

Student Success Coordinator University Casual Pool South-Central Campus, Quesnel

Purpose

Reporting to the Campus Development Liaison and Operations Manager, the Casual Student Success Coordinator (SSC) is an ambassador for the University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC). The SSC works closely with all UNBC service units in a team-based environment with faculty and staff and will support programs and students.

Responsibilities

Duties include but are not limited to:

- Supporting student success through academic program support, student service provision, and co-curricular engagement in all stages of the student life cycle;
- Developing and maintaining relationships with students and liaising with appropriate student services, academic service departments within UNBC, and at associated colleges in the region;
- Working collaboratively with faculty as campus partners grounded in student success;
- Addressing concerns from students, faculty, partnering organizations and the community, providing potential solutions and engaging additional support as necessary;
- Supporting student recruitment activities and student retention initiatives (including strategic enrolment management);
- Supporting the needs of Indigenous learners in partnership with The Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Office and the First Nations Centre;
- Supporting the needs of students with disabilities in partnership with the Academic Success Centre and the Access Resource Centre;
- Supporting the administrative requirements of regional programs delivered on campus or in-community;
- In partnership with regional leadership and academic units, providing input into the objectives of the regional campus and ensuring they are aligned with the UNBC strategic priorities, such as institution wide initiatives;
- Promoting UNBC at community events by designing engagement plans in partnership with service areas (recruitment, academic programs, marketing, and communications);
- Supporting student leadership opportunities that align with UNBC priorities such as research and community-responsive engagement; and
- Actively suggesting solutions and alternate processes that will innovatively resolve routine problems.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will possess the following:

- A two-year certificate or diploma in education, student services, or a related field; and
- Minimum of three years related experience in a post-secondary environment, ideally within a student services setting, and with a background in student success.

An equivalent combination of education and experience will be considered.

The ideal candidate will also have:

- Experience serving equity-seeking student populations (such as, Indigenous learners, mature students, students with parental responsibilities, and students with disabilities);
- Experience with multi-stakeholder event planning and delivery.
- Exceptional interpersonal skills with demonstrated proficiencies in written and verbal communication skills, being able to establish rapport with both internal and external stakeholders, and an aptitude for effectively liaising with and connecting students to other service providers;
- An aptitude for problem solving, with attention to detail and accuracy;
- An ability to work independently, demonstrate initiative, and have a proven ability to work in a team environment using a collaborative approach;
- Proficiency in MS Word/Excel/Outlook;
- Working knowledge of relational database interfaces (e.g. Banner) and MS Publisher are assets;
- A high degree of organization, with the ability to prioritize competing deadlines and interests; and
- Judgment, tact, discretion, and confidentiality in all matters with a working knowledge of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA).

Our Commitment to Diversity and Employment Equity

The University of Northern British Columbia is fully committed to creating and maintaining an equitable, diverse, and inclusive environment that is accessible to all. We are devoted to ensuring a welcoming, safe, and inclusive campus free from harassment, bullying, and discrimination. This commitment is woven into our motto and mission. In the Dakelh language, UNBC's motto 'En Cha Huná translates to "they also live" and means respect for all living things. Through the respect for all living things, we are able to grow and learn better together, each bringing our own unique individual differences and contributions to inspire leaders for tomorrow by influencing the world today.

Employment equity requires that we remove barriers and overcome both direct and indirect discrimination. In this way, the pool of excellent candidates increases substantially. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person.

About the Community

Since its founding in 1990, the University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC) has emerged as one of Canada's best small research-intensive universities, with a passion for teaching, discovery, people, and the North. UNBC's excellence is derived from community-inspired research, hands-on learning, and alumni who are leading change around the world.

Since time immemorial, Indigenous peoples have walked gently on the diverse traditional territories where the University of Northern British Columbia community is grateful to live, work, learn, and play. We are committed to building and nurturing relationships with Indigenous peoples, we acknowledge their traditional lands, and we thank them for their hospitality. UNBC's largest campus in Prince George is located on the traditional unceded territory of the Lheidli T'enneh, in the spectacular landscape near the geographic centre of beautiful British Columbia.

UNBC consistently ranks in the top three in its category in the annual Maclean's university rankings. UNBC also recently placed among the top five per cent of higher education institutions worldwide by the Times Higher Education World University Rankings.

With a diverse student population, the University is friendly, inclusive, and supportive. Prince George is a city of ~80,000 people with impressive cultural, educational, and recreational amenities.
