The State of British Columbia's Forests - 2006

Tom Niemann, Ministry of Forests and Range, will present on the ministry's report The State of British Columbia's Forests—2006, for which he was the project manager and author. He will discuss its content and potential uses, along with plans for the next edition, which may include opportunities for UNBC involvement. The report presents information on indicators of sustainable forest management, along with ministry assessments of indicator state, trend and information adequacy. It is a highly accessible online tool for faculty and students that provides concise text, graphics, data tables and many links for environmental, economic, social and governance indicators. Elements of the report have been adopted by Ontario and Quebec for their state of forests reports.
