

Part-Time Instructor

Posting #FAPT03-25

School of Nursing Faculty of Human and Health Sciences Prince George WIDC, Undergraduate Courses Part-Time, Term

The University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC) invites applications for a sessional instructor position in the School of Nursing for the May 2025 semester. As an institution committed to the fostering of an inclusive and transformative learning environment, UNBC values high quality and growth in both teaching and scholarship.

This posting covers undergraduate courses in need of instruction from the Wood Innovation Design Centre, located in downtown Prince George.

Candidates with a minimum BScN, MScN or PhD preferred, are encouraged to apply. Current registration as a Practicing RN with the BCCNM is required for all clinical positions, and preferred for all other positions.

NRSG 412 – Professional Practice: Perinatal Health & Care of the Childbearing Family – 3 SCH Contract Theory Instructor

This course is scheduled for condensed delivery, Tuesdays & Thursdays 8:30 – 11:20 AM, May 5 – June 13, 2025. The Theory Instructor is responsible for grade submission in August following students' clinical experiences.

This course introduces and reinforces key concepts of community health nursing with a focus on primary health care, the social determinants of health, and epidemiology of rural and northern populations. Students explore various community nursing roles with individuals, families and communities, including the RN role in integrated primary care teams. Opportunities are provided to engage in community-focused approaches to health promotion, disease and disability prevention, and support of those living with chronic conditions.

NRSG 412 – Professional Practice: Perinatal Health & Care of the Childbearing Family – 1 SCH Contract

Lab Facilitator – up to 3 positions available

Labs are scheduled Wednesdays and Thursdays, 12:30 – 3:20 PM, May 5 – June 13, 2025. Lab Facilitators are assigned to one lab session per week; it is possible for one instructor to teach two lab groups and teach on both Wednesdays and Thursdays.

This course introduces and reinforces key concepts of community health nursing with a focus on primary health care, the social determinants of health, and epidemiology of rural and northern populations. Students explore various community nursing roles with individuals, families and communities, including the RN role in integrated primary care teams. Opportunities are provided to engage in community-focused approaches to health promotion, disease and disability prevention, and support of those living with chronic conditions.

NRSG 412 – Professional Practice: Perinatal Health & Care of the Childbearing Family – SCH dependent on number of sessions

Simulation Instructor – multiple positions available

Simulation sessions will be scheduled during the clinical rotations, June 16 – August 8, 2025. Actual contract SCH will be dependent on how many simulation sessions an instructor leads. Actual schedule can be flexible to meet instructors' availability. Simulation may take place at either the WIDC or the Main Campus, in Prince George.

This course introduces and reinforces key concepts of community health nursing with a focus on primary health care, the social determinants of health, and epidemiology of rural and northern populations. Students explore various community nursing roles with individuals, families and communities, including the RN role in integrated primary care teams. Opportunities are provided to engage in community-focused approaches to health promotion, disease and disability prevention, and support of those living with chronic conditions.

NRSG 412 – Professional Practice: Perinatal Health & Care of the Childbearing Family – SCH dependent on number of shifts

Acute Clinical Instructor – Maternity

Acute Clinical Instructor – Pediatrics

Acute Clinical Instructors will work with students on unit floors at UHNBC. Total contract amount dependent on number and length of shifts worked. Acute Clinical Instructors are responsible for providing written feedback on students' performance during clinical shifts to the Primary Clinical Instructor for evaluation purposes. Clinical shifts will take place between June 16 – August 8, 2025, and can be flexible based on instructors' availability.

This course introduces and reinforces key concepts of community health nursing with a focus on primary health care, the social determinants of health, and epidemiology of rural and northern populations. Students explore various community nursing roles with individuals, families and communities, including the RN role in integrated primary care teams. Opportunities are provided to engage in community-focused approaches to health promotion, disease and disability prevention, and support of those living with chronic conditions.

