Casual Registration Policy and Procedure

Poff / Lazenby

That a method of casual registration be implemented in the 1996 Fall semester to which the following conditions apply:

- 1) Limited to those courses in which there is space available between the first day of classes in the semester and the final day of the drop/add period (no registrations would be processed prior to this) and,
- 2) Students would only be permitted to register with the written permission of the instructor (Chair or Dean where the instructor is unavailable) using a special permission form so that instructors would know the student had not been admitted to the university and,
- 3) Students would be limited to five courses per semester for a maximum of ten courses and,
- 4) All tuition and other fees would be payable in full upon registration and,
- 5) That no UNBC credit would be awarded until such a time that the student is admitted to the university and,
- 6) The UNBC transcript will clearly indicate that credit has not been awarded (regardless of successful completion and the issuance of a grade) in those instances where a student has not been admitted to UNBC and,
- 7) Subsequent admissions decisions would not normally take any UNBC work completed through casual registration into consideration in making an admissions decision. Such consideration would be considered a matter for SCAA in the context of an admission appeal.

-- Students who have attempted a minimum of 9 credit hours at UNBC with a cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of less than 2.0 will be placed on academic probation.

-- Letters of permission will not be given to students on academic probation.

-- Students are considered to be in good academic standing once their CGPA is 2.0 or greater.

-- If a student has not returned to good academic standing at the end of the semester in which he/she has accumulated a minimum of 18 credit hours while on probation, the student may be required to withdraw for a period of 2 semesters the first time they are placed on probation, and one calendar year on subsequent occurrences.

-- Students who receive a semester GPA of less than 2.0 but who are still in good standing (their CGPA is not less than 2.0) will receive a warning letter, but will not be put on probation. No indication of this warning will appear on a student's academic transcript.

-- New students (registering in Fall 1996), will be governed by the new probationary policy. Continuing students will be governed by the old probationary policy until the Winter 1997 semester. The new probationary policy will be advertised on campus and continuing students who have a CGPA of less than 2.0 (as of the end of the Winter 1996 semester) who are not currently on probation will receive a warning letter and a copy of the new policy.

Changes to Grade System

Poff / Prkachin

It is recommended that the following changes and/or clarifications in the current grading system be approved:

- a) Use INP for undergraduate and graduate theses and project courses to indicate work in progress.
- b) Use the words In Progress on transcripts to indicate any course currently registered for in a semester. This would only occur when a student requests that a transcript be sent during a semester in which he/she is registered; the words will appear to eliminate the possibility of someone entering false information on the transcript; in other words the In Progress entry is just to fill the blank space where the grades would appear on the transcript.
- c) Use DEF when a medical or compassionate situation arises and a student is given extra time to complete the course requirements. The DEF carries an end date with the understanding that F goes in unless there is an extension of the date or a grade based on the completed work is submitted.
- d) Use INC as a temporary grade to indicate that the course requirements have not been completed but that the instructor is not aware of any reason for this (ie. No arrangements have been made by the student for completion). As with DEF, INC would be used for a set period of time. Alternatively, instructors could submit an F if the missing work is a mandatory component of the course or a passing grade if the work completed warrants this and the missing work is not considered essential for the course to be considered complete.
- e) Generate NGR (no grade reported) as an automatic entry when results are not handed in by faculty by an agreed upon/stipulated deadline date. This is for grade report purposes so that students know that the professor has not yet submitted a grade.

Note: These interim grades would be used in both undergraduate and graduate situations.

CURRENT POLICY - Approved March 13, 1996 Senate Motion: S-199603.03 That a method of casual registration be implemented in the 1996 Fall semester to which the following conditions apply:

- 1) Limited to those courses in which there is space available between the first day of classes in the semester and the final day of the drop/add period (no registrations would be processed prior to this) and,
- 2) Students would only be permitted to register with the written permission of the instructor (Chair or Dean where the instructor is unavailable) using a special permission form so that instructors would know the student had not been admitted to the university and,
- 3) Students would be limited to five courses per semester for a maximum of ten courses and,
- 4) All tuition and other fees would be payable in full upon registration and,
- 5) That no UNBC credit would be awarded until such a time that the student is admitted to the university and,

6) The UNBC transcript will clearly indicate that credit has not been awarded (regardless of successful completion and the issuance of a grade) in those instances where a student has not been admitted to UNBC and,

7) Subsequent admissions decisions would not normally take any UNBC work completed through casual registration into consideration in making an admissions decision. Such consideration would be considered a matter for SCAA in the context of an admission appeal.

SSCRN Terms of Reference

McQuaid / Leedham

That SSCRN be activated (as is consistent with its mandate) "to make recommendations to the Senate with regard to the membership, structure and terms of reference of Senate committees." These recommendations include the amalgamation or termination of Senate committees and to recommend to SCOR any changes it deems necessary to amend Parts 1 through 4 of the Senate Handbook. SSCRN will consult widely with the Committee Chairs and would like feedback from all members of Senate and the Senate committees. The Committee will bring forward its recommendations to the March 12, 1997 meeting of Senate for approval. Each Senate committee will be reviewed in the following manner:

- 1) Terms of Reference,
- 2) Membership,
- 3) Chair designation,
- 4) Committee Secretary designation,
- 5) Recording Secretary designation,
- 6) Quorum,
- 7) Meeting Schedule,
- 8) Sub-committees,
- 9) Reporting Month,
- 10) Terms of Office for non-Senator Members, and
- 11) Any other issue not listed which SSCRN identifies as an important part of the review process.

Academic Credit for Lab Work

Poff / Fisher

Be it resolved that, in recognition of the way in which UNBC assigns academic credit for lab work and the number of lab courses typical of the lower division requirements in science programmes, students transferring to UNBC from a post-secondary, university transfer institution, be allowed to transfer academic credit for lab-work, over and above the current limit of 62 credit hours (typically be awarded on the basis of lecture-based courses). In doing so, it is understood that the maximum allowable transfer credit granted would be equivalent to the credit hours required for completion of the first two years of the programme of study in which the student plans to graduate, and that a minimum of 60 credit hours of upper division study remains as a requirement for graduation, not withstanding existing arrangements (example General Degrees and NRES) which allow up to 90 transfer credits.

Revised Academic Structure

Poff/Keener

That Senate approve the revised Academic structure as proposed in Recommendation F1 of the University Plan (1997). Amendment to Recommendation F1 to include the list of the four UNBC existing Faculties (excluding the Faculty of Research and Graduate Studies): "Recommendation F1 Senate and Board approve that, effective July 1, 1997, the existing Faculties of Arts & Science, Health & Human Sciences, Management & Administration, Natural Resources and Environmental Studies be dissolved; that two new Colleges be created..."

CARRIED 1 Abstention

The President defined the new structure as follows: The new structure includes new units which are the Colleges. Within the two Colleges are the Faculties. Faculties are natural groupings of disciplines that in many cases have established academic patterns of interaction and cooperation. The intent of the new structure is to retain those Faculties and to provide means of fostering those interrelationships through committees of chairs, etc. The formal structure is the College which replaces the existing structures of the Faculties. The budgetary and administrative authority resides with the College Dean.

Student Admittance to the New MSc Degree

Dr. Blouw reported to Senate that after consultation with the two College Deans and the Associate Vice President Student Services/University Registrar, he is recommending that students be admitted to the new MSc (Basic and Applied) as of January 1998. The full slate of courses is expected to be in place for September 1998, but he would like to honor a commitment that had been made to a small number of students. It was noted by the President that the new MSc Degree was approved by the Senate and the Board previously. No date for implementation was stated on the proposal to the Board but the President did inform them that some students might be admitted in January 1998.

6.3.1. Research Ethics Sub-Committee Review Update

A taskforce has been struck to review all the articles of requirement in the new Tri-Council code. The taskforce consists of Dr. Max Blouw, Dr. Deborah Poff, and Dr. Alex Michalos.

The mandate of the taskforce is:

- to determine the level of compliance that currently exists,
- to put in place a plan of action to bring UNBC into conformity with those articles that currently do not comply with the new code,
- to develop an educational program for faculty members and graduate students, and
- to write a letter to Isabelle Blaine at SSHRC - Social Science & Humanities Research Council, outlining UNBC’s plan to achieve compliance by September/October 1999.

Dr. Prkachin made an inquiry as to what direction a concern from the Faculty Association should be vetted in. The Chair of Senate responded that the concern should be vetted through the Research Ethics Sub-Committee.

7.0 Other Business – none.

3.1 Nominations for Two Faculty Members - Board Presidential Review Committee

Two nominations were received by Senate for the faculty member positions on the Board Presidential Review Committee. Dr. Gordon Martel and Dr. Barbara Herringer were elected by acclamation.

4.0 Report of the Chair

The President reported on the major action items from the January Board meeting.

The Board approved a memorandum of understanding between UNBC and the Tl'azt'en Nation – joint management of a research forest in the Fort St. James area. We are waiting for official approval from the Ministry of Forests. The Board also approved the establishment of a company wholly owned by the University of Northern British Columbia to be called “University Resources Incorporated”. We are now in the process of applying for the articles of incorporation of that company.

The Board also approved the President’s recommendations for faculty to be granted appointment with tenure and promotion to Associate and Full Professor.

The President was involved in a meeting with The University Presidents Council (TUPC) and senior officials of the Ministry of Advanced Education Training and Technology. The University Presidents have engaged the Ministry in an exercise in strategic planning. This came out of a plan to restructure the TUPC to make it more of a strategic and politically effective body. The main issues that were addressed at the meeting related to funding, access to university, issues around the recruitment and retention of faculty and issues relating to capital items (such as renovations funding and major capital items). This was the first of a series of intensive meetings, which will extend over the next six to eight months. The Vice Presidents of the Universities will also be actively involved in research that will feed into these meetings.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President Academic

The Vice President Academic reported that the university Vice Presidents are now meeting regularly. Due to the leadership of the Presidents in working jointly as a force to set policy and negotiate policy with the Ministry, the Vice President’s are seriously reflecting on their roles as Vice President Academics to see if they can work on a more conscientious basis around academic leadership issues common to all universities.

The Senate Committee on the Library Sub-Committee for the strategic review is getting underway. The Sub-Committee has been contacting programs and student groups to arrange meetings with them.

3.0 Business Arising from the Previous Meeting of Senate

3.1 Clarification of the Credit Hours for the BSW Specialization in Child Welfare

Dean Fisher clarified that the reason the proposed BSW Specialization in Child Welfare equals 60 credit hours, while the BSW in the calendar equals 66 credit hours, is due to the specialization being an upper level specialization.

4.0 Report of the Chair

The President was very pleased with the announcement that the Ministry of Forests has granted two research forest to the University. One is north of Fort St. James and is to be jointly managed with the Tl'azt'en Nation. The second one is located east of Prince George which will be jointly managed with the University of British Columbia (UBC).

The University is currently operating in the Fort St. James Forest and is putting together the company structure that will manage that forest. The University is also in discussion with UBC about the management structure for the Aleza Lake Forest. The President wished to commend and thank Dr. Blouw, Associate VP Research/Dean of Graduate Studies and Pat Hibbitts, Vice President (Business & Finance) for their work on the proposals.

The President attended the Board of Directors and Membership meetings of the Association of the Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) in Ottawa. The President has been re-appointed to the Board of Directors of the AUCC by virtue of being Chair of the AUCC Bylaws Committee. The AUCC met with a number of senior officials in Ottawa, such as Alan Rock, Minister of Health, and also the Clerk of the Privy Council. The University community went out of its way to thank the federal government for the support shown to universities in the most recent budget. AUCC's lobbying efforts this year were primarily to secure support for research [an enhanced grant for the Social Science & Humanities Research Council (SSHRC) and the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada (NSERC)]. As well, AUCC lobbied for intensive work around the institutes for health research. AUCC was pleased with the unexpected bonuses in the budget such as the additional money for the Canadian Foundation For Innovation (CFI), the increase in funds for the Centres in Excellence and the funding for nursing research.

AUCC thanked the government for the attention being paid to the universities and for the importance of university research within the national scheme of things. Their main message was to remind the government that there has been a serious erosion of core funding to universities over the past 10 years, particularly over the past five years as a result of the introduction of the Canadian health and social transfer. The AUCC is also encouraging the government to do unto post-secondary education what they have now done unto health services, which is to restore funding to the federal transfer payments to the provinces.

One of the items discussed briefly at the AUCC was something the President dealt with directly over the last year. The Canadian Ministers of Education Council (CMEC) had produced an Expectations Document about a year ago. The document caused a stir of concern throughout the University community because it talked a great deal about accountabilities. The President saw it as a positive development because it was the first time that the provinces tried, as provinces, to develop a national policy for post-secondary education. This was a very significant development in Canada.

President Jago was then appointed to Chair the AUCC Committee that drafted the AUCC response to the report. The revised report has come out weeks ago when the Ministers of Education met in Toronto. AUCC was pleased to note that many of the constructive proposals of the AUCC were incorporated into the revised document. The revised report is available on the CMEC Web page.

The President wished to bring forward, for information, an agenda item for the next Senate meeting. It is his suggestion to the Board, as well as to Senate, to hold a joint meeting/occasion (one day or 1/2 a day) when members of the Board and Senate can meet to discuss/review the Universities Strategic Plan "Planning for Growth". This meeting would help to determine whether the document is still valid or needs to be updated or replaced.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President Academic

The Vice President will be attending the Western VP Academics meeting next week. The theme of that conference will be retention and renewal strategies for faculty.

Vice President Poff attended, as UNBC's representative, a Sun Micro Systems conference. There were 300 senior academic administrators invited, by invitation only, to this educational research conference. The theme of the conference was "Anywhere, Anytime, About Any Thing, By Anyone". Information from the conference is available from the Vice President Academic.

CARRIED (7 In Favour / 1 Opposed / 3 Abstentions)

D. Macknak, Director of Regional Operations and University/College Relations stated the above memorandum of understanding was established as a follow through on the protocol agreement previously approved by Senate and is an application of that agreement.

He also stated there will be two tracks of students in the program. The first is UNBC students in a degree program, and the second is NLC students taking UNBC courses to satisfy their NLC diploma program requirements.

Dr. King stated in order to make the program work for both tracks of students, allowances had to be made on the part of both institutions.

Dr. Jago noted that when joint programming is done with the colleges, this kind of situation is an almost inescapable situation. Compromises have to be made both by the University and by the particular college involved.

SPECIAL MEETING OF SENATE

MARCH 17, 1999

3:30-4:30 PM

SENATE CHAMBERS
ROOM 1079 ADMIN. BLDG

Present: President C. Jago (Chair), L. Ball (via teleconference), S. Beeler, R. Brown, N. Campbell, M. Cranny, R. Fisher, G. George, K. Hall, P. Hibbitts, L. King, D. Macknak, B. Malcolm, T. Ogwang, G. Prkachin, M. Singh, T. Whitcombe, A. Reed (Secretary to Senate), Bethany Haffner (Recording Secretary)

Regrets: B. Anderson, M. Blouw, A. Hussein, Vice President Poff, C. Haney, S. Whissell

Guests: C. Yates

The meeting began at 3:30 pm. The President went over the agenda for the meeting, as there were no amendments the agenda was approved by consensus.

The President noted that Senator Tomson Ogwang, Acting Chair of the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB), would be presenting Item 3.0 on the agenda as Dr. Hussein, Chair of SCUB was unable to be present at this time.

The President wished to extend his thanks to Senator Ogwang and the members of SCUB for their commitment and work on the university budget and to Carol Yates for her support to SCUB.

1.0 Brief Introduction by the President

The President reiterated the main objectives of the President's Executive Council in developing the 1999-2000 budget. They were: 1) to achieve a balanced budget, 2) to maintain the current level of academic and administrative operations in all areas, and 3) to avoid layoffs.

The above goals have been achieved as a result of the willingness to reduce non-salary operating costs. Budget heads throughout the university should be congratulated for the spirit of cooperation with which this task has been accomplished.

The President noted that the University's budget is becoming exceedingly tight and without some change in government funding the university will face more serious cuts.

The strategy for the formulation of the 1999-2000 budget continued to revolve around the university's strategic plan, Planning For Growth, which was developed in 1997. This year's budget will be the third budget since the strategic plan was created.

One of the most important strategies that was developed in past budgets was to ensure the creation of a capital reserve fund for the replacement of essential computer and research equipment so that the University would not lose its technological edge.

The University also created a sabbatical reserve fund as a high number of sabbatical leave applications are expected in the years 2001-03. This reserve fund will continue to be a high priority.

Another of the University's strategies is to allocate significant funding to library acquisitions in order to maintain and build up collections appropriate to the needs of the university's undergraduate and graduate programs.

As well as the above, the University has proposed to allocate funds to areas of strategic need. Such monies will be set aside from unspent funds in the 1998-99 budget for a Y2K Contingency Fund ($100,000) and at least $200,00 for a Faculty Recruitment and Retention Fund. The President has been assured that there will not be a problem as steps have been taken regarding making UNBC Y2K compliant but feels it is prudent to have funds available in the event that the unforeseen occurs.

The last strategy involves the addition of three net positions to the University's faculty/staffing complement. Two tenure-stream positions in Biology and the position of University Archivist are to be added at this time.

2.0 Detailed Presentation 1999-2000 Budget Proposal - C. Yates, Dir. Of Institutional Analyst and Planning

(Please refer to the "University of Northern British Columbia - Proposed Operating Budget, April 1, 1999 to March 31, 2000" which was circulated in the Special Senate Meeting package prior to the meeting.)

3.0 SCUB Presentation to Senate - T. Ogwang, Acting SCUB Chair

The Acting Chair of SCUB presented the SCUB Budget Report to Senate (please refer to the "Senate Committee on the University Budget Preliminary Budget Report" circulated in the Special Senate Meeting package prior to the meeting).

SSM-19990317.01

Ogwang/Singh

That Senate has reviewed the Proposed 1999-2000 University Budget, concurs with the Senate Committee on the University Budget to recommend that the President take the 1999-2000 University Budget forward for presentation to the Board of Governors.

CARRIED Unanimously

Dennis Macknak, Director of Regional Operations & Univ./College Relations voiced his concern over the statement made by the SCUB Preliminary Report that "Over the past three years, there has been a significant decline in the student population as well as an extreme decrease in the student course load."

According to the statistics that the Director of Regional Operations was able to pull he sees no trend in numbers decreasing.

Senator Ogwang noted that the statistical information that was made available to SCUB clearly indicated a downward trend in overall enrollment in the regions.

For the record, Dennis Macknak pointed out the following statistics for course enrolments:

1996-97	762
1997-98	968
1998-99	901

Senator Whitcombe questioned the Wages & Benefit amount in the Central Administration area on Page 5 of the Proposed Operating Budget documentation. Carol Yates explained that this area holds money only but no staffing positions as it accounts for money for salary raises, university insurance and university memberships. The Central Administration area is commonly referred to as money without people attached to it and supports the broad functioning of the university.

Senator Malcolm asked the President when the university receives word from the Ministry about the funding level it receives. The President stated that it is usually around this time of year. However, this was not the case in previous years, the universities sometimes had to wait until May/June to receive word about their funding levels. It is now the practice of the universities to complete their preliminary budgets and have them approved by the respective boards by the end of March. This means the universities have to make some assumptions before receiving the final word from the Ministry, but the budgets are based on relatively informed information as the presidents usually know confidentially what is being planned with respect to the budget preparation within the Ministry. If the preliminary budget is too conservative the university can adjust it and may produce a supplementary budget.

The President, again, wished to thank the members of SCUB, the Deans, Chairs and Senior Managers in dealing with the budget process as it is a difficult process and there is always an extreme level of frustration present.

SSM-19990317.02

Cranny/Singh

That the Special Meeting of Senate to discuss the proposed 1999-2000 University Budget be adjourned.

That the minutes of the March 10, 1999 Senate meeting be approved.

CARRIED (1 Abstention)

3.0 Business Arising from the Previous Meeting of Senate

3.1 Joint Meeting with the Board

The President proposed that the members of the Senate and the Board meet in late November to discuss the University's strategic plan. The meeting probably take an afternoon and part of an evening.

4.0 Report of the Chair

The President was pleased to announce the grant of $900,000 that has been given to the University on the recommendation of the Muskwa-Kechika Trust and approved by the Government through the Minister of the Environment. This grant enable UNBC to take a lead role in developing a research program for the Muskwa-Kechika. This represents an historical opportunity for UNBC. The President wished to thank Dr. Max Blouw, Associate VP Research/Dean of Graduate Studies for his work on this issue and Dr. Bob Pfister on behalf of the Northern Land Use Institute.

The grant has the additional benefit of providing the matching funds required to bring in the rest of the Real Estate Foundation of BC contribution to the Northern Land Use Institute. It will have an endowment, in due course, in the range of 2 million dollars and will be able, therefore, to support research and training programs at the University.

The President also reported that he has received the budget letter from the Government. The budget that was presented to Senate then went to the Board for approval. The proposed budget was based on the assumption that the grant would be frozen and that the tuition and ancillary fee freeze would continue.

The Government has confirmed that the tuition and ancillary fee freeze will continue. However, with respect to the general funding for the University the Government has funded an additional 50 places at UNBC. The amount of funding for the 50 places is $350,000 ($7,000 per FTE). Out of the 50 places available, 20 of those places are reserved for high technology. The Government is to define which programs or courses are classified as "high technology".

Again, the Government has provided a modest acknowledgement that institutions pay a price for the tuition freeze. They have provided to the system as a whole 1.5 million dollars, UNBC's share is just over $34,000. There is also additional funding for graduate teaching assistantships and research assistantships in the amount of $25,000.

Overall, the increase in funding is just over $400,000. The President will be sending out a memorandum to the two Vice Presidents asking for the identification of their top priorities for special funding. Other areas items for funding which will be looked at are areas which are severely under-serviced, course availability for graduating students, and increasing salary costs (the increase in funding may be spent to avoid budget cuts next year).

That the minutes of the April 21, 1999 Senate meeting be approved with a revision to Motion S-199904.06 where "study" should read "student".

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from the Previous Meeting of Senate

3.1 Sun-Set Clause for the College of Science & Management

Dean R. Brown reported that the sun-set clause issue was debated at the CSAM Chair's Council where it was decided that it was inappropriate for the College of Science and Management for the following reasons:

- 1) It is untimely to create such a rule at this time as deletions of courses come through as the programs are evolving and there is no indication that courses are accumulating at this time.
- 2) Courses that have not been offered yet are not detracting from the programs but are actually serving to provide students with an idea of what can be taught in independent reading courses.
- 3) The mechanism in the CASHS motion, as to how the courses would be removed, is unacceptable to the College of Science and Management.

3.2 Senate Committee on Scholarships & Bursaries

3.2.1 Revised Annual Report (Attachment 1)

3.2.2 Verbal Report on the Revised Administrative Policies and Definitions for Awards

Alex Reed reported that the Committee has not yet met to review the definitions of "Open Awards" and "Resident of Northern BC". The Committee will report back to Senate after the above have been reviewed.

4.0 Report of the Chair - No Report.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President Academic

The Vice President reported that in the near future she will be activating a committee on the Retention/Renewal of Faculty. The committee will create a title that more accurately reflects the importance of the committee in looking at investment in and renewal activities that will enhance the quality of life for faculty who are at UNBC currently as well as looking at incentives to attract new faculty to UNBC.

As many are aware in the next 5-10 years universities across the country are going to be regenerating and will be going into aggressive recruitment campaigns as the aging professoriate will be retiring. (Recent data shows that 75% of faculty members at universities in Ontario are over the age of 55.)

With the above in mind, UNBC should be proactive in developing a plan for the retention and recruitment of faculty. The Vice President is taking this task very seriously. Senate will be receiving reports from the committee on a regular basis. The Vice President Academic is hoping to enhance the funds available for this committee's use. Currently $200,000 has been set aside in the 1999-2000 budget.

The Vice President also wished to thank Dr. Glenda Prkachin for her service on Senate and its Senate Committees. This will be her last meeting of Senate as Dr. Prkachin will be on sabbatical as of September 1999.

Verbal Report Re: Deans' Request for Feedback on Appeals

Senator Whitcombe, Chair of the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals (SCAA), responded to the Deans request for feedback on decisions by SCAA on appeals. He stated that the Committee felt that, as per the Freedom of Information & Protection of Privacy Act, the decisions of the Committee could not be reported to the Deans as they are personal information which only the student and committee are privy to.

Members of Senate wished the Chair of SCAA to provide a written response to the original request for information. The Registrar will also check with the Freedom of Information Commissioner about the request.

4.0 Report of the Chair

The President reported that in late June he visited three German universities (the University of Bonn, the University of Gottingen and the Technical University of Munich) to explore possible exchange agreements and research collaborations. The trip was sponsored by the German Exchange Commission and was partially arranged by the German Consulate in Vancouver. A detailed report has been given to the Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning's Sub-Committee on International Agreements. He noted it was a very satisfying trip, with some important implications for international collaboration particularly in the areas of Forestry and Environmental Studies at UNBC.

Dr. Jago also attended an international conference on distance education in Vienna, Austria. He indicated that the conference is a major international conference that takes place every two years and is attended by some 1200 delegates representing over 200 countries. Many informative papers were presented regarding the changing technology of university pedagogy and how the European countries are dealing with the information revolution. The President left the conference with the reaffirmation that UNBC is in the forefront of pedagogical innovation. The President commended Dr. Stan Beeler who is one of the driving forces at UNBC in this area.

On return from Austria via Edinburgh, Scotland, Dr. Jago was invited to cut the birthday cake to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the birth of David Douglas in his hometown. Canada was represented at this special occasion by Dr. Jago and by the Canadian High Commissioner.

7.1 Convocation Format Feedback

Senators provided the following feedback on the format of the 1999 Convocation Ceremony:

- program name signs could be posted at the reception, after the ceremony, to provide a designated area where grads and family could mingle with faculty and staff. This would also enable students to introduce their families to their instructors, etc.
- the length of time for students to go individually across the stage took a lot of time this year. However, in order to provide students with individual attention it was thought that this would not be changed next year.
- it was mentioned that when we have too many students to convocate in one ceremony, the institution may want to consider having one grand convocation ceremony and then branch off into smaller program ceremonies. The parchments could then be given out at these smaller program ceremonies and more faculty-graduate contact could occur.

Vice President Poff reported to Senate that the date of the Joint Board/Senate Meeting has been set for Saturday, November 20, 1999. More information will be provided at the October Senate meeting.

4.0 Report of the Chair - None

5.0 Report of the Vice-President Academic

The Vice President reported that she is now officially the Vice-Chair of the Science Council of British Columbia and is currently the Chair until the Ministry appoints a Chair. With this new responsibility she has taken on a number of initiatives for the Science Council including chairing a provincial benchmarking exercise on Science and Technology for the province. She will be reporting to Senate on this exercise.

Dr. Poff also stated that the Degree Program Review Committee (DPRC) is starting up again with meetings scheduled almost every month. If Senators have any questions with respect to DPRC activities, the Vice President will be happy to provide reports to Senate.

Minutes of October 13, 1999 Meeting of Senate

The meeting of the Senate of the University of Northern British Columbia was called to order at 3:30 PM on Wednesday, October 13, 1999 in the Senate Chambers at the Prince George campus.

Present: Vice President Poff (Acting Chair), B. Anderson (via teleconference), S. Beeler, M. Blouw, N. Campbell, K. Egger, R. Fisher, G. George, K. Hall, A. Hussein, M.E. Kelm, L. King, D. Macknak, B. Malcolm, L. Ritchie, A. Reed (Secretary to Senate), B. Haffner (Recording Secretary)

Regrets: President Jago, L. Ball, M. Cranny, T. Ogwang, M. Singh, S. Whissell

The Vice President Academic welcomed Dr. Mary-Ellen Kelm and Dr. Linda Ritchie to their first Senate meeting as CASHS Faculty Senators.

The University is deeply saddened by the loss of one of its original faculty members on October 7, 1999. Dr. Gordon Ternowetsky was the first professor to be hired in UNBC's Social Work Program. Dr. Ternowetsky is survived by his wife Carroll and sons Alexander and Joseph.

3.1 Update on the Joint Board of Governor/Senate Meeting

Vice President Poff confirmed that the date of the Joint Board/Senate Meeting has been set for Saturday, November 20, 1999. The meeting will be from 1:00pm to 5:00pm. The Senate and Board members are then invited to President and Mrs. Jago's for an evening reception.

The Joint Meeting will centre on strategic planning for the University. The current strategic plan will be discussed, focussing on what goals have been accomplished and which goals have not. The group will then reflect on whether it is time to start on a new planning exercise to take the University into the new millennium.

Report of the Regional Strategic Review Committee

S-199910.08

Fisher/King

That Senate receive and approve the Report of the Regional Strategic Review Committee.

Effective Date: October 13, 1999

CARRIED

Dean Fisher stated that if the report is adopted it will set a new direction for Regional Operations that will make it more focussed and more efficient. The report recommends that UNBC offer fewer single courses in the regions and instead concentrate its energy and resources on cohort-based and niche programs that lead to degree completion. It is proposed that two-thirds of the regional Operations budget be devoted to these programs. This will also mean that Regional Operations will be more accountable in terms of its targets and spending to the Senate Committee on the University Budget.

Dennis Macknak stated that the major departure from the past strategic plan is that this strategic report brings Regional Operations back to having its programming directed at addressing northern/professional needs and helping students complete UNBC degrees.

6.5 Senate Committee on Research & Graduate Studies

Child Welfare Research Centre - Annual Report

S-199910.09

Blouw/Beeler

That the annual report from the Child Welfare Research Centre be received.

Effective Date: October 13, 1999

CARRIED

Dean Blouw commented that he was very pleased with the Child Welfare Research Centre Annual Report. It is a good model of how centre reports should be done.

Vice President Poff wished to note that the Child Welfare Research Centre was one of the major achievements of the late Dr. Gordon Ternowetsky. In receiving this report, the University acknowledges the significant amount of work that Dr. Ternowetsky did in establishing the Child Welfare Research Centre.

7.0 Other Business - None.

8.0 Information Only

8.1 Registrar's Report

Enrolment Report (Attachment 1)

Alex Reed stated that the enrolment report clearly indicates that the University continues to experience a healthy state of growth.

Vice President Poff stated that the 2573 FTE figure is very important as the legislation which UNBC is now under states that when the University has reached and sustained an FTE count over 2500 for two years the UNBC Act will be repealed. The University will then come fully under the University Act. This is UNBC's first step in this process.

UNBC's funding status will not change (35% bonus due to UNBC's northern region, regional university mandate and start-up costs). The President and Vice President have in writing that this base budget will not change for the first 2500 FTE students when the University first comes under the University Act.

However, the University will have to continue to make a compelling argument that the understanding/funding must continue to be in place for the students over and above the

2500 FTE number. These arguments are self-evident to the University administration (ie. distance delivery, travel costs, northern issues, etc.)

The Secretary to Senate is currently doing a preliminary review regarding how coming under the University Act will affect Senate and its membership. Two items of particular interest are that the Deans will have voting rights on Senate and the membership of Senate will increase so significantly that it will be too large to meet in the current Senate Chambers.

There has been discussion over the last two years regarding the expansion of the campus for the number of students currently at UNBC. It is the Universities position that the campus was built for 2000 students; however, it is the government's position that the campus was built for 2500 students.

Dean Blouw added that UNBC has compared itself to a model of space inventory created by the Ontario Council of Graduate Schools and those statistics show that UNBC is extremely short of space. The provincial government has acknowledged that UNBC is by far-and-away amongst the BC universities in the worst shape for space right now.

8.2 Report of the University Harassment & Discrimination Adviser

Vice President Poff stated that Nancy Black, Regional Services Librarian has accepted the role as the next University Harassment & Discrimination Adviser at UNBC. Nancy has been appointed for a two-year position.

Dr. Hussein also commented on the wording of the paragraph under Senate motion: S-199910.B on page 2 of the Oct. 13, 1999 Senate Minutes. Dr. Hussein was concerned with the statement that Dean Egger made that the Forestry Program would use the guideline proposed in the motion unofficially after the motion was withdrawn at Senate.

The issue regarding the main motion S-199909.04 as to whether a Program can use such a policy unofficially without official approval from Senate was referred for advice to the Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning (SCAPP). Senate will receive a report from SCAPP on this issue.

4.0 Report of the Chair

President Jago was delighted with the improvement in UNBC's ranking in the Maclean's Magazine. UNBC was ranked 8 out of 21 of the smaller universities. He wished to express his particular thanks to the faculty, staff and students at the University.

The President also stated that a recent Report on 1996 Graduates from BC Universities has been released. The Province does a review of graduates periodically. This review was the first time that UNBC has been included in a way that has any real significance. UNBC's results were striking in terms of graduates getting jobs, their level of satisfaction with their education. In particular the UNBC scores were way above those of the other universities for the level of student access to their professors at UNBC.

The University President's Council (TUPC) has now appointed a President of the presidents, Mr. Don Avison. Most recently Mr. Avison was the Deputy Minister of Health, formerly he has also been the Deputy Minister of Crown Corporations and the Deputy Minister of Education (before it was split into the Advanced Education and Education). He has experience working in the Territories and with the Federal Government. He will help the TUPC in establishing better working relationships with the Government and will be a strong presence in establishing better relationships with the colleges, with industry, labour and with a number of organizations throughout the province. This appointment indicates very clearly that TUPC has stepped up its organization activity quite significantly. It is hoping to become a more effective and coordinated lobbying advocacy group on behalf of the Universities.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President Academic

For the third time in the last 5 years the provincial Degree Program Review Committee (DPRC) is once more entering into a discussion of credentialling in the province. There has been a periodic concern about the proliferation of degrees and what they mean. Three years ago a study was done of the designations and degree standards across Canada. With the innovative types of degrees that are coming forward from the Technical University of BC and Royal Roads University the DPRC is again revisiting nomenclature for degrees in the province.

The Vice President would like Senators to provide their comments on these issues.

The VP Academics of the province have a sub-committee currently looking at the possibility of a value-added virtual university degree. The universities would combine areas in which they are all undertaking some graduate courses. The VP Academics are discussing the possibility of a graduate degree in Geomatics and GIS.

Vice President Poff added her congratulations to the university community regarding UNBC's ranking in the Maclean's Magazine. She stated that a celebration will be held on November 19, 1999 in the Atrium of the Administration Building from 3:30-5:00 pm to celebrate the Maclean's ranking.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTHERN BRITISH COLUMBIA
Minutes of February 09, 2000 Meeting of Senate

The meeting of the Senate of the University of Northern British Columbia was called to order at 3:30 PM on Wednesday, February 09, 2000 in the Senate Chambers at the Prince George campus.

Present: President Jago (Chair), Vice President Poff, B. Anderson (via teleconference), L. Ball (via teleconference), S. Beeler, M. Blouw, R. Broadbent, N. Campbell, K. Egger, R. Fisher, A. Hussein, M.E. Kelm, L. King, B. Malcolm, B. Morrison, S. Schepens, C. St. Cyr, A. Reed (Secretary to Senate), B. Haffner (Recording Secretary)

Regrets: M. Cranny, S. Dossa, D. Macknak, G. Pedersen, L. Ritchie, C. Schell

The Chair of Senate welcomed Richard Broadbent to the Senate meeting. Mr. Broadbent has been appointed by the Ministry to represent the Northern Lights College Region.

Kelm/Ball

That the minutes of the January 12, 2000 Meeting of Senate be approved.

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from the Previous Meeting of Senate - None.

4.0 Report of the Chair

The President expressed the University community's sadness and distress with the death on-campus of Anna Sorkomova. The President reported that Anna's body has now been returned to her homeland and is making its way to her village. The thoughts of the University community are with Anna's colleagues and friends at Yakutsk State University and especially with Anna's family on this occasion.

Today a memorial service was held for Dr. David Fish our colleague and one of the founding Deans of UNBC. Dr. Fish was a man of bold vision who fashioned the Faculty of Health & Human Sciences and was the first, and only, Professor Emeritus at the University until his death. It was an honour at his memorial service to be able to recognize Dr. Fish's outstanding qualities and contributions that he has made to the University. Although the University community is saddened by his death, we are honored by the fact that he shared his presence with us.

Finally, the President noted that in late January the Minister of Advanced Education, Training & Technology was at the University to announce funding for a new laboratory building. The news was well received as the President felt that the announcement recognizes what the University has achieved since 1994 and recognizes that the University is continuing to grow. The announcement also gives the University a sense that the government stands behind the University and will foster its continuing growth.

The President was delighted by the response from the Government to the request that he made to them a year and a half ago. The President thanked the Minister of Advanced Education, Training & Technology and other ministers that have been supportive to the request. He also thanked community members, the Mayor of Prince George, and the head of the Prince George Region Development Corporation, Mr. Dale McMann, for their support. The President wished to thank senior civil servants in the Ministry who supported the University in this initiative.

5.0 Report of the Vice President (Academic)

The Vice President reported that the Selection Committee for the Dean of the College of Science and Management has finished its deliberations, has made recommendations and has made an offer to a candidate. The Vice President has been in contact with the candidate and it is looking very hopeful that the candidate will accept the offer.

3.0 2000-2001 Budget Discussion & Review

3.1 Brief Introduction by the President

The President stated that the Board of Governors will be asked to approve this year's budget prior to the Provincial Government announcing their funding. The Provincial Government's announcement is expected on Monday, March 27, 2000.

As such, the University has been "cautiously optimistic" in their budget proposal. The budget has been based on the following assumptions: 1) that the government will continue to restore university core funding, provide for increased access, and invest in university research, and 2) estimated enrolment figures for the next year.

Some of the highlights in the budget are to cover the costs of the following items:

- a) Significant increase to fund debt obligations under Section 58: +$150,000
- b) Capital Replacement Reserve Fund: $800,000
- c) Library Acquisitions: $1,287,000
- d) Net Additional Expenditures: $590,000
- e) Training: $65,000
- f) UNBC Scholars Awards: $296,000
- g) Faculty Recruitment and Retention Initiatives: $296,000
- h) Sabbatical Replacements: $1,007,500

The President made the following statements regarding the above points:

- a) Significant increase to fund debt obligations under Section 58: +$150,000
The provincial government has changed their regulations regarding debt obligations: this has resulted, among other things, in the University assuming an additional annual debt charge of $150,000 for the residences. In order to meet this need, the President's Executive Council has requested that the Board of Governors approve a 2% increase in housing fees (approx. $35,000 to be generated) and will take the remainder of the debt amount out of the general operations of the University.
- b) Capital Replacement Reserve Fund: $800,000
As noted in the Proposed Operating Budget information, this fund will be replenished from general revenue. It is expected that the salary savings from 1999-2000 will allow the university to set aside funds to finance faculty sabbatical leaves in 2001-2002: as such, no contribution to a Sabbatical Reserve Fund will be budgeted for this year. In future, faculty sabbatical leave replacement expenses will fall within the university's normal operational budget.
- c) Library Acquisitions: $1,287,000
As in last year's budget, the University has given high priority to library acquisitions.
- d) Net Additional Expenditures: $590,000
The net additional expenditures proposed in the 2000-2001 University budget are high priority positions or operational enhancements that are pending the announcement of government funding. Close to seventy percent of the expenditures relate to academic operations - mainly academic support services.

- e) Training: $65,000
The University has set a high priority on making training available to its staff and faculty. The Human Resources Department has developed an impressive training program that has benefited staff and faculty alike. This year it was decided by the University to make an annual allocation for training in the budget.
- f) UNBC Scholars Awards: $296,000
Last year the UNBC Scholars Award program was created to attract bright students from every high school in northern BC and the Yukon. The UNBC Scholars Award is a four-year full tuition scholarship offered to the top Grade 11 graduate who subsequently registers at UNBC.
- g) Faculty Recruitment and Retention Initiatives: $296,000
A number of faculty recruitment and retention initiatives are being developed by the Vice President (Academic). Major initiatives include the allocation of more funds for graduate student scholarships, additional funding for faculty travel and seed money to support new faculty appointments.
- h) Sabbatical Replacements: $1,007,500
This represents the transfer from the Sabbatical Reserve Fund established in 1998-1999 and 1999-2000. The money will be used to cover sabbatical replacement costs.

3.2 Detailed Presentation of the 2000-2001 Budget Proposal - C. Yates, Dir. of Institutional Analyst and Planning

(Please refer to the "University of Northern British Columbia - Proposed Operating Budget, April 1, 2000 to March 31, 2001" which was circulated in the Special Senate Meeting package prior to the meeting.)

Dr. Jago relinquished the Chair to Vice President Poff.

3.3 SCUB Report to Senate - A. Hussein, Chair of SCUB

The Chair of SCUB wished to thank the members of SCUB for their hard work, commitment, input and assistance in assembling the SCUB Report on the 2000-2001 Proposed University Budget. He especially wished to thank Carol Yates, Director of Institutional Analyst and Planning and Shelley Rennick for their assistance to the Committee.

The SCUB Report was provided to members of Senate in the budget package. (Please contact Bethany Haffner, Secretary to the Assoc. VP Student Services/University Registrar if you would like a copy of the report.)

Dr. Hussein noted that the Committee used data provided by the University for the generation of its report to Senate. The Committee tried to provide a real analysis of the numbers and figures associated with the allotment of the University budget to academic areas.

3.4 Senate Discussion

President Jago commented that he had a mixed response to the conclusions that the Committee put forward in its report. He stated that he appreciates the time factor involved in the Committee's deliberations and the difficulties that SCUB has in running a budget review parallel to the University's budget preparation cycle. Dr. Jago also stated that he appreciated the endorsement of SCUB regarding the funding initiatives for graduate awards and library acquisitions.

