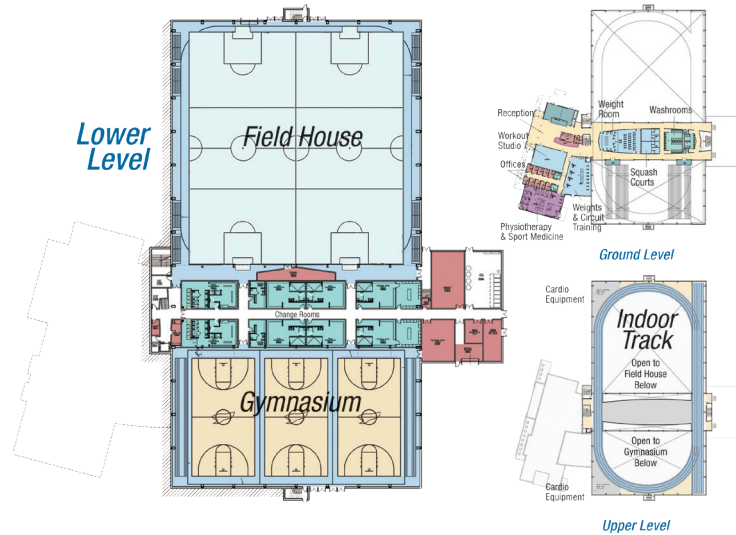

Medical Services

The University Hospital of Northern BC is the largest acute care facility and specialized health services provider in the region. We are home to a 24-hour ER, CT Scan and MRI services. A broad complement of experienced physicians, nurses, x-ray technicians and other health care support staff provide quality health care.