Our Commitment to Diversity and Employment Equity

The University of Northern British Columbia is fully committed to creating and maintaining an equitable, diverse, and inclusive environment that is accessible to all. We are devoted to ensuring a welcoming, safe, and inclusive campus free from harassment, bullying, and discrimination. This commitment is woven into our motto and mission. In the Dakelh language, UNBC's motto 'En Cha Huná translates to "he/she/they also live" and means respect for all living things. Through the respect for all living things, we are able to grow and learn better together, each bringing our own unique individual differences and contributions to inspire leaders for tomorrow by influencing the world today.

Employment equity requires that we remove barriers and overcome both direct and indirect discrimination. In this way, the pool of excellent candidates increases substantially. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person

About the University and its Community

Since its founding in 1990, the University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC) has emerged as one of Canada's best small research-intensive universities, with a passion for teaching, discovery, people, and the North. UNBC's excellence is derived from community-inspired research, hands-on learning, and alumni who are leading change around the world.

Since time immemorial, Indigenous peoples have walked gently on the diverse traditional territories where the University of Northern British Columbia community is grateful to live, work, learn, and play. We are committed to building and nurturing relationships with Indigenous peoples, we acknowledge their traditional lands, and we thank them for their hospitality. UNBC's largest campus in Prince George is located on the traditional unceded territory of the Lheidli T'enneh, in the spectacular landscape near the geographic centre of beautiful British Columbia.

UNBC's three regional campuses are located in Quesnel, Fort St. John, and Terrace. The South-Central campus in Quesnel is situated on the traditional territory of the Lhtako Dené (Red Bluff Band), Nazko, Lhoosk'uz Dené Nation (Kluskus Band), and Esdilahg First Nations (formerly Alexandria Band). Lhtako, Nazko, and Lhoosk'uz are Dakelh First Nations, and Esdilahg is a member of the Tsilhqot'in Nation. The Peace River-Liard campus in Fort St. John is situated on the traditional territory of the Doig River, Blueberry River and Halfway River First Nations. They are the Dunne-Za people. The Northwest campus in Terrace is situated on traditional Ts'msyen (Tsimshian) territory of the Kitsumkalum and Kitselas First Nations. It includes a satellite campus in the coastal community of Prince Rupert.

UNBC consistently ranks in the top three in its category in the annual Maclean's university rankings. UNBC also recently placed among the top five per cent of higher education institutions worldwide by the Times Higher Education World University Rankings.

With a diverse student population, the University is friendly, inclusive, and supportive. Prince George is a city of ~74,000 people with impressive cultural, educational, and recreational amenities. For more information about living and working in Prince George, please refer to <http://www.unbc.ca/experience> and <https://moveupprincegeorge.ca>. Make your mark with this leading post-secondary institution.

Salary

The salary for Part-Time Sessional Instructors is determined on the basis of Semester Contact Hour (SCH) at a rate of $3,046.03 per SCH. Please refer to the link below to the UNBC Faculty Association Collective Agreement (Appendix 48C) for more compensation information:

<https://www.unbc.ca/sites/default/files/sections/human-resources/salary-grid-increases-july-1-2024-updated-cola.pdf>

To Apply

The University of Northern British Columbia is committed to employment equity and encourages applications from the four designated groups (women, Indigenous peoples, persons with disabilities, and members of visible minorities) as well as the LGBTQ2+ communities and individuals with intersectional identities.

Applicants should forward their curriculum vitae/resume, proof of current registration with BCCNM (screenshots are acceptable), and the names and addresses of two references (including telephone and email information) quoting FAPT03-25 to: nurshiring@unbc.ca, care of Dr. Catharine Schiller, Chair, School of Nursing.

N

Persons with disabilities, who anticipate needing accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process, may contact UNBC Health & Wellbeing at employee wellbeing@unbc.ca. Any personal information provided will be maintained in confidence.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. We thank all applicants for their interest in UNBC however, only those applicants selected for further consideration will be contacted.

Applications received on or before March 13, 2025, will receive full consideration; however, applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