He found the survey results interesting as it reinforces the diversity of interests among the various constituent groups that make up the University Community.

Some of his greater objections to the SCUB Report are with regard to the analysis of the University budgetary allocations as measured against student enrolment. The cost accounting that has been done by SCUB is superficial and indicates a very initial summary. Some of the data in the report has been lifted out of context and false assumptions have been made. He noted in particular statements that Regional Operations spends 47% of "the total academic expenditure budget", and that such a high level of expenditure is "indefensible." He observed that to compare the non-salary expenditures of Regional Operations to the non-salary expenditures of the Colleges is to compare apples to oranges. The former includes instructional costs and rental fees: the latter does not.

Another objection is that the University is not sensitive to enrolment increase issues. On the contrary the University has allocated funds to accommodate enrolment pressure but has also been attentive to ensuring a balance of strong academic programs across the University.

In light of SCUB's Report the President has requested that President's Council to do a comparative cost analysis program by program. This analysis will hopefully be completed by the September Senate meeting. Unfortunately, this type of cost analysis can be highly misleading and very inaccurate due to the differences between programs and colleges. However, President's Council will try to address this issue sensitively with a careful analysis.

Dr. Hussein stated that it was SCUB's intention to do an initial analysis in order to start debate and get everyone thinking about the issues. The Committee had no intention of misleading or lifting the data that was provided to them out of context. As Chair of SCUB, Dr. Hussein stated that he takes exception to members of Senate describing the SCUB Report as misleading. The Committee was trying to be as sincere as possible in their attempt at assessing the proposed budget. The University provided the figures used in the report to them. As such, the Committee worked with the figures provided and did not feel it was within the Committee's mandate to verify the information provided to them. Enrolment figures for the Regions were included as part of the data requested. The Committee is very pleased that the University will be undertaking the study proposed by the President.

Dr. Hussein also stated that the Committee understands that the money spent per student on a day-to-day instruction per program will not be the same for all programs. The Committee's intent was to identify patterns associated with costs jumping for year to year within the various programs.

Dr. Fisher commented that he was concerned with a few process issues surrounding the SCUB Report. He is concerned that for the second time in a two-year period that SCUB has produced a report that outlines the vast differences between the two Colleges. Dr. Fisher also stated that in last year's SCUB report the Deans were singled out as not consulting enough with their programs regarding the budget process. In SCUB's report this year it seems that the Deans were not consulted regarding why there are vast differences in the allotment of the budget funds. Dean Fisher expressed that he looks forward to more discussion in next year's budget process of the above issues.

It was also noted that it would have been more appropriate for the Committee's comments on the strategic review of Regional Operations to have been raised when the review went to Senate. It was disturbing for the comments to have been raised in the SCUB Report when no comment/feedback was received at Senate.

Dr. Hussein stated that the timeframes for SCUB are so tight that consultation of the Deans and budget holders was done away with last year. SCUB also received feedback from budget holders that they did not want to do presentations to SCUB as it shadowed the University budget process. Dr. Hussein commented that if the deadlines for the budget process could be extended, SCUB would be very willing to consult budget holders again. Dr. Hussein stated that when the Regional Operations Strategic Plan was discussed at Senate, he commented on the report as a Senator not as Chair of the SCUB Committee. The Report of the Strategic Review of Regional Operations was not forwarded to SCUB for comment prior to the Senate Meeting where it was approved and discussed. Therefore, SCUB felt it was appropriate to review the Report during its budget deliberations.

Dennis Macknak, Director of Regional Operations stated that this is the third year in a row where SCUB has singled out the Regional Operations budget as a main target during the budget process. He is very concerned about the fallacious data that is being provided to SCUB for use in its report. He finds the SCUB Report very shoddy and stated that he felt a student could write a better report than what SCUB had provided to Senate. He suggested that the timeframe for SCUB's review of the University budget should be extended to provide for more discussion and consultation. He also expressed that more resources should be provided to the Committee so that they could do a proper assessment.

Dr. Hussein also stated that SCUB is supportive of the Regions; however, they would like to have the Regions budget explained and justified so it can be unanimously supported. This point was raised in last year's SCUB Report as well. Dr. Hussein reiterated that the University provided the information for SCUB to use for its report.

Dr. Kelm suggested that perhaps it is time for SCUB to move towards an analysis beyond numeric data as the figures produced tend to lead to division between the Colleges. The comparisons derived from such data also are unequal as the differences between the two Colleges is too great. Dr. Kelm stressed that we should be assessing the budget across the University as a whole not program by program.

Senator Ben Malcolm stated that perhaps the SCUB Committee and the University administration could work more closely at an earlier stage in the budget process in order to make things more participatory not reactive.

Dr. Jago closed the session stating that it is his hope that the report brought forward in September by President's Council will have some steps that SCUB and the University administration can review in order to take steps to ensure the process is more participatory not reactive.

3.0 Business Arising

Dr. Hussein commented on the SCUB Report to Senate on the University Budget. He stated that he checked the University budget information that was provided to SCUB. It had identical line items for expenditures in both the Regional Operations budget and the program budgets. This includes both the operating and the salary portions of the budget information. When SCUB did its comparison of the above budgets it was not comparing "apples to oranges" it was comparing the same thing.

Dennis Macknak stated that he believes the problem arises in that the expenditures in the Regional Operations budget include salaries and the expenditures in the other budgets do not.

4.0/5.0 Report of the Chair & Vice President (Academic)

Vice President Poff stated that she had wished to report on the budget letter that the Ministry is to provide to the University. The Ministry has assured Dr. Jago that this will be a positive budget for all the universities. The budget letter is expecting the letter within the week.

Dr. Poff commented that it is her understanding that the University will have to deliver some FTEs designated in at least one particular area but a number of them will be undesignated FTEs. We are expecting a modest increase over the budget that was submitted to the Ministry.

The Vice President commented that the student applications numbers are up considerably over last year. As of March, there has been a 30% increase in numbers. The current application level stands at 2747 and the Registrar's Office is currently receiving approximately one hundred applications a week.

Part of UNBC's success stems from being in the top 10 in the MacLean's Magazine ranking for two years in a row which has helped raise UNBC's profile nationally. Another issue is the demographics of our province. There are many more students between the ages of 18-24 in our province who are seeking education (this trend is expected continue for at least the next ten years). This means that the BC universities will be under significant pressure to respond to the growing increase of students seeking post-secondary education.

Vice President Poff requested Alex Reed, Associate Vice President Student Services/University Registrar to give a report on the take-up rate of the UNBC Scholars Program, which was approved last year. Alex Reed reported that the take-up rate has been phenomenal, close to 85% of those students who were eligible have accepted our offer. This is wonderful news for UNBC as it signifies that many of the top students from northern schools will be embarking on their academic careers at UNBC.

Likewise the scholarship application rate for traditional scholarships has tripled this year which indicates that the academic skill set of those students who obtain scholarships will be higher than has historically occurred.

Dr. Poff stated that the University does a yearly assessment of where the University can improve for the MacLean's ranking. The University tries to raise its scholarship and bursary monies every year as the University doesn't have as many or as much money due to its youth. The other areas are the number of faculty teaching at UNBC and student class size.

Dennis Macknak requested that Alex Reed as Secretary to Senate work with the Educational Media Services to come up with a solution to the technical problems created by the existing sound system in the Senate Chambers. Unfortunately, the sound system that was installed when the Senate Chambers was built has never met the needs of those who take part by teleconference. Neil Campbell stated that Educational Media Services has a number of innovative ideas for a new sound system and will be happy to work with Alex Reed regarding a change.

Alex Reed commented that this is an ideal opportunity to consider changing the sound system as the compliment of people who will be on Senate after the University comes under the University Act will be considerably higher. As the Senate Chambers will need to be reconfigured in order to accommodate the higher number, the sound system could also be changed at that time.

The President reported that the University has now engaged an architect, Russ Chernoff, for the construction of the new laboratory building and the renovation of the existing laboratory building.

Consultation is now underway with regard to the different program elements of the new building. The University is planning to commence construction in April 2001 with the expected opening in September 2002.

5.0 Report of the Vice President (Academic)

Vice-President Poff reported that she is now the President of the Provincial Degree Program Review Committee (DPRC).

She also reported that many of the Committee members of the Senate Committee on First Nations & Aboriginal Peoples took part and were involved in the planning of the recent 2000 Retain Conference. The 2000 Retain Conference is an international conference regarding the recruitment and retention of aboriginal students.

The Youth Day and the Conference were an overwhelming success. It was expected that there would be 350 aboriginal high school students attending the Youth Day; however, well over 500 students had registered by the morning of the Youth Day. The students took part in fun and social activities and then attended mixed sessions and career counselling activities.

The International Conference was held after the Youth Day. The conference was on retention and recruitment of aboriginal students. There were speakers from all over the world including the United States, New Zealand and South Africa. Over 300 delegates were present for the conference.

Blouw/Morrison

That the attached proposal for Institute status from the Northern Secretariat of the BC Centre for Excellence for Women's Health be recommended to Senate for approval.

Effective Date: Requires Board of Governor Approval

*(Proposal and the Terms of Reference for UNBC Centres and Research Institutes Attached)

REFERRED

Dr. Blouw stated that there is a requirement for centres and institutes to provide a 5-year budget and have an expectation of budgetary self-sufficiency. The Northern Secretariat budgetary figures that were appended to the proposal give the projected operational requirements. However, the reduced funding to be provided by the Centre of Excellence for Women's Health in Vancouver to the Northern Secretariat significantly changes revenue expectations. Dr. Blouw has agreed to attempt to assist the Northern Secretariat to move forward with proposals for long-term self-sufficiency in funding.

Dr. Jago also noted that the Policy for Centres and Research Institutes states that "The University fosters the development of innovative and interdisciplinary research in specialized areas through the establishment of externally funded and supported centres and research institutes." The terms clearly state that "external" funding is a requirement. The President is very sympathetic to the Northern Secretariat and the work that it has done; however it would not be prudent for Senate to adopt an institute that does not meet criteria outlined in the Policy on Centres and Research Institutes.

S-2000 05.B

Morrison/Broadbent

That the proposal for Institute status from the Northern Secretariat of the BC Centre for Excellence for Women's Health be referred back to the Senate Committee on Research & Graduate Studies that it may be brought forward to Senate when there is greater clarification about the funding issue and the ability of the Northern Secretariat to meet the requirement of budgetary self-sufficiency.

Minutes of August 30, 2000 Meeting of Senate

The meeting of the Senate of the University of Northern British Columbia was called to order at 1:00 PM on Wednesday, August 30, 2000 in the Senate Chambers at the Prince George campus.

Present: President Jago (Chair), Vice President Poff, B. Anderson, L. Ball (via teleconference), S. Beeler, M. Blouw, R. Broadbent, N. Campbell, J. Curry, K. Egger, R. Fisher, D. Macknak, B. Malcolm, J. McAmmond, B. Morrison, L. King, A. Reed (Secretary to Senate), B. Haffner (Recording Secretary)

Regrets: S. Dehkhodaei, M.E. Kelm, L. LeBlanc, L. Mlynarczyk, G. Pedersen, C. Schell

The Chair of Senate welcomed both Dr. John Curry and Jeffrey McAmmond to their first Senate meeting.

The Chair also recognized that this would be the last meeting for Lay Senator Liz Ball. Senator Ball has accepted the position of College Librarian at Selkirk College in Castlegar, BC. She has served one three-year term and was re-appointed to the Senate by the Ministry to serve a second three-year term. The Chair of Senate thanked Senator Ball for her very strong support and work on Senate and its Committees over the last several years.

Block Transfer Credit - Northern Studies BA and Yukon College

S-199912.06

Poff/Fisher

That UNBC give block transfer credit equivalent to 60 credit hours towards the Northern Studies BA at UNBC to students from Yukon College who have completed one of the following two year Northern Studies Programs at Yukon College: Diploma of Northern Studies: General Studies; Diploma of Northern Studies: Native Studies; Diploma of Northern Studies (Outdoor and Environmental Studies).

Effective Date: Immediately Upon Requisite Approval

CARRIED Unanimously

Dean Fisher noted that the above motion was revised to delete one of the four streams that students could take at Yukon College as the general transferability of the courses in the Yukon College Diploma of Northern Studies: Northern Justice and Criminology was not transferable to UNBC. Also, it was decided that both institutions would make it clear that the block transfer agreement was from Yukon College's Northern Studies Program to UNBC's Northern Studies Program only. If students wish to take any other program at UNBC they would have to go through the usual transfer credit process.

S-2000 08.04

Poff/Morrison

That the discretionary powers of the Deans to waive requirements not be exercised to universally either deny or grant the request for any given required course.

Effective Date: Fall 1999

CARRIED

Vice-President Poff reminded Senate that there was an issue with respect to some difficulty about a prerequisite where it was indicated that the Dean was universally waiving a requirement. At a previous Senate meeting one of the faculty Senators had some difficulty with this discretionary use if it was not universal. The issue was referred back to SCAPP and the above motion was brought forward to clarify the issue.

National Student Exchange (USA) Agreement

S-2000 08.08

Poff/Morrison

That the agreement between the National Student Exchange (USA) and the University of Northern British Columbia be approved.

Effective Date: Fall 2000

CARRIED

President Jago stated that this is a very significant step for UNBC in student exchange agreements. Vice-President Poff commented that there are 112 participating universities in the agreement. The Vice-President indicated that the National Student Exchange Agreement is like having 112 campuses to choose from. It provides our students with a large number of opportunities for international student exchanges.

These new exchange agreements will be advertised to students by press releases, the student newspaper, information sessions, the dynacom system and possibly a poster campaign.

The Vice-President also noted that student exchange agreements also have information about faculty exchange agreements as there is the expectation that the initial student exchange will lead to a richer relationships that may result in faculty exchanges.

Effective Date: Fall 2000

CARRIED

Senator Curry stated that he is interested in participating in the NAFTA Northern Mobility Consortium Project.

Dr. Blouw stated that three government agencies (one from Mexico, one from the USA and in Canada the HRDC) are providing funding for this project. They are providing funding not only in support of the student exchanges but also with some administrative support within each university involved in the project.

Certificate in First Nations Language

S-2000 08.17

Poff/Fisher

That the proposed Certificate in First Nations Language be approved.

Effective Date: Fall 2000

CARRIED

Dean Fisher stated that this certificate will be part of a proposed diploma program that will be coming soon to Senate for approval. This will enable mostly First Nations people to train in a First Nations language. The program relates particularly to an opportunity that the BC College of Teachers for the certification of First Nations language speakers to be First Nations language teachers in the school system. This certificate and the proposed diploma coming soon to Senate will be part of that qualification. The rest would be education courses out of an undergraduate education training program. This is the beginning of a series of proposals that will be coming to Senate. Students who complete the program will get a four-year qualification rather than a permanent teachers qualification. This is being developed through particularly through Dennis Macknak and Margaret Anderson in Regional Operations as well as Dr. Paul Madak, Chair of the Education Program at UNBC.

Dennis Macknak advised Senate of the consultation process that was involved in setting up this certificate and the follow-up diploma. Several meetings were put together with the First Nations Studies Program, the Education Program and language instructors from northwest in Terrace. The meetings were very well attended (20-30 language instructors were present).

A large meeting was also done in the Chilcoltin area in Williams Lake with the Cariboo Tribal Council and the T'solting National Government. Potential students were from School District #57 who are teachers currently. They are very excited, enthusiastic, and supportive of such a program. They see a real relevance between UNBC and their own futures and in recovering and maintaining their languages.

Senator Anderson stated that she is really excited about this certificate and the follow-up diploma program.

President Jago wished to thank Dennis Macknak and the others who put this proposal together and have been involved in the consultative work with the communities.

S-2000 08.20

Poff/Fisher

That the new course, PHIL 202-3 Comparative Religion be approved.

Effective Date: Fall 2000

CARRIED

Dean Fisher commented that the PHIL 202-3 course also arises out of consultation with the community. A representative of the Chaplaincy Committee at UNBC suggested it. Dean Fisher met with the representative a number of times and then met with the Chaplaincy Committee as a whole. The proposal was developed with input from Dr. Alex Michalos, Chair of Political Science (who also deals with Philosophy courses) and through the previous discussions with the Chaplaincy Committee.

Effective: August 30, 2000

CARRIED Unanimously

President Jago expressed his thanks to Dr. Blouw for the considerable amount of work that he has invested in the UNBC Research Strategic Plan and in putting together the nominations that have stemmed from the Canada Research Chairs Program. This has been an enormously time-consuming. Dr. Blouw in his usual way has taken the leadership role, has done a lot of the work himself and has fostered very open discussion on this proposal. President Jago thanked him on behalf of Senate.

The President stated that we will meet the deadline, he is not sure how many other institutions will be able to do with such tight timelines. Meeting the deadline was considered absolutely essential so as not to jeopardize the interests of the University. Our heartfelt thanks again to Dr. Blouw.

President Jago stated that two people's names will be forwarded to the Canada Research Chairs Program:

Dr. Lito Arocena - who will be nominated immediately, and
Dr. Greg Halseth - who will be nominated in December 2000.

The Nominations Committee received seven nominations. They were given full and frank discussion. Of the seven, one was a field, two were external to the institution and the rest were internal. Where individuals were nominated, they were all outstanding academics and scholars. The Committee worked within the criteria that they had outlined prior to receiving any nominations.

Dr. Jago wished to thank the people who took the time and effort to submit nominations and to say that in every case the nominations were people of outstanding quality who would have represented UNBC very well.

The above item was deferred until the next meeting of Senate where it could be clarified by the Acting Dean of the College of Science & Management or the Chair of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning what the issue was. It was thought that the issue was the maintenance GPA but concerns were raised that it was admission to the program at the discretion of the Program.

4.0 Report of the Chair

4.1 Budget Update

President Jago vacated the role of Chair of Senate in order that he may address Senate as President of the University for the Budget Update section of the agenda. Dean Fisher assumed the role of Chair for this portion of the meeting.

For information on the Supplementary Budget proposal, please refer to the background information that was distributed previously in the September 20, 2000 Senate Meeting agenda package (or contact Bethany Haffner in the Registrar's Office for a copy).

The President reported that after the budget was tabled and approved by UNBC's Board of Governors, the Government announced its budget for the 2000-2001 budget year. The Government included more monies than the universities had lobbied for in their budget than what UNBC had moderately estimated.

The additional revenue was approximately $390,000. The University waited until the Fall in order to see if the other budget assumptions made in its budget came to fruition (ie. enrollment numbers, etc.)

There was discussion over the summer in President's Council about how to disperse the additional funds. It was decided that the highest priority was to fill positions where there was an identifiable critical need (ie. faculty positions and staff positions).

Each of the major budget heads plans (the Deans and Associate Vice-Presidents) were asked to submit detailed budgets identifying such positions of critical staffing area needs to the President.

The intention was to deal with as many of the needs as possible. The total value of the submissions received was approximately one and a half million dollars. Nothing among the requests received were superfluous. The decision was then choosing the most critical needs among the list of critical needs that was provided.

There was general discussion with the Program Chairs and the members of President's Council in September regarding the proposed recommendations.

The President stated that usually with this type of budgetary proposal he would take the recommendations first through the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB); however, at present SCUB is reconstituting its membership. The President apologized for not following the normal process.

He felt though that as he couldn't take the proposal through SCUB, that it was important to bring it to Senate. This was done for two reasons, namely: 1) Senate has the authority through the University Act to provide advice to the President, who in turn advises the Board of Governors on budgetary matters, and 2) one of the proposals deals with administrative restructuring (ie. Associate Vice-President Research/Dean of Graduate Studies change to Vice-President Research, etc.).

The President stated that in recommending this supplementary budget to the Board that the University will spend the approximately $300,000 in additional funds. This is with the understanding that the annualized impact of the expenditure will be more than the $300,000. In effect, the University is going to the maximum extent of spending to try to meet with current staffing issues. As well, the supplementary budget proposal is being done with the understanding that these recommendations will somewhat revise the existing academic administrative structure.

Revised Honours Policy for CSAM Programs

Dr. Egger reported the motion now before Senate states what the intent was in terms of the Revised Honours Policy for CSAM Program. The policy was passed previously by the Senate but there was confusion over two issues. The issues were the maintenance GPA and the issue of discretion of the program. The maintenance GPA has now been included in the motion. The issue of the discretion of the program which was seen to be arbitrary has now been spelled out in the motion that it is contingent upon Program resources and the availability of a faculty member willing to supervise the research thesis.

4.0 Report of the Chair

4.1 Update on the Laboratory Building

Dr. Jago reported that the University commenced a process of widespread consultation after receiving a commitment of funding from the Ministry of Advanced Education for a Laboratory Building.

The process included the following stages:

- Develop a program of facilities to be included in the building;
- Proceed through a process that is established by the Province to review building projects from the schematic design, to the design development and finally to the blueprint phase, then to the tendering of the building, etc.

Have been involved in this process since the spring.

The University got into the value analysis segment of the planning process in late September. On September 28, 2000 (known as Black Thursday to those on the planning committee) the formal value analysis session was cancelled as the building was determined to be overpriced and oversized. The committee went through a grueling 6-7 hour process in effect to see the building virtually lost to the University. They could not build the building for the money that the Ministry had committed and would not build it in the scaled down version that emerged.

Subsequent to September 28th, the decision was to carry on with the process of designing the building but to scrap the original budget. This is a high risk because it means that the University does not have an approved budget for the building and hence does not have an approved building program. The University will now have to go back to Treasury Board to request approval for the new proposal.

None-the-less the Committee undertook the task and had many meetings with the University's consultant in Vancouver and here at UNBC.

The President enthusiastically reported that at this stage the University is still moving forward.

The Committee has now redesigned the building and it will still meet our functional needs. Some of the offices that were originally intended to go into the Laboratory Building have been removed but the Committee felt at one point that all the offices would have to go.

The Committee had to scale down the building by removing some of the non-essential areas (ie. Corridor widths had to be narrowed and lounge areas had to be removed. The original major elements such as the labs and preparation rooms are still included in the design.

The Committee is now in the process of moving toward the design development phase and hopes to have it completed by December 12, 2000. It is also hoped that the University will have government approval for a revised budget for this building by the later part of January. The aim is still to have the building under construction beginning in late April – early May.

4.2 Update on the Review of Health Sciences at UNBC

The President reported that the University has responded to the medical crisis that occurred in June and to the subsequent health rally, and to the demand for UNBC to be part of the long-term solution to the medical crisis in the North, by establishing the following:

- An internal committee that consists of the President, Vice-President Academic, Vice-President of Research and the Dean of the College of Arts, Social & Health Sciences with the aim to begin to get more informed around the issues.
- A joint committee with the University of British Columbia to look at collaboration around the health sciences.

- A local committee consisting of various health professionals and community leaders to provide the University with community advice.

The internal committee has also done the following:

- Sought advice from other practitioners operating in Northern British Columbia.
- Hired a researcher to work with the internal committee.
- Identified the best practices in the world and have visited universities in Australia, Finland, Norway, Sweden, Iceland and various parts of the United States in order to consult with leaders in rural and aboriginal medicine. The visits have been very worthwhile and the committee members have received an overwhelming amount of cooperation and feedback from these leaders.

Normally this type of process would be dealt with through Senate or a committee of Senate. However, as the University is dealing with very exceptional circumstances and time was of the essence, the committee felt it was important to move quickly to define some options for UNBC and to get those options out into the public domain for discussion.

The aim is to invite that discussion around clearly defined options in the form of a concept paper at the time of the Northern Health Summit that is being held in Prince George on January 18, 2001.

After that time, the committee will bring back the concept paper to Senate for general discussion. This discussion at Senate and consequent feedback from Senate will take place before specific program planning is done at the Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning level.

The President stated that he believes it was fortunate that the University decided to work in this intensive and expeditious fashion because of the current political circumstances that may bring the opportunity for action. As a university, UNBC needed to be ready when the opportunity arose and informed with options that are bold and exciting. This type of reaction will set not only a provincial agenda but a national one and may open up entirely new vistas for the University to serve our constituency in ways that we would not have thought possible even a few months ago.

4.3 Government Tuition Fee Freeze Policy

The President also reported to Senate that the Government has renewed the Tuition Fee Freeze Policy for another year.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President Academic and Provost

The Provost reported that her visits to the Scandinavian countries proved to be an exceptional experience. She was able to see many different types of medical schools and has come away from those visits with a medical jargon that she did not possess previously to visiting these institutions. It is interesting to note that some of the Universities she visited started in much the same circumstances that our community is facing, in that, they were trying to retain doctors in the North and due to there being no training programs in the north for health care professionals.

It was also interesting that the problems of travelling to and from the institutions she visited were the same as those we face in having to travel to Vancouver and back in order to fly out to other areas.

She also reported that in June she assumed the Chair of the Degree Provincial Review Committee (DPRC). A lot of studies have been commissioned by the DPRC such as the nature of undergraduate and graduate degrees and the future direction for education in the province.

The Provost also reported that she just finished chairing the province's Performance Measures for Science and Technology. She will be able to distribute this publication once it is public. It is a useful document for this province on the relationship between education, science & technology and research & development on wealth creation.

S-2000 11.07 (Information Attached)

That the new degree proposal for a Bachelor of Education be approved.

Effective Date: Proposed Start Date Fall 2002

CARRIED Unanimously

The President and the Vice-President Academic thanked Dr. Paul Madak for his leadership role and the enormous amount of work he and his program did in putting together the new degree proposal for a Bachelor of Education. The consultative process that was done in meeting with the community on this proposal was extensive.

Dr. Fisher stated that he sees this as an historic moment for the University. If this degree is approved and implemented this will be a major step forward in terms of serving our communities, in terms of providing an important educational opportunity in the North and in increasing student numbers at the University.

He strongly supported the President and Vice-President Academic in their praise of the work that has been done by the Chair of Education, Dr. Paul Madak and the Education Program. In particular he would like to recognize and thank Dr. Madak for his contribution. He would also like to thank Dr. Judith Lapadat who also did a lot of work on this proposal and thank the Education Program generally who supported this effort. The proposal has been in the works for sixteen to eighteen months.

Dr. Fisher stated that this is a quality degree and feedback from other institutions already indicates that this is a proposal that pushes the envelope on teacher education in BC. This is an innovative proposal that will set a new standard in teacher education in northern British Columbia. Consultation and support from the institutions with existing teacher education programs was also sought and provided.

This degree will seek to address what is clearly becoming a crucial issue of shortage of teachers throughout the Province and in the north in particular.

4.0 Report of the Chair

Dr. Jago gave a full report to Senate during the last meeting concerning various initiatives that were underway around health education. Those initiatives are still underway and discussions are fairly intense at this point in time. Dr. Jago indicated he will have something to report to Senate in January 2001.

4.1 Program Costing

Dr. Jago reported on the background for the program costing document received. The genesis of this was the report that was submitted to Senate last year by the Senate Committee on the University Budget. UNBC runs parallel budget processes from November through to March every year where the senior administration of UNBC is involved in putting together a university budget to submit to the Board at the end of March. At the same time, the Senate Committee on the University Budget shares the same information that comes forward to senior management and undertakes to review the budget requests that are being made to understand the strange intentions within the institution, areas where there is need for more funding. SCUB then presents its own report on the budget that goes to President's Council before we bring forward our final budget proposal to Senate. At the time our budget proposal comes forward, Senate has the advantage of the budget proposal from Senior Administration, the report of SCUB and then can have a full discussion and can make a recommendation to the Board of Governors.

Over the past four years, as UNBC has been budgeting in this open and transparent fashion, it has been a happy outcome from Dr. Jago's view point that every year SCUB has essentially concurred with the budgetary recommendations being made by Senior Management to the Board of Governors but there has always been attached to that general support for the budget a certain number of recommendations or areas of concern. Dr. Jago has undertaken every year to ensure that UNBC addresses those issues that are raised by SCUB. In the fall of the year, Dr. Jago reports back to SCUB on how UNBC has managed to deal with the issues they have raised or not to deal with them as the case may be.

Last March when SCUB presented its report on the University Budget, it had undertaken an exercise of costing out the various academic areas of university operations including regional operations and had arrived at the conclusion that the cost of regional operations were significantly out of proportion to other university costs and that they should be addressed. Responding on behalf of the Senior Administration, Dr. Jago felt that the discovery part was an interesting first attempt at costing but it was not a very professional exercise that in certain areas it had committed the error of comparing apples and oranges. Nevertheless, the costing exercise had been undertaken and Dr. Jago felt it important to make the commitment to undertake a more detailed and more professional type of costing analysis and bring that back to Senate. The commitment was to bring a report that can be useful both to the university budget planners and to SCUB for this current round of budget planning.

Dr. Jago indicated that what was done with this report was to try to focus on direct and indirect academic costs. The cost of academic operations of the university, funding raising, the President's Office, Finance, Human Resources and the administrative costs associated with running significant parts of the university have not been included in this report. The figures to educate a student shown in the report is a partial cost and is not a full cost. The focus has been on direct academic costs and indirect academic costs such as academic support services and those costs have been allocated as carefully as could be done. The allocation was done sometimes on a EET basis and other times on a basis that reflects the actual use of these services. This was done through very detailed and careful consultation with budget heads throughout the university. As a result of that, UNBC has been able to identify the costs of the various programs. A note of caution to not read too much into these numbers since the cost of educating students for example in biology are those included by biology for teaching students in biology and possibly in forestry or other subjects where biology faculty are involved. These are program costs, the program being an administrative unit consisting of faculty and staff that are associated with that program. In any event, UNBC has determined to the best of its ability the varying costs across the university and has then been able to put regional operations within the context of the variability of costs program by program across the university. UNBC has used KPNG to provide a degree of objectivity and professional support for this exercise to make sure it was done properly.

In summary, the President said that the costing program report is a snapshot. The figures do not take on any significant meaning until this exercise is performed over a series of years and trends occur and what is received is a better sense of relative costs of the various programs. For example, in the Nursing Program the costs are very high but those costs are done at a time when the Nursing Program is going through a transition from the post-diploma program to the collaborative program with the College of New Caledonia. Dr. Jago assured the Senate not read too much into these numbers. The program costing is an interesting and valid exercise to give Senate a sense of what are the various costs program by program across the university. Since this issue was raised by SCUB last year, it was incumbent upon the President to do the same exercise perhaps more rigorously and to table into Senate something that is a more representative costing of university academic programs.

C. Yates informed the Senate that the study data used was for the actual 1999-2000 year and performed on actual numbers. The demand statistics that were used or the EET's (Equivalent Enrolment taught for students in the classroom) information that was used was from the Fall 1999 statistics only. C. Yates said that in terms of replicating this study in the future, the object will be to capture all of the demand data for the full academic cycle, but for this particular study, the only data captured was from the Fall 1999 Courses. The information has been taken to SCUB and reviewed by the Senate Committee on University Budgets.

D. Poff indicated that there is always assumptions in these kinds of studies, and this procedure was performed with the highest of intentions of standards where C. Yates dealt equally with with academic directors and deans in attempting to do a definite assumption. D. Poff said that they have had a fairly rigorous shot at trying to make a very problematic exercise less problematic but quite clearly people can raise other assumptions that were missed or that confound the data and this is always a difficult task. This exercise was made as reasonable and transparent an exercise as possible.

Dr. Jago indicated that it is not surprising that the regional costs are higher than some of the program costs on campus but that does not in any way weaken UNBC's commitment to regional operations. The president said that he would want to look closely at those costs and make sure that they do not get out of line, but he stressed that this report now gives a basis for tracking these costs from year to year and provides some methodology for doing same.

Dr. Jago told the Senate that the statistics account for two thirds of the university budget, and that there are a lot of unallocated costs not captured in this cost analysis. The President said that is why this is a very limited exercise and the risk being that the report may be misinterpreted by these figures. The intention of UNBC is to do this program costing every year and the value is to stick to a methodology year after year for a series of years. UNBC would move to the usual annual enrolment figures that would give a more accurate picture and that was a point that was made very strongly when the President met with the Chairs. In some programs, there is a fairly significant fluctuation in enrolments between first and second term. In the case of regional services, enrolments are significantly higher in the summer than certainly in the fall, and therefore this study is biased against regional operations. This analysis would be done strictly on the basis of direct and indirect academic costs rather than full costs.

The President said that the feedback channel is through SCUB, and budget planning through the deans with program chairs and that is performed in a consultative fashion. When the information arrives to D. Poff's or P. Hibbitt's level, it is shared with the Senior Budget Heads in an open and consultative fashion. The feedback channel for indirect costs can also be channeled through C. Yates. The Program Costing Methodology will be refined from year to year where changes will be charted.

D. Poff indicated that there are a number of issues that explain the variance of the EET's in programs such as nursing because this program is in a transitional period and experiences far fewer student enrolment than will be incurred in the future. D. Poff said that some of the costs for nursing will always be more expensive because there are some legal requirements and liability issues. For example, the Nursing Program criteria require a 6-1 ratio of supervisors to students when the students are doing medical procedures like giving injections in the hospitals. Some of UNBC programs are much more expensive and in other provinces this is taken into account by weighted FTE's that shows that these are more expensive programs because of these reasons. In some cases, the costs will go down as enrolment numbers go up and certain factors cannot be adjusted because of the legal and liability issues.

Dr. Jago said that the figures from the costing report should be read in a sophisticated way because of the understanding of the dynamics around programs and differences between programs. Dr. Jago gave Chairs of the Programs and Senate the assurance that these figures would not be used in a simplistic way. Dr. Jago stressed that it would be far better to do this costing exercise on a weighted FTE or weighted EET basis. The President said that we have the curious situation in the Province of British Columbia where we have a system of weighted

FTE's where the differences between programs in the various levels of programs are taken into account but are not founded on the basis of weighted FTE's but are founded on the basis of undifferentiated FTE's, and this has created problems within the universities listed. Dr. Jago reported that where some institutions suffer the consequences of this system other universities benefit from that, and UNBC is not a university that suffers from that funding arrangement.

J. Curry reported that SCUB Committee was concerned with the high cost of regional operations and this issue was to be put aside and other issues will be dealt with in the coming year. Next year's committee may revisit the report, however, the SCUB Committee was satisfied with this program costing report as it stands.

4.0 Report of the Chair

4.1 "Defining Reasonable Health Expectations for the Citizens of Prince George"
Task Force Report presented by Murray Krause for Roy Stewart, Chair, Prince
George Citizens Health Group

M. Krause thanked the Senate for allowing him the opportunity to make a presentation on behalf of the Prince George Citizens Health Group. He indicated that their group is approaching who they believe to be the leaders of the community for their support and endorsement of the report entitled, "Defining Reasonable Health Expectations for the Citizens of Prince George". In this package, he said the Senate has also received a resolution, which his group is hoping that the Senate will approve and endorse. In his brief discussion, M. Krause said there may be some concerns about the wording in the resolution, and he proposed that the Senate endorse the spirit of the material rather than spending their time rewording the document but instead on how they might improve the wording of this material.

M. Krause announced that he was one of the Vice Co-Chairs of the Prince George Citizens Health Group, and he had been recruited from the perspective of his work for the Central Interior Health Society and other work he has performed with community health development in Prince George. He shares the Vice Co-Chair seat with Tom Griffith, a local businessperson, and with Roy Stewart, a well-known lawyer in the community. R. Stewart is the Chair, and together they form the executive of the Prince George Citizens Health Group. He said that they believe that they have a board of directors of about 7,000 people and they think that these same people showed up at the health rally in July 2000. M. Krause indicated that these identical people have some expectations that something will happen in our community, and this has made the group conscious as they have proceeded with their report. There is a smaller committee made up of 80 people who have met occasionally since that rally and these people have taken on the leadership role to ensure that things move ahead. He said they want the citizens to know that they are making progress.

M. Krause acknowledged that the recommendations are now before the Senate Members, and there were four critical ones that came out of defining the health care services for Prince George. He says that the group already understands that in many areas things are already moving ahead and they realize that even waiting for these resolutions to pass that progress is being made. He sites that UNBC has been very active, and that CNC, the School District, the City of Prince George, and the Northern Interior Regional Health Board are also all doing what they can and as quickly as possible to make things happen and improve the health services in our community.

M. Krause indicated that Dean Melba Holm from the College of New Caledonia was recruited for a three week period to take all of the existing reports that were generated by our community over the last ten years and attempt to amalgamate them into one report. He said that it was acknowledged prior to her undertaking this, that there were about eight or nine reports sitting on the shelves at the hospital and other places that had lots of community development and consultation that had gone into them. Some of the recommendations of these reports had been implemented over time but most of the recommendations had gone unattended. The group wanted to look at those reports to see how many of those recommendations were still valid in terms of them improving health services in Prince George. He said that Dean Holm was very good at her task and she kept the group very focused, and she also informed us that we did not have time to canvas the whole north and consult with every community. M. Krause conferred that Dean Holm has done an admirable job in going through the reports and trying to glean from them what was important.

M. Krause informed the Senate the key recommendations are restated in the resolution. He said it was important to acknowledge the role of UNBC. The growth of enrollment at UNBC is strongly influenced by the state of health care services available in the northern region of the Province of British Columbia. The ability to recruit professionals in any institution in the community is difficult with this concern of the state of health care services available in the northern part of the region. His group believes that the stabilization of health care at Prince George Regional Hospital is at this point of critical concern and is a number one priority, and they have mentioned it in the resolution as the number one priority.

M. Krause said that the overall health of the population of the northern region directly influences the true growth and development of UNBC in Northern British Columbia and this will be part of the resolution. He stated that the University of British Columbia wishes to encourage and assist in the achievement of the goals and objectives set out in the report for the reasonable health expectations for the citizens of Prince George. As confirmed in the report, M. Krause said that the core recommendations were that we stabilize Prince George Regional Hospital operations, that we establish a Northern Centre of Excellence of Prince George for issues of rural and remote health care including research in the provision of education for health professionals. The Group realizes that UNBC has been working very hard at this one particular recommendation. He stresses the recommendation to improve the overall health of the community and the health status of the residents of Northern British Columbia. This encompasses as what has been known as the social determinants of health and so it is just not putting Band-Aids on people but is to foster and develop better strategies on ensuring that people stay healthy. He stated that we have one of the worst health statuses in health units in the province, and the group acknowledges that we have that health status for a variety of reasons. The reasons are our northern climate; many people work in industrial-based jobs, a higher incidence of smoking, alcohol and drug consumption and other factors. We know that these are important factors in stabilizing and helping people keep people healthier. A lot of work the group believes needs to go in this area and reestablish Prince George Regional Hospital as the fully functioning regional referral centre and trauma centre for Northern British Columbia.

Mr. Krause informed the Senate that it was a little less than 10 years ago that Prince George had almost achieved the aforementioned status and then with specialists moving away and no longer specialties being offered in Prince George that the district has lost this ability. He says it goes back to Minister Farnsworth's mention that Prince George has special status, and the group believes it does despite what other centers of the province might think. Prince George has that status because it is located in the center of the province, we provide services to the largest geographic area in the province and we do not have another regional hospital just down the road. He says we must provide services that are appropriate and needed by the residents of Northern British Columbia. We can move into areas about what kind of specialties can we offer here and what are appropriate specialties to be offered here in terms of the number of people that might use it. We want to be responsible in terms of that development but acknowledge that we will not have every service provided in Prince George because neither is it economically feasible nor does it make sense to offer it in Prince George. We need, however, to be moving closer to being that regional referral centre and trauma centre for Northern British Columbia.

M. Krause indicated that these were the recommendations and the Senate has the resolution before them and the group hopes the Senate will support it. The Group thinks it is very important that we maintain the momentum that we have been able to achieve to date. The City of Prince George has endorsed a similar resolution, as has the Northern Interior Regional Health Board. On January 16, 2001, the School District #57 endorsed the resolution in principle. T. Griffiths is scheduled to speak to the UNBC Board of Governors on January 20, 2001. A similar resolution is going before the Board of Governors of the College of New Caledonia next week and the Regional District on January 25, 2001. He says their group is trying to get the support of elected and the most important institutions in the community as quickly as possible. He stated that they would only be successful with this resolution if they can establish and maintain some momentum. He says we need to make those that fund both health care education and other services in our community aware that it is the will of the citizens of Prince George and the northern part of this province that these changes occur.

Dr. Jago acknowledged that the efforts of M. Krause, R. Stewart and T. Griffiths to step into this endeavor as concerned citizens leading concerned citizens was a very significant act on their part. He said that UNBC certainly recognizes the gravity of the situation and the need to take concerted effort on behalf of people living in Northern British Columbia.

D. Poff acknowledged and welcomed B. McGill, the new Dean of the College of Science and Manager, to his first Senate Meeting.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

D. Poff suggested to Senate that The Faculty Recruitment and Retention Committee Report be tabled for the next Senate agenda since she has only had a half of the members sign off on the final report due the members unavailability. As soon as she obtains everyone's signature on the main report, she will place it on the web. At the next meeting of Senate, she would be prepared to answer any questions about the methodology, the process, and the recommendations.

D. Poff indicated that some of the recommendations that the Committee gave some time ago adopted a budget attached to this exercise for $1,022,000 of activities to support recruitment and retention of faculty. Those monies were one-time only salary savings and they attach with them a burden because they recognize that these were connected to ongoing matters that would make this an attractive university to come to and to stay at. Many of these items that were introduced in this budget will have to become part of their continuing operating budget. As UNBC proceeds in the next couple of years, she says we will have to obtain that amount of money minimally if not exponentially.

