

Posting #24-190CU(E)

Regional Clinical Education Coordinator - Northeast Northern Medical Program Division of Medical Sciences Regular, Part-time (24.5 hours per week)

Purpose

Operationally reporting to the Rural Clinical Years Supervisor, this position coordinates, schedules, and supports University of British Columbia (UBC) Faculty of Medicine (FOM) learners, both Undergraduate (UG) and Post-graduate (PG), particularly within the communities of Mackenzie, Chetwynd, and Tumbler Ridge. As part of the Rural Clinical Years team, this role will work collaboratively with faculty, provincial colleagues, and both the Prince George and Rural teams.

Responsibilities

Based in Chetwynd, Tumbler Ridge, or Mackenzie, this position requires travel to each of the communities on a regular basis. Providing a physical presence to faculty and learners is a critical part of this role.

Responsibilities include but are not limited to:

- Working with Course Directors, Site Leads, Discipline Specific Site Leads, physicians and UBC Faculty of Medicine staff, including those from the UBC FOM sites in Vancouver (VFMP), Victoria (IMP), Kelowna (SMP), and throughout the province and Northern Health Authority (NHA) region, in order to maintain and establish effective work processes and systems along with the support of curriculum delivery for medical learners as per the standards of accreditation;
- Supporting and coordinating components of the UG and PG medical programs through:
 - Overseeing the creation, upkeep, and distribution of individual electronic schedules, including in-patient and ambulatory clinic experiences and on-call scheduling;
 - Maintaining a database of clinical opportunities across the NHA;
 - Tracking and processing learner absences and leaves;
 - Scheduling orientations, academic days, and simulation sessions;
 - Coordinating the logistics for all didactic teaching sessions including set up/take down, room bookings, space allocation, and video conference;
 - Providing guidance, training, and assistance to clinical faculty program practices, policies and procedures including assisting with any required electronic record keeping, committee support, communications or scheduling aids;
 - Creating, maintaining, and distributing virtual and in-person orientation material for onboarding new learners which covers essential information such as academic policies, code of conduct, safety regulations, location specific resources, and administrative procedures, including site-specific administrative requirements such as IT access, photographs, and identification badges;
 - Collaborating provincially with UBC FOM colleagues;
 - Collaborating with the NHA;
 - Managing site and learner specific expenses and reconciliations as needed;
 - Coordinating the logistics for all local exams;

- Implementing learner accommodations according to Centre for Accessibility letter; and
 - Tracking, monitoring, and reporting on learner evaluations.
- Providing general administrative support such as preparing correspondence, developing and maintaining filing systems, providing cross-coverage for other positions within the team, scheduling and supporting meetings, following up on action items, or coordination of travel;
- Participating in the scheduling of UBC FOM shared clinical learning spaces for educational and administrative purposes and ensuring the availability of resources and equipment as required;
- Processing Clinical Faculty payments according to the UBC Clinical Faculty agreement as well as UBC and UNBC's financial procedures through the automated Teacher Tracking and Payment System;
- Creating, compiling, reviewing, and updating information as required for the Regional Medical Education Coordinator policy and procedures reference manual; and
- Responding and directing inquiries from learners, Clinical Faculty, external representatives, and the public.

Qualifications

Education: The successful candidate must possess a two-year certificate in a related field and a valid BC Driver's License.

Experience: A minimum of three years of related experience, preferably in an academic and/or medical environment. Such experience specifically includes building relationships with professionals, as well as managing schedules, and coordinating resources.

An equivalent combination of education and experience will be considered.

Knowledge and understanding of how academic administrative structures, policies and procedures, and the distribution of medical education work, along with experience using Zoom and working with audiovisual equipment, are considered significant assets. In addition, a solid background in administrative procedures and practices is necessary, as is a high level of both proficiency and demonstrated working knowledge of relational databases, web-based platforms, Microsoft Word, Excel, Outlook, Teams, Firefox, Google apps, and email/calendar software.

Skills: Excellent time management and organizational skills are necessary, in addition to the ability to identify and solve problems effectively. Strong planning and prioritization of tasks strategically, and self-directed with a high degree of accuracy. Strong written and oral communications skills are critical, along with the ability to work collaboratively and demonstrate strong interpersonal skills. The ability to interact and provide assistance to a range of internal and external constituents in a variety of settings, often with limited time and flexibility.

Abilities: The successful candidate must be capable of carrying out tasks and responsibilities with or without supervision, indicating self-reliance and autonomy in completing assigned work. Proactively identifying opportunities for improvement and independently demonstrating initiative are also equally important in positively contributing ideas or solutions towards the organization's goals.

Competencies: In addition, this position requires a high level of professionalism adhering to ethical standards, maintaining confidentiality, and presenting oneself in a high manner of conduct and adaptability when dealing with diverse stakeholders in the dynamic work environment. The successful candidate will have a keen focus on details, ensuring accuracy and precision in their work.

Our Commitment to Diversity and Employment Equity

The University of Northern British Columbia is fully committed to creating and maintaining an equitable, diverse, and inclusive environment that is accessible to all. We are devoted to ensuring a welcoming, safe, and inclusive campus free from harassment, bullying, and discrimination. This commitment is woven into our motto and mission. In the Dakelh language, UNBC's motto 'En Cha Huná translates to "they also live" and means respect for all living things. Through the respect for all living things, we are able to grow and learn better together, each bringing our own unique individual differences and contributions to inspire leaders for tomorrow by influencing the world today.

Employment equity requires that we remove barriers and overcome both direct and indirect discrimination. In this way, the pool of excellent candidates increases substantially. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person.

About the Community

Since its founding in 1990, the University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC) has emerged as one of Canada's best small research-intensive universities, with a passion for teaching, discovery, people, and the North. UNBC's excellence is derived from community-inspired research, hands-on learning, and alumni who are leading change around the world.

Since time immemorial, Indigenous peoples have walked gently on the diverse traditional territories where the University of Northern British Columbia community is grateful to live, work, learn, and play. We are committed to building and nurturing relationships with Indigenous peoples, we acknowledge their traditional lands, and we thank them for their hospitality. UNBC's largest campus in Prince George is located on the traditional unceded territory of the Lheidli T'enneh, in the spectacular landscape near the geographic centre of beautiful British Columbia.

UNBC consistently ranks in the top three in its category in the annual Maclean's university rankings. UNBC also recently placed among the top five per cent of higher education institutions worldwide by the Times Higher Education World University Rankings.

With a diverse student population, the University is friendly, inclusive, and supportive. Prince George is a city of ~80,000 people with impressive cultural, educational, and recreational amenities.