D. Poff told the Senate the other recommendations were:

- (1) That the annual travel budget for conference presentations be increased. In fact, this year they have increased the budget from $54,000 to $100,000.
- (2) That UNBC establish a Graduate Excellence Scholarship based on academic achievement in order to recruit excellent students for faculty to work with. They have established an annual scholarship fund of $200,000 designated for high achieving graduate students.
- (3) That UNBC set up an additional amount of internal seed money for the development of new areas of research. This fund will include eligibility for researchers who wish travel monies for the development of collaborative research with colleagues at other universities. This reflects people's concern that it costs a lot of money to get out of the north, and that the number of people who want to do collaborative work are all working collaboratively with colleagues at other institutions. This recommendation facilitates these colleagues being able to do some face to face meetings with their counterparts.
- (4) That UNBC continue to offer such programs as TIPS which is a teaching professional development workshop program and other professional development workshops to assist in teaching.
- (5) That UNBC set up a small fund to support practice-based workshops for practitioners like our nurses who have to attend some kinds of workshops that are not conference-based presentations.
- (6) That UNBC develop a working model like 'people are our strength' and develop a routine of celebrating our achievements. There was some concern that when we celebrate our achievements it seems like public relations activities rather than for our university community. We tend to celebrate our positioning in MacLean's Magazine and that sort of thing and hope that it gets picked up by the media because of publicizing our institution. Instead, she said we should be doing things more internally and recognize people in a more meaningful way internally to illustrate that we really do care and not just for the press we receive but because these are good things in themselves.
- (7) That UNBC undertake a review to streamline, and where possible, eliminate committees. This is in recognition of how burdensome it has been as a small new university to build a university given that universities operate on a collegial basis and a small group of people are overwhelmed by the amount of committee work that they have to do.
- (8) That UNBC Senior Administration provide more venues and opportunities to be accessible to faculty. As UNBC has grown, the President and Vice-President do not seem as present and as involved on a day to day basis with faculty, and faculty would like more opportunities to discuss things on an ongoing basis with administration.
- (9) That the forms and organizational structures be reviewed to minimize and streamline processes. This has been a concern from the beginning at UNBC that we have tended to become very bureaucratic in our sign off forms and our procedures very quickly and that we still need to do some work to minimize the amount of bureaucracy in place.
- (10) That more decision-making authority is devolved to Chairs of Programs.
- (11) That UNBC actively promote leadership from within and foster a climate of responsibility, respect and accountability.

D. Poff asked Senate to recognize the contribution of Dr. Peter Jackson who had a strong leadership role in this proposal. She said he had a very impressive initiative and his role and that of his colleagues was particularly appreciated in developing what is innovative and a stream of engineering that fits UNBC quite nicely. She thanked P. Jackson for his contribution.

P. Jackson informed the Senate that there were a number of people across Canada who were involved in this endeavor including Joe Ackerman and Leslie King.

D. Poff indicated that this is a unique and new plan between the University of British Columbia and the University of Northern British Columbia, and this is being handled differently than most new degree initiatives. There are a number of registrarial issues to be worked out between the two institutions – differing procedures that have to be made user friendly and consistent for students so they do not get caught between the two institutions. UBC took this to their Senate Committee on Academic Planning and Policy and said their registrar would contact the UNBC Registrar and that they would work out the details rather than a totally worked out joint-proposal. She said that there are still some elements that are procedural to be worked out between the two registrars offices and there is a good will and intention to work out those details and to bring them back and report them to Senate. There is the focus to expedite the approval of this degree so they can move forward through the DPRC, and we can proceed to implementation. D. Poff requests that Senate approve this motion with the understanding that there are some details between the institutions to be worked out and that there is a commitment on the part of both institutions to work out the details. She said there is also the commitment to report back when all those conditions have been met so that Senate gets reassured that all these matters have been finalized and dealt with.

B. Malcolm proposed that on page 39 of the submission under the paragraph ‘Consultations with Other Institutions’ describing the CNC transfer program in engineering, the last phrase of the second last sentence ‘with some supplementary coursework required’ be deleted. B. Malcolm informed the Senate that this last phrase is not correct. B. Malcolm says that CNC has a block transfer arrangement with UBC as they do with eight of the colleges and university colleges. B. Malcolm spoke to T. Jackson before the meeting and he is in agreement with B. Malcolm's suggestion.

B. Malcolm indicated an issue that he raised at SCAPP that concerns when the residency requirement process gets worked out between the registrars, that the students who are in the CNC transfer program not be disadvantaged if they choose to start their engineering education at CNC and then switch to UNBC and do this program.

C. Schell said that residency requirements are still being discussed in SCAPP and a suggestion was made that there be a 30 credits minimum residency at both institutions that precludes college students from transferring into second year.

R. Fisher as Acting Librarian commented that the library will support this initiative and that the library staff has projected an annual expenditure of $20,000. He is not sure whether that goes with the degree proposal or when all the new courses actually go through the process. D. Poff responded that it usually goes with the courses, and she indicated that this might not be appropriate as this should have happened as part of this initiative and this may need to be thought out. She said this is a rather unique circumstance and maybe the process does not work that well given the way UNBC is proceeding in this instance.

4.1 "Defining Reasonable Health Expectations for the Citizens of Prince George"
Task Force Report presented by Murray Krause for Roy Stewart, Chair, Prince
George Citizens Health Group

Dr. Jago focused on the presentation that was made to Senate at the last Senate Meeting by Mr. Murray Krauss on behalf of the Prince George Citizens Health Group. A similar presentation was made to the Board of Governors by a different member of the Health Group.

The Board passed a motion to receive the presentation, but deferred any follow-up motion to Senate as the Senate is the senior academic body within the University.

The Senate Committee on Organization and Rules has drafted the motion below, instead of doing a resolution as presented to Senate originally, as the mandate of the University extends beyond the jurisdiction of Prince George or the Prince George region. With the proposed motion Senate can express general support and sympathy with what is being addressed, without debating the specifics of the program that was presented.

Fisher/Schell

To the extent that is consistent with the responsibilities, purposes and jurisdiction, the Senate of the University of Northern British Columbia resolves to address Northern Health Care issues and through its educational programs and research, seeks to improve health care in Northern British Columbia. It is in this context, that UNBC approves in general the goals and objectives outlined in the report and titled, "Defining Reasonable Health Expectations For The Citizens of Prince George", prepared by the Citizens Health Group and presented at the last Senate meeting on January 17, 2001.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost – after question period

5.1 Question Period

Dr. Jago said they had decided and he had met with the students senators that felt that Senate was somewhat overly structured and there was little opportunity for raising issues of general concern or discussing matters. Dr. Jago went on to say that they will be putting on the agenda a general question period for any senators to raise any matter, that might be of concern to Senate, either now or in the future. So matters that are raised, for example could be referred to a Senate Committee for further discussion before they come back to Senate. Dr. Jago then asked if there were any such questions or issues that Senate would like to raise at this point?

Senator Dehkhodaei raised the general concern about study conditions in the Library (ie lighting and furniture). Students have raised the issue of the importance of having a comfortable area when studying. This issue is also raised in the course UNIV 101. Students are expressing a concern that some corners of the library are very dark in terms of lighting for studying.

Dr. Jago referred the matter to the Senate Committee on the Library and to President's Council. A report will be made back to Senate by the Senate Committee on the Library and/or through President's Council.

He also noted that he has received a petition from approximately 350 students requesting a wider array of courses to be offered at UNBC, particularly in the languages, philosophy, and fine arts areas. Dr. Jago stated that he will be responding to the petition soon and will report back to Senate as this matter falls precisely within the mandate of Senate.

5.2 The Faculty Recruitment and Retention Committee Report

Dr. Poff stated that the Faculty Recruitment and Retention Committee now has approved the release of the final draft of the Faculty Recruitment and Retention Committee Report (excepting Dr. King as the were technical problems in sending the report to her).

Dr. Poff noted that not all of the recommendations are uncontroversial. The themes under the main category capture consistent commentary from a number of the people surveyed. She stated that the report would be put on the web so everyone could have access to. Dr. Poff has started to ask people if they are willing to serve on an implementation committee to look at the recommendations on an ongoing basis.

5.3 The Strategic Academic Plan: Terms of Reference

Dr. Poff noted that the “Strategic Academic Plan: Terms of Reference” was unanimously approved at the last meetings of the Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies and the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning. She is now bringing it forward to Senate for consideration and approval.

The last University plan spanned the period from 1997 to 2002, the document she is now presenting is not a University plan but is to be the plan that carries the academic part of the University through the period 2002 – 2007. The need for a planning document came out of the strategic retreat of the senior management of the University in December. They reflected on a number of issues, opportunities and challenges facing the university. This includes the kinds of issues like the Northern crisis in medical care. Dr. Poff stated that as UNBC continues to be a community based university we will be frequently challenged to respond to initiatives that are outside of our normal planning process. Given the number of those type of initiatives that have happened in the last few years, it was deemed timely to undertake a strategic academic planning exercise.

The terms of reference have been discussed for information at the last Board of Governors meeting and are coming to the Senate for approval. Dr. Poff reviewed the purpose of the plan (The information was distributed at the February 14, 2001 Senate Meeting, if you require a copy of The Strategic Academic Plan: Terms of Reference, please contact the Senate Assistant at (250) 960-6334).

Dr. Poff noted that the membership of the steering committee was slightly amended after a meeting with Program Chairs to include two positions for a Program Chair from each College.

The task force committees have been organized in terms of holistic, broad topics rather than narrowly defined academic functions in the institution. These committees have intentionally been broadly construed. Two items of central importance have been included in each committee’s terms of reference, they are 1) being a regional institution and 2) an institution committed to First Nations.

As the terms of reference of each committee are likely to overlap in some areas, it is hoped that some of the committees will be organized to meet together for some of their discussions.

Dr. Poff reviewed some of the different types of committees that have been proposed:

UNBC: A Small Research-Intensive University – UNBC is a small research-intensive university. This is a source of pride to our faculty, staff and students but is also a source of stress as we are hearing the comment that more infrastructure is needed.

The Wired University – UNBC has high performance computing, has become a member of BC Net, and is now doing web course development. As such, UNBC as a University, has not come to terms with what UNBC is to be like as a “wired university”. UNBC needs to determine what our role is to be in distributed learning.

Membership on each committee will be organized on principle of inclusivity. In particular, there will be representation from academic administrators, non-academic administrators, staff, students, faculty, Board of Governor members and alumni as appropriate.

Dr. Jago noted that in preparing this type of structure, the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost has gone through a thorough consultative process which has resulted in the document has being revised. The membership of the task force committees is to be determined, however we see student representation (with some of the students being Student Senators) on all committees. This will be an opportunity for our students to get directly involved in a major planning exercise for the institution.

Senator Schell commented about the creation and staffing of seven new committees with a very intensive schedule. In order for there to be true representation, it may take a lot of encouragement for people to get involved in the process. Especially to recruit committee members, that have not already been on many committees, so that a fresh perspective will be contributed.

It was noted that any broadly based consultative process puts a real burden on people and often on those who are already burdened. At the same time, the alternative is a management-controlled planning process that is not very successful.

There was no further discussion of Senate on the Faculty Recruitment and Retention Committee Report.

4.0 President's Report

Dr. Jago vacated the Chair to Dr. Poff for the discussion of the proposed 2001-2002 University Budget.

4.1 2001-2002 Budget Discussion & Review

4.1.1 Brief Introduction by the President

The President stated that one of the unique circumstances that occurred with this year's budget cycle was that the Ministry announced the Provincial budget before the end of the fiscal year. In the past, the University's budget was approved prior to the Provincial budget with assumptions made by the University as to what the Provincial budget would contain.

For more information on the President's Introduction please refer to the document "University of Northern British Columbia – Proposed Operating Budget April 1, 2001 to March 31, 2002. This document can be obtained by contacting the Senate Assistant at (250) 960-6334 or the Office of the Director of Institutional Analysis/Planning at (250) 960-5565.

4.1.2 Detailed Presentation of the 2000-2001 Budget Proposal

Carol Yates, Director of Institutional Analysis/Planning spoke about the budget process and took Senate through information that was handed out in the document "University of Northern British Columbia – Proposed Budget 2001/02. This document can be obtained by contacting the Senate Assistant at (250) 960-6334 or the Office of the Director of Institutional Analysis/Planning at (250) 960-5565.

4.1.3A Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB) Report

Senator Dehkhodaei reported on behalf of SCUB. He stated that SCUB did not get underway until well into the school year. The Committee reviewed the TA Funding issue. The Committee had a lot of difficulty this year in terms of having information provided to them with enough time for them to review it. The proposed University budget was provided to the Committee at its last meeting so there was not enough time for SCUB to make a full report or any recommendations to Senate this year.

4.1.3B Senate Discussion

Dean Fisher asked a question about two faculty positions that were not included on Appendix 8. It was noted that one of the positions was included but was grouped as a Management and Administration position. The other position was removed as a budget request before the budget process began.

Senator Broadbent asked what the University was doing to ensure that the budget for labour and wages was spent in the most cost-effective way as the University's most expensive budget item is labour and wages.

Dr. Jago stated that the labour and wages area is quite high but this situation is the comparable at all universities. UNBC is a knowledge based enterprise, in a knowledge based economy and the cost of labour has increased significantly over the past several years.

In order to cope with this area, the University is actively seeking other areas of funding such as the Canada Research Chairs and using endowment funds to help fund positions. As UNBC does not want to end up penalizing people for being at UNBC, it must still pay competitive salaries and attempts to do so by leveraging funds, fundraising, seeking special government grants and encouraging the government to consider the indirect costs of research.

Dr. Blouw also commented that his familiarity with other institutions and the performance measurers that UNBC has in place for our faculty members and our students indicate that UNBC is doing very well in terms of the performance that the University is receiving from our faculty and staff. In terms of research performance the faculty are outstanding and student performance is encouraged by our faculty members and is equally strong.

Senator Schell asked for clarification regarding the cost difference in the salaries - regular (approx. 17% increase) vs. the salaries - faculty and instructor (approx. 4% decrease).

Carol Yates commented that the reason there is a cost difference is due to a benefit accord that still needs to come through on the regular – salaries budget (the regular-salaries account is made up of staff mostly). This item also influences inflation in the statistic which is not necessary in the faculty statistic).

Dr. Jago also commented that some high cost staff positions have been created this year to support faculty. This also increases the salaries-regular statistic.

Poff/Morrison

That the draft policy: Review of a College Dean Prior to Reappointment: Terms of Reference, and Selection Procedures be approved.

Effective Date: September 13, 2001

CARRIED

6.0 Question Period

For the benefit of the new senators, C. Jago advised that the question period was placed on the agenda last year at the request of the student senators to give senators an opportunity to raise questions.

S. Goring questioned some of the wording of the Terms and Conditions for Scholarships and Bursaries and obtained clarification from C. Jago. In particular, he asked for clarification of the second bullet under the section, "Partnership Arrangements" which states, "UNBC may accept all donations to the Endowment regardless of origin, subject to the donor's complete acceptance of the arrangements of this document". He asked if the origin of donations ever comes under question by the UNBC Senators. C. Jago advised that there is a process in the case of substantial donations, especially where it involves "naming", whereby the Terms and Conditions are brought to the attention of Senate and the Board of Governors for review. He emphasized that the Director of Development follows the policies in place and together with Senate and the Board of Governors ensures that donors are all people and institutions that UNBC would be proud to be associated with.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning

Requirements for Graduation with a Double Major from CSAM

C. Jago explained to the new Senators that with regard to the business brought forward to Senate, the majority of the work takes place at the Senate Committee level and these issues are ratified at Senate. This is to be forwarded to the Board of Governors for information.

S-2001 09.05

Morrison/King

That graduation with a double major from the College of Science & Management requires completion of the requirement of each major. ## 8.0 Other Business:

8.1 Annual College Reports –Written and Oral Reports

C. Jago stated that under the UNBC Act, the annual reports of the Colleges to Senate are required.

College of Science and Management

The following are some of the highlights of Dean, B. McGill's verbal report:

- Recruitment of faculty remain an ongoing process which is extremely time consuming
- When faculty leave on sabbatical, it is a challenge to ensure their courses continue to be offered
- Faculty have been extremely successful obtaining research contracts and grants
- A College retreat was held to develop a mission statement
- Student numbers in CSAM seem to be consistent with last year.
- Wait lists for courses have been cleared thanks to T. Albee of the Registrar's Office, the instructors and the CSAM Chairs who have all worked together to accommodate the students
- Space on campus remains a challenge.
B. McGill voiced the sentiment, "We are all in this together. We will make it work".

In answer to B. Morrison's question, B. McGill confirmed that CSAM has taken in eight Ph.D. students this year.

College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences

The following are some of the highlights of Dean, R. Fisher's verbal report:

- Thanked the committed group of faculty and staff in CASHS for their contributions. The successes in this College in the past year is due to the team effort
- Provided updates on the Bachelor of Education Program, the Northern Medical Program, Masters in Disability Management and the Social Work Program
- Reviewing student recruitment – figures for the College slightly increased
- Continued commitment to the Regional mandate
- In a number of Programs there is a strong group of second generation Chairs, but in others there are difficulties filling the Chairs positions. Searches are underway
- Faculty recruitment remains a concern in areas such as Professional Programs
- Faculty have maintained active research programs.
R. Fisher answered L. King's question with regard to specific First Nations programs.

On behalf of Senate, C. Jago thanked the Deans for their verbal and written reports. It was stated that these are the two most important reports received by Senate.

8.2 Report of the Registrar

Call for Nominations for Honorary Degree recipients and Friends of the University

A. Reed clarified the criteria for these two awards and advised that a second “Call for Nominations” will be going out this week in an attempt to obtain additional nominations. To date, only three new nominations have been received. The short-list of nominations received in previous years will also be brought forward for consideration.

4.1 President's Report

C. Jago wished to forego his report given the size of the agenda.

4.2 UNBC Education/Enrolment Plan, 2002-2006

C. Jago explained the UNBC Education Plan briefly. He stated that it was a plan that the University was requested to submit to the Ministry of Advanced Education this past summer relating to the number of program initiatives taking place at UNBC that required additional funding. The Ministry wanted to be clear about enrolment expectations and funding implications. It was also linked to the fact that UNBC will in the near future be coming under the University Act of BC with the repeal of the UNBC Act.

The Ministry provided a consultant to assist with the preparation of this plan under the leadership role of the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost.

As there were no questions raised, the Chair stated that this document has now been made public through Senate.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost

D. Poff stated that for the sake of expedience she too would forego her report to Senate.

5.1 Interim Report of the Strategic Planning Committee for the Northern Medical Program to the Inter-University Planning Committee

D. Poff provided a presentation providing some history and context. Overheads were shown of the current working model for the proposed program and explained that the committee would be going into the next process of planning. M. Blouw, R. Fisher and D. Poff had their first open meeting with about 130 of the faculty of the medical school at UBC to bring them up to date, having only previously met with a small subset of the faculty and administration in planning the working model. This second stage allowed for planning and discussions with the faculty at large. There was a significant level of interest and commitment at this meeting.

To provide some history, D. Poff advised that a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) was signed approximately one year ago. Representatives of UNBC travelled to rural and remote medical schools around the world to gather information in educating and retaining faculty members for rural and remote northern communities. It was found that where medical students were educated was quite significant in that overall, once qualified, they tended to practice in the type and size of community in which they were trained. The information gathered was shared with UBC and resulted in the MOU, one of the features being a plan to develop a northern medical program within the UBC medical education and medical degree.

Two committees were established, a Strategic Planning Committee which was made up of eight members from UNBC (including D. Poff, M. Blouw, R. Fisher and other faculty members) and eight members from UBC (including Associate Deans, medical faculty and administrators from UBC) who planned the curriculum, which was then presented to the second committee. The second committee being an Inter-University Planning Committee (IUPC), also made up of UNBC representatives. As well, there were nineteen sub-committee, also with UNBC representation. This process ended in August and the reports of these committees are available for review. From the fifteen proposed models, this recommended model developed. Students were also involved in the planning exercises.

D. Poff showed and explained a diagram of the proposed program including the “Planning Principles”. A significant part of the proposed program will take place in Northern British Columbia with the first thirteen weeks taking place at UBC, as it is a UBC degree and also as UBC is a large research intensive institution, it would provide the experience necessary for the students. The students would then come to the north for the majority of their class and instruction time. The proposed program would in effect encourage students to have their clinical experience in northern and rural practice, but there was legitimate concern that they also get some experience in large hospitals where they may have the opportunity to see some of the kinds of disease patterns that are rare and not often seen in smaller hospitals of the north. In addition, it was important that students be given choices regarding their training and the UBC curriculum for example affords them the choice to do their clerkship internationally.

The last thirteen weeks of the program (referred to as “courses in Prince George”) gives the students the opportunity to look at areas where they feel there is a gap in their educational experience before taking their licensing exam.

D. Poff stated that this working model is the model that UNBC is strongly committed to. All the information gathered with regard to education and retention of doctors suggests that this will be a good curriculum. There are capacity building issues and capital issues for UNBC. There is a commitment from the government of 12.5 million dollars towards the building of the required facility to run this program and appropriate budgetary needs have been planned for.

R. Fisher commended the UBC group that worked closely with UNBC on this initiative over the summer. He felt that this small group clearly understood our issues. He stated that this was definitely a joint effort and that we owe a lot to their flexibility and willingness to see our view of the world. From our standpoint, we now have an excellent working model and could not ask for better.

C. Jago advised that attached is the full motion, including a number of subject clauses. These subject clauses are consistent with the motion he understands is also being presented to the Senate at UBC today, so there is consistency between the motions being presented.

Questions were answered at this time.

S-2001 11.01

Fisher/Malcolm

That Senate approve in principle the establishment of the Northern Medical Program as a distinctive stream within the University of British Columbia MD degree program in accordance with the general model proposed in the Interim Report of the Strategic Planning Committee (SPC) for the Northern Medical Program (NMP) to the Inter-University Planning Committee (IUPC) and in accordance with the Memorandum of Agreement signed by UNBC/UBC on January 18, 2001, as proposed.

Effective Date: Fall 2004

CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

6.0 Question Period

P. Weiss asked why there is no minor in Business offered at UNBC. B. McGill stated that he could not answer the question, and would take it back to the Program. C. Jago confirmed that it would be taken under advisement and a response would be report at the next Senate meeting. Tabled

B. Morrison asked that the Chair comment on the MacLean's ratings. C. Jago advised that a press release was released and provided the following briefing. Of the various rankings, we are up in six and down in nine and there is a new category that we are very low in, the number of International students. We are not actively recruiting in this area. In some of the categories where we were up: the incoming average of first year students, the number of our students who are winning national awards, our competitiveness for NSERC grants. He felt that we were up in the areas that were quality indicators. Of some of the rankings we were down: the number of faculty with Ph.D. We have been doing a lot of hiring and a lot are people who are close to completing their Ph.D.'s. C. Jago stated that we are disappointed in dropping from #10 to #14 and we will be undertaking a rigorous analysis, but it is quite frustrating that we have significantly increased our investment in students, through scholarships and bursaries and yet we have not moved at all in this category. He stated that sometimes our actions do not always lead to the intended results because the bar is so high in terms of moving up one rank in a particular standing. The support of the local press and individuals outside the University has been very good. D. Poff added that there are a number on anomalies which will change next year, one being that the majority of faculty were hired at the same time and because of this a large number went on sabbatical last year. Tenure and tenure track people are not hired to replace sabbatical leave.

C. Jago added that he would never complain about MacLean's, we have benefited from them and we are making significant progress in building this University. He does not regard this year's drop in ranking as a setback.

Motions S-2001 11.29 to S-2001 11.36 grouped together as follows:

L. Keener provided an overview of the changes taking place in the Math Program. He thanked all those involved in getting these changes to Senate. The review in Mathematics was conducted last year and two years before to Computer Science. A large numbers of useful recommendations were obtained to improve these programs.

In Mathematics, the changes are more substantial than in Computer Science. These changes were in part to meet the recommendations of the external reviewers. As well, a redesign of the upper division sequence courses was done in order to increase the opportunity for students to take different 400 level courses without increasing the number of courses actually offered. This required a substantial restructuring of particularly 200, 300 and 400 level courses. Part of this being a reaction to trying to do a little more with the faculty that we have. In some cases, the original curriculum was simply not optimal.

In Computer Science the changes are largely confined to the lower division. It is anticipated that the changes to the upper division will be brought forward to Senate next year.

Motions S-2001 11.37 to S-2001 11.52 grouped together as follows:

C. Jago voiced concerns with the wording of this motion under the section "Implications for College Staffing". He requested an explanation of the "staffing implications" mentioned so that Senate is fully aware of what it is approving. It was stressed that Senate needs to know clearly if there are "staffing implications" before these new courses are approved.

L. Keener advised that there was a separate document as the reference indicates, which has purposely not been included in this package (a lot of supporting documents having been used in the earlier stages). The Math Program has a six year plan for offering the Mathematics courses. The plan shows for the coming year for example, a total of 37 courses being offered. This year 36 were offered, the 37th course being MATH 230 which was introduced in response to the Environmental Engineering Degree. It was indicated at that time that there would be staffing implications. It is not expected that in the next six years we will ever increase more than one beyond what is being offered this coming year. In addition if necessary, if there are staffing implications to be faced, there will always be at least one course that can be removed. In effect, the program can follow the new curriculum without any major staffing implications. L. Keener also confirmed that every course that will be in the calendar is offered in the six-year plan and those not offered in the six-year plan have been removed.

B. McGill agreed with the comments that were made by L. Keener. L. Keener confirmed that the curriculum changes are not predicated on an increase in staffing, except for the MATH 230 course which is not in this package (having been passed previously).

Motions S-2001 11.53 to S-2001 11.57, with the exception of Motion S-2001 11.54 (see highlighted below), grouped together as follows:

R. Fisher made a point about the addition of ENGL 170, which is part of what is being approved. He stated that English has difficulty in meeting the demand for these courses and at this stage that demand is made largely through the English TA budget. Since English itself is growing fairly rapidly, he did not feel we could continue to do so and that ENGL 170 is an issue that CASHS will have to address in the next budget round. R. Fisher stated that this is a problem that he would wish to solve, but at this time does not have a solution to and is in no way critical of the inclusion of the course in the Math Program.

L. Keener confirmed that there were discussions in English Program meetings and believes there was a motion supporting this. K. Lawson was no longer in attendance and available to provide information. L. Keener added that he understood the Dean's concern, in fact, in the original form of this motion there was an alternate route which would have been two courses that involve expository writing in a substantial way, but unfortunately that was too vague and SCAPP appropriately removed it as it would have been very difficult for the Registrar's Office to determine exactly what those two courses were

In addition to R. Fisher's comments, D. Poff added that every year as they look at how many sections of ENGL 170 is offered, more sections could always be offered because of the "wait-list" of students, and the institution always has to grapple with how many resources it wishes to give to ENGL 170 given that by doing so they would be taking away from perhaps other permanent positions. She confirmed that this has always been an issue.

With regard to numbers, L. Keener stated it is unclear how many Math majors there are because many of our majors double with Computer Science, but certainly not in excess of 45. He stated that the number in any given year is approximately 10, a huge number for the University.

C. Jago suggested that the motion be revised as proposed by the Vice-President (Academic) to exclude at this point Motion S-2001 11.54, which relates to ENGL 170, and to deal with this one as a separate motion so that it is very clear that if Senate supports this, then the Program is obligated to deliver. He stated that as Senate, we are all obligated to operate in accordance with the directions provided by the governance bodies of the institution, whether it be Senate or the Board of Governors so we have had a discussion and should deal with this as a distinct item.

C. Jago emphasized that this specifically brings ENGL 170 into the Math Program as a required course.

D. Poff wondered about the implication of this, if one would have to do a preferential selection for these students. C. Jago stated that to the extent that this is a required course for these students, they would have to be given some preference for admission to ENGL 170. A. Reed confirmed that from an administration standpoint, this would not be a problem for a small number of students.

A. Reed was asked to explain how priorities for course admission is determined. He explained that basically any student who has declared that program as a major would be given priority and to date there has never been a problem accommodating these requests.

C. Jago asked for clarification of this motion, it seems to relate to the Computer Science Program not Chemistry/Computer Science. The hardcopy attached to this agenda reads:

- “To change the reference of CPSC 241-3 (Discrete Computational) from CPSC 241-3 to CPSC 142-3 in the Computer Science Degree requirements”.

In that motion there is no reference to the Chemistry/Computer Science Program as shown in the agenda. There seem to be a difference between the motion that went to SCAPP and the one that is coming to Senate. A. Reed suggested that if it is not caught at this meeting, that it will be caught at the December meeting of Senate, if there is one, or at the January meeting and he will ensure that a place in the calendar is made as it relates to the calendar copy. C. Jago reiterated that A. Reed is to check to ensure that we pick up the implications of this to Chemistry, seeing that the material presented to Senate relates to changes in the Computer Science Program only and that the motion should reflect that. L. Keener and B. Malcolm both confirmed (having both attended SCAPP) that this motion as presented is for the Computer Science Degree only. The motion should therefore read as follows:

- “That CPSC 241-3, Discrete Computational Mathematics II, be changed to CPSC 142-3, Discrete Computational Mathematics II, in the Computer Science Degree requirements be approved as proposed”.

Original Motion S-2001 11.67

That CPSC 241-3, Discrete Computational Mathematics II, be changed to CPSC 142-3, Discrete Computational Mathematics II, in the Chemistry/Computer Science Joint Degree be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: Fall 2002

Amended Motion S-2001 11.67

C. Jago advised that this motion is quite separate from the impact on related programs (Motions S-2001 11.73 to S-2001 11.88) and hence is being treated as a separate motion. C. Jago questioned why Biostatistics is being removed. L. Keener advised it is because Mathematics majors are required to take MATH 340 and typically take also MATH 341. These two courses together cover all the material in MATH 342. In the past, because of way we originally prepared the calendar, MATH 342 was a course that students had taken inappropriately, so it needs to be removed from this category.

S-2001 11.87

Poff/Morrison

That MATH 342-3, Biostatistics, not count as an upper year Mathematics course for any Mathematics Degree – Major, Minor, Joint Major or Double Major, be approved as proposed.

Approve the Pilot Early Placement Program for First Nations Languages

R. Fisher advised that the text is self-explanatory. This is a pilot project that will be carefully evaluated, but it is an effort to provide language training for senior high school students. C. Jago knows that this is being attempted in the northwest and asked if this issue has come up in other parts of the region we serve.

R. Fisher responded that there has not been a request from other regions to do this.

S2001 11.100

That the Pilot Early Placement Program for First Nations Languages in the Northwest Region in collaboration with School Districts be approved as proposed.

New Course Approval – MATH 610-3

M. Blouw asked that this motion be tabled as SCAPP met after SCRGs. SCRGs passed this motion, but SCAPP failed to pass the motion which would approve the MATH 410 course, the co-course of this one. With Senate's agreement, M. Blouw requested that this motion be tabled until SCAPP can deal with MATH 410.

C. Jago stated that this motion is to be "Tabled", is not debatable, and is to be referred back to the originating committees.

9.1 2002 Meeting Dates for Senate and SCOR

C. Jago advised that Senate normally meets on the second Wednesday of every month. The Board of Governors meeting scheduled for the end of March has been changed to April 6, 2002 and the budget will be going forward to this meeting. As it is standard practice for the budget to come to Senate before it goes to the Board of Governors, usually a special meeting of Senate is called, but in this instance it would seem more appropriate to change the regular Senate meeting in April from April 10th to April 3rd to accommodate the budget without calling a special meeting of Senate.

C. Jago thanked all guests and observers for attending this meeting of Senate.

CARRIED

2.0 Approval of the Public Minutes of November 14, 2001 – Deferred

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

The clarification regarding the Minor in Business has been attached for information. This question was asked by Senator Weiss at the November 14, 2001 Senate meeting and the response was submitted by Dean McGill. It was explained that the lack of a Minor in Business is principally a problem of resources.

W. McGill explained that there is no philosophical reason why this is not offered nor is there any desire not to, it is simply a matter of resources and getting enough faculty to be able to offer it. If it could be done, it would offer all kinds of opportunities for combinations with other disciplines and programs.

3.1 Minor in Business

Dealt with under “Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate”, 3.0.

4.0 President’s Report

C. Jago wished everyone a Happy New Year. He reported that the budget process has begun and as was indicated at the time the budget guidelines were released, he will be getting in touch with the student members of Senate and the student members of the Board of Governors to arrange a consultation process when President’s Executive Council is involved with setting the budget.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost

D. Poff gave a brief update on the Strategic Planning Process. Prior to the holidays the Task Force committees brought in their reports and the next stage will be to start drafting a first draft of a Strategic Plan taking into consideration all the reports from these Task Force committees. It is hoped that there will be a new Strategic Plan to be brought to Senate by May or June.

R. Broadbent stated that he is in possession of a draft copy of the Regional Task Force. He asked if there was a finalized copy and if it was for public consumption. D. Poff stated that those reports were used to tie in to the final document and did not believe it was prepared for public consumption. She will consult with the Chair of the Planning Committee. R. Broadbent stated that there were a number of excellent recommendations in it and would like to have a final draft when completed. He was assured of this.

7.0 Committee Reports

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning

D. Poff advised that with the indulgence of Senate she will logically group the motions that are related and deal with them as “Omnibus Motions”.

Effective Date: Fall 2002

Motions S-2002 01.03 to S-2002 01.09 grouped together as follows:

S. Goring stated that the rationale for these was that they have not attracted sufficient numbers and wanted to know how many students are allowed in these courses. R. Fisher responded that the student numbers in the Women’s Studies courses, in particular the 300 and 400 level courses, have been very small – often fewer than five or six – which is used as the benchmark for a course to proceed as a regular course.

R. Fisher stated that this change in the curriculum for the Women’s Study Program, a Précis attached, is the result of the external review of the program, the Dean’s Task Force that looked at the curriculum and more recently the Coordinating Committee which coordinates Women’s Studies. The effort has been to develop a better more coherent, more logical program that will hopefully attract more students.

S. Goring was concerned that seven courses were being taken away and only four courses being added. D. Poff added that there are other courses that will be coming forward for approval, but have been “Tabled” and referred for different reasons, some because they had First Nations content. She stated that it is our practice to refer all these courses to the Senate Committee on First Nations and Aboriginal Peoples(SCFNAP). Those proposals will then come back and there are other courses requiring further deliberations. R. Fisher stated that in the end there will be about two or three fewer courses and believes it will be a better program.

New Degree Proposal – Political Science & History

F. Abdulla stated that in choosing required courses for the program he noticed that the History courses were the same as the History degree itself and wanted to know if consideration was given to adding any other courses. He stated that it seemed there were more required courses from Political Science than from the History Faculty. R. Fisher confirmed that those are the required courses for a Major in History and confirmed that the students do have more choices around the History courses.

S-2002 01.12

That the new degree proposal for Political Science & History, be approved.

Effective Date: Fall 2002

CARRIED

Change Course Requirements – CORE

S. Goring wished to confirm that CORE will no longer be required as long as a course from each of the various quadrants is taken. R. Fisher stated that this proposal is a result of a lot of discussion among the two Colleges. The latter confirmed that students may take the CORE courses, but do not have to and the CORE courses will now become optional.

L. King asked if students were aware that GEOG 100 and ENVS 100 is a cross-listed course, being the same course, ENVS 100 being listed under Social Science and GEOG 100 under Natural Science. She stated that students should understand that although these courses are taught a little differently, they would only get credit for one of them. W. McGill confirmed this is correct. He advised there has been a long discussion about this and it was agreed that having them in different quadrants was at least an acceptable way of dealing with these two courses and the approach that people have to them. It may not be a totally satisfactory arrangement to everyone, but it is workable.

C. Jago confirmed that this will be effective as of next academic year. D. Poff stated that our general practice is to advantage students. When a policy is introduced where some students are mid stream in their study, they are given an option of "grandfathering" the old policy if that suits their purposes or allowing them to graduate under the new policy. We try not to disadvantage students.

At the November 14, 2001 meeting, Dean Fisher asked why BIOL 350-3, Ethnobiology was excluded as an elective for the Geography degree requirement. The attached document has been included to provide an explanation. The Deans will discuss this issue for further clarification.

4.0 President's Report

C. Jago advised Senate that the provincial government has released its new policy on tuition fees. The policy will lift the tuition freeze and will restore to universities and colleges the authority they have under the Universities Act, in the case of the universities, to set their own fees through their Board of Governors. There are now no restrictions with regard to setting of these fees. The announcement was consistent with the advice that the Minister received from the University Presidents' Council which was to restore to the universities the authority they have under the Universities Act and to allow them to deal with issues regarding fees in consultation with their constituents and students in a way that is sensitive to the differences among the universities and sensitive to the varying pressures faced. Although we now have freedom from government control, we must exercise that authority in a responsible manner.

As tuition fees are now dealt with as part of the budget process, we have been conversing with students on both the Board of Governors and Senate, students who are members of the Fees Committee, on the Senate Committee on the University Budget, and may also be including a broader segment of students. The Senate Committee on the University Budget will be provided shortly with various models that have been developed with different tuition fee scenarios. Wide opinions are being sought to determine an appropriate level of tuition fee increase for next year. The Chair stated that without a doubt, tuition fees will be rising next year and that there will be other changes to the UNBC fee structure.

The provincial budget expected next week will also be important to UNBC as we find out the specifics and determine how it will affect us. At this time, the Chair answered questions from Senators.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost

D. Poff stated that she usually briefs Senate on external activities of the various Councils and Boards where she represents UNBC, but these committees have not met recently and seem to be waiting until the provincial budget is announced.

6.0 Question Period – No additional questions at this time

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning

D. Poff explained that the package distributed at this meeting, consisting of new motions as noted above under S-2002 02.01, was calendar related and apologized for the late distribution. The Chair stated that this is an unusual Senate meeting as normally all materials are channelled through the appropriate Senate committees before coming to Senate, however in this case these items are coming directly to Senate and have not had the benefit of going to SCAPP.

The Chair stated that the motions would be moved by page numbers with motions numbers being assigned later by the Senate Secretariat.

Lifting of the Moratorium on Admissions to the Nursing Program (page #25)

D. Poff explained that it was important to get this to Senate as it would mean a lot to people in northern British Columbia who are reinstating the Post-diploma Baccalaureate Nursing Program. The staffing requirements are only to finish filling the two vacancies that we currently have in that Program.

8.1 Report of the Acting Registrar - None

8.2 Calendar Changes

The following proposed motions have been reviewed by the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost and by the Acting Registrar and have been brought forward for review and approval.

Amendment to the Undergraduate/Graduate Sessional Dates

K. Kielly confirmed that the changes to the Sessional Dates, which were already approved at an earlier meeting, are as follows:

- the inclusion of the 2003 Convocation date - May 30, 2003
- the inclusion of the reading break, and
- the addition of an extra day to the April 2003 exam period.

J. Swainger asked that in future when preparing the Sessional Dates that consideration be given to not starting the semester on a Friday as this is problematic. Very few students attend, the material has to be covered again on the Monday and it is basically a lost teaching day for faculty. M. Mandy stated that it is also a problem for classes with “labs”. The Chair confirmed that this will be taken under advisement.

Action: This issue is to be addressed when the dates are being determined for next year.

4.0 President’s Report

4.1 2002/03 Budget Discussion and Review

4.1.1 Presentation of Budget by President

C. Jago requested that the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost assumed the role of the Chair while he reported on the 2002/03 Proposed Operating Budget.

- The budget will be presented
- An opportunity will be given for questions/comments
- The report from the Senate Committee on the University Budget will be presented by Senator Whitcombe, followed by
- Full discussion.

The President’s Report:

The budget process began last November when members of President’s Executive Council set out the “Budget Guidelines”. At that time these guidelines attempted to forecast the fiscal environment into which we had entered and to direct budget planners as to how they were to proceed with their budget planning.

Assumptions being made at that time were:

- Government revenues directed to universities would probably be frozen at their current level
- It was anticipated that there would be federal money related to the indirect cost of research, but the amount or approval was not confirmed
- It was possible to speculate that the tuition freeze might be lifted, but there was no clear direction from government.

Given the above conditions, the initial plan was to assume:

- Static government revenue
- Static government grant
- For purposes of initial budget planning, a continuation of the tuition freeze
- Modestly, for the purposes of budget planning, about the indirect cost of research coming from the federal government
- And to put together all of the above and identify what was considered to be the cost pressures on the University including inflationary costs, including maintenance costs of the new laboratory building.

It was determined that a 5% cut would be necessary to the expenditures.

In the latter part of January, the budgets from the budget heads were brought to the President's Executive Council. The following uncertainties with respect to budget planning began to be removed:

- On February 7th, the provincial government lifted the tuition freeze and completely deregulated tuition policy (refer to appendix 2 of the documents provided)
- On February 28th, we learned what our benefit would be from the indirect cost of research – our share being just under $520,000.00
- On March 11th, the budget letter was received from the Minister of Advanced Education (refer to appendix 1).

Highlights of the Budget Letter:

- The government grant was good news for UNBC
- It included funding for the expansion of Computer Science at UNBC
- It included funding for the introduction of the Bachelor of Education program
- It included funding for the Masters of Disabilities Management program
- It provided modest funding for some expansion of Social Work
- It provided funding for the expanded enrolment in Nursing
- It provided start-up funding for the expansion of medical education in the province, which will include funding for the Northern Medical program

In short, our base grant remained almost the same, but there was additional funding for new program initiatives.

In the budget documents, of the new revenues just over 1 million dollars has not been included in the proposed budget. There was not sufficient time to work out the detail budget for the expansion of Computer Science, the Bachelor of Education or the Masters of Disabilities Management. The funds have been set aside and they will be brought back in to the budget probably sometime in September, and at the same time the expenditures to incorporate the expenses relating to these new program initiatives will be revised.

Funds received for the Indirect Cost of Research:

- The money received from the federal government amounted to $518,096.00
- It is to be used to support the research mission of the University to cover the indirect costs of research.

Tuition Fees:

- It was clear to members of President's Executive Council that if the tuition freeze continued, it would have devastating consequences for the operations of the University. That information was shared with student members of Senate, the Board of Governors, student bodies and the student community
- Although tuition fees had to be increased, it was the intention to exercise restraint
- There were consultations with other universities, but we wanted to act independently
- We knew that additional revenues were required, but were aware that our students carry a heavy burden of debt
- Scenario planning of fee increases were done from 20% to 35%
- For most programs, increases of 22% were recommended, and slightly higher increases for professional Masters programs
- The tuition Fee increase date of May 1st was selected to afford certain things directly related to student services and faculty positions.

In summary, the President stated that a balanced budget is being presented to Senate. It does include cuts from 2001 and 2002 budgeted expenditures. Cuts of just over 900,000.00 were made. Approximately half that amount is in salaries and benefits, and there have been very modest layoffs, the cuts having been made to mainly unfilled positions.

The additional fee revenues will allow the avoidance of much more significant cuts to the operations of the University. This increase does not include additional revenues that might result from enrolment growth, a static enrolment was assumed.

With the additional monies received from the government and from the tuition fee increases, new positions were introduced in three areas. Some are research related, some relate directly to student services to try to improve the services available to students. The major benefit to students is that we did not cut in any area that would have a detrimental effect to a student's ability to study effectively at this University.

One new faculty position was added in Environmental Engineering, which is a new program.

Among other things done to ensure a balanced budget:

- The money set aside for capital replacement fund was reduced this year by 200,000.00, which is not sustainable
- We have calculated at the outset of the budget process what we think we will experience in salary savings
- It is a balanced budget in every respect including the sharing of responsibility. We did not want to offload the cost of the University to the students alone. The approach was very balanced, we were cautious and conservative. We did not want to take bold steps such as differential tuition fees, but it was important to open a number of issues for further discussion.

From a strategic viewpoint, this budget allows the University to maintain its momentum in developing new programs in critical areas such as the Health Sciences, Education, Environmental Engineering and expanding Nursing. The President stated that it is a budget worthy of support.

4.1.2 Report from the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB)

T. Whitcombe, Chair of SCUB, thanked members of the committee, members of President's Executive Council and Shelley Rennick for their efforts in the preparation of the 2002-2003 Proposed Operating Budget.

A one-page summation was provided from SCUB. A more extensive preliminary report having been included in the meeting material under appendix 5. This preliminary report dated February 27, 2002 was presented to President's Executive Council.

Senator Whitcombe stated that the proposed operating budget was not received by SCUB until March 25th and consequently the committee only had one meeting to prepare their report. The committee fully recognizes that the timeline for preparation of the proposed operating budget was obviously strained by the difficult situations involved in this exercise.

The following is an excerpt of the final report from SCUB:

SCUB recognizes that the final document is a simplified version of the budget details and does not present details at the level of budget lines rendering it difficult for the committee to provide significant commentary on the specific details of the final proposed budget.

SCUB acknowledges that the budget is a fair and accurate assessment of the University's financial picture and that it is a reasonable budget for the upcoming year. Further that it addresses the issues forced by the financial constraints imposed externally and is consistent with the preliminary versions of the budget submitted by the Vice-Presidents, particularly with respect to the restoration of priority items as identified in the initial budgeting scenario.

SCUB also acknowledges that the level of student fee increases indicated within the proposed operating budget 2002-2003 are at an acceptable level considering increases that have occurred at other institutions.

SCUB is concerned that the University needs to engage in planning for next year's budget as early as possible. This planning should occur at both the level of policy and implementation. That is, there are a number of policies that the University has followed that have implications for budgeting, such as the use of "carry-forward" accounts, and the budgeting of sessional instructors among others that have been identified in the proposed operating budget documentation. There are issues that require policy decisions to be made prior to implementation. It is SCUB's hope that these decisions will occur as quickly as possible, and further, that SCUB will play a role in these discussions. With respect to implementation, once the policy issues have been resolved, and working with the information regarding the Government Grant provided in the budget letter, SCUB would like to work with President's Executive Council to develop a three-year budget projection which will consider the implications of a shrinking revenue stream on the structure of the institution. There is every indication that the University will need to undergo further cuts over the next two years as the level of revenue shortfall will likely exceed what can reasonably be expected as revenue gains from increases in tuition fees. These cuts must occur in a strategic fashion so that the institution is not disabled. A broad consultative process and a long term budget is, in SCUB's opinion, the University's best option for dealing with the financial constraints of the next few years.

S-2002 04.02A

Whitcombe/Beaumont

That Senate having reviewed the Proposed 2002/03 University Budget, concur with the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB) to recommend that the President take the 2002/03 Proposed University Budget forward to the Board of Governors for approval with the assumption that the issues raised in the SCUB report will be addressed in the coming year.

4.1.3 Senate Discussion

A question with regard to the University's continuance of its affiliation/funding with WWN was raised. C. Jago responded that we are in the process of renewing the Affiliation Agreement with the WWN. There was a meeting with the WWN Board recently and the agreement was reviewed. There is an absolute commitment on behalf of both parties to continue that agreement and it is as a result of that agreement that we are making the changes to the membership of Senate Committees to include a member of WWN. On the issue of funding, the University has provided a subsidy to WWN since 1992 or 1993, the subsidy has been changed on two occasions, always negatively for WWN, and they have been informed that it will again be reduced this year. WWN will have the option of charging their students a higher fee to make up the difference. We have indicated to them that in time that subsidy may be stopped completely. The budget planners have raised the issue and have suggested that this question go to the Strategic Planning Committee for further review to determine if it is in the long-term interest of UNBC to continue to subsidize an affiliated institution or whether in time that affiliated institution, without dropping its affiliation, should become fully responsible for its own financing.

Other questions were answered.

C. Jago resumed the Chair's position.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost

D. Poff reported that the Strategic Academic Planning Committee will be meeting later today. The meetings have been on hold primarily due to the budget implications. The committee will now resume its meetings until a report is brought to Senate for the period 2002-2007.

R. Fisher spoke to a question raised by Senator Mandy at the April 3 Senate meeting with respect to courses in Health Sciences and why they were being offered separately.

He advised that there are four new courses being offered in the Bachelor of Health Sciences, two courses at the introductory level and two courses at the upper level and these deal only with the introductory level courses. It was decided that these courses be offered separately to allow students to take as electives in other degree programs. He would like to see these two courses approved separate from the Health Science Degree.

3.2 SCSB Annual Report

The revised report was included in the package of Senate materials for information.

4.0 President's Report

C. Jago advised that he has been officially informed by the Ministry of Advanced Education that the UNBC Act will be repealed on July 15, 2002. The UNBC Act states that when the University reaches enrolment of 2500 full time equivalent (FTE) students and maintains that enrolment for two years, the UNBC Act will be repealed.

A meeting will be held in July to review the proposed changes to the composition of Senate and the August meeting will be cancelled. The September Senate meeting will be postponed to September 25 to accommodate conducting elections of the additional eight to ten faculty representatives to Senate as well as an additional five or six student representatives. The Alumni Association will also be approached to arrange for the election of Senators at Large who are to be from the members of Convocation.

C. Jago highlighted several changes resulting from the repeal of the UNBC Act in response to questions.

- Senate membership will increase to 45-50 members.
- Lay Senators will continue to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council. A letter has been sent to the Office of the Premier to ensure that current representation is maintained.
- A representative from Wilp Wilpxo'oskwhl Nisga'a (WWN) will be included.
- There would be no change to the function of the committees other than more Senators. The Committees will continue to report to Senate and forward recommendations.
- The Committee By-Laws will be reviewed this summer to reflect the new structure and to present motions relating to composition and By-Laws of Senate.
- The UNBC Act contains a provision for the Northern Allowance to acknowledge particular issues of the North. This allowance will change from a 35% premium of standard FTE funding to a 20% premium. The agreement with the Ministry of Advanced Education provides the Northern Allowance at 20% for the next three years with a provision for negotiations and renewal.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost

D. Poff provided an update on the planning of the Northern Medical Program advising that initial funding approval has been received to fill three positions; one administrative who will also be a medical faculty person in an academic discipline, a full-time coordinator and one clinical faculty member. We are becoming more and more partnered with University of British Columbia (UBC) while continuing partnerships with University of Victoria (UVIC) as well. UBC is offering assistance in planning the Medical building.

C. Jago advised that we have met with the architect on two or three occasions and hired a shared consultant. A design charette is scheduled in Vancouver on May 16 to proceed quickly to the schematic design stage. The information will be shared with the broader University community in June.

D. Poff outlined some of the state of the art technology which promotes live interactive teaching that will be available.

C. Jago indicated that an estimated ground breaking date is not known at this time.

6.0 Question Period

When asked about the status of the new lab building, C. Jago advised that CTS will be admitted to the building shortly to begin cabling, start up for labs will be early in July, and the projected date of the office move is the beginning of August. The end of August is the targeted completion date.

Annual Report of the College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences (CASHS)

Dean Fisher spoke to his last report as the Dean of the College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences providing the following summary:

- The fourteen existing programs continue to improve with major curriculum revisions in certain areas.
- Two new degree programs have been established, the Bachelor of Education and the Masters of Disability Management.

- Paul Madak has made a remarkable contribution in bringing this degree to fruition which has been funded sufficient to enable the start with a cohort of 30 students in the first year and to expand in subsequent years. Dean Fisher indicated that it is fundamentally important to educate teachers in the North as a contribution to education by UNBC.
- Dr. Henry Harder has been appointed as the Chair of Disability Management and to implement the Masters of Disability Management Degree. The University was recently the recipient of a National Award of Excellence by the National Institute for Disability Management and Research for the development of this degree.
- Bachelor of Health Sciences is still being worked on by Dr. Ken Prkachin in conjunction with the College of Science and Management and hopefully the degree will be approved in the fall.
- CASHS continues to be involved in the development of the Northern Medical Program.
- The Social Work Program continues to expand offerings in the regions with tenure track faculty members in each of the three regions.
- Dean Fisher identified his major area of concern, both as Dean and as Acting Chair, as the Nursing Program. Although there have been some achievements over the year, there is still the issue of hiring and retaining qualified faculty and the problem of finding a permanent Chair for the program.
- The college has maintained its level of commitment to regional delivery, graduate students and graduate teaching, continues to develop and maintain research programs and continues to contribute to the intellectual and cultural life of UNBC.
- Dean Fisher stated that all of the considerable achievements in the College over the past five years are due to all of its people. The growing success of existing programs and the new initiatives that the College has taken would not be possible if the people in CASHS did not believe in this University and to making it responsive to its communities.
- R. Berthiaume acknowledged the work of Dean Fisher, noting particularly his book Contact and Conflict, which provided the foundation for much of the work done in the NorthWest. He indicated his appreciation for Dean Fisher's commitment to the NorthWest and its history through his teaching on the Coast and wished him all the best on behalf of the NorthWest.
- On behalf of the University, C. Jago stated that Dean Fisher has made an exceptional contribution to the University as one of the earliest faculty members appointed, one of the founding Chairs, Faculty Dean and College Dean. He was a founding member of the Board of Governors as an elected Faculty Member to the Board of Governors and has had an opportunity to influence the University's development from the earliest time. C. Jago expressed appreciation to Dean Fisher for all of the work and leadership provided with respect to the new initiatives taken in the CASHS over the last couple of years, particularly the Bachelor of Education Program and the Northern Medical Program. A common theme runs through all of these initiatives and that is that we are developing programs that will be regionalized and will benefit all of Northern British Columbia. Dean Fisher, foremost among us, has been sensitive to the regional role of this University and his contribution is greatly appreciated and we're sad to see him leave but wish him the best in his future career in Saskatchewan.

8.1 Report of the Acting Registrar

- K. Kielly provided an update indicating that on May 8, 526 names were brought forward for the graduating class of 2002 with proviso for a number of other students to be added to the list with incoming information.
- The list did increase by 35 resulting in the total graduating class of 2002 of 561.
- There is a 20% increase in the number of applications for this fall. Registrations are about the equivalent to this time last year at this point.
- Asked why such a discrepancy between applications and acceptance, the Registrar indicated that competition for courses and the waitlist situation is playing a role in terms of secured seats, but students are actively and continually engaging in registration.

Regrets: D. Poff, M. Blouw, B. McGill, J. Swainger, M. Mandy, P. Weiss, F. Abdulla, R. Broadbent, R. Fisher, A. Nussbaumer, D. Macknak

The meeting was called to order at 3:35 p.m.

1.0 Approval of the Agenda
S-2002 07.01

Morrison/King

That the agenda for the July 10, 2002 meeting of Senate be approved with the following amendments: Under 3.0 Business Arising, C. Jago will address motion 2002 01.13 passed by Senate January 9, 2002 which relates to CORE Course requirements.

It was noted that the motion reported on the agenda for information from the Senate Committee on Research & Graduate Studies S 180602.3.14, Graduate Calendar Description Change, is a motion that requires approval and to be brought forward as Motion S-2002 07.39A.

CARRIED

2.0 Approval of Public Minutes
S-2002 07.02

Morrison/Malcolm

That the Public Minutes of June 12, 2002 be approved as amended, noting that Senator King be identified under Regrets.

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

- The Acting Registrar spoke to the motion that was passed on January 9, 2002 approving the CORE Quadrant for inclusion in the Calendar and updating the Core requirements on all programs from six credits to twelve credits. At the point of calendar production, implementation of the quadrant would have necessitated looking at each individual program and then making the necessary changes. Primarily the potential change in the number of electives required on a program, and reference to whether a student must complete 9 or 12 credits of CORE requirements depending on required courses, became a concern. After further discussion with the Dean of the College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences and the Dean of the College of Science and Management both Deans recommended, having met with their Program Chairs, to not include the CORE Quadrant in the 2002/2003 Calendar. Therefore, the information did not move forward.

- C. Jago identified that a Senate resolution was passed and in the course of implementation, a number of unforeseen consequences were found. The decision was made not to proceed with the implementation of the Senate resolution, Senate was not informed of this and the matter was not referred back to Senate. When the Chair became aware of the situation, the motion was brought back to Senate to consider the possibility of a motion to refer this matter for advice to the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning (SCAPP). This resolution has not been calendared, but there has been no decision by Senate not to proceed with implementation, nor has there been a decision by Senate to refer the change in CORE requirements for further consideration in light of the complications that have arisen.
- T. Whitcombe expressed concern over the procedural matter of not coming back to Senate and identified that during Program Chairs meetings that it was clear at that time that there would be implications to the programs. It is surprising that there is misunderstanding now as to what the quadrants meant – the idea was that students had to take one from all four quadrants and if there was a course already required in their degree, they already satisfied it.
- C. Jago indicated that it is regrettable that as soon as problems arose in the implementation of a Senate resolution, that the matter wasn't referred back to Senate for immediate action. Once aware of the situation, it was requested that the issue be placed on the agenda immediately, that we do have a Senate resolution that would proceed to give this further consideration. The appropriate authority to do that would be the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning (SCAPP).
- B. Morrison spoke to the issue identifying the difficulty in scheduling CORE courses around other program requirements and suggested that when the Senate passes a policy that requires changes in Programs, they implement the policy then change the Programs retroactively.
- Senator King asked if there is a precedent where Senate had passed an across the board change by all of the programs, therefore some directive/request to the programs asking them to review what this means to each of their programs?
- C. Jago responded indicating the only example was in November 2001, but the effects of the changes were addressed at the time the changes were brought forward.
- Senator King stated that a policy is needed to help Senate deal with the issue.
- T. Whitcombe indicated that we have been through a similar situation before and the Programs solved the problems after the fact.

S-2002 07.02A

King/Beaumont

That Motion S-200201.13, Change to the Core Course Requirements, be referred to the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning for further discussion.

CARRIED

Discussion:

- In response to S. Goring question, C. Jago advised that SCAPP would have to address the issue of the impact on elective requirements and programs to coordinate the changes to those elective requirements and direct administration proceed to implement the motion or to decide that the motion cannot be implemented and ask for the motion to be rescinded or revised.
- K. Kielly responded to the issue of waitlisted students for CORE 101 indicating that the students will be contacted to discuss their options.
- R. Berthiaume advised that it has been his experience that you move to refer in order to resolve the problem. Will moving to refer in this instance resolve the questions of legislative authority and/or program changes or will this delay the resolution?
- C. Jago advised that the issue of legislative authority is not in question, Senate does have legislative authority and the resolution stands. However, the full implication was not understood when the resolution was being implemented, so in referring the matter back to SCAPP, Senate is seeking guidance in the implementation of the resolution or to give SCAPP the option of revising the resolution. It would be wrong at this stage for Senate to rescind a motion that had passed on the advice of SCAPP and it is not suggested to do that. We do have a resolution that has been passed but not implemented and the further advice of SCAPP is now required to implement the resolution in a manner to avoid the confusion that people think will arise around the elective requirements in the various programs. We are seeking guidance and clarification, not rescinding the resolution.

- C. Jago also stated that to avoid this situation in the future, that in the event that a resolution of Senate cannot be implemented, the appropriate course of action is to bring the resolution back to Senate immediately.

4.0 President's Report – None

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost) - None

6.0 Question Period

- L. King asked why there was a need for 86 blank pages in the Senate package?
- K. Kielly indicated that these pages are inserted as a break in the materials to identify beginning and ending of each item.

Vice-President Research Included as Member of Senate

S-2002 07.41

Hawkins/King

That the Vice-President Research be included as a member of Senate under Section 35 (l) of the University Act.

Effective Date: September 2002

CARRIED

- C. Jago identified that this motion speaks to the transition from the UNBC Act to the University Act and that there is provision in the University Act to add Senior Administrative members to the Senate who are not listed as ex-officio Senate members in the list of Senators prescribed in the Act. Given the role of the Vice-President Research on significant Senate Committees and given the integral importance of research to the academic mission of the institution, it seemed problematic that the Vice-President Research would not be a member of the academic legislative body of the University. It is for that reason that we are bringing forward the recommendation that the Vice-President Research be added to Senate. The implication would be to increase the number of Faculty Senators and Student Senators in accordance with the University Act.
- T. Whitcombe stated that it was not clear to him why the Vice-President Research is a component of Senate when Senate is a body governing the academic component of the University although it is recognized that there is a linkage between Research and Academics.
- C. Jago reiterated the view that research is so fundamental and integral to the academic functioning of the University that it is quite unthinkable that the Vice-President Research would not be a member of the legislative body dealing with academic issues.

Senate Handbook Amendments

S-2002 07.42

King/Malcolm

That the University of Northern British Columbia Senate Handbook amendments be approved with item 3 (c)(i) being referred back to SCOR to ensure consistency with the University Act.

Effective Date: July, 2002

CARRIED

- C. Jago advised that one new committee has been created in the by-laws - the Senate Committee on Admissions and Admission Standards - noting that the admissions and enrolment management function is not covered under the mandate of SCAPP. It is also a requirement of the University Act that there be a committee of Senate that deals with admissions.
- T. Whitcombe identified that item 3 (c)(i) as stated would be in contravention of the University Act, specifically the issue of appointing a chair in the chair's absence. The University Act identifies that the Chair will elect a Vice-Chair to act as Chair in absence of the chair and has a mechanism for doing so.
- C. Jago recommended that the motion be approved with this item being referred back to the Senate Committee on Organization and Rules for further consideration and proposed change.
- B. Morrison raised the issue of quorum, whether quorum is set by Senate or if it is prescribed.
- C. Jago advised that quorum is set by Senate, is not established by the Act, and has been identified in the By-Laws as being 23 members of Senate.
- C. Jago thanked the Senate Secretariat for the work undertaken to contribute to the changes in legislation.

Action: Item 3 (c)(i) will be referred back to SCOR to ensure consistency with the University Act.

- K. Kielly reported that the backlog in applications has now been cleared and applications are being dealt with as they arrive. The application deadline is July 15, 2002 and the Registrar's Office will process information as time permits with the exclusion of Regional applications which will continue to be processed as they are received.
- In response to T. Whitcombe's question regarding level of first year student numbers, K. Kielly indicated that applications continue to be up however exact numbers are not known at this time.
- C. Jago advised that, based upon the most recent statistics available, applications continue to be up and registrations at par with last year. It is difficult at this time to conjecture around actual numbers for September.
- C. Jago offered his thanks to the Chancellor for participating by teleconference and acknowledged Senator Malcolm who was recently appointed Vice-President Academic at the College of New Caledonia.

3.1 Library resources for CPSC 704 and CPSC 706

D. Poff spoke to the clarification of library resources for the above courses indicating that these courses were initially approved without the library form attached. Once submitted the form raised other issues as there are implications for the library.

As a result, the library form will be revisited to provide more detail with regard to funding, i.e. whether there is a funding issue for the program or for the library.

D. Poff indicated that although this course will not be re-visited, the issue of how the implications of new courses/new programs for library acquisition will be dealt with will be re-visited.

Senator Mandy raised the issue regarding special topics courses and she pointed out that each course will have its own specific needs from a library acquisition perspective.

C. Jago requested that this issue be referred to SCAPP/SCRGS for consideration and report to Senate.

3.2 S-200207.42

Refer to Item 7.5 Motion S-200210.14.

4.0 President's Report

Jago

C. Jago welcomed all Senators to the first meeting of Senate under the University Act of British Columbia and provided a presentation for the benefit of new Senators which included discussion of:

Governance of the University
The University Act
Autonomy of the University
New Senate structure and membership
Senate Committees and vacancies
Meeting times and dates

It was determined, after discussion, and by a show of hands, that Senate meeting times would continue to be 3:30 p.m. on the second Wednesday of the month.

The Registrar was asked to factor the Senate meeting dates when preparing timetables for the balance of Senators' terms.

Faculty were asked to identify to the Registrar any specific difficulties with respect to scheduling.

Travel Authorization for Regional Senators

Notice of Motion

That travel authorization for Senators not resident in Prince George or vicinity to participate in Senate meetings be approved for in-person attendance at two meetings with the remaining Senate and Senate Committee meetings to be attended by teleconference.

Discussion:

Senators were advised that the motion resulted from an effort to develop a standard practice to allow participation by representatives not normally resident in Prince George to attend Senate without incurring travel costs and that guidance is sought from Senate.

It was clarified that the motion is for two meetings per year, not per semester.

C. Jago noted that there were previously no travel limitations, however, with the increased size of Senate, it was felt that reasonable limits were required.

There was discussion around teleconference participation and the ability to participate fully. Speakers were asked to identify themselves for the benefit of those participating by teleconference.

In future, the chair will ensure that votes are acknowledged from the telephone participants.

Those Senators who have participated in past Senate meetings by teleconference concurred that this method of participation was adequate.

Also, the proposed motion must address the issue of travel for non-Senate members who sit on committees and a contingency plan for a Senator who may have reached the limit of approved meetings, but who's involvement may be sought for a particular meeting of Senate.

SCOR will bring forward a final motion to the November Senate meeting.

Annual Report of The College of Science and Management

Madak/Blouw

Senator A. Hussein advised Senate that there is an issue contained in the report which is being disputed in the form of a grievance and did not feel that it was appropriate to discuss at this time.

C. Jago indicated that the objection would be duly noted in the minutes, and explained that it was standard practice for Senate to receive reports from the colleges, as the colleges in effect are committees of Senate and report to Senate as do other Senate committees. It was also noted that receiving a report does not in any way imply endorsement of the report.

Dean McGill spoke to the report, noting the correction that Dr. Chow Lee was named a National Institute of Cancer Scholar rather than a Michael Smith Foundation for Health Research Scholar, and invited questions.

Senator A. Hussein stated that issues surrounding the College restructuring have been raised and now is resulting in a grievance.

Senator Mandy stated that the new College structure contained in the report was never formally voted on by the college and that the motion before Senate cannot be construed as approval in any way of this restructuring.

Senator Hemingway requested clarification on the role of Senate regarding the content of a report of this nature and was advised that if the college were proposing changes to academic programs Senate would have a role.

C. Jago advised that it was the position of the University that changes to administrative structure were assigned to the colleges for decision.

Proposed Calendar Dates

Morrison/Madak

That the proposed calendar dates be approved as presented.

Effective Date: September 2003

The Registrar gave an overview of proposed calendar dates for the next two years with the second year being for provisional purposes and subject to change. Clarification was made that the reading break would be the second last week of February to agree with that of UBC. Discussion was held on the compressed nature of exam schedules. Historically, there has been ongoing discussion and vote has been towards a compressed schedule. It was noted that spring exam schedule ends after Easter and was there intention to have exams on a Saturday. The Registrar replied no and that the calendar dates would be amended to insert wording, "Saturday – No Exams". It was recommended by the Chair that the 2003 dates be approved, and that the 2004 dates be acknowledged for planning purposes.

Approval of Public Minutes

That the Public Minutes of November 13, 2002 be approved as presented.

Otter/Madak

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate - None

4.0 President's Report

Jago

Dr. Jago called the Senators' attention to the recent passing of Honorary Degree recipient Dr. Freda Diesing. Dr. Leslie King represented UNBC at the memorial service and asked that Dr. King's tribute be appended to the minutes of the meeting.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Poff

Dr. Poff noted that, as development work on the Northern Medical Program progressed, more and more UNBC staff were becoming engaged in the process. Interviews for the cross-appointed head of the program were complete, and it was hoped that the candidate of choice would accept the University's offer. Meanwhile, additional implementation committees were being struck, and faculty recruitment would begin soon. Senate would be briefed regularly on progress.

Dr. Whitcombe wanted to know how UNBC academics in Chemistry and Biology were being involved in the process of curriculum development for the new program. Dr. Poff said that there had been two site visits to date at which there had been a mutual exchange of views involving relevant UNBC faculty. She pointed out that the NMP curriculum was, necessarily, the UBC curriculum; and that the University's only discretionary area was in the addition of local context. A greater problem, she thought, was budget constraints that would place limits on the hiring process for the Program.

6.0 Question Period

Dr. Binnema asked whether there was in place a “three-year” rule under which courses left unoffered were deleted automatically from the Calendar. Dr. Poff replied that CASHS had a five-year rule, but there was no such requirement within CSAM.

7.0 Committee Reports

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Appeals

Hawkins

Dr. Hawkins recalled that the Committee had heard 172 appeal cases in the previous year, amounting to nearly 5 per cent of the student population, and that unless adjustments to the process were made the number would only increase. In November the Committee had spent considerable time reviewing its procedures, leading to a new model for responding to student issues as set out in the Committee’s report.

Wording Change To Calendar

S-200212.03

That the sections headed “Probation” and “Suspension” on page 173 of the 2002-2003 Undergraduate Calendar and page 72 of the Graduate Calendar be deleted and replaced by the proposed text.

Hawkins/Swainger

CARRIED

Effective Date: December 2002

New Senate Committee on Student Discipline Appeals

S-200212.04

That a new Senate committee, the Committee on Student Discipline Appeals, be created, the composition of which would be as proposed.

Hawkins/Morrison

CARRIED

Effective Date: December 2002

Dr. Mandy wondered how a “First Nations student” would be determined for Committee membership. Dr. Jago said that the term had been defined some time previously in the context of a general requirement that there be First Nations representation on certain committees.

Dr. Whitcombe asked how “One member of the administrative staff” might be determined. John DeGrace, Registrar, said that the possibilities necessarily were broad and could include for example, the Director of Student Services or the Registrar.

Wording Change/Addition To Calendar

S-200212.05

That after the three final “bullets” under “Procedures” on page 171 of the 2002-2003 Undergraduate Calendar and on page 70 of the 2002-2003 Graduate Calendar, Reference to “Senate Committee on Academic Appeals” be replaced by “Senate Committee on Student Discipline Appeals.”

Hawkins/Swainger

CARRIED

Effective Date: December 2002

Wording Change To Calendar

S-200212.06

That paragraph 3 under “Appeals Process” on page 173 of the 2002-2003 Undergraduate Calendar and page 72 of the Graduate Calendar, be deleted; and paragraph 2 be revised to read as proposed.

Hawkins/Swainger

CARRIED

Effective Date: December 2002

Wording Change To Calendar

S-200212.07

That paragraph 2 under “Student Access to Final Examinations,” on page 177 of the 2002-2003 Undergraduate Calendar and page 75 of the Graduate Calendar be revised as proposed.

Hawkins/Otter

CARRIED

Effective Date: December 2002

Dr. Morrison wanted to know whether there was an externally-imposed requirement that examination papers be retained for one year. Mr. DeGrace said that he was not aware of any requirement other than the University’s own rules. Dr. Hawkins noted that the Committee would be adhering much more closely to the Academic Regulation requiring that appeals be initiated within fifteen working days of the receipt of a decision, so that retaining examinations for sixty days should not generate any problems for potential appellants. Dr. Mandy asked whether retaining papers for as short a period as sixty days might impose hardship on students involved in field schools. Dr. Hawkins recalled only one grade appeal from a field school student, and that appeal was heard in August without hardship to the student. Grade appeals, he said, were commonly heard as early as May.

CARRIED            1 ABSTENTION            1 OPPOSED

Effective Date: September 2003

Dr. Morrison asked whether other BC Universities had expressed any objection to the proposed elimination of residency requirements. Dr. Tait said that there had been none, and in deed most other universities did not have such requirements. Dr. Swainger asked whether, with the change, programs would be obliged to be delivered on a non-residency basis; and Dr. Tait said that they would not.

CARRIED

Effective Date: December 2002

In response to a question from Dr. Montgomery, John DeGrace, Registrar, said that it was the fact of an award that would be noted on the transcript, and not the amount.

Definition of a “resident of Northern British Columbia”

S-200212.32

That the definition of a “resident of Northern British Columbia” as outlined in the Awards policy be changed as proposed.

Blouw/Tait

CARRIED

Effective Date: December 2002

Dr. Jago noted that the former wording had made reference to the old UNBC Act, under which UNBC was no longer governed. There was no change in the substance of the definition. Dr. Swainger wondered why it was necessary to make reference to regional community colleges in defining “resident of northern British Columbia.” Dr. Jago pointed out that this was simply a continuation of the practice used in the UNBC Act. Dr. Whitcombe was concerned that, if one of the community Colleges changed their residency definitions, the University would find itself bound by those changes. Dr. Jago thought that the important thing was that the proposed change would tie the University to a “living document” rather than a dead one.

Ron Brown Memorial Bursary

S-200212.33

That the Terms and Conditions for the Ron Brown Memorial Bursary be approved as proposed.

Blouw/Madak

CARRIED

Effective Date: December 2002

It was noted that the final sentence of the proposed Calendar entry should be amended to read “A good friend, he is missed by many colleagues.” Further, it was noted that “demonstrated financial need” should be listed as the first criterion for award since this was to be a bursary rather than a scholarship. Dr. Jago expressed gratitude to Ron Brown’s former colleagues for having made this bursary possible.

Multicultural Heritage Society of Prince George Bursary

S-200212.34

That the Terms and Conditions for the Multicultural Heritage Society of Prince George Bursary be approved as proposed.

CARRIED

S-200301.03

Tait/Morrison

That the public senate minutes of the December 18, 2002 meeting be approved.

It was noted that in the first paragraph under Agenda item 5.0 (Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost) reference to the “crass-appointed Head” should correctly be “cross-appointed.” It was further noted that the paragraph following motion S-200212.09 under agenda item 7.2 had been misplaced, and should instead follow motion 200212.17.

CARRIED AS AMENDED (one abstention)

3.0 Business Arising From the Previous Meetings of Senate

Dr. Jago called attention to the promised tribute to Freda Diesing, which was circulated at the meeting. He noted that copies would be mailed to those Senators attending by telephone.

4.0 President's Report

The President reviewed a November presentation by Robert Giroux of the AUCC, "Trends in Higher Education," the contents of a soon-to-be-released University Presidents' Council Report, "Meeting the Challenge," and of "Learning to Win – 'Ready, Set, Go'" – a report by the BC Progress Board available at www.bcprogressboard.com.

The AUCC report examined the longer-term public policy implications of student demographics, of expected availability of faculty, and of research. Enrolments were forecast to increase even though the pool of potential students would decline, and BC was identified as a province in which this growth trend would be especially evident. Enrolment growth would be constrained less by tuition fees than by government funding of post-secondary education. A parallel concern lay in the fact that, over the previous twenty years, the proportion of faculty members over the age of 55 had doubled. By 2011 some 20,000 faculty hirings would have to be made in Canada to just maintain numbers – fully half the present number of faculty in the country. In that context it was noteworthy that, whereas in 1969 the Canadian faculty/student ratio had been 1:24, by 2002 it had declined to 1:30 and in 2010 it was forecast to be 1:48. The output of graduate studies programs in Canada was nowhere near the number necessary to produce the number of replacements needed, let alone to restore a more favourable faculty/student ratio. Meanwhile, research demands were increasing greatly. Canada now ranked fifteenth among OECD countries in R&D commitments, and to rise even to fifth place would require a tripling of expenditure. Current Federal Government programs, Dr. Jago pointed out, helped but did not come close to meeting the need. Whereas some ten years ago student tuition fees covered about 15-20 per cent of the cost of education, at present the contribution was in the range of 33-40 per cent. The President said that the "Meeting the Challenge" report put the provincial government on notice of the challenges ahead and the "Ready-Set-Go" report picked up on the same theme.

Dr. Brown asked at what point UNBC would have to address these demographic issues, especially in respect of faculty. Dr. Poff described this as an issue "revisited annually." At UNBC there would not be a large number of retirements before about 2015. This university would face the same issues as others, but the "crunch" would come a little later. Dr. Brown wondered whether the problem might be addressed, at least in part, by revisiting the question of mandatory retirement age. Dr. Jago thought that this was not the crux of the issue. He called attention to the cases of the University of Regina, which was facing the replacement 40 per cent of its faculty over a five-year period, and UBC, which would have to replace some 50 to 60 per cent. At UNBC, the greater short-term issue was the retention of faculty. Furthermore, northern BC offered a student recruitment challenge in that the 18-24 age group was declining in numbers.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. Poff said that talks were continuing with faculty on taking leadership roles in the Northern Medical Program. Two faculty had been identified, and contribution by a physician in the local community was needed as well. The number of NMP faculty to be resident on campus was under discussion.

6.0 Question Period

Dr. Mandy noted that holders of GREAT Awards from the Science Council of British Columbia had been advised that their scholarships were being cancelled. She asked how many students were affected, and if the University was assisting the students. Dr. Tait said that the program had indeed been cancelled, and that he would examine the implications and report.

Ms. Hussein said that a student had contacted her on the matter of a field trip fee that had been charged, after which the trip had been cancelled but no refund offered. Dr. Poff said that the University had discovered this problem during the last week of classes. A solution was being implemented such that the problem should not arise again. In addition, an effort was being made to ensure that faculty would let students know well in advance whether the field component of courses would be delivered or not.

CARRIED

Change Degree Requirements – Credit Hours for ENVS 417-3
S-200301.09

Poff/Whitcombe

That the credit hours for ENVS 417-3 (Designing Solutions in Environmental Engineering) be changed from 3 to 6 credit hours

Effective Date: January 2003

CARRIED

Dr. Poff noted that Senate had previously approved the Environmental Engineering degree program. Subsequently, approval had been given at the provincial level with changes recommended for implementation at both UBC and UNBC. At UNBC the requested changes had been passed at the level of College Council some time previously but, through an oversight, were not advanced to Senate until the present meeting.

Dr. Poff made reference to the following information items:

To Senate For Information

Calendar Description Change – Bachelor of Education Program
SCAPP 20021204.04

A Calendar description for Education, (BEd) was approved as proposed.
Effective Date: 2003/2004

Calendar Description Change – Environmental Engineering Program
SCAPP 20021204.10

A Calendar description was approved for the Environmental Engineering Program as proposed.
Effective Date: January 2003

Referring to the Calendar Description for the Education program, Dr. Montgomery was concerned that reference was made to “middle years” within the program, but these were not in fact offered. Dr. Jago suggested that the issue could be revisited when Dean Madak was present. The intent was to offer middle years programming, and the purpose of including reference in the Calendar was to capture the full range of the program even though it was being phased-in.

Ms. Coates suggested that, in the second paragraph of the of the Education document, the first sentence could be worded more clearly to read: “The application deadline is March 15, and the programs begin in September of each year.” This was generally agreed-to.

7.3 Senate Committee on Research & Graduate Studies

Precluded Courses for 600 Level Anthropology Courses
S-200301.10

Tait/Whitcombe

That, in respect of 600-level Anthropology courses that have matching 400-level courses (610, 614, 623, 625 and 630), credit for the 600-level course be precluded where the 400-level credit has been given.

Effective Date: September 2003

CARRIED

7.4 Senate Committee on Scholarships and Bursaries

BC Council of Garden Clubs Bursary
S-200301.11

Whitcombe/Morrison

That the Terms and Conditions for the BC Council of Garden Clubs Bursary be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: Fall 2003

TABLED - CARRIED

Mr. Goring wondered how, lacking a relevant academic program, the requirement could be met: “Shows promise, interest or involvement in the horticulture field by way of a letter accompanying application.” Dr. Mandy called attention to the specific requirement that a student be “enrolled in the 2nd year of a horticultural/plant science/agriculture program.” Dr. Jago noted that the requirement was that students show “interest,” but he agreed that the criteria needed to be revisited.

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate:

3.1 GREAT Awards from the Science Council of British Columbia

Dean Tait provided supporting documentation regarding the cessation of these scholarships. M. Mandy requested information as to the effect this would have on the students in progress who rely on this funding. She wished to know if there was a strategy to deal with issues resulting from this. A question was also asked about the matching of industry funding.

Action: B. Tait will check into the issues raised.

3.2 Calendar Description for the Education Program – the Middle Years

Acting Dean Madak's memorandum provided clarification of the issues raised by P. Montgomery at the January 8th meeting about the reference to the "middle years".

3.3 Terms & Conditions for the BC Council of Garden Clubs Bursary

The Terms and Conditions for the BC Council of Garden Clubs Bursary were approved at the Senate meeting of January 8, 2003. The concerns raised by Senators S. Goring and M. Mandy have been officially referred to the Senate Committee on Scholarships & Bursaries so that the criteria may be revisited.

Action: This will be carried forward to the next meeting as the criteria have not been revisited.

4.0 President's Report - None

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

D. Poff spoke about her invitation to join an Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) working group on institutional accreditation. Interesting things are happening with respect to public universities that are beginning to sub-contract their own degrees and also private for-profit universities that are growing all over the world. She was asked to be a part of a working group to determine if Canada wishes to develop the kind of independent accreditation that is developing through United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and a number of international organizations. This group will develop a working paper to illustrate that public universities in Canada do have standards and processes in place to guarantee credibility and excellence and that they are accountable to their governments as well as to their Senates and Boards.

UNESCO is taking a leadership role in Europe and AUCC is doing the same in Canada. Universities from around the world are at different stages with this and AUCC felt it should at least bring a group together to review the documentation and to determine what Canadian universities wish to do.

As a member of AUCC and a University, UNBC will have to determine where we would like to be positioned. D. Poff offered to share the background papers she has with anyone who may be interested.

6.0 Question Period

L. Coates raised the issue that students are concerned about the University library hours on Saturdays and Sundays. With exams coming up and papers due, it is becoming quite an issue as their needs are not being met. The request was that Sunday hours be extended. D. Poff assured her that she would address this issue with the Acting Librarian Nancy Black the next day to see what can be done in the interim to accommodate the students.

Action: D. Poff to report the outcome at the next Senate meeting.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Admissions and Admission Standards

S-200303.05

Curriculum Requirement Change

Whitcombe/Procter

That the change to the Ontario–New Secondary School Curriculum requirements of the 2002/2003 UNBC calendar be approved as proposed.

CARRIED

7.2 Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning

S-200303.06

Approval of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate & Graduate Calendars

Whitcombe/Otter

That Senate approve the contents of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate and Graduate calendars as correct for the purpose of “benchmarking” future changes.

Effective Date: Immediately

J. DeGrace explained that a number of minor errors have been found in the 2003/04 calendars. It appears that the process for having changes approved have not always been followed, and deleting these errors at this time may jeopardize students already in their programs. He is asking at this time that the 2003/04 calendars be accepted with the small errors, and stated that he will make every attempt in future to ensure that changes are approved appropriately. He assured the members of Senate that the contents of the calendars are not erroneous in terms of the intent of the Academic Units (all of which approved the 2003/04 calendars being correct), just that minor changes did not go through the proper approval process.

S-200303.07

Terms of Reference for Policy on “Schools”

Whitcombe/Morrison

That academic units, with the assent of their College Council and the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning, may be advanced to Senate for designation as “Schools” within the University on the following conditions:

- That the academic unit offer a program, or a group of closely-related programs, most or all of which lead (or can lead), directly or by examination, to professional certification for program graduates.
- That, by comparison with other academic units, the academic unit seeking the designation “School” offer a program emphasizing skills training.
- That the academic unit is not subdivided into smaller academic units.
- That a persuasive case is made that the designation offers a distinct benefit in the context of student recruitment, professional certification after graduation, and/or the pursuit of research funding by faculty.

Effective Date: Winter 2003

J. DeGrace provided information regarding the rationale for this motion and the advantages of the recommended change. As part of the material provided, the following was also addressed:

- The characteristics of schools, and
- A possible protocol to guide UNBC.

Questions were answered regarding the likelihood of “multidisciplinarity” at UNBC being limited with this proposed change to “schools”, and to the ways degrees are obtained. D. Poff advised that this recommended change to “schools” should have no impact on students regarding the majors and minors now available and that the University will make every attempt to preserve its philosophy about how we teach and do research.

S-200303.08

Name Change for the Business Program & Environmental Planning

Morrison/Procter

Subject to the approval of motion S-200303.07, that the name for the Business Program and Environmental Planning be changed:

From: the Business Program and Environmental Planning

To: the School of Business and the School of Environmental Planning.

Effective Date: Winter 2003

There was considerable discussion regarding the proposed motion. S. Goring asked a question regarding cost implications of changing to “schools”. The Chair responded in the absence of Dean McGill and advised that there would probably be one person who would jointly look after both “schools” so as not to escalate the cost factor of establishing the “school”.

K. Otter added that the “school” would not run any differently than it does right now in any other existing academic unit e.g. Forestry is an accredited degree while Biology is not. Each of the sub-disciplines within that academic unit has an academic committee: one in charge of Forestry and one in charge of Biology, and each has a Chair who is held responsible. Presumably, the schools will have a similar structure.

A. Hussein voiced several concerns, which he stated were raised before, and felt that the motion should have reflected and dealt with the issues raised. He felt that Senate had not properly been informed and needed more information before a knowledgeable decision could be reached.

The Chair suggested that the University would be committed to maintaining the accreditation standards necessary for planning programs. This has been said to the Planning Institute of BC and to our programs. There is a report on what the University has to do to meet the standards for the accreditation process for the Planning Institute of BC and she believe we can meet those standards. We are also aware of the staffing model.

Rounding Off Proposal

Matheson/Whitcombe

That effective in the Winter Semester 2003, the institutional practice in calculating GPA and CGPA figures be revised by rounding off rather than by truncating at the second decimal place.

Effective Date: Immediately

J. DeGrace explained that at present the banner default has been to truncate the GPA and CGPA at the second decimal place. He recommends this be changed to round off the figure rather than truncating it at the second decimal place for the benefit of the students. On average, approximately 36 GPA's will be affected each semester. For example, rather than having a GPA of 1.999 under the current system, the new GPA would be 2.00. Students who would have failed under the old system, would now pass.

The registrar added that students who failed in the past, but whose GPA's would be increased by this change to remove the failure, will not be able to appeal the decision as the appeal deadlines have passed; so that this would not create additional problems.

This would be the fairest thing that could be done for our students.

There were a number of questions from the floor.

S-200303.10

New Protocol for Providing University Transcripts

Whitcombe/Morrison

That:

1. Transcripts, whether official or unofficial, will be issued only upon completion of the appropriate form. Normally, transcripts will be provided to students only directly and only upon presentation of appropriate identification.
2. Official Transcripts will be issued only for direct transmission to another institution/employer, or if the student makes a request for the purpose of making an application elsewhere and that the Official Transcript must be given to the student. In the latter case, the Official Transcript and the enclosing envelope each will carry the bold notation, "Official to recipient only if seal is unbroken."
3. Transcripts issued for other than official purposes will be printed on plain paper and will carry the bold notation, "Issued to student." Students will be limited to three copies of the unofficial transcript per request.
4. When an official or an "issued to student" transcript is given to a student, normally, the document will be provided only directly and only upon presentation of appropriate identification.

Effective Date: Immediately

J. DeGrace introduced the motion and explained that item #4 shown on his attached memo "A new and Improved Protocol for Providing University Transcripts" was excluded in error from the circulated motion and should form part of it as indicated above. Friendly amendments to the motion such as those shown in italics in section #2 were recommended.

At present, students can request any number of transcripts, which are all originals, at no cost to them. The cost to the University is $1 per sheet of "Security" transcript paper. The time required to fill these requests delays the transcripts that have to be sent institution to institution. In order to ensure an appropriate level of security of student records in the form of transcripts, it is proposed that a policy be approved with the wording of the amended motion shown above.

Senator M. Mandy recommended the amendment of the request for Official Transcript form to add "the purpose of the request" to agree with the policy. The amended motion was accepted.

Course Deletions

Tait/Whitcombe

There was concern among some senators with regard to the deletion of these courses. Senator S. Goring was concerned that the Plant Science courses, in particular BIOL 703-3 and BIOL 704-3, required by some students were no longer available. Senator A. Fredeen explained that unfortunately last year three faculty members who taught these were on sabbatical at the same time. Senator M. Mandy added that the members of the Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies felt that students would be better served with new courses. Special courses are to be offered.

Senator L. King voiced concern that the environmental content is gone from the graduate courses.

2.0 President's Report

While the President presented his report on the budget, the Registrar was asked to act as Chair.

Introductory Comments:

The President explained that according to the University Act of British Columbia, he was responsible for presenting the annual proposed University budget to the Board of Governors for their approval. It was also the responsibility of the President to seek advice from Senate on the budget so in making this presentation, he was fulfilling the responsibility assigned to him.

2.1 2003/04 Budget Discussion and Review

2.1.1 Presentation of the UNBC Proposed 2003/04 Budget by the President:

Beginning the previous year, the government of British Columbia had begun a practice of issuing a budget letter shortly after the presentation of the provincial budget, and of providing the universities with information both on their grant for the coming fiscal year as well as giving them a forecast of their grant revenues for the following two years.

In this year's budget letter, the University had been advised that the grant from the province would be a little over $33 million, more than we had been led to expect in the previous year's budget letter. The increased revenues were tied to increased enrolment expectations for the University. The money received was for the general purposes of the University, but also included in the grant was money for new program development. Certain funds related to targeted enrolment requirements, specifically the Bachelor of Education Program, the expansion of the Computer Science Program, the Northern Medical Program and the expansion of Nursing.

The grant consisted of:

- The base grant
- Money for new program development
- Money for increased enrolment

The grant did not consist of any additional money to pay for the inflationary costs experienced by the University such as:

- Salary increases
- Increased cost for library books
- Increased cost for laboratory supplies
- Increased licensing cost regarding software
- Increased cost of natural gas etc.

The University revenues were expected to come from:

- Over 70% from the provincial government
- Over half a million from the federal government to help cover the indirect cost of research. A similar amount being received the previous year for the first time and now secured.
- Just over 25% of operating revenues from tuition and other fees based on the tuition fee level and enrolment projection. In this budget an enrolment increase of approximately 5% was projected, but severe budgetary difficulties could be faced if this was not met.

Assumptions:

- The 5% enrolment growth would be met
- Targeted enrolments in specific areas would be met, and
- The proposed fee schedule would be approved by the Board of Governors.

Tuition Fee Increase:

The tuition fees proposed in this budget had been increased by 33% over the previous year with the exception of the fee for the Bachelor of Education program. The increase for the latter was a significant fee increase and one that had been the subject of a great deal of discussion and debate, but the increased cost still fell below the Canadian average, with the exception of Quebec.

This increase in student tuition fees would be used to meet expenditures that could not be met through the provincial grant. Certain expenditures had been funded over the previous two years from Special Purpose Funds and as well, there were additional items that were recommended by the Faculty Recruitment and Retention report. This committee had been Chaired by the VP (Academic) in 2001.

The expenditures included:

- Graduate entrance scholarships - $200,000
- Faculty start-up grants - $200,000
- Faculty SEED grants - $125,000
- Faculty travel grants - $54,000, and
- Faculty publication grants - $50,000.

These expenditures help faculty to build their careers at UNBC and would help in both faculty retention and faculty recruitment. It was imperative that these expenditures be maintained, and with the exhaustion of the Special Purpose Funds set up two years ago, there was no other option but to charge these costs against student tuition fees.

In the previous year's budget, improvements were made to student services and these were funded on a one time basis, for one year only. As these proved to be necessary during the course of the year, they were locked into the budget, funded on a permanent basis from tuition fees.

There were also inflationary expenditures, both salary and non-salary, that could not be afforded without an increase in tuition fees. The other option would have been to curtail areas of University operation, and to downsize and layoff faculty and staff; but it was decided in the current situation, in which our fees were still below the national average, that it would be unwise and unwarranted to begin a significant downsizing of operations at the University.

As unwelcome as tuition fee increases were, they provided the only means to maintain the current level of operations, to maintain the current scope of programs, to maintain the benefits that were approved for faculty and to maintain the improvements in student services.

In conclusion, the President noted that the proposed budget was a “stand-pat” budget. It would allow the University to maintain the current faculty/staff with the exception of one new FTE position, with no layoffs. There were concerns about the provincial grant forecast for the upcoming years as there would be even less funds received the following year. Difficult decisions would have to be made early, and careful planning would be necessary for what might be leaner times for all the universities in the province.

2.1.2 Report from the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB)

T. Whitcombe, the Chair of SCUB, provided this report.

The Senate Committee on the University Budget is a statutory requirement under the University Act to assist the President in preparing the University budget. SCUB had been asked by President’s Executive Council to consider the financial implications of implementing the Action Plan as part of the budget guidelines. SCUB had also been engaged in discussions around the implications of tuition fee increases and these discussions were reflected in the report prepared by SCUB. Although all aspects of the budget were examined, specific comments about individual departments and programs were not included in the report.

One recommendation was that the University build a template so that all future budgets could be reported in the same fashion for ease of comparison. On the whole, it was felt that the budget as presented represented a clear picture of the University’s financial position and commitments for the coming year.

2.1.3 Senate Discussion

S-200304 02.02

Whitcombe/Beaumont

That Senate having reviewed the proposed University budget for 2003/04, concur with SCUB and recommend that the President present the proposed budget to the Board of Governors for their consideration.

C. Jago resumed his position as Chair and general discussion commenced at this time.

Senator Berthiaume raised the question of the University making the reasons for the tuition fee increase very clear and transparent to students and especially to the students in the regions so they could appreciate the linkage between the increases and the enhanced services to students, such as student support, awards, and the improvement of facilities as well as Teaching Assistantships. The President responded that SCUB, while working independently from President’s Executive Council, had had broad representation of student. He added that, as President, it had been his practice over the years to consult with students (Senators and Board members among others) during the budget setting process. Students had been provided with information on how the proposed increased tuition fees were to be spent and were shown a clear relationship between the expenditures and the services to be provided.

The President stated that, with the severe challenges expected in the next few years, it was imperative that there be a clear understanding of exactly what tuition fees were paying for, so as not to sacrifice what was in the best interest of the students of UNBC, especially as the University proceeded to where tuition fees would be paying for a higher proportion of the overall expenditures of the University. President’s Executive Council firmly believed that as the University moved to a situation of tuition fees becoming a more significant part of the revenue stream of the University, the relationship between those fees and the services provided to students must be extremely clear, as well as the efforts that were being made to protect and maintain the interest of our student community. The Chair of SCUB concurred with the President's statements.

Senator Hussein noted that he looked for evidence in each budget of an equitable distribution of funds among all units, but could neither see this nor an explanation regarding the sharing of the funds. The President responded, and asked the Controller, Colleen Smith, to provide further information with regard to the expenditures in Central Administration. President's Executive Council had worked very hard to maintain equity in expenditures, and most of the expenditures of the University went to academic operations as they should. Colleen Smith pointed out that, in the President's and Vice-Presidents' areas, under operating expenditures, the information might be a little misleading as monies had been included relating to recruitment of faculty and staff, and this misrepresented the amount actually available to the President and VP's for their operations. Expenditures for those areas had been increased quite significantly, this year, for recruitment. Colleen Smith concurred with the President regarding the explanation for the area of Central Administration and advised that some of the items recorded were considered University-wide expenses. A large amount had been set aside for "tuition wavers" that are provided to students for programs such as the Academic Achievers, University Scholars, etc.

Senator Hussein voiced his concern for the serious shortage of staff support in the College of Science and Management. Staff support had been cut tremendously in this College, he said, and he questioned the discrepancy between the funding for operating expenditures between the two Colleges. The Controller confirmed that the funding shown related to specific operating costs such as photocopying, and that the salary costs relating to the staff support were included under "Wages and Benefits".

Senator Hussein questioned the role of SCUB. He felt that, should there be a serious conflict between the SCUB view of the budget and Administration view of the budget, there would not be sufficient time to resolve it as SCUB reports to Senate at a time when the budget is almost in place. He recommended that SCUB present their report at an earlier date for administration to consider the recommendations in the current year's budget. The Chair of SCUB confirmed that SCUB had been given the opportunity to participate extensively in the budget process during the last two years. There had been discussions with the President and with key budget holders, and SCUB was able to make comment along the way. Over the previous two years, SCUB presented a preliminary report to President's Executive Council in mid-February so that their recommendations could be incorporated. SCUB was an advisory committee to the President and had been able to provide constructive criticism and assistance. The President added that the advice of SCUB was always appreciated. Now, with the forecast of the government grant revenues received for the next two years, and the need for the budget process to begin earlier to look over two years and not just the upcoming year, it had been made clear to SCUB that they would be engaged at the onset of the process.

The President added that SCUB was a very important agency in the budget setting process, based on its independence from the President and President's Executive Council, and noted that it could arrive at a different set of conclusions. If there were serious disagreements between SCUB and President's Executive Council, the proposed motion brought forward today would not be passed, and the budget would proceed to the Board either without a motion from Senate or as an antagonistic motion of Senate. The ultimate authority for the budget resting solely with the Board of Governors. The report of SCUB, therefore, was very important and would be assigned a significant degree of importance by the Board of Governors when the budget was presented.

Senator Otter added that it would be easier to gauge the budget if there was more information on what the columns represented - specifically, where all the revenue came from and explanations for the capital expenditures and transfers. Colleen Smith provided clarification. The Chair noted that this was a valid point and that an explanation would have been helpful.

Senator Goring stated that he was glad to have been on SCUB and to have participated in the budget setting process, but as a student Senator, was disappointed to be in this position. He added that it was an awkward position to be in, as he knew that tuition fees had to increase and yet understood that students would be hurt by this decision. Although the administration did a good job in consulting the students, the fact that there was no real long-term plan in place made it was very difficult for students to provide meaningful feedback, and students felt it was a take-it or leave-it issue with no options for them. He felt that this reflected back to when Action 2002 was passed. It was understood that the University would be in this position, but more discussion was needed. Of all the specific proposals included in Action 2002, none had been passed. He felt that this reflected on Senate in part, and recommended more long-term planning in the future. The President confirmed that, in this budget, it stated that plans would be made for a minimum of two years. He accepted responsibility for not having taken SCUB's advice last year, wanting to give the new government time to understand the importance of advanced education and the need to review the projections that were provided. He confirmed that a five year budget projection had been done. We were building a strong new University, he said, and it is important that the momentum not be lost even though there were difficult decisions to be made. The President was confident that we would continue to grow notwithstanding the difficulties being encountered. The Action Plan set out recommendations on what the University should be doing to build the academic community, and we would not be ignoring the recommendations of that plan. The plan would give direction and a sense of priorities.

Senator Montgomery noted that the funding letter included provision for delivery of 2811 FTE's, whereas the overview report showed an estimate of 2970. As was mentioned previously, if there was a reduction in enrolment it was possible that the government could take back some of the funds they provided. He asked whether we were trying to "claw forward", or did we feel we could handle a larger number of students at the same cost and build on our momentum. The President confirmed that UNBC currently had higher enrolments than the targeted enrolment from the Province, and this provided a cushion. If the University were not to grow by the 5% as anticipated, we would still be in excess of the enrolment target set; but as the enrolment target was very specific, (the University had both a general enrolment target and a specific enrolment target) if UNBC failed to meet the specific targets, where we had been given targeted funding, this would be the area where there would be consequences should the Ministry decide to withhold money or to take money back.

Senator Brown observed that, on page #5 of the UNBC Proposed 2003/04 Operating Budget (in the last paragraph under "Conclusion"), there was the suggestion that the "committee", which he understood to be SCUB, would be "mandated to identify a set of options for major savings over the next two years, for possible areas of new revenue generation, and for strategies to protect the university and its faculty, staff and students from the forecast reduction and stagnation in provincial base funding". He asked the Chair how this might progress. He requested clarification on whether or not the President would bring a motion forward to Senate to mandate SCUB to address that issue and, secondly, if tension arose between the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning and SCUB on this issue, how it would be addressed. The President clarified that, in embarking upon the budget issue beginning in May, the leadership would be taken by President's Executive Council; and the responsibility would not be delegated to SCUB. President's Executive Council would undertake this exercise in consultation with President's Council, which includes senior administrative officers of the University including the Deans, as well as with SCUB. SCUB would continue to act in the advisory capacity to the President and, as issues arose that might create a conflict in priorities between the budget planners and, potentially, SCUB and the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning, the Deans would be involved through President's Council. There would be opportunities to identify issues of priority, as the process would be consultative. The President would be meeting with SCUB early in May to set out a process for this review of the budget situation, in anticipation of the preliminary report to be provided in November.

Senator Brown asked who mandated SCUB and the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning - his understanding being that it was Senate. He presumed that motions would be brought forward to Senate should SCUB be asked to take on a greater role. The President stated that this would be a good issue for the Senate Committee on Organization and Rules, and referred the matter to the Registrar to take under advisement. He added that the current process was entirely consistent with the Terms of Reference of SCUB, and that any action to move SCUB in a direction that would exceed its present mandate would require a special motion of Senate.

The Chair of SCUB concurred with the President's comments and reiterated that the Committee is mandated to assist the President and to report to Senate, and if Senate required more than is set out in the Terms of Reference, a motion would be required.

In order to be more useful to Senate during the budget setting process, Senator Hussein suggested that SCUB report to Senate on a regular basis.

8.2 Audio System for the Bentley Centre

Senator Morrison questioned if Administration would be changing the audio system for the Bentley Centre and the timeframe for doing so. In the absence of the Vice-President Administration and Finance, J. DeGrace advised that it was hoped that the new system would be in place for February 2003, but all efforts were being made for the necessary work to be done during the summer months.

3.1 Students Concerns Regarding Vacating of Residences

C. Jago reported that the policy in place for students to vacate the residences within 24 hours after their final exam was standard practice. Senator Y. Hussein requested that this policy be revisited to allow students a longer period (a few days to one week) after their final exams to pack their belongings and vacate the premises, so as not to take away from their study time before exams.

Action: This request would be forwarded to the Senate Committee on Student Services so that the existing policy may be reviewed for both the Fall & Winter Semesters, and a report from that Committee be brought back to Senate.

4.0 President's Report

The President was pleased to announce the appointment of Dr. David Snadden to the joint position of Associate VP Medicine at UNBC and Assistant Dean responsible for the Northern Medical Program at UBC. Dr. Snadden would assume his position at UNBC on July 1, 2003.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

The Vice-President (Academic) and Provost provided an update on the hirings for the Northern Medical Program. There would be six academic positions to be filled, with a start date of January 2004. A draft advertisement was now being reviewed by the Dean of Medicine at UBC. The VP asked that Senators share this information with qualified individuals.

6.0 Question Period

6.1 Motion For Discussion – From the Regional Advisory Council Meeting of February 4, 2003 (no material)

“The Regional Advisory Council requests that Mr. Rocque Berthiaume put forward the idea of balanced representation of students and faculty from the regions on the Senate”.

The Chair advised that the Provincial Government had put before the Legislature a recommendation that Lay Senators no longer be appointed to Senates by the Provincial Government. Currently, UNBC has four Lay Senators representing the four Regional Colleges as well as a Lay Senator representing the Aboriginal communities. Once this legislation was approved, UNBC would seek the guidance of the Senate Committee on Organization and Rules to determine how best to proceed.

The following two issues would be referred to SCOR:

1. should the University continue to appoint Lay Senators, and
2. what would constitute balanced regional representation on Senate.

Action: Senator Berthiaume agreed to have these issues proceed to SCOR. Senate to be kept informed.

6.2 Fees for the Spring/Summer Intersessions

Senator Goring brought forward concerns from students that the costs of these sessions did not include the same level of services provided during other semesters. Some of these included food and transport, and as well the Intersessions were shorter. Senator Goring asked that consideration be given to reducing the costs.

Action: The Chair would refer this matter to the Senate Committee on Student Services to look at what the students were getting for their fees for the Intersessions. The shorter semester was also to be given consideration when reviewing the fee structure. A report to be brought back to a future meeting of Senate.

The Chair added that when these were originally drawn up there was no Dean of Graduate Studies. As this position was added, it seemed appropriate to add another student representative, and to make it a “regional student representative”.

Senator A. Hussein questioned having the President as Chair on this Committee. The President responded that as Chair, he was bound by law to bring the recommendations from the Committee forward to the Board of Governors. He was free to recommend contrary to the Committee, but the final decision rested with the Board and not the Committee.

3.1 Ecosystem Science & Management Program

For clarification purposes, Senator Otter noted that at the Senate meeting of December 18, 2002 SCAPP motion #SCAPP20021106.25, which had been brought forward for information, stated "That the combined unit: Biology, Environmental Arts and Forestry be named "Ecosystem Science and Management Program" as proposed. The effective date noted was September 2004, but should have been September 2003. The correction has been recorded for the records.

4.0 President's Report - None

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. D. Poff reported that the Degree Program Review Committee (DPRC) would no longer be in effect commencing the following day. The "Quality Assurance Board" would be taking over the role of accreditation for new degrees for the province. UNBC would become a self-accrediting institution with respect to undergraduate degrees. Any new proposal for an undergraduate degree would be posted on the Ministry website for thirty days for comments by our peers at other institutions, so that their feedback could be incorporated into the proposal. The Minister would continue to approve the degrees, but we would not be going through a formal review process.

In the Fall of 2004, the same status would be gained with respect to Masters degrees and in the Fall of 2006 we would gain that status with regard to doctoral degrees, the rationale being that once a public institution had been offering degrees for ten years, it would become self-accrediting in respect of that degree type. In response to Senator Beeler's question, Dr. Poff advised that changes would take place on the tenth anniversary of our offering degrees. The new procedures had not been fully worked out yet.

Under the current system, the sequence for approval for a new degree was as follows:

- . the proposal went to Senate
- . if approved, it was forwarded to the DPRC
- . if approved there it was submitted to the UNBC Board of Governors for final approval.

Under the new system, the sequence would remain unchanged and the proposal would be submitted to the Ministry for approval after being submitted to Senate to show that there was institutional support.

6.0 Question Period

6.1 Implementation of the Environmental Engineering Degree

Senator Mandy stated that the degree had been conceived on the basis that existing courses would be used, but it seemed that spaces were being taken away from non-Environmental Engineering degree students in order to give the Engineering students priority access.

In response, Dean McGill noted that the Environmental Engineering Program accepted students by cohort. These students spend two years at UNBC and then attend UBC. The Program that they were in was a highly structured Program and, as a consequence, there was very little flexibility with regard to sections into which they could be fit to obtain the courses they must have while at UNBC. Consequently, spaces were reserved for them in the various courses they required.

Senator Mandy recommended that, for next Fall, the instructors in the courses involved be notified of the proposed intake to deal with questions that arose from potential students.

Senator Hussein also stated his concerns regarding this issue, and in particular the fact that certain sections had been reserved so that non-Environmental Engineering students could not have the choice of the sections they wished. Dean McGill responded that the decision would be made reasonably soon to free the reserved spaces to other students, to accommodate "wait lists".

Action: The concerns were noted and the Dean asked to provide a report at the next meeting of Senate on how this situation was handled.

6.2 Question for SCAPP

Senator Goring noted that students from Professional Programs such as Forestry and Environmental Planning were required to take an "Ethics" course, but students from the Biology Program were not. He would like to see this addressed by SCAPP seeing that Biology as a field itself (genetic applications) was undergoing quite a bit of change. In his classes, ethical questions had been raised, but there was no proper forum to deal with them. He had discussed the issue with the various Program Chairs.

Senator Otter responded that there were some courses in Biology where ethical considerations were addressed as part of the class, and the practice had been to build pertinent sections into existing courses instead of having separate courses.

Action: The Program would be asked to provide a written report to Senate. The response may be similar to Senator Otter's, but it would be on record.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning

A Summary of Curriculum Changes to the FNST Program was included.

Senator King advised that the Gitksan “Body” referred to in the summary was incorrect.

Tait/Mandy

That the Minutes of the June 11, 2003 Public Session of Senate be approved as proposed.

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

3.1 Implementation of the Environmental Engineering Degree

A response was provided by Dean McGill to the concerns raised at the June 11th Senate meeting regarding the spaces in various classes that were reserved for Environmental Engineering Degree students. R. Thring, representing Dean McGill, reported that there were 65 offers made, 31 rejected and 9 students registered in the first year.

3.2 Ethics Course for Students from the Biology Program

A report was provided by the Chair of the Program regarding questions raised at the June 11th Senate meeting.

4.0 President's Report

A presentation was made by the President on "The Changing Face of University Education in BC". There were two documents that recently came to the University from the Ministry of Advanced Education, in which they indicated a new direction being implemented in the province. As these documents will have significant implications for universities in the province, they had also been reviewed with President's Council and with the Board. The fact that the two governing bodies of UNBC were being brought into discussion would indicate clearly the significance attached to the two documents. One was titled “Mandates, Roles & Responsibilities in the Public Post-Secondary Education System in BC: a Working Paper” and the other, “Post-Secondary Education: Planning for the Future”. Copies of these could be requested from the Secretary to Senate.

The University Presidents Council (TUPC) proposed to respond to the first with one shared document, but where necessary individual university responses would be added as appendices to the main response.

With regard to the second, institutions would be required to submit three-year service plans, to be updated annually as well as multi-year and capital plans.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

The Vice-President (Academic) & Provost reported that she had been appointed to the National Council on Ethics for Human Research and would be pleased to share any information obtained.

6.0 Question Period

6.1 Loading of Grades – Spring/Summer Semester

With regard to the e-mail from the Registrar of June 20th, advising that the loading of the grades for courses taken in the spring/summer semester would take place at the end of the semester in August and that students taking consecutive courses would have to obtain the permission of the instructor, Senator Swainger wished to know when this “institutional decision” was reached and secondly, would we continue to view these courses as “irregular” courses.

Action: The Registrar would be asked to respond at the next meeting of Senate.

Policies & Procedures – Statement of Principles on the Treatment of Postdoctoral Fellows

Tait/Blouw

That the Statement of Principles on the Treatment of Postdoctoral Fellows be recommended to Senate for approval.

Effective Date: Fall 2003

CARRIED

Senator Otter noted that Appendix “A” (on page #177 of the meeting material) did not mention the provision of desks or office space, which was an important consideration for the attraction for Postdoctoral Fellows. Dr. Blouw stated that this was discussed with Dean McGill prior to this meeting. The issue was understood and would be discussed further. The Chair stated that given the current shortage of space on campus, all that could be committed to was that “reasonable effort would be made to supply office space”.

That the Minutes of the August 13, 2003 Public Session of Senate be approved as proposed.

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

3.1 Loading of Grades – Spring/Summer Semester

At the August 13th Senate meeting, Senator Swainger raised questions with regard to the e-mail from the Registrar of June 20th pertaining to the loading of grades for courses taken in the Spring/Summer session.

The Registrar responded that the issue of loading grades had been ongoing for quite some time. It first arose at the Banner SWAT Committee relating to the tuition deposits to be paid for the summer months and this led to seeking the definition of a semester. The matter was referred to the President's Executive Council, with the directive that all semesters be treated equally. Further, the directive from the Strategic Academic Plan was that condensed and otherwise irregular courses be encouraged, most of these being spring/summer courses. With all semesters being treated the same, and being unable to load grades at the end of every course, a memo was distributed on June 20th advising that the grades for the summer session would be loaded at the end of the spring/summer semester. Due to the difficulties that this decision created a second memo was distributed on June 27th advising that the grades for spring/summer courses completed on or before June 16th would be loaded by July 4th. When the Sessional dates have been brought forward to Senate in the Fall for approval, Senate would be asked to approve them for three semesters: Fall, Winter and Spring/Summer.

As more irregular courses would be offered in the Fall and Winter semesters, the need to have grades submitted by instructors within seventy two hours would have to be re-examined.

4.0 President's Report

4.1 New Audio System in the Bentley Centre

The President thanked Andrew Snih of the Educational Media Office for all his work in choosing and installing the new audio system, which was a significant improvement over the previous system.

A. Snih gave a brief information session on the use of the new equipment.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

The Vice-President (Academic) and Provost provided a brief update regarding the activities of the Degree Quality Assessment Board. The Board had been working through principles, some of which were as follows:

- . on the process of degree approvals
- . of how the process would affect the public post-secondary system, particularly universities
- . criteria for program reviews.

Copies of the documentation that was on the Ministry website could be obtained from the Office of the Vice-Chair. On September 3rd this was sent to all the post-secondary systems as well as private providers. The Board had requested feedback by October 15th and this was an opportunity for members of Senate to provide their feedback.

The President added that documentation was received in his office late last week. Some of it was directly applicable to UNBC, and a briefer package had been distributed to the Program Chairs and would be discussed next week at a special meeting of President's Council to illicit their feedback. The members of Senate declined the offer to have the information included in the next agenda of Senate as it would not leave sufficient time for a response.

Action: D. Poff to send a copy of the documentation to Senator Nyce.

Effective Date: September 2003

The Chair advised that as this motion was moved at the meeting of the Senate Committee on Organization and Rules (SCOR), it should have been brought forward to Senate for information.

8.0 Other Business

8.1 Report of the Registrar

8.1.1 Enrolment Update for the Fall Semester

The Registrar distributed and spoke about the UNBC Applications/Applicants/Registrant Comparison Report for the Fall 2003 Semester. These reports were run weekly with this one being as at September 4, 2003. As at today's date, many undergraduate courses had waitlists.

The President added that programs were being tracked where the University had been given targeted enrolment requirements as well as new programs. No official statement with regard to enrolment figures would be made until after the add/drop date later this month.

The Vice-Chair stated that for budgeting purposes, enrolment growth of 5% was budgeted for.

CARRIED

Senator Mandy noted that in the College of Arts, Social & Health Sciences (CASHS) Annual Report the impact on enrolment increases on programs within that College was pointed out and asked if similar strains were also being experienced within the College of Science & Management (CSAM). Dean McGill confirmed that pressures resulting from increased enrolment were happening within specific programs in CSAM, mainly Mathematics and possibly Chemistry.

Action: The Chair to ask the Director of Institutional Analysis & Planning to look into setting up methodology for tracking the impact of increased enrolment on individual programs and to report back to Senate.

Senator Mandy queried the use of the phrase “academic units” in the report. The College had been told by the Dean that the restructuring affected only administrative units, not academic units.

Senator Hussein presented the following concerns:

- . This annual report had not been seen by anyone within his program.
- . The report mentioned the “Mediation”, but it did not provide relevant details.
- . The Physics/Mathematics/Computer Science programs were three separate units and not one.
- . The shortage of administrative support for the programs was critical and he wished to have this issue addressed. There was only one Program Secretary to provide support to approximately twenty six Faculty Members.

The Vice-Chair responded that this issue was currently being addressed by Human Resources. The seriousness of the issue had been recognized, and she had been startled to see how over-extended the Secretaries were in all academic units and she reassured Senate that the issue was not being ignored.

Senator Swainger added that “strength” was not the only issue, but also the need for coverage during absences.

Approval of Minutes - of the October 8, 2003 Public Session

Malcolm/Swainger

That the Minutes of the October 8, 2003 Public Session of Senate be approved with the inclusion of the following paragraph under the section “Report of CSAM to Senate”, motion #35:

“Senator Mandy queried the use of the phrase “academic units” in the report. The College had been told by the Dean that the restructuring affected only the administrative units, not academic units”.

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate – None

4.0 President’s Report

4.1 Welcome to New Senators

The Chair welcomed the new Senators.

4.1A Declaration of Vacancy – Senator S. Beaumont

The Chair advised that he had received the resignation of Senator Sherry Beaumont and had accepted it with regrets.

As there had been a recent election to fill a Faculty “Member at Large” position on Senate, the question of whether it would be feasible to fill Senator Beaumont’s vacancy for the balance of the term with the nominee with the next highest number of votes from the College of Arts, Social & Health Sciences (CASHS) was put forward.

Action: This would be taken under advisement and forwarded to the Senate Committee on Organization &amp; Rules (SCOR).

4.2 Towards a Higher Learning Investment

Material received for information.

With regard to the Annual Budget Submission of The University Presidents' Council to the Government of BC, the Chair added that the Provincial Government had set the budget date at February 19, 2004 and that from the budget speech we would have some idea as to the direction of the Government, and can expect the budget letter either at the end of February or early March.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost - None

5.1 Membership of the University Tenure & Promotion Committee (UPTC)

The Chair advised Senators of the nomination of Senator Beeler to fill the tenured Senator position on UPTC, and of a nomination of Senator Otter to fill the alternate position. As there were no other nominations from Senate, they were declared elected by acclamation. The positions on this Committee for Faculty Members from the College of Science & Management (CSAM) had also been filled. The Chair thanked all the nominees.

6.0 Question Period - None

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning

In the absence of the Chair of this Committee, Senator T. Whitcombe presented the following motions.

S-200311.03

New Degree Proposal – Ecosystem Science and Management – Honours in Forestry

Whitcombe/Otter

That the New Degree Proposal for Ecosystem Science and Management be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: Winter 2003

CARRIED

2 ABSTENSIONS

A number of points were raised as follows and answers provided:

- . Senator Smith questioned why this Honours Degree was different in content from others. Dean McGill responded that in this program, Honours students would be expected to prepare and deliver a seminar, but not as a formal course offering. Senator Otter noted that this was a program with a heavy course requirement. The major in Forestry was 138 credit hours, and the Honours program was even higher. Senator Whitcombe added that, in previous discussions on Senate, it had been decided that there was not a requirement for complete parity across degree boundaries.
- . Senator Hussein noted his concerns with regard to new courses and new degrees being proposed when there could be the possibility of others having to be terminated.
- . Senator Montgomery wished to know if Faculty would be reimbursed either in reduced workload or in stipends for supervising Honours Students. He wanted to ensure that graduate student supervision would be an option and not a requirement. Dean McGill responded.

S-200311.04

New Degree Calendar Description – Honours in Forestry

Whitcombe/Morrison

That the proposed new degree description for the Honours in Forestry be added to the UNBC Calendar.

(To be inserted on page 75 beneath "Elective Requirement".)

Effective Date: Winter 2003

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED

S-2003 11.05

2004-2005 Semester Dates (for the Undergraduate & Graduate Calendars)

Whitcombe/Randall

That the Semester Dates for 2004-2005 be approved as proposed, and that the Semester Dates for 2005-2006 be approved provisionally, for planning purposes.

Effective Date: Fall 2004

Motion of Amendment

Addition to Sessional Dates in the Graduate Calendar

Tait/Morrison

That to the Sessional Dates for Graduate Studies be added, November 15th as the deadline for acceptance for the second semester and July 15th as the deadline for acceptance for the first semester.

CARRIED

Main Motion as Amended

Amendments/recommendations were made to the main motion as follows:

- . deadline for applications for the Engineering Program should be May 1, 2004, not March 1st.
- . it was under advisement to the Registrar that the Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning (SCAPP) revisit the number of teaching days (60 in the Fall as compared to 62 in the Winter Semester) for the same course. Students would have the advantage of two more teaching days for the same course taken in the winter semester.

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED

S-200311.06

General Reorganization of the University Calendars (both Undergraduate & Graduate)

Whitcombe/Morrison

That the proposed general reorganization of the University Calendars be approved with the recommended changes.

Effective Date: 2004-2005 Calendars

Introductory comments were made by the Registrar. The highlights of the proposed reorganization were as follows:

- . the Academic Regulations would be moved from the back to the front of the Calendar for a logical progression.
- . the listing of Faculty Members to be amended so that for each academic program, the names of the Faculty Members associated with that Program would be listed beginning with the Chair, followed by any Professors Emeriti and professors, in alphabetical order.
- . the general listing of Faculty Members would be the place where all Faculty Members would be listed alphabetically, showing their degrees, their places of graduation, discipline etc.

Recommended Changes:

- . the line "Guide to Course Descriptions etc" on page #38 to be deleted as it was also listed on page #41.
- . First Nations Studies to be added to page #40 showing the First Nations languages offered.

The changes recommended by the Senators were acceptable to both the mover and seconder. The Chair added that the proposed reorganization of the Calendars was reviewed in depth at joint meetings of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning (SCAPP), the Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies (SCRGS) and the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals (SCAA).

Changes to the Undergraduate and Graduate Regulations

Whitcombe/Mandy

That the changes to the Graduate and Undergraduate Regulations for the University be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: Winter 2004 except as indicated otherwise for specific regulations

The Registrar made the following introductory comments:

- . The motion had been made on behalf of SCAPP & SCRGS.
- . The current Academic Regulations were difficult to access. As more students were viewing the Calendar content on the Internet, changes were necessary.
- . The revisions were made roughly to follow students' progress through their academic careers.
- . Some of the entries in the current Academic Regulations had not been approved by Senate.

The following friendly amendments were recommended:

- . the word "less" on line #2 under section #7 "Part-Time Studies" to read "fewer".
- . the final sentence under section #39 to read, "Food and beverages other than water are not to be permitted in the examination room".
- . the first sentence of section #42 to be changed to: "...for any final examination missed must be made by the student or designate to the office of the ...was written"
- . the second sentence of section #42 was re-written by the Registrar to read, "Within 48 hours of receiving a submission, the Registrar or designate may direct the Program under which the course is offered to arrange a writing of a special examination in the case of an examination which was missed".

Action: Senator Cochran added that section #5(a) did not reference if this related to a "non-teaching issue". The Registrar advised that regulations relating to student conducts fell under the purview of the Senate Committee on Student Discipline Appeals (SCSDA). This would be taken under advisement and referred to the SCSDA for a comprehensive review.

The Secretary of Senate, John DeGrace, advised that a Call for Nominations for the position of Chancellor of UNBC was circulated in the Fall and that one nomination was received. He informed Senators that Mr. Peter J. G. Bentley was elected by acclamation, and distributed a copy of the news release which would be dispatched to the media immediately after this announcement.

C. Jago provided biographical information adding that Mr. Bentley had been a supporter of this University for quite some time, and was certain that he would continue to provide outstanding leadership. C. Jago stated that he was delighted to welcome Mr. Bentley as Chancellor. Mr. Bentley would be officially installed as Chancellor at the May 2004 convocation ceremony.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

The Vice-Chair reported on clarification received from the Ministry on a number of programs we had been working on with regard to the development of graduate proposals. In terms of our status for exemption for granting masters degrees, application for exemption would have to be made. This could be done before the exempt status became effective, which was September 2004.

With regard to the status of post baccalaureate diplomas, clarification was received that UNBC, as an exempt University, did not have to circulate on the Ministry site as the Community Colleges and University Colleges were required to.

Amended Motion

That the Senate motions 1, 2, 3, 5, 6 listed on pages 6-7 of the report, "An Enrolment Accountability Strategy for the University of Northern British Columbia" be approved as proposed. That motion 4 be approved as amended in the circulated text, which replaced pages 17-19 of the typed page numbers or pages 35-37 of the handwritten page numbers of the original material.

Effective Date: For inclusion in the 2004-2005 Calendar, and implementation in the 2004-2005 recruitment/admissions year for students admitted beginning September 2005

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED

The Registrar, John DeGrace, provided a summary of the discussions which lead to the amended motion as stated in his memorandum of December 16, 2003 to Members of the Senate.

The earliest version was submitted to President's Council in June & September, 2003. It was submitted to a joint meeting of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning, the Senate Committee on Research & Graduate Studies and the Senate Committee on Admissions & Admissions Standards in November. Discussion continued centered mostly around the admission requirements, but the issues surrounding that were not resolved before this Senate meeting. It was decided that it was best to revise the proposal to retain the same fundamental admission requirements that were currently in place, and to allow the rest of the motions to be carried to allow the Coordinator of Enrolment Management to consult broadly both within and outside the University and to bring forward recommendations.

If the proposals presented were approved by Senate, they would set in motion the steps necessary to move to administered enrolments. The specific recommendations that were made were those that impacted the 2004-05 Calendars, but where things could be postponed they had been left. For example, there were commitments to hiring that must be made which had budget implications requiring further discussions. As we moved towards managed enrolment, there would be costs to be expected: costs for the hiring of an administrator and provision of administrative support. As admissions would become more complicated, it was anticipated that one clerical assistant would be required, and there would be short term and possibly long term support necessary in Administrative Computing and Registration/Records within the Registrar's Office. At least for the coming year as a supplementary effort, a short term employee would have to be hired to assist the high school Liaison Officers in educating guidance counsellors, prospective students, parents and all those who needed to know of where the changes were leading.

Issues being faced:

- . significant population pressures – increased enrolments, and being close to the limit of the number of students that could be accommodated without additional space.

- . the provincial government had begun to set specific enrolment targets for BC post secondary institutions. Some of these targets were program related and the way students were admitted would have to be carefully considered.

Enrolment management would encompass the full spectrum of student recruitment, admission and retention practices. This document emphasized the admission component. Further work would be required in the areas of recruitment and retention, which would be ongoing and the Coordinator would play a central role in those areas. In moving towards enrolment management another important factor to consider was the screening process. At present we admitted to the University and a recommendation would be that we admitted by degree stream, which would guarantee that each student be assigned a Dean.

Summary of the seven motions before the Senate:

- . the first one had been briefly dealt with by Senate, the change of the application deadline to March 1st annually, at the time the sessional dates were brought before Senate, it was indicated that the approval of this date would be provisional and dependent upon how Senate dealt with enrolment management generally.
- . the second motion had to do with “Interest Only” category of students, which posed a variety of administrative problems in an administrative/registration context, and a revision of “Special Entry” category to accommodate those students who wanted to take an occasional course.
- . the third motion dealt with “general admission” requirements and clearly stated the nature of the enrolment administration process and called explicit attention to the “Special Entry” category for those who did not meet the “general admission” requirements.
- . the fourth motion dealt with “High School” admissions, and as was proposed in the amendments dated December 16th, would remain unchanged. The Enrolment Administration Coordinator would review the admission requirements internally and in consultation with schools and guidance councilors, Colleges and would recommend changes in advance of the 2005/06 Calendar.
- . the fifth motion covered revision to the “General Statement on Transfer” and was for clarity.
- . the sixth motion related to “Other Admission Category” changes and referred back to the second motion and “Special Entry”.
- . the seventh motion was a simple motion that if carried, carries the weight of approval in principal by Senate because it proposed the Calendar entry to revise “fees”. It required that students, upon acceptance to the institution, would be given a time limit to accept that position and provide the appropriate payment to cover acceptance and registration.

At this time, Professor Staffan Lindgren was granted the opportunity of speaking to the Senate. He was pleased to see that some concerns were addressed, although there would still be a problem with the designation of Science Degrees (pg #36 of the amendment). He asked that, in future, with regard to changes of this nature, a process be in place for consultation with faculty and faculty advisors.

Friendly Amendment:

That joint majors would be added to the Degree Groups on pages 35 & 36 under “High School Admissions”.

3.1 Clarification re: Listing of the 2003/04 Award Recipients

Susan McIntyre, Chair of the Senate Committee on Scholarships & Bursaries, provided the following clarification to questions raised at the last Senate meeting with regard to the list of 2003/04 Award Recipients:

- . Nomination by donor – the donor nominated the recipients and the Awards Office ensured that the nominees met the eligibility criteria. The names of the nominees were forwarded to the Senate Committee on Scholarships & Bursaries for final approval.
- . Aldyen Hamber Women's Studies Bursary – the amount was confirmed at $750. This was corrected on the original spreadsheet.
- . The list of awards – this was not a complete list. Earlier lists were sent to Senate for approval. This list represented the awards that were given out later in the Fall.
- . GPA values – these were incorrect. The GPA values were either University GPA's for continuing or high school entrance averages (percentages) for new students – high school admissions averages were not converted to GPA's. The spreadsheet to be corrected for greater clarity.

4.0 President's Report

4.1 November 2003 Enrolment Analysis Report – for information

These reports would continue to come forward to Senate and be a record of Senate in the future.

The following trends would be identified when it is presented to the Board of Governors:

- . The two Colleges were growing equally in size – not as it had been in the past. This was due to the expansion of the Nursing Program, the BEd and other new programs in the College of Arts, Social & Health Sciences.
- . Increased graduate enrolment in the College of Science & Management.
- . The decreased enrolment in Forestry was an issue.

The trends had been monitored and tied in with discussions at various levels.

Action: Dean Tait to discuss how the graduate numbers were reported with the Director of Institutional Analysis & Planning. It should be reported by Graduate Program, and the label at the bottom which reads "undeclared", should be changed to "non-degree students".

4.2 Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) – “The Consenting University & the Dissenting Academy: Binary Friction”

Received for information.

4.3 First Draft of the Three Year Service Plan

The President reported that universities must file a Three Year Service Plan with the provincial government in April this year. It is expected that the draft would be submitted to the Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning in February and to the Senate and the Board of Governors in March for thorough discussions before it was submitted to the government.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost - None

6.0 Question Period

Senator Otter raised a question regarding the University policy on the 72hour rule on submission of grades to the Registrar's Office after the final exam period. He asked how old this policy was and requested that it be revisited. During the last examination period one of his classes with 300 students had their exam scheduled on the final day of examinations and he was requested to submit the grades within 72hours.

In response, the Registrar advised that Faculty would in the near future be able to enter grades on-line on “Web for Faculty”, which would eliminate the need for a hard copy of the grades and for grades to be entered manually by staff in the Registrar's Office. As well, every attempt had usually been made to schedule exams for large classes early in the exam period to allow more time for marking. The grades were needed within this time frame so that students could be advised of their academic standing prior to the holidays.

Action: The question would be referred to the Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning for further discussion and a report brought back to the Senate.

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED

The Vice-Chair added that we expect to have a pilot English as a Second Language program this summer. Students would be admitted to Northern Lights College and the College of New Caledonia and would be offered a conditional admission to the University based on their successful studies and proficiency in English.

Senator Otter questioned how this agreement would affect Canadian students who may have English as a second language and wish to apply for admittance to the UNBC Graduate Program. Carolyn Russell, Coordinator of the International Centre, advised that this would be for any student who entered the program at the Northern Lights College or the College of New Caledonia. The question would be whether or not UNBC Graduate Studies would accept this program to satisfy admission requirements. The Vice-Chair stated that at this time we were in the process of thinking about our institutional needs for ESL and we would look at this as we pilot our first group.

Action: This would be taken back to the appropriate Committee for review. If this was a need on campus we would explore opportunities of offering it to ESL students at other institutions.

. Throughout the proposal the word Masters to be changed to Master.

C. Schell and Elizabeth Croft from the Business Program attended the meeting to provide clarification. There was considerable discussion/concern regarding this proposal. Dean Tait explained that the intent of this Program was for students to move from the diploma program after the first year to the MBA program in the second year. The Chair added that this proposal had been brought to Senate solely to deal with academic matters. If approved, the cost estimates would be submitted to the March meeting of the Board of Governors before the proposal was sent to the Ministry for review.

Discussion Summary:

- . pg #15 “supervision of ten students will be equivalent to one three credit course”. It was questioned whether faculty could buy out courses they teach, but this would not be the case.
- . D. Poff added that delivery of this Program would be significantly different. C. Schell added that in the initial stages, faculty would be brought in from other institutions as some aspects of the Program were expected to be self-funded, but it was hoped that eventually all the teaching would be done by UNBC faculty.
- . There was concern regarding managing of the workload, given the number of courses and supervisions. C. Schell advised that flexibility had been built in and the co-supervisory format could be used. It was not expected that all the supervision would be done by UNBC faculty.
- . The program did not require a thesis, but consisted of projects.
- . D. Poff added that the last year had been a very successful year for hiring of business faculty.
- . With regard to how this proposal would fit into the 5 Year Plan and the Action Plan, D. Poff confirmed that this was part of the original 1991 Strategic Plan as well as being an income generating proposal.
- . This would build depth to the existing BCOM, which has 5 majors.
- . The demand for an MBA in the north had been constantly raised by local businesses.
- . It was expected that the students would be part-time, and if there was sufficient interest from regional students, some of the workshops could be held in the regions or in chat rooms so that not all workshops needed to be held at the Prince George campus.

- . There was nothing in the plan stating that business graduate students would be hired as TA's. C. Schell confirmed that there should be no draw on the graduate TA pool.
- . If the proposal was approved, the Diploma Program would begin in the summer of 2004 and the MBA in the summer of 2005.
- . The concerns regarding the shortage of space on campus were discussed. Funds had been budgeted for the use of external facilities for video conferencing.
- . A. Nussbaumer advised that the start up funds indicated would be sufficient to allow the library to license at least one full-text database.

4.1 UNBC's Annual Three Year Institutional Service Plan

The draft of the Annual Three Year Institutional Service Plan was included for discussion. This was a new requirement of the government and the format being used was the format required by government. The content of the "Planning Context" came from the "Action" document. The wording used under the heading "Vision" was new. It was taken from discussions at President's Council, but had not been endorsed by Senate, and did not have the standing of the statements on the "Mission" and "Institutional Values", which had mostly been approved by Senate. The balance of the wording was re-stated from the "Action" document.

The Chair thanked Dean Tait for reorganizing the "Institutional Values" under headings to provide more coherence.

The information under the heading "Priority Research Areas" had been drawn from the current University research plan, a document that had been reviewed by Senate at an earlier date. Under “Goals”, a number of goals had been identified, which reflected accountability measures from government, and some were our own. The reference in sub-section #7 under heading #4 (b) should have been to a program in Biochemistry & Molecular Biology. Section #5 was incomplete pending information to be received. The Accountability Framework was from government and identified what we were to be held accountable for, and section #7 would be completed once the University budget was completed for this year.

This document was discussed at meetings of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy & Planning and the Senate Committee on Research & Graduate Studies, and many of the recommendations from these Committees and from President’s Council were incorporated into it.

In response to Senator Otter’s question about the term “Comprehensive”, which was used to describe the University, the Chair stated that UNBC was viewed as a “Comprehensive” university as we have had a broad array of graduates from professional programs.

Senator Smith questioned why there were no specific goals related to teaching. The list shown under “Performance Measure” was crucially tied to excellence in teaching instruction. She recommended that the Action Committee on Teaching & Learning looked at simple goals that could be achieved, an example being the maintenance of the delivery of workshops (that was currently ongoing) that supported the goals in terms of excellence in teaching.

Action: The Chair recommended that Senator Smith work with the Deans and the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost to provide him with suggestions to be included in this document.

This document would be presented to the Board at their March meeting and brought back to Senate upon completion for information.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

- The Vice-President (Academic) & Provost shared information regarding the number of degrees that the new legislation and the new degree approval process operated.
- As a member of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) working group that was working on setting criteria for the “Quality Assurance Mechanism in Canadian Higher Education”, D. Poff shared a document which was in response to the changing context of universities in Canada. The fact that there were an increasing number of degree granting institutions, international and “for-profit” universities entering the Canadian market, AUCC had been working on (as was being done in other parts of the world) developing a quality assurance mechanism that indicated to people both internationally and in Canada where the Canadian public universities stood in terms of their credibility and quality.

This draft was distributed to universities and to a number of institutions, and they were asked to complete the attached survey as a pilot. The responses would be reviewed by AUCC to determine if it would be a workable survey to utilize in developing what would become a self regulated checklist of quality indicators to illustrate that Canada and its public university system was doing a good quality job in terms of teaching and research.

- The VP had just returned from the annual general meeting/annual conference of the National Council on Ethics and Human Research, and on a Sub-Committee on Accreditation Guidelines for the granting agencies for ethics review. As drafts were developed, copies would be brought to Senate for information.

- Many Senators were aware of the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC) consultations taking place with regard to their transformation from a granting agency to a knowledge agency. Input was requested and the VP urged Senators to respond. Dean Randall added that a number of consultation sessions were being arranged and would continue until the end of March for faculty, graduate students and other administrative bodies. Meetings were being arranged with the College of New Caledonia and the community at large for researchers, as well as meetings to be held in the regions. An on-line survey was being developed to receive input from individuals who were not available for in-person consultations.

6.0 Question Period

Senator Binnema questioned whether students would be allowed to graduate at the Special Convocation on August 17, 2004. The Chair advised that this was still to be decided, but in any event the Special Convocation would be restricted to graduate students.

Action: The Registrar to check with the Dean of Graduate Studies to determine an approximate number of graduate students who would not be able to meet the graduation requirements for the May, 2004 Convocation. A decision would be made as soon as possible.

Senator Mandy asked about the possibility of having more than one graduation per year. The Chair agreed that the time had come to start thinking of this.

Action: This issue will be forwarded to the Senate Committee on Policy and Planning and to the Senate Committee on Research & Graduate Studies for their advice.

New Program – Certificate in Aboriginal Health Sciences

Poff/Whitcombe

That the new Certificate in Aboriginal Health Sciences be approved as proposed.

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED

P. Shawana attended the meeting to address any questions which arose.

Senator Otter requested clarification of the wording at the bottom of page #18 of the senate package. He noted it would be difficult to teach lab-based courses in a regional model when faculty were tied to teaching other courses at the University, and asked if this would be on a voluntary basis. P. Shawana confirmed that it would have to be on a voluntary basis as faculty members could not be required under the Faculty Agreement to teach courses they were not willing to. First Nations Studies work very closely with the Director of Regional Operations when seeking faculty to teach courses in regional programs as there were several factors to be considered i.e. the delivery model.

Senator Montgomery questioned whether Math 115 would be waived in lieu of Grade 12 Math, and suggested that Math 242 be given consideration as a substitute. P. Shawana advised that substitutions were available at the discretion of the Chair in all certificates. In the event that a course was waived, D. Poff asked if students were being advised that they would have to take another 3 credit course to accumulate the correct number of credits required for the certificate. P. Shawana concurred.

In response to Senator Binnema's question regarding the cost of library materials, P. Shawana stated that the memo on page #23 was intended to clarify that the $1000.00 which was referred to, would be for the delivery of the whole certificate, each year that the certificate was delivered. Dean Randall confirmed that this $1000.00 cost would be taken from either the Program or College budget.

2.0 President's Report

2.1 2004/05 Budget Discussion and Review

2.1.1 Presentation of Budget by President

The President provided an overview of the proposed 2004/05 UNBC budget. Some of the highlights were as follows:

- . the University must present a balanced budget annually to the provincial government
- . in November 2003, the forecast was that the University faced a 2.2million deficit if costs were not reduced
- . without cost reductions an increase in tuition fees in the range of 20-30% was required
- . from the outset everything was done to moderate tuition fee increases. It was not the intent to transfer the full burden to students
- . cuts at every level were instituted
- . assistance was received during the budget setting process from the Ministry of Advanced Education. A cut in the provincial grant for 04/05 over the level received in 03/04 had been forecast, and the Ministry made a very strong effort to restore the cut. The budget letter from the Ministry had not yet been received, but we were assured the cut would be restored
- . some end of the year money had also been received from the Ministry that allowed us to anticipate some of our capital replacement expenditures, and to remove them from the budget for the upcoming fiscal year. As a result, contributing to the capital reserve fund had been deferred, allowing the students to receive the benefit in the form of lower tuition increases, which might not have otherwise been possible

- . this budget was a combination of some addition funding from the Ministry, real cuts and deferments and additional charges to the students in the form of a 10% tuition fee increase (both undergraduate and graduate). We were always reluctant to pass additional charges on to our students, but a 10% increase, from what we know, will be the lowest tuition fee increase in the province this year
- . the multiplier for incoming international students was increased from a multiplier of 2.75 to a multiplier of 3.0 – still the lowest in the province of BC
- . it was also important to note where spending had been directed. The research role of the University was focused on, and as well, funds were directed to enhance our ability to attract capable graduate students, seeing them as contributors to the research role and mandate of the University. These included the waiver of tuition fees for students in PhD programs, which was conditional on performance, and half tuition fee waivers for Masters students, who were given graduate entrance scholarships
- . a number of other measures were taken, with respect to graduate students, from a number of budgetary sources, to provide an office, another work area and computers and to assist with graduate student admissions. The Vice-Presidents' Council focused on issues relating to graduate students as part of the overall focus on maintaining a healthy research environment for the University
- . with regard to recruitment and admissions, there was concern about the enrolment declines in some programs and the leveling off in enrolments in a number of areas. Additional staffing was added to critical areas i.e. student admissions and student counselling
- . with the one-time only Ministry money, significant investments would be made in information technology, infrastructure and telecommunications. This was done so that capital replacement expenditures could be reduced not just for the upcoming year, but for the next few years
- . a net additional faculty appointment was provided for the new degree program in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, the only new faculty position in the budget
- . a decision was made close to the finalization of the budget not to replace an appointment in Women's Studies that had recently been vacated. Although funding was not included in this budget, it did not mean that it could not be applied for.

The text and details of the entire proposed 2004/05 UNBC budget was included in the meeting package.

2.1.2 Report from the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB)

T. Whitcombe, Chair of the Senate Committee on the University Budget, reported that SCUB had two tasks:

1. to provide advise to the President in the formulations of the budget, and
2. to provide a report to Senate.

SCUB completed both these tasks. The report to Senate outlined the deliberations and decisions. SCUB became involved in the budget setting process back in September, 2003, which was earlier than in previous years. All the documents provided to SCUB were reviewed, and SCUB met with senior administration, on several occasions, to provide their input.

There were concerns when the budget guidelines were received that a call for an overall 3% cut was requested, but SCUB was pleased to see that that did not transpire. Instead, the Vice-Presidents' Council thought strategically about how the cuts should be made.

SCUB examined all the information that came out of the Vice-Presidents' Council and met with President's Executive Council.

The one recommendation, as was made last year, was that there should be a more standardized template for reporting the budget. A much more distributed model was adopted this year, and there was a commitment to move forward, which was heartening to see.

On the whole, SCUB feels that this proposed budget, as presented, represented a clear picture of the University's financial position and its commitment to Senate.

Motion

Proposed 2004/05 UNBC Budget

Whitcombe/Mandy

That Senate having reviewed the proposed 2004/05 UNBC budget concur with SCUB and recommend that the President present the proposed budget to the Board of Governors for their consideration.

2.1.3 Senate Discussion

- . Senator Berthiaume referred to the Access and Affordability Survey, in which it showed that 26% of UNBC students would likely have to quit their studies if there was an increase in tuition fees, and asked if this 10% tuition fee increase would affect the threshold. C. Jago responded that the effect could not be determined at this time. The Access and Accountability survey was added to the budget presentation as it was a very influential study and was given utmost consideration during the budget process, as the various issues were dealt with. It confirmed what was already known i.e. that UNBC was a "destination" University, with more students living away from home and having to deal with both academic costs as well as living expenses. It also confirmed that UNBC students had higher debt loads than students attending some of the other BC universities, but it also provided new information. Even before the survey results were received, UNBC students were assured that every effort would be made to keep tuition fee increases to a minimum, without jeopardizing the University.
- . In response to Senator Berthiaume's question regarding how our commitments to students over the past two years had been kept with regard to providing better access and services, C. Jago confirmed they had, although more modestly than he would have liked. Course sections and course offerings had been increased every year and services improved i.e. Peer Program, Counselling and student services. In this budget, money was set aside in the Vice-President (Academic) & Provost's budget to ensure the demands for course sections were met, and that there were no cutbacks to student services. This included the implementation of Banner Student, which should have some beneficial affect to students. Hopefully, the 10% increase in tuition fees would be less detrimental to students than if the increase was higher, as it might have been if the additional funding from the Ministry was not received.
- . Senator Smith disagreed with the cut of the Women's Study/First Nations Study position noting that it affected two programs. Both Colleges had made an effort to re-build the Women's Study program and the position was being removed at a time when the program was vulnerable. In response, Dr. Poff stated that the program was in a far more vulnerable position last year with two unfilled positions, and the position cut had been a non teaching position for 50% of the time it existed. In a year when a substantial cut was being taken from the base operating budget, maintaining the position could not be justified.
- . In response to Senator Smith's questions regarding the "contingency" fund, the Vice-Chair stated that there was a level of discomfort around the cuts, so the intent was to have an operating budget contingency in place to ensure that programs were not put in a position where they were not viable. That was not to say that the programs would not try to operate within the proposed budget. The process for the redistribution of funds would be handled by the Vice-Presidents' Council, where the Deans participate.
- . Senator Milakovic stated that the budget demonstrated the commitment to graduate research and addressed issues raised by the graduate students. Although the 10% increase was moderate, it did not fully address the financial burdens brought on by the first two tuition increases. The value of Teaching Assistants needed to be addressed. Teaching Assistantships continue to be the major source of funding for many graduate students and these were below the national average.

- . Senator Muir also voiced concerns from the graduate students. In particular, the concerns were regarding the value of the Teaching Assistantships at UNBC, and its use as a recruitment and retention tool.
- . The Chair confirmed that the cuts represented 2.2% of the non salary budget.
- . Senator Mandy spoke about the effects the cuts would have on students. Some students for example were unable to apply for research awards due to financial burdens. C. Jago replied that there was an ambitious and expensive program in place for tuition waivers to assist in that regard.
- . The implementation of differential tuition fees was raised by Senator Wilson. C. Jago advised that differential fees had been discussed over the last two years, but surveys showed some concerns. Senator Wilson also stated that more funds should be spent on Library holdings. The Chair responded that we already spent more on Library holdings than most universities of the same size. Funding for Library acquisitions was always a high priority, but had to stay within the budget. Senator Nussbaumer added that there would have to be some cancellations of journal subscriptions.
- . Senator Gill advised that the Northern Undergraduate Student Society had seen a notable increase in the number of undergraduate students requiring student aid and food packages.
- . The increase in salary expenditures was noted. C. Jago added that over the past three years this had continued to increase. Labour costs consumed the largest part of the budget, but was necessary in order to remain competitive in the market place.
- . Other cost increases noted were licensing fees, journal costs, and energy fees.

Change to Academic Regulation 38 – Examinations

Whitcombe/Morrison

That the revisions to Academic Regulation 38 – Examinations be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: Upon Approval

The following were highlights from the discussion:

- . The Registrar, J. DeGrace, advised that this change was brought to Senate last Fall, but was sent back to SCAPP for further review
- . The Northern Undergraduate Student Society provided input, which was incorporated into these changes on page #2
- . One of the concerns was the wording “to prohibit finals that are more than 50% without the express permission of the dean.” It was felt that this specification was unnecessary and would encumber the faculty’s decision to set marks for various examinations
- . Dean McGill advised that these changes were recommended to curb instances where there were 100% final examinations. There was no good pedagogical reason to assign 100% to one event that lasted only three hours. Some of these were required courses, as opposed to electives, and created unnecessary stress for students. Students did not receive feedback on how they were doing in the course prior to the add/drop dates as was required.

- . Aileen Espiritu
- . Jon Swainger
- . Chris Hawkins
- . Margot Mandy
- . Todd Whitcombe, and
- . Heather Smith.

A notice was sent to Faculty of both Colleges via e-mail with the above information, and a "Call for Nominations” will be put forth in the Fall 2004.

8.0 Other Business

8.1 Report of the Registrar - Report on Convocation

The Registrar advised that plans were moving ahead for Convocation. It will be a more complex Convocation with both the installation of the new Chancellor and the large number of graduates.

Senator Beeler asked if there was any possibility of moving the dates for future Convocations as they conflicted with the Learned Societies Conference attended by many faculty members. Dean Randall added that the Conference ran over a ten day period approximately so that even if the Convocation dates were moved it would still affect some faculty members. Faculty members selected the dates they attended.

8.2 Guide to UNBC 2004

D. Poff advised that the booklet “Guide to UNBC 2004” was available to Senators, fulfilling the requirement of the University Act. It contained information regarding the UNBC Annual report, under the heading “Money Matters”.

3.1 UNBC Annual 3-Year Institutional Service Plan 2004-2006 – circulated for information

4.0 President's Report

4.1 Presentation to the North Central Municipal Association - for information

This meeting took place in Fort Nelson and was a result of work undertaken with the Presidents of the three Northern Colleges regarding labour needs and economic development.

4.2 Presentation to the Prince George Chamber of Commerce - for information

This was a “wake-up” call to the City of Prince George that circumstances were changing, and that the University would be operating in a different environment (since the announcement of the two new interior universities) and that we had to work together to remain competitive. The presentation was sponsored by two companies established by UNBC graduates – one being Senator Darren Ditto, and the Chair conveyed his thanks to him.

Senator Berthiaume stated that he liked the forthrightness of the presentation, especially the reference to the new universities and the need for recruitment of both students and faculty, and wondered if there was a plan to deal with the issues raised. The Chair added that they were raised at President's Council and would be addressed over the next few months.

Action: The Chair hopes to have at least a positioning paper ready for circulation to the Board of Governors and the Senate by November.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

The Vice-President Academic & Provost, D. Poff, provided the following report:

- . As this was her last Senate meeting Dr. Poff wished to tell Senators how much she enjoyed working with them over the years
- . Before the end of her term, she would be submitting an application to the Ministry on behalf of the University for exempt status for Masters degrees. This would exempt UNBC from the full proposal review in front of the Degree Quality Assessment Board – our ten year anniversary of offering Masters level degrees will be September 2004
- . Attended the congress on Social Sciences & Humanities, which included a meeting of a group called “Focus” – the last three letters being Canada & the US. It is the group combining the National Council on Ethics & Human Research with their American counterparts. The theme of the Conference was “Institutional Conflict and Interest Policies”. She has material from this which she would be happy to share.

On behalf of Senate, the Chair expressed his gratitude to Dr. Poff for her many years of attending Senate meetings and for her wonderful service. She had been on Senate longer than anybody else at the institution. Dr. Poff was applauded by the Senators.

Affiliation Agreement between University of British Columbia and University of Northern British Columbia for the Northern Medical Program

Randall/Blouw

That the Affiliation Agreement between the University of British Columbia and the University of Northern British Columbia for the Northern Medical Program be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: May 18, 2004

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED

Dr. D. Snadden, the Associate Vice-President, Medicine, spoke to this issue as follows:

- . the Affiliation Agreement was a very important agreement between UBC and UNBC which would allow the Northern Medical Program to function
- . this agreement was an accreditation requirement, and some of the elements within it were from the accreditation requirements of the North American accrediting body
- . he believes it was the first time UBC had to work on an Affiliation Agreement of this kind
- . it was a long, hard process working out the language
- . the agreement presented to Senate was quite different from the first one we were presented with
- . we tried to ensure within this agreement that the rights of UNBC faculty, working within the Northern Medical Program, were protected
- . the major difficulties were around Intellectual Property rights – there were the significant challenges within a medical curriculum regarding the ownership of the rights, and the ownership and control of the curriculum resting with the Faculty of Medicine was an accreditation requirement
- . it was important to protect any original work carried out by UNBC faculty, and he believed that this was achieved in the agreement

- . another concern was the Tenure and Promotion process – UNBC faculty would go through the same tenure process, plus there would be some additional information provided by UBC. Decisions would still rest at UNBC
- . D. Snadden commended this agreement to Senate as it was. He advised that the schedules could change somewhat, but that the rest would only evolve marginally.

C. Jago's comments:

- . part of the balancing act within this agreement was the recognition of the Dean of Medicine over the Medical Program, which is a UBC Program, which leads to a UBC degree. The absolute authority of the Dean of Medicine over the Program was an accreditation requirement. Balancing with that were the interests of the partner institutions
- . there was a structure of committees around financial, personnel and property issues that required consensus among the three institutions.
- . there was a higher committee called the Inter University Planning Committee that could be brought in to deal with dispute resolution and hopefully more often to advocate and work on behalf of the further development of the expanded medical program
- . there was a careful balancing of institutional interests around a recognition of the area of authority with one of the Deans, who required that authority for the program to operate under accreditation requirements
- . C. Jago wanted to draw attention to that committee structure and the resolution processes which were built into the agreement, and which he believes will protect the interests of this University.

D. Poff's comments:

- . she was particularly concerned with earlier versions of the agreement, but was comfortable with the agreement as it stood. Earlier versions could have potentially compromised the UNBC faculty, who had their primary appointments at UNBC in terms of any creative Intellectual Property they might have wanted to include in case studies or articles
- . clarification was obtained that UBC was not interested at all in taking faculty members' intellectual content and not allowing them to use it. The issue was solely an accreditation issue
- . the language of this agreement protects the faculty and would not constrain their creativity
- . the other issue that was of great importance was that faculty members would be protected to ensure they had the same type of process with respect to tenure and promotion as any other faculty member with a primary appointment at UNBC
- . D. Poff felt that all the parties involved could have a fair degree of assurance about this document.

There were no comments from S. Cochran.

M. Blouw had no comments, but was happy to answer any questions regarding Intellectual Property.

C. Jago added that this was a bi-lateral agreement between UBC and UNBC which was identical to the bi-lateral agreement between UBC and UVIC. There was one Affiliation Agreement which took the form of two bi-lateral agreements.

Action: D. Snadden asked that any editorial errors be brought to his attention.

The following questions were raised:

- . Senator Whitcombe questioned the last paragraph of article #27. D. Poff advised that a number of sentences were added to article #28 that mediated the impact. M. Blouw added that the key was the separation of the original work from the curriculum and contents, and that the last two lines of article #28 had been added for clarification. D. Poff also pointed to the first line of article #28 for further clarification
- . With regard to Tenure and Promotion for faculty at UNBC, Senator Hussein asked who would be conducting the annual evaluations. C. Jago confirmed that they would be done through the Associate VP, Medicine, at UNBC. D. Snadden added that there were details of the process still to be worked out.

- . With regard to the students, Senator Hussein asked if they would have any avenues for academic appeals. C. Jago confirmed that they would go through the appeal process at UBC. Students would be acting under the academic requirements of the Senate of UBC.
- . C. Jago added that there were a gratifying number of students who made the Northern Medical Program their first choice within the expanded medical program.
- . D. Snadden confirmed there were currently twenty one firm acceptances and we were waiting to hear from three students, with a closing date of Friday, June 11th.
- . In response to Senator Berthiaume's question, C. Jago noted that it was important for us to establish in this document that two institutions came together, driven by different needs, to put together this arrangement. Part "A" of the Preamble was therefore very important in establishing the historical context of this agreement. He added that in terms of building that absolute partnership and commitment with communities throughout northern BC, there was the development of the Northern Medical Programs Trust to solidify the ties with the northern communities and give them a connection to the students in this program through financial assistance. As well, D. Snadden had worked very hard with the Northern Health Authority and throughout the region to ensure that clinical placements would take place throughout the north so that the students would gain a broad experience of northern and rural medicine, with the hope that they would wish to practice in the north.
- . C. Jago confirmed that the graduating students would receive their degrees from the Chancellor at UBC, and that in all likelihood a ceremony would also be held UNBC.

The Chair said a special thanks to D. Snadden, D. Poff, M. Blouw, S. Cochran and all those who worked so very hard in putting together this agreement.

S-200406.04

Memorandum of Understanding between Grande Prairie Regional College and University of Northern British Columbia

Randall/Whitcombe

That the Memorandum of Understanding between Grande Prairie Regional College and the University of Northern British Columbia be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: April 29, 2004

CARRIED

D. Poff stated that this was initiated by Grande Prairie Regional College. At present, they offer nine degrees in partnership with other institutions. They were interested in UNBC as they felt we took a more interdisciplinary and progressive approach to programs such as Forestry. They were also interested in our First Nations Studies given that their population was similar to ours. Legislation in Alberta allows Community Colleges to not only offer applied degrees, but also academic degrees and Grande Prairie Regional College offers degrees such as Fine Arts and Athletics.

Dean Randall added that there was already some follow up from them with our Psychology Department regarding the articulation of courses.

Addendum to the Tenure and Promotion, Regional Social Work Faculty Document

McGill / Hemingway

That the Addendum to the Tenure and Promotion, Regional Social Work Faculty document be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: Fall 2004

MOTION WITHDRAWN.

Senator C. Hawkins asked why this item was coming to Senate for approval. Dean Randall said that the item went through the Dean's Council, then to the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning and, using accepted practice, it should then come to Senate.

Senator T. Whitcombe explained that the previous Faculty Agreement stated that the document had to go to Senate for approval, while this is not a requirement of the new Faculty Agreement. Rather, the document should go back to the newly formed College Review Committee for consideration.

Action: C. Myers to forward this document to Dean Randall, Chair of the CASHS College Evaluation Committee.

S-200409.08

New Course Approval — BIOL 325-3

McGill / Otter

That the change to the Calendar text, to reflect the addition of BIOL 325-3 (Ecological Analyses) as a required course for the Major in Wildlife and Fisheries in the Natural Resources Management Program, be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: Fall 2005

MOTION WITHDRAWN.

Senator P. Montgomery questioned this motion, as the addition of Biology 325 was missing.

Dr. K. Egger spoke to the question, and indicated this motion predates a new motion, and is not the correct motion. The Chair ruled that, since it is incorrect, the motion be withdrawn.

Effective Date: Fall 2005

CARRIED.

Senator J. Swainger asked whether the number of credit hours required for this degree was greater than the number of hours required for a general degree. Senator P. Montgomery responded that he believed it was 139 credit hours, which is twelve credit hours over the 127 credit hours required for a regular degree.

Senator T. Whitcombe questioned whether this should go to the Degree Quality Assurance Board for approval. C. Jago responded that it may go to the Degree Quality Assurance Board for information, but that Senate had the authority to approve the degree.

8.1 Report of the Registrar

DeGrace

8.1.1 Enrolment update

The Registrar provided a written report on Fall Enrolment Comparisons, and said that registration information is still being received from the regions. He reported that total registration numbers were down by about 1%, but that full time equivalents have increased by 1.5% overall. Senator Penner questioned why there was an apparent trend of decreasing undergraduate student retention. J. DeGrace stated that there are many possible reasons, one being that British Columbia is one of the most “transfer-friendly” environments. He declared that, unless an exit survey is conducted, the reasons are difficult to ascertain, and added that the province would be looking into this issue. Finally, the Registrar reported that the number of declared First Nations students and International students has increased.

8.2 Committee of the Whole

Open Discussion

The Chair indicated that Senate’s input was being solicited for the agenda items 8.2.1 and 8.2.2. He outlined the process for engaging in the “Committee of the Whole” discussion, and then vacated the Chair, which was assumed by Dr. H. Brunt.

4.1 Progress Report on the Strategic Academic Plan

The President reported that the Strategic Academic Plan has been reviewed three times by President's Council. Some of the items have been referred to committees, and there are few recommendations that aren't currently being addressed, namely some of the benchmarks. He added that the Plan had been approved by Senate, so it was important that Senate receive the Progress Report, and welcomed comments.

Senator Montgomery asked whether the item relating to tuition fees being waived for PhD students (B. (g)) was correct, and the President indicated that it was, and that a motion to formalize the arrangement would be forthcoming from the Senate Committee on Scholarships and Bursaries.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

---

Dr. H. Brunt reported that some matters on which he is currently working would be brought to Senate in the future:

- 1) Review of the Core Academic Mission — this follows up on the Action Plan. Dr. Brunt indicated that several questions are being addressed in this review, such as the direction in which the University wishes to move, and areas that can be improved upon and grown. Dr. Brunt added that he has been impressed with the input he's received in his meetings with the Programs, and that there is a desire to become more strategic with decision-making.
- 2) President's Council has agreed to support a direction, in principle, for student recruitment. This follows on the review of the core academic mission.
- 3) Dr. Brunt indicated that he has been asked to chair a committee to review program offerings, which is a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning. Some of the programs are inactive, and a decision needs to be made about what to do with them. There are scheduling issues to be addressed, and he indicated that the committee hopes to have recommendations to bring forward.
- 4) Creation of a Committee on Teaching and Workload — Dr. Brunt indicated that his involvement with this committee has been educative and stimulating. One of the core issues they are looking at is the lack of transparency regarding workload between programs, and how to understand and address this issue.

Change to the Definition of a Resident of Northern British Columbia

Hemingway / Procter

That, for the purposes of awarding scholarships and bursaries at UNBC, the proposed definition of a resident of northern British Columbia be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: January 1, 2005

Senator Montgomery expressed concern regarding the inclusion of the phrase “excluding time spent as a full-time student at another post-secondary institution” in the proposed definition, as it would disadvantage full-time students as compared to individuals who had had spent time at another post-secondary institution as part-time students.

S. McIntyre asked that the item be referred back to the Senate Committee on Scholarships and Bursaries for further discussion.

Motion to refer:

Whitcombe / Mandy

CARRIED.

S-200411.07

Undergraduate Calendar Change — Awards and Financial Aid Information

That, beginning with the 2005 / 2006 Undergraduate Calendar, hard copy versions of the Undergraduate Calendar contain only scholarship, bursary and award information pertaining to new students with clear direction in the Calendar pointing to the UNBC website for information pertaining to awards for continuing students; and that the section on Awards and Financial Aid be placed in its former position closer to the back of the calendar.

Effective Date: October 2004

S. McIntyre indicated that the Development Office had expressed concern with regard to this proposal, and that the Senate Committee on Scholarships and Bursaries wished to revisit it, so the item was set aside.

Proposed Changes to the Senate Handbook (Parts 1, 2, and 3)

Whitcombe / Hawkins

That amendments to the Senate Handbook, Parts 1, 2, and 3 (excluding Senate Committees) be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: January 2005

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

The Chair requested that both motions regarding the Senate Handbook (S-200411.08 and S-200411.09) be put together. The Registrar indicated that the comments at the last Senate meeting had been taken into account, and that the revised Senate Handbook had been posted on the “facstaff” e-mail list inviting comment from the University community. The Registrar informed Senators of the changes which had been made to the Handbook as a result of comments received, and explained why other recommended changes had not been made. There were no further comments or recommendations with respect to Parts 1, 2, and 3 of the Senate Handbook.

S-200411.09

Proposed Changes to the Senate Handbook (Part 4)

Whitcombe / Hawkins

That amendments to the Senate Handbook, Part 4 (Terms of Reference for Senate Standing Committees) be approved as proposed.

Effective Date: January 2005

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

Senator Mandy asked whether anything had been done to address the concern raised at the previous Senate meeting with regard to the abolition of the Senate Committee on the Library. The President responded that the University Librarian had requested an advisory committee, which may reside with President’s Council. Senator Nussbaumer indicated that she was in favour of the recommendation to establish an advisory committee, and to eliminate the Senate Committee on the Library. She stated that Senate deals with broad policy, and that the Senate Committee on the Library is not dealing with broad policy. The President added that, in the changes recommended to the Senate Committees, the University Librarian has been included as a voting member of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning. Senator Mandy asked whether students unsatisfied with Library matters should now direct comments to the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning, to which the reply from the President was in the affirmative. Dean Randall suggested that there is a perceived gap regarding the addressing of issues related to the Library, and recommended that a committee to deal with these issues be established as soon as possible.

Senator Penner asked whether any steps had been taken to provide increased opportunities for Lay Senators, as requested at a previous Senate meeting. The Registrar replied that a Lay Senator has now been defined in the Senate Handbook as someone who is not a student and who does not hold an academic appointment at UNBC. Lay Senators have been added to the membership of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning and the Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies. The President added that an attempt had been made to provide balance between opportunities for Lay Senators and an onerous workload for those individuals.

Friendly Amendment:

Whitcombe / Hawkins

That the amendments to the Senate Handbook, Part 4 (Terms of Reference for Senate Standing Committees), including revisions as articulated at the Senate meeting of November 10, 2004, be approved as proposed.

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

The President thanked the Registrar for his work on revising the Senate Handbook, and Senators for their careful consideration of the changes and their input regarding the revisions.

4.1 2005 / 06 Budget Guidelines Document — for information

The President presented the budget guidelines document and attachments to Senate for information. He explained that the program costing estimates were provided in response to a recommendation that openness and transparency be provided in the process of setting the budget guidelines. The President spoke briefly about the attachments, and then invited questions.

Senator Scholefield asked why "Table 4: UNBC Program Cost Allocation, 1999/2000" in Appendix B contained a note indicating that all departments in Business & Finance, President's Office and the Executive Office were excluded. The President responded that the cost comparisons between the units were "academic related" costs, which is why those departments had been excluded.

Senator Montgomery questioned why there was no “UNBC Program Cost Allocation” data for budget years 2000/2001 and 2001/2002. The President explained that this information was provided in 1999/2000 on a one-time basis, at the request of the Senate Committee on the University Budget. At that point, there had been no appetite to do this on an annual basis, but it was eventually suggested that it be done every year.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost Brunt

Dr. H. Brunt reported briefly on the following issues:

- SCAPP Task Force on Program Review — information will be brought to Senate soon
- Recruitment — the university is moving to a new system of recruitment for faculty members in January
- Faculty Agreement Academic Program and Services Committee — Strategy and Program initiative is being launched, to be completed in May 2005

Senator Montgomery suggested that it is confusing to refer to a semester with two years in it, such as “2005/2006 September Semester,” and recommended that the format be changed to simply “2005 September Semester.” The Registrar agreed to the suggestion.

Senator Jensen indicated that the December examination period in the 2005 September Semester is only 9 days long, rather than 11 days as stated in the document. J. DeGrace agreed to confirm the dates.

Action: J. DeGrace to confirm the dates and length of the examination period in December of the 2005 September Semester.

Senator Otter asked about the November 10 Semester Break in the 2005 September Semester, and whether this was the first time this has been done. The Registrar responded that, yes, this was done at the direction of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning. Senator Otter indicated that this would have implications with regard to courses for which labs are scheduled, as the labs would have to be cancelled for courses throughout the whole week in which one lab is cancelled. The President suggested that, if the decision will cause concern, the matter should be referred back to the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning.

Dean McGill inquired whether twelve teaching weeks, as provided for in the document, is standard. The Registrar responded that it is standard not to go below sixty teaching days, and added that the feasibility of shortening the examination period in order to lengthen the number of teaching days might be considered in the future. He concluded that twelve teaching weeks is fairly standard.

The Registrar also reported the results of the election for faculty members on Senate, as follows:

Faculty Members from CASHS elected (two positions)

- Karin Beeler
- Kevin Hutchings

Faculty Members from CSAM elected (three positions)

- Margot Mandy
- Christopher Opio
- Eric Rapaport

Faculty Member at Large elected (one position)

- Aileen Espiritu

8.0 Other Business

8.1 Report of the Registrar

DeGrace

The Registrar reported that the pilot program of grade loading by Faculty members had been completed, and that it was anticipated this option would be made available to all faculty members by next semester.

He also reported that the Rules of Standing had been built into Banner, so students would now see their academic standing (including probation and the requirement to withdraw) upon checking their final grades, rather than being required to wait for a letter.

9.0 Information

The President reported that the Presidents of the College of New Caledonia and University of Northern British Columbia had signed an agreement regarding complementary planning. He stated that, compared to Alberta and the Lower Mainland, programs in the north were limited, which was the initiative for this agreement.

President Jago wished everyone a safe and happy holiday season.

10.0 S-200412.52

Adjournment

Whitcombe

That the Senate meeting be adjourned.

CARRIED.

The meeting ended at 4:30 p.m.

1.0 S-200501.01
Approval of the Agenda
Mandy / Morrison

That the Agenda for the January 12, 2005 Public Session of Senate be approved with the following addition:

- Motion S-200401.08A (Change to UNBC Undergraduate Grading System), under the Committee Report of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning.

CARRIED.

2.0 S-200501.02
Approval of the Minutes of the December 15, 2004 Public Session
Morrison / Mandy

That the Minutes of the Public Session of Senate of December 15, 2004 be approved as presented.
CARRIED.

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

J. DeGrace reported that he had verified the Sessional Dates which had been questioned at the Senate meeting of December 15, 2004. The correct examination schedule for the September 2005 semester was eleven days long, running from December 5 – December 16, 2005.

4.0 President's Report Jago

Acting Chair, Dr. H. Brunt, reported that the President was in Calgary.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost Brunt

5.1 Fall Enrolment Summary Report

Dr. H. Brunt distributed an additional report regarding the current enrolment situation (Registrar's Office Fall Comparison Registration Report). He reported that undergraduate enrolments had been stable over the past four years, but that there had been significant increases in graduate enrolments. Senator Whitcombe questioned the status regarding the FTE count, and J. Ross responded that the University was very close to the funded number, and expected to meet it precisely this year.

5.2 Enrolment – Fall Semesters 2000 to 2004 Report

J. Ross reported that growing graduate programs had helped the University to reach its targeted enrolment numbers. H. Brunt added that, although the International and First Nations student numbers weren't large, they had also helped to increase the overall enrolment numbers. Dean Randall reported that the enrolments in the College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences had increased.

5.3 Courses Offered Report

No comments were made with regard to this report.

5.4 Human Resources Strategic Plan and Employee Profile Report

Dr. H. Brunt reported that there has been greater balancing in terms of gender in all areas and levels of faculty employed at the University. In addition, the average age of faculty members was slightly younger than at many institutions, but faculty members being recruited are approaching mid-life, so the University is attracting faculty members who are more seasoned. Senator Smith commented that it appeared that women were self-selecting out of becoming full professors. She added that, although there appears to be gender balance when looking at, for instance, assistant professorships, there was less balance in terms of gender when it came to program Chairs.

5.5 Regional Operations Board of Governors Report

D. Macknak reported that, although enrolment numbers had risen significantly year after year, this year's enrolments were flat. He added that "headcount" was up, despite enrolments remaining static, suggesting that there were more students enrolling in fewer courses.

6.0 Question Period

No questions were posed.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning Brunt

An overview of the Proposed Joint Major in Economics and Mathematics was included for information.

S-200501.03

New Degree Approval — B.Sc. Joint Major in Economics and Mathematics
Randall / McGill

That the new B.Sc. Joint Major in Economics and Mathematics be approved as proposed.
Effective Date: September 2005
UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

An Executive Summary of changes to the School of Business was included for information.

S-200501.04

Change to Degree Requirements — Bachelor of Commerce
McGill / Procter

That the changes to the degree requirements for the Bachelor of Commerce be approved as proposed.
Effective date: September 2005
UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

S-200501.05

Change to Program Requirements — Social Studies Majors and Minors
Randall / Procter

That the changes to the “Social Studies Majors and Minors” description on page 145 of the Undergraduate Calendar be approved as proposed.
Effective date: September 2005
UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

Dean Tait indicated that, historically, the program name had been included in Senate motions, and requested that this practice be continued.

Friendly Amendment:

Change to Program Requirements — Education Program Social Studies Majors and Minors
Randall / Procter

That the changes to the Education Program “Social Studies Majors and Minors” description on page 145 of the Undergraduate Calendar be approved as proposed.
Effective date: September 2005
UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

S-200501.06

Change to Program Requirements — Education Program Secondary (Grades 8-12) Admission Requirements
Randall / Procter

That the changes to Education Program Secondary (Grades 8-12) Admission Requirements on page 143 of the Undergraduate Calendar be approved as proposed.
Effective date: September 2005
UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

Senator Mandy requested clarification regarding the change to the required average in the 6 credits/semester hours or equivalent in the undergraduate English composition and literature courses, from a “B” to a “C+.” Senator Procter explained that this is a common average grade, and that the rationale for the change was to prevent loss of science students from the program.

Dean Tait pointed out that this motion was incorrect given the change to the Education Program which had been approved at the Senate meeting of December 15, 2004 (motion S-200412.11), and the name of the program should have been included in the motion. Thus, rather than reading “changes to Senior Years (Grades 9-12),” the motion should have read “changes to Education Program Secondary Stream (Grades 8-12).”

S-200501.07

Change to Degree Requirements — Bachelor of Arts Minor in Human Geography

McGill / Tait

That the changes to the degree requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Minor in Human Geography be approved as proposed.

Effective date: September 2005

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

Senator Montgomery questioned why the requirements for the minor in these changes included a phrase relating to a minimum and maximum number of courses required, as this was redundant. It was agreed that this should be edited for the calendar, and Senator Mandy recommended that the wording be changed from “minimum” to “at least one of.”

S-200501.08

Change to Program Requirements — Nursing Program Admission Requirements

Randall / Malcolm

That the addition of a sub-heading (‘Admission Requirements’) under the main heading (A. Baccalaureate Nursing Program) be approved as proposed.

Effective date: January 2005

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

When a question was raised by Senator Mandy, Dean Randall clarified that giving priority for up to 20% of first year seats to Self-identified Aboriginal applicants translated to up to 19 seats. Senator Mandy also questioned how many applications were normally received for this program, and Dean Randall replied that approximately 350 applications had been received last year.

S-200501.08A

Change to UNBC Grading System (Undergraduate) — Introduction of Grades of D+ and D-

Whitcombe / Procter

That the change to the UNBC grading system (Undergraduate), to introduce the grades of D+ and D-, be approved as proposed.

Effective date: September 2005, for grades submitted at the end of the September Semester.

CARRIED.

Discussion ensued with regard to whether this change would, in fact, provide a fairer grading system, with a lack of consensus being reached.

Amendment to UNBC Grading System—Introduction of a New Grade, WE (Withdrawn on Extenuating Circumstances)

Morrison / Hussein

That the UNBC grading system be amended by the introduction of a new grade, WE (Withdrawn on extenuating circumstances) in both the Undergraduate and Graduate grade tables, as proposed.

Effective date: For grades submitted at the end of the January 2005 Semester.

The Registrar introduced this item and explained that the motion was designed to address situations in which students are unable to finish a class due to extenuating circumstances, particularly to reflect the student's presence in the class and provide for a refund of fees, as the grade of "W" only generates a 50% refund of fees. He added that the grade had rarely been used in institutions which carry it, and that he anticipated that would also be the case at UNBC.

7.5.1 Process Regarding Presidential Search

Dr. H. Brunt introduced the proposed process for replacing President Jago, and explained that the Board was looking for feedback from Senate with regard to the proposed process.

S-200502.07A

Procter / Nyce

That Senate recommends to the Board of Governors that the process regarding the Presidential search be approved as proposed.

Senators Muir and Small indicated that the student on the Board of Governors did not necessarily represent the constituency from which the student hailed, and recommended that there be at least one student representing each of the Northern Undergraduate Students' Society and the Northern British Columbia Graduate Students' Society, in addition to the student chosen by the Executive Committee of the Board.

Amendment:

Muir / Mandy

That Senate recommends to the Board of Governors the incorporation of the following amendment into the Search Committee Composition for the Presidential Search:

That the sixth bullet listed under "2. Search Committee Composition (14 members)," which currently reads:

"One student, undergraduate or graduate, depending on the status of the Board member (chosen by the Executive Committee of the Board in consultation with the appropriate student governing body)"

be changed to read:

“Two students, one undergraduate and one graduate (chosen by the Executive Committee of the Board in consultation with the appropriate student governing body).”

CARRIED.

Several Senators suggested that an imbalance would be created by including three students on the Search Committee and only two faculty members. Furthermore, it was noted that the phrase “one from each College” excluded the faculty members in the Northern Medical Program.

Amendment:

Otter / Morrison

That Senate recommends to the Board of Governors the incorporation of the following amendment into the Search Committee Composition:

That the fifth bullet listed under “2. Search Committee Composition (14 members),” which currently reads:

“Two faculty members (chosen by Senate – one from each College)”

be changed to read:

“Three faculty members (chosen by Senate – at least one from each College).”

4.0 President's Report

---

4.1 Introduction of New Senator

The Chair introduced and welcomed new student Senator Zoë Le Fevre.

4.2 Capital Expansion Report

President Jago put on a PowerPoint presentation related to the Five Year Capital Plan. He prefaced the presentation by indicating that, although capital plans are under the authority of the Board of Governors, the University Act provides that the input of Senate may be sought. The Chair added that the Five Year Capital Plan had been approved by the Board in 2003, and that the recommendations of the plan had been implemented quite rapidly.

The Plan was brought to Senate to provide awareness of the recommendations in the Plan and the status of implementation of those recommendations. The following points were highlighted during the presentation:

Teaching and Learning Building (Recommendation 1)

Funding in the amount of $29M for the Teaching and Learning Building, to be connected to the Teaching Laboratory Extension, has already been announced. The planning of the building, in conjunction with the Programs to be housed in the building, is moving along quickly.

Northern Sport Centre (Recommendation 2)

This facility is a high priority for the University, and the planning committee has the building concept, location, and business plan in place. Despite a funding shortfall on which the University is currently working, the President indicated that he believes there is at least a tentative commitment for funding from the government, and added that the University is moving ahead fairly quickly and hopes that an announcement in this regard will be forthcoming within the next month or so. The Chair added that the Northern Sport Centre would be located at the south end of the campus when entering off Tyner Boulevard, which was the area being looked at for development for recreational purposes and, possibly, new student housing.

Expansion of the Central Power Plant (Recommendation 3)

The Chair identified that, because buildings on campus cannot be expanded without the expansion of the Central Power Plant, this project is currently underway. The University, through the Annual Capital Allowance, has the capital to proceed with this project, which should be completed within the next four to six months.

Geoffrey R. Weller Library Renovations (Recommendation 4)

The government recently announced funding for the Library renovations, which have already begun. Very detailed planning has been done for the renovations, and the main floor of the Library will become a "learning commons" and library service area. Once faculty offices are moved from the top floor of the Library to the new Teaching and Learning Building, that space will be reintegrated into the Library for library functions. The Chair added that this project was long overdue, and that it was gratifying to see it finally moving ahead.

Northern Undergraduate Students' Society Union Building (Recommendation 5)

The University has worked very closely with NUGSS over the past year on the development of this building. Preliminary planning and costing is complete, but there is no government support, nor any indication of government support forthcoming, for the initiative. The University is nevertheless proceeding as far as possible, and the hope is to move ahead with the initiative within the next year to two years.

Additional Residences (Recommendation 6)

The University has been approached by at least one company interested in participating in this project, and the hope is that this recommendation can be addressed over the next six months.

Botanical Garden (Recommendation 8)

The Chair indicated that the University was still working with the David Douglas Botanical Society on achieving this recommendation, but that this is a longer-term goal.

Campus Expansion in Terrace and Fort St. John (Recommendation 10)

The Chair indicated that the University is currently in discussions, particularly with the City of Fort St. John on expanded campus facilities in that city. There are rental facilities in Terrace, and the University is running out of space there, so that will also have to be discussed.

Research and Development Park (Recommendation 7)

This initiative cannot be proceeded with at this stage, although alternative arrangements are being investigated.

Hockey Rink (Recommendation 9)

This initiative is not being actively pursued at this point.

President Jago indicated that the land within the Ring Road had been identified and set aside for future academic buildings, so that within the Ring Road would be the academic core of the University. This is one of the reasons for the Northern Sport Centre being relocated outside the Ring Road area. He added that the University had been advised to look into the possibility of acquiring some privately-owned lands which are adjacent to the University.

Some outstanding issues recommended by the planning committee were addressed by the Chair, including the following:

- As the University expands, Programs are becoming divided by discipline, which is contrary to the original notion underlying the organization of UNBC but has resulted as a consequence of growth. He added that the planning committee suggested that this issue be addressed so that the University doesn't become segmented.
- A question was raised by the planning committee as to how large the Prince George campus should become. It was further questioned whether, once the campus had been fully developed, focus should be placed on the development of the Regional campuses. This question was not answered by the planning committee, but referred back to the University community for further discussion.

President Jago discussed the "Future Campus Plan" map, pointing out the location of the proposed Teaching and Learning Building, which would create a sort of "Health Sciences Complex" on the north end of the Campus, where an area had also been set aside for the future expansion of the Dr Donald Rix Northern Health Science Centre. The Chair also identified the area which was set aside for athletics facilities on campus, as well as housing, which could become an "Athletes' Village," for example, in time. He also pointed out the private lands, and blocks representing future expansion of academic buildings on campus. The Chair concluded that, within a brief period of time, the north end of the campus had become fully occupied, and although he was pleased that this had been accomplished, it had created consequences which the planning committee believed needed to be addressed.

The Chair discussed the Teaching and Learning Building, stating that it would include extensive space set aside for graduate students, including offices and a lounge, which would hopefully create a culture for graduate students, which had been a primary goal in the planning of that building.

In conclusion, the Chair remarked that, by 2005, the University was well on its way to implementing this plan, and that a new plan would be released next year, which he speculated should spark much discussion from the University community about how the campus should operate. The Chair then invited questions.

Senator Mandy questioned what the plans were for meeting rooms in the Teaching and Learning Building, as there was only one small room set aside for meeting space in the Teaching Lab. President Jago responded that S. Cochran would better be able to answer Senator Mandy's question, and that he would bring a response back to Senator Mandy at the next Senate meeting.

Action: C. Myers to request that S. Cochran respond to Senator Mandy's question.

The Chair added that in the Lab Building, more meeting space had been planned in the original design, some of which had been squeezed out for financial reasons, which was one reason for the creation of the Bentley Centre and the social space within that area. Senator Mandy asked if anything would prevent the meeting space from being removed from the new building, and the Chair replied that, with the funding for the new building now secured, and the planning process with the current government changed substantially from that of the previous government, the University had more freedom over planning. The Chair added that, with the addition of the new building and the office space it will bring, the hope is that space currently used for offices could be reverted to meeting space.

Senator Rapaport suggested that the Northern Sport Centre should be built in the area currently set aside for parking lot space. Dr. Jago responded that, because the Northern Sport Centre would be built for the use of the community beyond UNBC, it was extremely important to have it visible to the road and accessible to the community without having to drive through campus. The Chair added that Senator Rapaport's questions had been debated extensively by the planning committee.

Senator Binnema queried whether there was a group to whom comments could be addressed, and the Chair encouraged anyone with comments to direct them to himself, and that he would forward comments to the planning committee, which would be re-struck within the next several months.

Senator Mandy questioned the status of the privately-held lands, and the President responded that the University was currently in discussions in this regard.

Finally, Senator K. Beeler asked where comments regarding expansion of facilities which are not currently mentioned in the Campus Plan could be directed. The Chair responded that he would invite Senators to forward, to himself, comments which might be useful for purposes of shaping the terms of reference for the new committee.

4.3 Senate meeting dates for 2005 / 2006 Academic Year

The Chair indicated that the upcoming Senate meeting dates were provided for information.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

5.1 Self-Accrediting Status for Master's Programs

Dr. H. Brunt provided detail with regard to a letter received from the Ministry of Advanced Education, which permitted approval for new Master's programs to be granted by the Ministry rather than the Degree Quality Assessment Board, which he held would result in more timely planning on graduate programs. He added that the MBA program was currently before the Minister for approval.

Dr. Brunt also made reference to some issues currently being addressed, including the academic visioning initiative, course scheduling changes, and the program review process which had been put in place to assist Programs facing external reviews. He added that information related to the last two issues would be brought before Senate within the near future.

Senator Hutchings questioned whether the self-accrediting status for Master's Programs would have implications for the information required on motion forms for the Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies, specifically the category for external program experts who would peer review the application.

Dean Tait replied that the University agreed to provide this information for internal quality control purposes in order to obtain self-accrediting status.

6.0 Question Period

No questions were posed.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning

S-200503.03

Changes to Academic Regulation 3 of Undergraduate Calendar—Breadth Requirements Brunt / Mandy

That the statement “Students admitted with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from this requirement” be deleted from Academic Regulation 3 on p. 105 of the 2004-2005 Undergraduate Calendar, from the text under the heading “Breadth Requirement” on p. 115 of the 2004-2005 Calendar, and from the Breadth Requirement statements under every set of academic program regulations under which it appears.

Effective Date: Effective for students admitted (or readmitted) to the University beginning September 2005.

Friendly Amendment:

Brunt / Mandy

That the effective date of this motion be changed to “Effective for students admitted (or readmitted) to the University beginning September 2006.”

CARRIED.

J. DeGrace indicated that the request to change the effective date of this motion was based on the fact that Academic Advisors required lead time to begin advising students of the change to the breadth requirement regulation.

Senator Hemingway questioned what impact this change would have on block transfer agreements, such as that used by the Social Work Program. The Registrar responded that all students would be required to meet the breadth requirements, even if that entailed the student taking additional courses.

Senator Binnema asked whether this change would lead to the University becoming less “transfer-friendly.” The Registrar responded that UNBC would allow up to a full 90 hours of credit on transfer, which is unusual. The Chair added that breadth requirements are standard across universities, and that this change would not make UNBC stand apart from other universities.

S-200503.04

New Policy on Undergraduate Course Cancellations

Brunt / McGill

That the new policy on undergraduate course cancellations be approved as proposed.

Effective date: September 2006

CARRIED.

Senator Muir indicated that this policy was a concern for graduate students, in relation to split undergraduate / graduate level courses. Specifically, the concern was based on graduate students who may need one specific course for graduation, and that course being cancelled due to lack of undergraduate enrolment.

Senator Morrison responded that the policy did not state that courses would automatically be cancelled if the enrolment was low, but simply that the matter would be considered, and that graduate students would be taken into account.

Senator Mandy expressed concern that students may not always register enough in advance to be captured in the enrolment numbers two weeks prior to the start of the course, and asked whether this would be considered. Senator Morrison responded that the matter would be discussed by the Program in consultation with the Dean.

Senator Rapaport questioned whether the policy should contain enrolment numbers. Dr. H. Brunt replied that the numbers were included in an attempt to prevent arbitrary decision-making regarding course cancellations. He added that the numbers contained in the policy should simply be used as guidelines, but that they provide an early warning signal regarding enrolment levels. Dr. Brunt confirmed that there would be sensitivity to allowing split-level courses to proceed.

Senator Milakovic asked what recourse students would have if courses they required were cancelled, and whether there would be an appeals process. The Registrar replied that, although there was no formal process in place, in his view, this matter would not be considered by the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals, but that any complaints would likely go to the Administrative level, to the Dean.

Dean McGill clarified that the decision to cancel courses is not taken lightly, and that a number of steps are followed prior to doing so, such as determining who is in the course, whether the course is required, and whether another course could be substituted for the course under consideration for cancellation. Dean McGill added that every attempt would be made to prevent students from being disadvantaged by course cancellations, but that neglecting to cancel a course with low enrolment and thereby releasing the instructor to teach another course would deny access to courses for more students.

Senator Nyce indicated that perhaps using a target date of two weeks into the course, rather than two weeks prior to the start of the course, would be more useful for purposes of determining the course enrolment. The Chair responded that using such a late deadline would remove the ability to move an instructor to another course in place of the course with low enrolment.

Senator Rapaport suggested that, when students are registering in courses on Banner, a note of warning be placed on courses that could possibly be cancelled so that students are aware of that fact at the time they are registering. This suggestion was based on Senator Rapaport's assertion that it is not so much the number of students in the course that is indicative of whether the course should be cancelled, but the status of those students.

Senator Brown agreed with maintaining the deadline at two weeks prior to the start of the course, as he asserted this would be an aid to the students, as it would give them enough lead time to register in a different course in place of a cancelled course.

Dean Randall indicated that he was in favour of the motion, as it would provide more standardization for planning purposes, and would benefit a greater number of students. He added that this policy would only apply to non-cost recovery courses.

Senator Mandy reiterated her concern about canceling courses two weeks prior to the course start date, as she had seen enrolment increase by up to fifty percent in the first week of classes, and suggested that the Academic Advisors would have to be made aware of any discussions related to course cancellation. Dean Tait agreed that there was a benefit to the deadline being two weeks in advance of the course, as, if an error was made, two weeks would be available in which to rectify that error.

2.0 President's Report

2.1 2005 / 2006 Budget Review and Discussion

2.1.1 Presentation of Budget by President

The President provided a presentation of the proposed 2005/06 UNBC budget (April 1, 2005 – March 31, 2006), and requested Senate's input prior to the budget being forwarded to the Board of Governors for approval. Some of the highlights of the budget outlined in the presentation were as follows:

- Tuition fees were capped at the rate of inflation (2%) in the February 2005 Throne Speech, which led to a revision of the proposed budget for 2005/06, and resulted in the budget being finalized much later than was normally the case
- The Ministry of Advanced Education increased the UNBC grant from $34,714,260 to $36,470,304, and provided some additional one-time grants in the total amount of $785,000, one of which was to replace the Northern Allowance, which was discontinued
- The proposed tuition fee increase was 2%, to take effect May 1, 2005 for undergraduate students and September 1, 2005 for graduate students
- Tuition fee revenues were based on growth of approximately 5.6%, and included a $200,000 enrolment growth contingency fund
- The multiplier for new international undergraduate students was increased from 3.0 to 3.5
- Significant inflationary pressures were identified, from salaries, benefits and expenditures
- In the planning process, every effort was made to align priorities with current strategic planning initiatives, particularly student recruitment and retention
- New initiatives were funded mostly through internal cuts and re-allocations
- New initiatives identified in the budget were: a Dean of Enrolment Management and Academic Advisement; a new academic advisement position in the College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences; additional student recruitment and support positions, and; the transfer of one position from Communications to ACS and the concomitant creation of a new position in Communications, to maximize the role of the Web in student recruitment and University promotion
- The Teaching Assistant stipend was increased by 5%, which was the first increase since 1994
- The number of Teaching Assistantships was increased by 10
- Other operating budget expenditures which were identified included funding for the University Archives, the MSc Nursing (Nurse Practitioner) Program, the operation of the animal research lab, and international student recruitment
- The President identified the basing of tuition revenue on 5.6% growth as a budgetary risk, as growth over the previous few years had been approximately 1.4% to 2.0% (to offset the risk of not achieving targeted growth, a $200,000 contingency fund was included in the budget)
- Also identified as a budgetary risk was the funding of the Capital Equipment Replacement Reserve from one-time grants for 2005/06, which would have to be reinstated in the operating budget in future years

In conclusion, the budget was characterized as being largely a budget of “cuts and re-allocations.” No layoffs had been proposed, and although one vacant faculty position in Environmental Science had been eliminated, two Canada Research Chair appointments offset the elimination of that position. Finally, the President indicated that, as required by legislation, the 2005/06 proposed budget was balanced with total revenues and expenses at $52,434,236.

The text and details of the entire proposed 2005/06 UNBC budget were included in the meeting package.

2.1.2 Report from the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB)

The Chair of the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB), Senator Espíritu, presented a verbal report on the budget from SCUB. She indicated that she did not yet have a written report prepared, as the budget did not become available to SCUB until late in the afternoon on March 29 (the day prior to the Senate meeting), as a result of the late finalization of the UNBC grant from the provincial government. Consequently, although one of the mandates of SCUB was to advise the President on the setting of the University budget, SCUB was unable to fulfill that mandate, so the report consisted of advice and reaction regarding the proposed finalized budget and the budgeting process.

In order to gather information for their report, SCUB began meeting as a committee in November, 2004. Between November 2004 and March 2005, the committee underwent several membership changes, and Senator Espíritu was elected as Chair in January, 2005. The committee members were provided with budget documents from the Vice Presidents, the Academic Budget Council, and the Director of Finance, Colleen Smith. They met with the President several times, as well as with members of the President’s Executive Council.

In the committee's analysis of the proposed 2005/06 UNBC budget, the following comments were offered:

- SCUB was pleased that many of the recommendations made by the Academic Budget Council, directed towards ensuring the delivery of high quality education at UNBC, were addressed in the budget, and added that the approval of these recommendations would address concerns regarding recruitment and retention of students
- SCUB indicated appreciation for the increased funding for graduate students
- Pleasure was expressed with the fact that there were no layoffs proposed in the budget
- SCUB identified the following issues as concerns: the loss of the Northern Allowance; the reliance upon increasing tuition fees to manage and balance the budget; the continued shortfall of graduate student funding, despite additional funding allocations; the addition of another Dean position, and whether adding teaching positions might be a better utilization of resources; lack of budgeting for maintenance of both new and aging buildings; the use of one-time grant money to fund the contribution to the Capital Equipment Reserve Fund; inflationary costs, and; the possible consequences of failing to meet the targeted growth rate of 5.6%.

In conclusion, SCUB offered the following recommendations for consideration:

- The budget should not compromise teaching and research, which the report referred to as "the lifeblood of the University"
- The question should be addressed as to whether planning for growth can be a reality within a budgeting environment of budget cuts and shrinking resources, or whether the University should instead focus on strengthening what is currently in place
- the University needs a comprehensive strategy for meeting its goals for growth, staff and faculty recruitment and retention, and quality of education, because although growth goals are identified in the Annual Three Year Institutional Service Plan, there is no budgetary plan in place for achieving these goals
- Budget-making should be done with long term goals in mind, with a multi-year budget planning process, so that the University is not so vulnerable to unpredictable demands. In relation to this point, the Chair added that SCUB was sensitive to the fact that the University's budget was dependent upon the budgeting policies of the Government of BC's Ministry of Advanced Education, and that SCUB was pleased to learn from the President that the BC government was seriously considering a multi-year process for University budgets.

In response to the recommendation regarding growth goals, President Jago clarified that enrolment growth is prescribed by the government, and that this proposed budget contained no Program growth except for the Nurse Practitioner Program. He added that, if new Programs are proposed, Senate has the opportunity to debate the approval of these programs.

The President also indicated that the recommendation for a multi-year plan had been a constant refrain of SCUB over the years, and he envisioned the possibility of this happening for the first time, as government processes were considerably different from what they had been in the past.

The Chair of Senate thanked the Chair of SCUB for her report, and opened the floor to discussion.

2.1.3 Senate Discussion

Senator Mandy inquired what the total number of Teaching Assistant positions was, taking into account the ten positions that were added in the proposed budget, and Dean Tait responded that the total was approximately 78.

Senator Rapaport requested clarification with regard to the meaning of the term "maximizing the web," related to the position added in Communications. Dr. S. Cochran, Vice President Administration and Finance, indicated that the term related to providing assistance to departments with regard to the material they provide on the UNBC website, with the intent of ensuring completeness of information on the website for students who were looking at the website during the process of determining what university to attend.

Senator Brown asked whether the President expected to have further discussion with the government regarding the discontinuation of the Northern Allowance. The President responded that he had already spoken with the government about the University's discontent with this decision, and that he did not intend to let this matter drop.

The cost of the new Dean position was requested by Senator Fredeen. Dr. H. Brunt replied that this would be a seconded position with backfill, paid with a stipend, and that the budgeted amount for the position, including all the support required for it, was $55,000.

Senator Scholefield asked Dean Tait what amount had been proposed for the Teaching Assistant stipend. Dean Tait replied that a proposed stipend amount had not been discussed but, rather, a process that, over 3 years, would see the University move to stipend levels that were equivalent to those of a benchmark group that the University considered its competitors.

Senator Rapaport asked whether there would be cost recovery for the animal care facility, and the Chair responded that the plan was to develop a cost recovery process for the facility, using the indirect costs of research to assist with the financing.

Senator Fredeen asked whether there was any word on the Northern Sport Centre, and the Chair replied that the community would have to wait for "a bit" in this regard. Senator Fredeen added that he viewed this new building as a recruitment tool, with which the Chair agreed. The Chair added that he did not foresee the inclusion of expenses related to the operation of this building in the University's operating budget.

A. Kranz questioned the operating costs of the new buildings, and the President responded that this budget included a reduction in the contracted amounts for janitorial and security services on campus. Related to this question, Senator Rapaport asked about the energy and heating costs for buildings on campus, and the President added that these costs were itemized in the budget and that they were part of a current discussion with the government. Dr. S. Cochran indicated that a project to install a new chiller was underway, with a projected energy cost reduction of $140,000 per year.

Senator Ellis asked why, when most universities tended to have a staff person responsible for recruiting, UNBC thought it was important to have a Dean perform this task. Dr. H. Brunt responded to Senator Ellis' question, indicating that the movement in the post-secondary field has been to create Vice Presidents of Enrolment Management, for several reasons. Universities are required to manage students so that they get the most out of their university experience. In order to do this, Dr. Brunt stated, UNBC has invested money throughout the University, but the services this funding is meant to provide are uncoordinated. Bringing the responsibility for student recruitment and retention and student services under the auspices of a Dean would ensure coordination of these services, and hopefully provide better outcomes. Dr. Brunt emphasized that, as a result of the fact that the University is expected to continue increasing enrolment, which has become tied to funding, this matter must now be taken very seriously. Dr. Brunt concluded with the comment that colleges are currently dealing with the situation of not having met their enrolment targets, which has been painful for them.

2.2 2005/06 – 2007/08 Annual Three Year Institutional Service Plan (Presentation and Discussion)

A presentation of the Annual Three Year Institutional Service Plan was undertaken by the Chair, who indicated that the document was still undergoing slight revision. The Chair added that, as part of the Ministry of Advanced Education's Accountability Framework, the University is required to file this Plan with the government on a yearly basis. The Chair highlighted the following points in the Plan:

- The purpose of the Plan was to communicate to the public and the Ministry the results an institution planned to achieve and how it planned to do so, and how those achievements contributed to the provincial public post-secondary system
- Some of the components of the plan were an outline of the environment and planning context, the identification of the institution's goals, objectives, and performance measures and targets, and a summary of the financial outlook and capital projects

- The 2004/05 – 2006/07 Service Plan was based on ACTION, the Strategic Research Plan, the 5-Year Capital Plan, and Ministry performance measures and targets
- The current Plan, a continuation of the previous plan, was based on the commencement of current planning initiatives, and marked a transition between the 2004/05 – 2006/07 and 2006/07 – 2008/09 Plans.
- The planning context of the Plan was one of an increasingly competitive environment, re-regulation of tuition fees, and inflationary pressures
- Short-term priority planning initiatives identified in the Plan were student recruitment, Program review and development, research planning, capital expansion, implementation of the Wireless Campus, faculty and staff development and retention, promoting diversity, and business development
- Academic and Research foci acknowledged in the Plan were: natural resources and the environment; rural, remote and northern health; sustainability of communities; Aboriginal and First Nations issues, and; The North
- The goals and objectives demonstrated in the plan were related to the University's mandate, academic development, research, region and access, and areas of performance interest and performance measures
- The 2006/07 – 2008/09 Service Plan would be a continuation of the 2005/06 – 2007/08 Plan, and would be based on results of the academic visioning exercise, implementation of short-term priority planning initiatives identified by President's Council, and Ministry performance measures and targets
- Internal consultation with Senate Committees, College Councils, and President's Council had taken place with regard to the Plan, with approval being sought from Senate and the Board of Governors
- The Plan must be submitted by April 29, 2005

The Chair commented that the theme areas identified in the plan, such as First Nations and The North, are currently up for review and may change between this year and next year.

In conclusion, the Chair thanked the members of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning, the Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies, College Councils, and the UNBC Programs for their comments, which had led to significant revision of the Plan. The Chair indicated that he would be requesting a motion to approve the Plan in principle, as the Plan would then be forwarded to the Board of Governors for approval. Once the Plan was approved, the Chair advised that it would be signed by the President on behalf of Senate, and by the Chairman of the Board on behalf of the Board of Governors.

Mandy expressed concern that some academic units were already larger than the currently-designed meeting rooms in the Teaching and Learning Building.

3.2 S-200505.03

Motion to Take From the Table — Motion S-200504.14 (Revisions to Harassment and Discrimination Policy)

Mandy / Hemingway

That motion S-200504.14, from the Senate meeting of April 20, 2005, ("That the revisions to the Harassment and Discrimination Policy be approved as proposed") be taken from the table.

Effective Date: May 11, 2005

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

Dr. C. Hardy attended the meeting to address any questions regarding the proposed revisions to the Policy. The President provided background regarding the Policy, indicating that it had been approved by Senate and the Board of Governors, and that recent consultation had taken place with employee and student groups, with some minor revisions being recommended. Senators Binnema and Muir proposed some additional changes to the Policy, and Dr. Hardy and the Chair suggested that, if these proposed amendments were to be addressed, the Policy would have to be referred back to the Committee. After further clarification from Dr. Hardy regarding the sections in question, Senators were satisfied to accept the revisions as proposed.

4.0 President's Report

Jago

The President reported that there was a new Chair (Dr. Donald Rix) and Vice-Chair (Ms. Noreen Rustad) of the UNBC Board of Governors. He further reported that the University had received funding from the government for the Northern Sport Centre in the amount of $20.5M, which he added was not the full cost of the building, so there was still work to be done to raise further funding.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Brunt

5.1 Course Scheduling Report

Dr. H. Brunt commented that this report had been distributed in March, and that many of the recommendations had already been implemented relatively smoothly. He added that his office would be seeking to evaluate the initiatives, the goal of which was to provide more predictable scheduling for faculty and students.

5.2 Academic Visioning Initiative

Dr. H. Brunt reported that this initiative had been disseminated, and that an open forum had been held the previous day for the purpose of discussing the initiative, which was well-attended, energetic, and helpful. He added that a series of consultation meetings would be held, which it was hoped would be completed by the end of the summer.

5.3 Nurse Practitioner Program Update

An update regarding this Program was provided by Dr. H. Brunt. He indicated that the process for receiving approval for this program was somewhat unusual, as approval was being sought from several sources concurrently. He added that the reason for seeking approval in this manner was that the program was expected to be up and running for the September 2005 semester, and the University was under severe timeline restrictions for the approval process. Thus, the Program would be going to the UNBC Board of Governors meeting on May 28, 2005 for approval in principle, pending approval at Senate in June. Dr. Brunt expressed regret at the necessity to employ this process, and added that, although the process was not the norm, it had been developed with a high degree of forethought and integrity.

Dr. Brunt reported on current recruitment and retention strategies, indicating that a call had gone out for the position of Acting Dean of Enrolment Management and Academic Advisement, for which there were three candidates. Dr. Brunt added that it was anticipated that one of the candidates would be appointed by early June. Further, a call-up campaign had been organized, which consisted of faculty members calling first time students to encourage the students to move from the application process to enrolment. Dr. Brunt stated that the program had been well-received, and that some follow-up comparison would be done and reported to Senate, probably in October 2005.

The Chair thanked Dr. Brunt for bringing these matters to Senate and opening them up for discussion.

Hemingway / Mandy

That the revisions to the Senate Handbook be approved as proposed.

Effective date: June 2005

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

The Secretary of Senate provided background information regarding these proposed changes, and indicated that the changes proposed were required to “tidy up” the recent revisions to the Senate Handbook. He added that the change which had been made to student Senator terms of office, from one year to three years, was contrary to the University Act, which expressly maintained that the terms of office for student Senators were one year. Thus, the terms of office would be reverted to one year in the Senate Handbook.

7.2 Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies (SCRGS)

The Policy on "Centres and Research Institutes" was included for information.

S-200506.03

Creation of the Natural Resources and Environmental Studies Institute

Tait / Blouw

That the proposal for the creation of the Natural Resources and Environmental Studies Institute at UNBC be recommended to Senate for approval.

Effective date: May 2005

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

Dr. M. Gillingham spoke to this motion, providing a brief summary with regard to the Institute. Specifically, he indicated that the Institute was meant to foster cross-College research, and to mirror the Natural Resources and Environmental Studies (NRES) graduate program, with more focus on research collaboration amongst Institute members. Dr. Gillingham added that there were approximately fifty faculty members from many Programs who were members of the Institute.

Senator Scholefield questioned the fact there were no student members associated with the Institute. Dr. Gillingham responded that this concern was valid, but questioned where the students could be included, and recommended that perhaps they could be included with members from the external community. He added that many members of the Institute were also members of the NRES Graduate Program.

Senator Muir responded that, with regard to the Northern Land Use Institute, graduate students sat on committees which were tasked with the responsibility of making decisions regarding the distribution of graduate funding, which he expressed was beneficial.

Dr. Gillingham replied that the exclusion of graduate students was not intended, but that by virtue of their supervisors, their views and concerns would be addressed. Nevertheless, Dr. Gillingham asked whether, if the students were to be included, they would be interested in sitting on the Management Committee, Steering Committee, or the Advisory Board. Senator Muir indicated that the graduate students would prefer to sit on the Steering Committee.

Dr. M. Blouw indicated that he envisioned the request by the graduate students for inclusion on the membership of the Institute Steering Committee to be feasible.

The Chair asked Dr. Gillingham to take Senator Muir's comments under consideration, and added that a more direct and formal involvement on behalf of the graduate students was not contrary to the policy established by Senate. The Chair then thanked Dr. Gillingham and others who had worked on the proposal for putting it together.

An Executive Summary of the Proposed Graduate Programs in Nursing was included for information.

A Memorandum from Dr. Ian Blue regarding the Nursing Program Approval of MScN – Family Nurse Practitioner and Academic Streams was included for information.

S-200506.04

New Degree Approval — Master of Science in Nursing

Tait / Mandy

That the new degree of Master of Science in Nursing, with the Family Nurse Practitioner stream, be approved as proposed, contingent on the approval of the program by the Registered Nurses Association of British Columbia / College of Registered Nurses of British Columbia.

Effective date: September 2005

Dean Tait expressed that accreditation for the Master of Science in Nursing had been received from the Registered Nurses Association of British Columbia on May 27. Dean Randall recommended, then, that the motion be amended to remove the last portion of the motion, namely "contingent on the approval of the program by the Registered Nurses Association of British Columbia / College of Registered Nurses of British Columbia."

Friendly Amendment:

That the new degree of Master of Science in Nursing, with the Family Nurse Practitioner stream, be approved as proposed.

UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED.

Dr. Ian Blue indicated that the Program had gone through several external processes, and that it joined the University of British Columbia and University of Victoria Family Nurse Practitioner Programs. It had been proposed that the Program commence in September with fifteen seats for students, and Dr. Blue added that the Nursing Program was currently in the process of hiring new faculty members, with a recommendation already being made for the appointment of two faculty members.

The Chair indicated that, although he had not had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Elizabeth Lindsey, the consultant who was hired to assist with the Nursing Program proposal, he had heard glowing reports with regard to her work, and expressed his appreciation.

S-200506.05

Interim Application Deadline — Master of Science in Nursing and Family Nurse Practitioner Stream

Tait / Randall

That the interim application deadline to the September 2005 Semester for the Master of Science in Nursing, and Family Nurse Practitioner stream be August 2, 2005 subject to all approval processes being satisfied; subsequent to the September 2005 Semester, the application deadline will be February 15th of each year.

4.0 President's Report

4.1 Service Plan Report, 2004/05 (for information)

In Dr. Jago's absence, Dr. Brunt called Senators' attention to the Service Plan Report for 2004/05, which had been circulated for information. He noted that the report had already been sent to the Minister.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. Brunt noted that institutional enrolments were under discussion in a variety of contexts, and for the present with an emphasis upon encouraging increasing registrations. At present, he said, enrolments were some 3 to 4 per cent below those of the previous year at the same time. This was "not unexpected" given the recent expansions in the post-secondary sector. The Acting Dean of Enrolment Management and Academic Advisement was working with many players on campus to develop a comprehensive enrolment management plan, and would be reporting to Senate, perhaps as early as the next meeting. Dr. Brunt added that more definite registration figures would not be available until after the last date for Add/Drop.

Mr. Berthiaume said that in his region there appeared to be a growth in registrations, and Dr. Brunt indicated that the registration picture for the regions was as yet incomplete. Dean Randall noted that new Nursing cohorts had begun studies in Quesnel and Terrace, but it would be 1 ½ to 2 years before the students would show up as UNBC registrants. He noted as well that registrations were not complete for graduate students in Education.

Responding to a question from Dr. Binnema, Dr. Brunt said that the average grades on admission at the larger Universities in the lower mainland had declined, and that the colleges generally were reporting "soft" enrollments. No firm data were available for Thompson Rivers University and UBC Okanagan.

New Degree Approval — Master of Arts Degree in English

Dr. S. Beeler recalled that an MA program in English had been under discussion for over seven years, and that Dr. Hutchings had been instrumental in its development. For his part, Dr. Hutchings noted that the degree program development process had been a highly collaborative one, with input from the University of Alberta, University of British Columbia, University of Victoria and Simon Fraser University.

Blouw/S. Beeler

That a Master of Arts degree in English be approved with Calendar entry as follows:

English (MA Program)

Stan Beeler, Associate Professor, and Program Chair
Karin Beeler, Associate Professor
Dee Horne, Associate Professor
Kevin Hutchings, Associate Professor
Rob Budde, Assistant Professor
Lisa Dickson, Assistant Professor
Kristen Guest, Assistant Professor
Maryna Romanets, Assistant Professor
Blanca Schorcht, Assistant Professor

Literary representations both reflect and help to create our views of the world, including our social theories and practices; thus, the study of literature can provide students with insights concerning past and present concepts of personal and social identity, cultural traditions and beliefs, and interpersonal and cross-cultural relationships. Since the time of Aristotle, moreover, literary commentators have analyzed “setting” as an important formal aspect of literary writing; literary study can therefore help us to investigate, and perhaps to reconsider, our relationships to both our human and non-human environments. In today’s world, where efforts to resolve intercultural conflicts and environmental problems have taken on a profound sense of urgency, literary study provides a crucial forum for intellectual and ethical debate leading to the revision of cultural practice.

The study of English literature provides students with critical skills of analysis and synthesis, helping them to identify and understand complex problems, and encouraging them to conceptualize viable resolutions and alternative understandings. Perhaps more than any other academic discipline, English literature also emphasizes the importance of literacy, including the development of effective writing and oral presentation skills, thereby providing students with the communications skills so highly valued in the professional world.

The Master of Arts degree in English is a two-year program, available on a full-time or part-time basis, involving coursework and the mandatory completion of a graduate thesis. Upon admission into the English MA program, each student will be assigned a supervisor, who will work closely with the student to monitor his or her program of study and progress. In consultation with supervisors and supervisory committee members, each student will choose courses designed to complement and inform the proposed thesis research, completing most of the course work during the first year of the program. The second year will be devoted primarily to the production of the thesis.

Admission:

Applicants to the UNBC English MA program must follow the admission requirements outlined in Section 1.0 of the UNBC Graduate Academic Calendar. In addition to these requirements, applicants must also provide a sample of written work (usually a senior-level undergraduate research paper) as part of their application. Entrance to the MA will be competitive: only applicants with a record of excellence in undergraduate work, strong letters of academic recommendation, and strong letters of intent will be considered. In their research proposals, applicants should also demonstrate evidence of interest in the MA’s areas of research specialization (Literature, Culture and Place); and they should provide the name of an English faculty member who is willing to supervise their thesis work. The deadline for receipt of all application material is February 15; successful applicants will enter the MA program the following September (at the beginning of the September semester).

Requirements:

The course of study shall be composed of a minimum total of 27 credit hours of work. First, students will be required to complete 5 courses totalling 15 credit hours, including ENGL 690-3,

Bibliography, the mandatory course in research methodologies, ENGL 700-3, the mandatory course in Literature, Culture and Place, and 3 elective courses. In the required courses, students have the opportunity to engage in close intellectual dialogue and debate with fellow graduate students and professors, thereby cultivating the productive collegial relationships crucial to the development of a dynamic graduate student culture. With the exception of ENGL 699 (Advanced Independent Study in Literature, which faculty members supervise on an individual basis), all courses are offered as seminar courses. The three elective courses conform to pedagogical models followed by all 600-level courses listed in the UNBC Graduate Calendar. Second, students will be required to produce both a detailed thesis proposal and bibliography at the beginning of their second year of study, and to defend, in a formal oral examination, a 12-credit thesis of approximately 100 pages in length.

Although UNBC does not offer degrees in Creative Writing, the English Program will offer a limited number of MA candidates the opportunity to complete a 12-credit creative thesis in lieu of an academic thesis. Successful applicants who wish to pursue this option will be admitted on the same basis and will fulfil the same course and thesis requirements as other English MA candidates. Permission to undertake a creative thesis will be at the discretion of the program, and will require that students submit proposals along with a substantial portfolio of previous creative work: e.g., published writing, 8-10 pages of original poetry, 20-25 pages of prose (i.e., a short story or novel excerpt), a dramatic script or screenplay, or a combination of these genres. The proposal should outline the form, scope, and subject matter of the Creative Writing thesis. In addition, students must demonstrate some critical and theoretical awareness of the approach they plan to take for the creative thesis; and, for applicants admitted to the program, the finished thesis will include an introduction of no fewer than 15 pages delineating this critical and theoretical awareness. Because of the high standards expected for the creative project and the Program's limited faculty resources in the area of creative writing, a limited number of students will be permitted to undertake this alternative. Students should therefore note that admission to the MA program in English does not guarantee permission to write a creative thesis.

Proposed Revision to Senate Handbook — Creation of Positions of “University Secretary and Registrar” and “Administrative Registrar”

Hemingway/Mandy

That the revisions to the Senate Handbook, making provision for the creation of the positions “University Secretary and Registrar” and “Administrative Registrar” be approved as proposed.

Effective date: September 2005

CARRIED

Mr. DeGrace explained that the changes proposed arose directly from the creation of a University Secretariat in June 2005, with the former Registrar being re-titled at “University Secretary and Registrar” and the former Deputy Registrar taking full responsibility for the Office of the Registrar with the new title “Administrative Registrar.” The title changes were for conformity with the Requirements of the University Act, and the division of committee responsibilities was a logical outcome of the reassignments.

CARRIED

7.6.2 Nominations and Election of Vice-Chair of Senate

Mr. DeGrace took the Chair for this agenda item. He explained that the vice-Chair was appointed for a one-year term and could succeed him/herself only once, so that Dr. Brunt was eligible for an additional term of Office.

Prof. Hemingway nominated Dr. Howard Brunt as Vice-Chair. There being no further nominations, Dr. Brunt was declared Vice-Chair for 2005-2006.

8.0 Other Business

8.1 Report of the Registrar

8.1.1 Election of University Chancellors

Mr. DeGrace explained that The University Presidents' Council (TUPC) had asked for feedback on a suggestion that the selection process for new Chancellors might be changed from appointment by the Board of Governors following consultation with the "University convocation" to one of Appointment by the Board on the recommendation of Senate and after Board consultation with the Alumni Association, or appointment by an Electoral Board comprised of Board and Senate members.

In response to a question from Dr. Rapaport, Mr. DeGrace said that the methods proposed were common in Canada, and that the current method was rare elsewhere. It was generally agreed that Senators would direct any comments to the Secretary.

8.1.2 Presidential Search

Mr. DeGrace advised that the Presidential Search Committee had met on 13 September. He noted that Committee members were bound by strict confidentiality rules, and that information on the progress of the search was best obtained by a review of the Presidential search web pages, which were linked from the University home page and which had been updated that day.

Motion to Rescind Motion S-200502.04 (Transcript Notation for UNBC Students Completing Requirements Offered in Collaboration with the University of the Arctic (UARctic))

That, on the recommendation of SCAPP, Motion S-200502.04, which reads as follows, be rescinded:

That, for UNBC students completing the seven required Bachelor of Circumpolar Studies courses, plus an approved 15 credit hours of "Advanced Emphasis," offered in collaboration with the University of the Arctic (UARctic), the following UNBC transcript notation be entered after any notations referring to UNBC credentials earned: "Core and Advanced Emphasis requirements met for University of the Arctic Bachelor of Circumpolar Studies."

Brunt/Tait

Effective date: October 12, 2005

Mr. DeGrace explained that the Transcript entry as currently in place was not, strictly speaking, correct in that the University of the Arctic was not in fact a degree granting institution. The transcript notation proposed in the subsequent motion would be more accurate. Dr. Mandy asked whether the transcript notation appeared on any current transcripts. Mr. DeGrace said that it did for one or two students, and that the effect of the passage of both motions would be to change the notation retroactively.

Montgomery/McGill

That the Academic Regulations in both the Undergraduate and Graduate Calendars be amended in respect of the academic appeals process, as follows (deleted text ~~struck through~~, added/amended text underlined):

Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate
CARRIED.

UNDERGRADUATE CALENDAR (Academic Regulations 45, 46, 48 and 53)IV. General Academic Regulations*45. Procedure on Suspicion of an Academic Offence

- a. An instructor who suspects plagiarism, cheating, or any other academic offence and has evidence to support the accusation, will contact the student to advise of the offence and present the evidence. The student may request that a third party (for example another faculty member, a teaching assistant, or a staff member) be present at this or any subsequent meetings.
- b. If the issue can be resolved at this level, the faculty member will fill in Part A of the UNBC Report Form for Academic Misconduct and forward it to the Office of the Registrar to be placed in the student's file.
- c. If the matter is not resolved between the student and faculty member, or if it is a serious case (which may involve probation, or suspension ~~or expulsion~~), it will be discussed by the student, faculty member, and the Chair of the program involved. Discussions with the Chair or Dean may be held at the request of either the faculty member or the student, and the Dean may also be brought in at any stage if requested by either party. After these discussions, the Dean will complete Part B of the Report Form for Academic Misconduct. If a penalty is imposed, a copy of the Report Form will be placed in the student's file.
- d. All forms, whatever the outcome, will be filed in the Office of the Registrar. The student may appeal any ~~of these~~ decisions of the Dean or President to the level of the Committee on Academic Appeals (see Academic Regulations 49, 50).

46. Academic Sanctions

Registration at the University of Northern British Columbia and the right to access the library, specialized equipment or all other academic facilities implies a commitment on the part of a student to use such facilities in accordance with established rules. A student not fulfilling these obligations will have academic sanctions imposed upon him/her.

If a student has been found guilty of an academic offense, the student will be subjected to a penalty or penalties appropriate to the offense. Normally, academic offenses will be dealt with in the first instance by the instructor. A range of penalties is described below:

- a. Reprimand: This is a written warning to a student from the Program Chair or the Dean of the College that the student's behaviour is considered unacceptable to the University.
- b. Reduction of Grade: A reduction of grade may be applied to an examination, test, or assignment to which an offense is relevant and will be decided upon by the Program Chair or Dean of the College, in consultation with the Instructor. Policies with respect to regrading and review of assignments or exams are under the direction and purview of the Program Chair.
- c. Probation: In addition to any other penalty which may be applied, the Dean of a student's College may place a student on probation, or may prohibit the student from taking a course or courses.
- d. ~~Expulsion~~ Suspension: The Dean of a student's College may recommend suspension, either for a specified period or indefinitely, to the President. The President may ~~expel~~ suspend a student from the University, either for a specified period or indefinitely. Prior to the President's decision becoming final, the student will be informed in writing of the recommendation. The student will be given 15 working days following such notification to lodge an appeal before the President's final decision becomes effective. Any such appeal must be made in writing to the Secretary of Senate (University Registrar) and will be reviewed by the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals (SCAA).

48. Conditions of Academic Standing

- b) Requirement to Withdraw: The following circumstances may result in a requirement to withdraw from UNBC. These are:
- i. Discovery that required documentation for admission was withheld, by the student, from the University;
  - ii. Failure to pay for tuition or university services;
  - iii. Failure to achieve an SGPA of 2.0 or higher after the completion of 18 credits while on Academic Probation. Normally, in this case a requirement to withdraw from the University is for three semesters (one full calendar year);
  - iv. A decision by the President of the University that the suspension ~~or expulsion~~ of a student, for reasons of unsatisfactory conduct, unsatisfactory academic performance, or other reasons clearly indicates that withdrawal from UNBC is in the best interest of the University.

In order to apply for re-admission to the University, students must submit an Application for Admission/Re-admission to the Office of the Registrar. Students must provide a letter to the Registrar, stating their rationale for wishing to return to studies at UNBC and documenting any work completed or experience gained which would better qualify them to complete, successfully, work at UNBC.

Students who are permitted to return to studies at UNBC, return on academic probation, and are subject to the University's policy on academic standing and continuance found in the current calendar.

53. Appeal Procedure on Requirement to Withdraw

“Requirement to Withdraw” is an academic decision under the purview of the student's College Dean. Therefore, a student's first recourse by way of appeal is the Dean. If the Dean agrees to rescind the requirement, the Dean informs the Office of the Registrar and no further action by the student is necessary.

Otherwise, any academic appeal on a requirement to withdraw ~~or an expulsion~~ must be made in writing to the Administrative Registrar and will be reviewed by the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals (SCAA).

GRADUATE CALENDAR (Academic Regulations 23, 24)

23. Procedure on Suspicion of an Academic Offence

- a. An instructor who suspects plagiarism, cheating, or any other academic offence and has evidence to support the accusation, will contact the student to advise of the offence and present the evidence. The student may request that a third party (for example another faculty member, a teaching assistant, or a staff member) be present at this or any subsequent meetings.
- b. If the issue can be resolved at this level, the faculty member will fill in Part A of the UNBC Report Form for Academic Misconduct and forward it to the Office of the Registrar to be placed in the student's file.
- c. If the matter is not resolved between the student and faculty member, or if it is a serious case (which may involve probation, or suspension ~~or expulsion~~), it will be discussed by the student, faculty member, and the Chair of the Program involved. Discussions with the Chair or Dean may be held at the request of either the faculty member or the student, and the Dean may also be brought in at any stage if requested by either party. After these discussions, the Dean will complete Part B of the Report Form for Academic Misconduct. If a penalty is imposed, a copy of the Report Form will be placed in the student's file.
- d. All forms, whatever the outcome, will be filed in the Office of the Registrar. The student may appeal any of these decisions to the level of the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals (SCAA) (see Academic Regulations 27, 28).

24. Academic Sanctions

Registration at the University of Northern British Columbia and the right to access the library, specialized equipment or all other academic facilities implies a commitment on the part of a student to use such facilities in accordance with established rules. A student not fulfilling these obligations will have academic sanctions imposed upon him/her.

If a student has been found guilty of an academic offense, the student will be subjected to a penalty or penalties appropriate to the offense. Normally, academic offenses will be dealt with in the first instance by the instructor. A range of penalties is described below:

- a. Reprimand: This is a written warning to a student from the Program Chair or the Dean of ~~the College~~ Graduate Studies that the student's behaviour is considered unacceptable to the University.
- b. Reduction of Grade: A reduction of grade may be applied to an examination, test, or assignment to which an offense is relevant and will be decided upon by the Program Chair or Dean of ~~the College~~ Graduate Studies, in consultation with the Instructor. Policies with respect to regrading and review of assignments or exams are under the direction and purview of the Program Chair.
- c. Probation: In addition to any other penalty which may be applied, the Dean of ~~a student's College~~ Graduate Studies may place a student on probation, or may prohibit the student from taking a course or courses.
- d. Expulsion Suspension: The Dean of Graduate Studies may recommend suspension, either for a specified period or indefinitely, to the President. The President may ~~expel~~ suspend a student from the University, either for a specified period or indefinitely. Prior to the President's decision becoming final, the student will be informed in writing of the recommendation. The student will be given 15 working days following such notification to lodge an appeal before the President's final decision becomes effective. Any such appeal must be made in writing to the Secretary of Senate (University Registrar) and will be reviewed by the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals (SCAA).

Dr. Montgomery explained that the motion was introduced so as to bring the Academic Regulations into conformity with the requirements of the University Act, under the provisions of which the words "expel" and "expulsion" were not used, and power was vested only in the President to suspend a student. Dean Tait pointed out that, for clarity, it had been agreed at the Committee level that S. 46 c. and d. in the Undergraduate Calendar, and 24 c. and d. in the Graduate Calendar, were to be amended to refer unambiguously to the actions of probation and suspension. Mr. DeGrace agreed that this was the case and that the omission could be corrected easily without compromising the intent of the motion. Senators agreed, generally, that this change could be made, and the amended text is indicated in the motion as presented above.

4.0 President's Report

President Jago called attention to the Institutional Planning report, "Responding to British Columbia's Changing Post-Secondary Environment," which had been included in Senators' pre-meeting packages. In particular he referred to the planning priorities which would be addressed by President's council for report to Senate and the Board of Governors in the fall of 2006:

- Academic program review and development, and their linkage to research priorities and strategic planning
- Capital planning (the Five Year Capital Plan)
- Quality of student life
- Quality of faculty and staff work life
- UNBC as a multi-campus university
- Comprehensive campaign development
- Alumni relations

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. Brunt reported that FTE registrations at the University were about 2.7 per cent below those at the same time in 2004. The formal expectation, however, had been that enrolments would increase by 5.6 per cent. Although enrolments had increased in certain areas, the decrease was accounted for mostly from reduction in Canadian entrants from outside British Columbia, and in college transfers. It was important, he emphasized, that this reduction be reversed, and the plan was to reach the targets set by the Ministry of Advance Education by 2008-09. Except for out-of-province students, no specific targets for recruitment had been identified. He noted that, although applications for admission had increased, the conversion of those applicants to registrants had declined.

He noted that Senate, as the academic "home" of the institution, would need to contribute to the effort through innovation and quality control. The typical three year gap between the origination of a good idea and the generation of a Calendar entry needed to be shortened, and it was possible that some extraordinary meetings of Senate might be needed.

In response to a question from Mr. Simard, Dr. Jago noted that the emergence of Thompson Rivers University and UBC Okanagan was significant in terms of increasing the level of competition for prospective students. Dr. Brunt pointed out that, even though UNBC had lost some market share in Kelowna and the Kootenays, it was still drawing students from those areas. It did not appear that UNBC's "market share" in the northern or central regions of the Province had been impacted. He added that, while there was no immediate indication that the reduction in the number of students would impact the annual government grant to the University, this was certainly a concern for the future.

Dr. Jago called attention to the University's reputation as a quality institution, and that UNBC ranked fourth in Canada among "primarily undergraduate" institutions after only eleven years of operation. Satisfaction surveys of UNBC graduates gave the University the highest rating in British Columbia.

6.0 Question Period

Dr. Jensen asked what activities were taking place to respond to space allocation problems in the University. Dr. Jago said that, for the present, space assignments were directed through Assistant Director of Facilities Shelley Rennick. The Space committee would be meeting the following week, he said, and shortly moves to the new downtown (BMO Centre) building would be announced.

Revision of Academic Regulations Related to Examinations and Misconduct in the Undergraduate Calendar

Brunt/Randall

That Academic Regulations 39 (Conduct in Examinations), 44 (Academic Offenses) and 46 (Academic Sanctions) in the Undergraduate Calendar, and the equivalent Regulations 17, 22 and 24 in the Graduate Calendar be amended follows (effective date: November 2005) (deleted text ~~struck through~~, added text underlined):

39. Conduct in Examinations

Students must be prepared to present appropriate identification upon entering the examination room. Appropriate identification is defined as a UNBC student card and/or some other form of photo identification acceptable to the proctor. The following regulations apply to the conduct of examinations:

- a. Books, papers, or other materials or devices must not be in possession of the student during an exam except by the express permission of the examiner. Specifically, without such permission no laptop computers, mobile phone sets, handheld electronic devices or the like may be in possession of the student in the examination room (see Regulation 44(b)).
- b. No candidate is permitted to enter the examination room more than 30 minutes after the beginning of the examination, or permitted to leave within 30 minutes after the examination has started.
- c. Candidates must not communicate in any way with other candidates in the examination room.
- d. Candidates must not leave their seats, except when granted permission by the proctor.
- e. Candidates must turn in all materials, including rough work, upon leaving the examination room.
- f. Food and beverages other than water are not permitted in the examination room.

44. Academic Offenses

Any conduct that violates the ethical or legal standards of the University, particularly those related to academic honesty, is a serious offense. Informal means to resolve complaints of academic dishonesty may be used. ~~A student may seek resolution of a complaint of academic dishonesty at the level of Instructor, Program Chair and/or College Dean.~~ If such ~~'informal' resolution is~~ means are unsuccessful or inappropriate, the formal processes set out in these Regulations are to be followed. An impartial committee, the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals, ~~will provide~~ provides for complete examination of the complaint or allegations.

The minimum sanction for an academic offense includes reprimands and reduction of grades; the maximum sanction is ~~expulsion~~ suspension from the University (see Academic Regulation 46 (Academic Sanctions)). Such offenses include, but are not limited to, the following:

- a. Plagiarism: Plagiarism occurs when a student submits or presents work of another person in such a manner as to lead the reader to believe that it is the student's original work; self-plagiarism is the submission of work previously submitted for academic credit without prior approval of the current course instructor. is "the act of using and passing off as one's own the ideas or writings of another" (The American Heritage College Dictionary 1044). ~~It~~ This offense includes submitting the work of another, and using citations which have been designed in order to mislead the reader as to the nature or authenticity of the source.
~~Complete plagiarism involves an entire essay or form of creative work of another, from whatever source (including the World Wide Web) being copied and presented as original work. Unless prior written and signed permission is obtained, submitting the same essay, paper or other term work for credit in more than one course constitutes self-plagiarism, a situation similar to complete plagiarism.~~
- b. Cheating: Cheating takes numerous forms and includes but is not limited to the following: copying from another student's work or allowing another student to copy from ~~you~~ one's own work; obtaining a copy of an examination before it is officially available; ~~and~~ misrepresenting or falsifying references, citations, or sources of information; knowingly recording or reporting false empirical or statistical data; and possession of notes, books, diagrams or other aids during examinations that are not authorized by the examiner (See Regulation 39(a)).
- c. Submitting False Records: Submitting false medical or criminal records, transcripts, or other such certificates or information, under false pretences.
- d. Withholding Records: Non-disclosure of previous attendance at a post-secondary institution, and of the transcript of record pertaining thereto, or of other documentation required by the University.
- e. Misrepresenting One's Own Identity: Impersonation or the imitation of a student in class, in a test or examination or class assignment is a breach of academic honesty. Both the impersonator and the individual impersonated may be charged.
- f. Falsification of Results: The falsification of laboratory and research results.
- g. Submission of False Information: The submission of false or misrepresented information on any form used by the University or an agent thereof.
- h. Submitting Academic Work Twice for Credit: Unless prior written and signed permission is obtained, submitting for credit any academic work for which credit has previously been obtained or may be sought in another course or program of study in the University or elsewhere. This includes, for example, materials such as library research papers posted on the World Wide Web.
- i. Aiding or Abetting any of the above academic offences.

45. Procedure on Suspicion of an Academic Offence

- a. An instructor who suspects plagiarism, cheating, or any other academic offence and has evidence to support the accusation, will contact the student to ~~advise~~ inform the student fully of the offence and present the evidence for it. The instructor will review the contents of the student's file in the Office of the Registrar to determine whether the record indicates a prior academic offense. The student may request that a third party (for example another faculty member, a teaching assistant, ~~or~~ a staff member or the ombudsperson) be present at this or any subsequent meetings.
- b. If the issue can be resolved at this level, the faculty member will fill in Part A of the UNBC Report Form for Academic Misconduct and forward it to the Office of the Registrar to be placed in the student's file.
- c. If the matter is not resolved between the student and faculty member, or if it is a serious case (which may involve probation, or suspension ~~or expulsion~~), it will be discussed by the student, faculty member, and the Chair of the program involved. Discussions with the Chair or Dean may be held at the request of either the faculty member or the student, and the Dean may also be brought in at any stage if requested by either party. After these discussions, the Dean will complete Part B of the Report Form for Academic Misconduct. If a penalty is imposed, a copy of the Report Form will be placed in the student's file.
- d. All forms, whatever the outcome, will be filed in the Office of the Registrar. The student may appeal any of these decisions to the level of the Committee on Academic Appeals (see Academic Regulations 49, 50).

46. Academic Sanctions

Registration at the University of Northern British Columbia and the right to access the library, specialized equipment or all other academic facilities implies a commitment on the part of a student to use such facilities in accordance with established rules. A student not fulfilling these obligations will have academic sanctions imposed upon him/her.

If a student has been found guilty of an academic offense, the student will be subjected to a penalty or penalties appropriate to the offense. Normally, academic offenses will be dealt with in the first instance by the instructor. A range of penalties is described below:

- a. Reprimand: This is a written warning to a student from the Instructor, Program Chair or the Dean that the student's behaviour is considered unacceptable to the University.
- b. Reduction of Grade: A reduction of grade may be applied to an examination, test, or assignment to which an offense is relevant and will be decided upon by the ~~Program Chair or Dean of the College, in consultation with the Instructor~~ instructor, in consultation as may be appropriate with the Chair or Dean. Policies with respect to regrading and review of assignments or exams are under the direction and purview of the Program Chair.
- c. Probation or Suspension: In addition to any other penalty which may be applied, a student's Dean may place the student on probation, or may prohibit the student from taking a course or courses, or may ~~suspend a student for up to six consecutive semesters~~ recommend suspension, either for a specified period or indefinitely, to the President.
- d. Expulsion Suspension: A student's Dean may recommend suspension, either for a specified period or indefinitely, to the President. On the recommendation of the Dean, the President may ~~expel~~ suspend a student from the University, either for a specified period or indefinitely. Prior to the President's decision becoming final, the student will be informed in writing of the recommendation. The student will be given 15 working days following such notification to lodge an appeal before the President's final decision becomes effective. Any such appeal must be made in writing to the Secretary of Senate (University Registrar) and will be reviewed by the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals (SCAA).

Approval of Statement Regarding UNBC Breadth Requirement

Brunt/Randall

That, on the recommendation of SCAPP, Senate approve that a new second sentence be inserted in the second paragraph regarding the Breadth Requirement, on page 65 of the 2005 – 2006 Undergraduate Academic Calendar, as follows (effective date: December 1, 2005):

Courses that meet the spirit of the breadth requirement, by introducing students to a broad body of knowledge in a given discipline or area, will also be considered as substitutes for the courses listed below by the appropriate Dean.

Dr. Brunt pointed out that this motion should be read in the context of the motion following. The intent was that, for the present, the Deans be given more latitude than at present in applying the Breadth Requirement, and that, by September 2007, the Breadth Requirement itself be reconsidered thoroughly.

CARRIED.

S-200511.05

Postponement of Implementation of Motion S-200503.03 (Changes to Academic Regulation 3 of Undergraduate Calendar—Breadth Requirements)

Brunt/Hemingway

That, on the recommendation of SCAPP, Senate approve that the implementation of motion S-200503.03 (Changes to Academic Regulation 3 of Undergraduate Calendar—Breadth Requirements) be postponed until September 2007, during which time Senate reconsiders the subject of the UNBC Breadth Requirement in its entirety (effective date: November, 2005).

Dr. Brunt noted that the motion proposed to be postponed for implementation would have required that all Bachelor's students, without exception, be expected to meet the Breadth Requirement beginning with students admitted in 2006. This requirement was potentially causing difficulties in recruiting transfer students, and in addition, regional students had raised the concern that it was not possible for some to meet the breadth requirement because necessary courses simply were not available to them.

Approval of Proposed Agreement of Cooperation Between Gakushuin Women's College (Japan) and the University of Northern British Columbia

Approval of New Joint Major in Anthropology / Geography

That the new joint major in Anthropology / Geography be approved as proposed.

Effective date: September 2006

Dr. Brunt noted that no detailed calendar entry proposal accompanied the program proposal. After consultation with the Secretary, he suggested that Senators consider the proposal for approval, after which SCAPP and SCCC could return to Senate with detailed text for information or approval. Alternatively Senators might opt to table the proposal.

Calendar Description Change — Commerce/School of Business Prerequisite Statement

Brunt/McGill

That the addition of the prerequisite statement, to the beginning of the course description section for Commerce in the Undergraduate Academic Calendar, be amended by the addition of the following sentence (effective date: September 2005):

Students enrolling in any Commence course with prerequisites are required to have completed all prerequisite courses for that course with a C- or better, or have permission to enroll from the Program Chair.

CARRIED.

S-200511.09

Prerequisite and Calendar Description Change — COMM 100-3

Brunt/McGill

That the changes to the prerequisites and course description for COMM 100-3 Introduction to Canadian Business be approved as proposed (effective date: September 2005), the prerequisite to be amended as follows (added text underlined):

Prerequisites: none. Note: Students transferring with 30 credit hours of Commerce courses are exempt from COMM 100-3 as a course, and as a prerequisite to other courses.

As originally proposed the motion used the expression “Commerce-related.” Dr. Mandy asked how “Commerce-related” would be determined. Dr. Ellis thought that the ambiguity conveyed by the phrase was unnecessary, in that what would be satisfactory was the use of courses that transferred to UNBC as being Commerce courses. He suggested the deletion of “related.” This was accepted as a friendly amendment, reflected in the wording indicated above.

S-200511.10

Change to Program Requirements — Lower Division Requirements for the Major in Geography (BA)

Brunt/Opio

That the changes to the Lower Division requirements of the Major in Geography (BA) be approved as follows (effective date: September 2006)(deleted text ~~struck through~~, added text underlined):

~~HIST 100 3 — Headlines in History~~

~~OR~~

One of the Following:

~~HIST 110-3 Indigenia~~

~~Or HIST 190-3 The West and The World to 1660~~

~~Or HIST 191-3 The West and the World Since 1660~~

~~Or HIST 210-3 Canada Before Confederation~~

~~Or HIST 211-3 Canada Since Confederation~~

~~Or HIST 255 3 The Circumpolar World~~

Dr. Montgomery thought that the “Or’s” in the list should be deleted as redundant. Mr. DeGrace explained that there was inconsistency in the Calendar in that regard. No doubt redundant text should be eliminated throughout the document, but the proposal before Senate was consistent with text used elsewhere in the entry for this Program. SCAPP had agreed to take this issue under advisement.

Hemingway/Mandy

That the revisions to the awards administrative policies, to include eligibility requirements for co-op students, be approved, with new Calendar text to be included in the Award and Financial Aid section as follows (effective date: September 2005):

Proposed changes to the UNBC awards administrative policies are in bold below. These changes are to be included in the academic calendar under the Award and Financial Aid section:

3. Administrative Policies

Unless otherwise stated these policies apply to the criteria listed on subsequent pages.

Admission Awards

Admission awards are open to students commencing an undergraduate degree program at the University of Northern British Columbia for the first time. To be considered for awards adjudicated on the basis of criteria such as leadership skills and community service, it is recommended that students submit a résumé or curriculum vitae along with a completed Application for Awards to the Awards and Financial Aid office.

New students will be evaluated on their admission average as calculated by the Office of the Registrar. Students who have prior post-secondary experience will be evaluated on the grade point average of their transferable courses as calculated by the Office of the Registrar.

In-course Awards

Students continuing a course of studies at UNBC should apply for UNBC's scholarships and bursaries; to be considered as well for awards adjudicated on the basis of criteria such as leadership skills and community service, it is recommended that students submit a résumé or curriculum vitae along with a completed Application for Awards to the Awards, Financial Aid, and Student Employment Centre. Unless otherwise stated, in-course awards are available to undergraduate students who have completed a minimum of 18 credit hours (nine credit hours per semester) over the awards year (June 1 – May 31). Applicants are evaluated based on their annual GPA, their calculated grade point average for courses taken within the academic year. In case of a tie, preference will be given to students who have successfully completed a greater number of courses over the term under consideration. Credit hours will be multiplied by grade point averages to determine any student's awards units:

Example
Student	A	B
Total credit hrs/3 sem	27.0	30.0
Annual GPA	4.0	4.0
Award units	108.0	120.0

Student B, with higher award units, will be given preference in award selection. The cumulative GPA shall be used to break ties between identical award units.

Co-op students: for the purposes of awards eligibility, students enrolled in a co-op term will be considered to have met the minimum full-time credit equivalency for that term. Co-op applicants will be evaluated based on their cumulative GPA.

That the Senate Policy on "Honorary Degree Recipients" (S2000-11.09) be amended as indicated to clarify the mandate and intent of the Committee, as follows (effective date: January 2006)(deletions ~~struck through~~, added text underlined):

1.0 PREAMBLE

The following provides the general principles, policies and procedures relating to the nomination of recipients for Honorary Degrees.

The Policy for Honorary Degree Recipients fulfils two functions, namely:

- i) Provides the criteria by which nominations are evaluated for the award of an Honorary Degree.
- ii) Provides guidelines for the nomination process used in the consideration and granting of Honorary Degrees.

In this policy "Committee" means the Senate Committee on Honorary Degrees & Other Forms of Special Recognition (SCHDSR).

2.0 POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

2.1 Evaluation Criteria for Honorary Degrees

2.1.1 The award of an Honorary Degree is a recognition by the University of Northern British Columbia of distinguished achievement in scholarship, research, teaching, the creative arts, business, or other fields of service to the public. ~~or public service to the province, nationally or internationally.~~

2.1.2 Nominees are selected for excellence, eminence, and accomplishment according to the following criteria:

- i) have established a national or international reputation for excellence in their field of endeavour
- ii) have made a notable contribution in the service of humanity (through scholarships, the arts, social service, etc.)
- iii) is a role model and displays the characteristics that the University strives to cultivate

2.1.3. Nominees are sought encompassing international, national, provincial or regional contributions and, normally, two Honorary Degrees will be conferred at each regular convocation.

~~2.1.3 It is desirable that at least one of the candidates for an Honorary Degree to be conferred at a regular Convocation should normally have made a significant contribution to northern British Columbia.~~

2.2 Nominations

2.2.1 All nominations of prospective candidates for Honorary Degrees shall be made in writing to the attention of the Chair of the Committee and be submitted to the Committee Secretary.

2.2.2 Nominations should provide the following written information:

- i) the name and current address of the candidate
- ii) a curriculum vitae and other such documentation that may be helpful to the Committee
- iii) pertinent reference articles/names
- iv) a brief statement outlining why the nominees should be considered for award of an Honorary Degree
- v) name and contact address of nominator(s)

2.2.3 Nominations shall be received by the Committee in the Fall for consideration for the Annual Convocation Ceremony the following year.

2.2.4 Nominations may be made by members of the Committee, the University Community or the public. ~~University Community which is deemed to include Members of Convocation.~~

~~2.2.5 Nominations may be made by persons outside the University Community having first secured the sponsorship of a member of the Committee.~~

2.3 Acknowledgement of Nominations

2.3.1. The ~~Chair of the Committee~~ University Secretary shall acknowledge, in writing, the receipt of each nomination.

2.4 Evaluation and Recommendation Procedures

2.4.1 The deliberations of the Committee shall take place in camera.

2.4.2 The Committee shall evaluate the proposed nominations and select names deemed acceptable in compliance with the criteria adopted (Section 2.1 herein) as approved by Senate.

2.4.3 The Committee shall generate a list of recommended candidates each year that will consist of no more than six (6) candidates.

2.4.4 The Committee shall forward to the Senate, through the Chair, for approval in camera, the list of names of recommended nominees with supporting documentation including the nominator(s) statement.

2.5 Approval of Recommendations

2.5.1 It is intended that not less than one (1) and not more than three (3) Honorary Degrees shall be awarded at each Convocation.

2.5.2 Approval of any nominee requires a majority vote of the Senate members present.

2.5.3 In instances where approved nominees are unable to accept the award, they shall at the discretion of the Committee be placed in a "pool" for three years with the possibility of reconfirmation for a further three years.

2.5.4 The approved pool of candidates will automatically be reconsidered by the Committee for the following Convocation.

2.6 Acceptance and Receipt of Honorary Degree

2.6.1 A letter of consideration shall be presented to the selected candidate by the University President (Chair of the Senate) for acceptance or rejection.

2.6.2 Should one or more of the selected candidates decline the award, alternates are to be chosen from the pool by the Committee.

2.6.3 Except in unusual circumstances and only at the discretion of the Senate, Honorary Degrees must be received in person at the Annual Convocation ceremony. However, if after having indicated a willingness to accept an Honorary Degree a candidate becomes incapacitated or dies, the Degree may be awarded at the discretion of the President (Chair of the Senate). Under no circumstances are Honorary Degrees conferred upon persons who, because of incapacity or death, are unable explicitly to accept the honour.

2.7 Special Convocations

2.7.1 The nominees for Honorary Degrees for a special Convocation may be selected from the pool and/or other nominees presented by the Committee and ratified in accordance with these policies and procedures.

2.8 Confidentiality

2.8.1 Strict confidentiality will be maintained at all times.

---

That the Minutes of the Public Session of Senate of November 9, 2005 be approved as presented.
CARRIED.

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

None.

4.0 President's Report

4.1 2006/07 Budget Guidelines Document – for information

The President called Senator's attention to this document, which previously had been presented to President's Council and the Program Chairs. Dr. K. Beeler called attention to previous discussions in which reference had been made to developing a five-year budget framework. Dr. Jago said that such a framework was under discussion and, while not yet approved, was expected. Such a fiscal framework would, allow longer-term budget planning, but unfortunately was not an option for 2006-2007.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

No report.

6.0 Question Period

No questions.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning

Brunt

S-200512.03

Approval of New Joint Major in Anthropology / Geography

Randall/McGill

That the new joint major in Anthropology / Geography be approved as proposed, with the Calendar description as follows:

Effective date: September 2006

The minimum requirement for completion of a Bachelor of Arts with a Joint Major in Anthropology and Geography is 120 credit hours.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants listed on page 65 of the Calendar. Courses that meet the spirit of the breadth requirement, by introducing students to a broad body of knowledge in a given discipline or area, will also be considered as substitutes for the courses listed below by the appropriate Dean. Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirements or as part of their elective requirements, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

Renewal of Terms and Conditions — Minerva Foundation Award

Hemingway/Mandy

That the Terms and Conditions for the renewal of the Minerva Foundation Award be approved.

Effective date: Renewed 2005 (Established 2001)

CARRIED.

7.4 Senate Committee on Regional Policy and Inter-Institutional Relations

Referring to the motions to be put under this agenda item, Dr. Hemingway asked whether there was a set protocol for developing block transfer and other inter-institutional academic arrangements. Jr. Jago said that, in practice, a variety of routes might be followed, and that the important thing was that the Director of Regional Operations be involved at an early stage of any discussions. Dean Randall noted that some of the agreements to be considered were “boiler plate” arrangements that would provide a framework within which more detailed discussions could take place.

S-200512.15

Memorandum of Understanding Between the University of Northern British Columbia and Malaspina University – College

Randall/Hutchings

That the draft Memorandum of Understanding between UNBC and Malaspina University – College be recommended to Senate for approval.

Effective date: November 2, 2005

CARRIED.

S-200512.16

Protocol Agreement Between the University of Northern British Columbia and Nicola Valley Institute of Technology

Randall/Annis

That the draft Protocol Agreement between UNBC and Nicola Valley Institute of Technology be recommended to Senate for approval.

CARRIED.

S-200512.17

Partnership Protocol Agreement Between the University of Northern British Columbia and Langara College

Randall/Nyce

That the draft Partnership Protocol Agreement between UNBC and Langara College be recommended to Senate for approval.

Effective date: November 16, 2005

CARRIED.

S-200512.18

Partnership Agreement Between the University of Northern British Columbia and Grande Prairie Regional College

Randall/McGill

That the Partnership Agreement between UNBC and Grande Prairie Regional College be recommended to Senate for approval.

Effective date: November 16, 2005

Dr. Mandy wondered whether Grand Prairie's location in Alberta might have any negative impacts on students applying for financial assistance in the context of UNBC courses taken there. Mr. Macknak thought that there would be none.

CARRIED.

7.5 Senate Committee on Nominations

Mr. DeGrace took the Chair for this agenda item.

S-200512.19

Membership Changes to Senate Committees

Mandy/Tait

That the following recommendations from the Senate Committee on Nominations (SCN), for candidates to serve on Senate Committees, be approved as proposed.

Committee and Position to be filled

Candidate

Steering Committee of Senate

Student Senator (one position available, until June 30, 2006)

Mark Stephens

Senate Committee on Academic Appeals

The meeting commenced at 3:33 p.m.

1.0 S-200512.01

Approval of the Agenda

Mandy/Hemingway

That the Agenda for the January 11, 2006 Public Session of Senate be approved as presented.

The Chair indicated that an additional nomination would be brought forward under Agenda Item 7.5.

CARRIED.

2.0 Approval of the Minutes:

S-200512.02

Approval of the Minutes of the December 14, 2005 Public Session

Mandy/Hemingway

That the Minutes of the Public Session of Senate of December 14, 2005 be approved as presented.

Dr. Jago called attention to a typographical error in the first paragraph under agenda item 7.4: "Jr." should have been rendered as "Dr." In the same paragraph "Dr. Hemingway" should have been "Senator Hemingway."

Referring to Agenda Item 7.4., it was noted that the role of Senate is to recommend the approval of Memoranda of Understanding to the Board of Governors rather than to approve them. The minutes were adjusted accordingly.

MINUTES APPROVED AS AMENDED.

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

None.

4.0 President's Report

No report.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. Brunt noted that, the following week, the first report on the Academic Visioning Initiative would be released, carrying with it implications for the Senate.

6.0 Question Period

Referring to the proposed Bachelor of Health Sciences Degree, Dr. Mandy asked whether, in principle, when students were admitted to programs directly from high school, they were guaranteed that the courses required for their program would be available to them. She noted that in Environmental Engineering, for example, spaces on required courses were guaranteed, and other students wanting the same courses found them available on a first-come-first-served basis until they had been filled. Dean McGill pointed out that environmental engineering students progressed through their program on a cohort basis, necessitating such an arrangement; but this would not be the case with Health Sciences Students. Dr. Brunt added that, in general, the goal was that every student would, have access to every course that might be needed. He acknowledged that there were difficulties from time to time, however. The Chair noted that the matter could be revisited when the new degree came to the consideration of Senate.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning

S-200601.03

Revisions to Sessional Dates for the 2005-2006 Academic Year

Brunt/Tait

That the changes to the Sessional Dates for the 2005-2006 Academic Year be approved as proposed.
Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate

Dr. Binnema noted that, in the 2005-2006 September Semester there had been only 11 Mondays Scheduled for classes, and in the January Semester only 12. He wondered whether this was often enough. Ms. Kielly said that, in the proposal to come to Senate for 2006-2007 and 2007-2008, all teaching days would number either 12 or 13.

CARRIED.

S-200601.04

Sessional Dates for 2006-2007 and Provisional Sessional Dates for 2007-2008

Brunt/Hemingway

That the confirmed Sessional Dates for 2006-2007 and (provisional) for 2007-2008 be approved.

Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate

CARRIED.

S-200601.05

Revision of General Academic Regulation 23

Brunt/McGill

That General Academic Regulation 23 Minors be modified as proposed.

Effective date: September 1999

CARRIED.

S-200601.06

Revisions to Other Admission Categories (Interest Only) in the Undergraduate Calendar

Brunt/Mandy

That the changes to the Other Admission Categories for Interest Only, in the Undergraduate Calendar, be approved as proposed.

Effective date: January 2006

CARRIED.

S-200601.07

Removal of Preclusions Related to Graduate Courses from the Undergraduate Calendar

Brunt/Mandy

That preclusions related to graduate courses be removed from the Undergraduate Calendar generally, and that a statement be added to the end of the second paragraph under the heading "Permission for Undergraduates to Take Graduate Course Work" on page 21 of the 2005-2006 Undergraduate Academic Calendar, as follows:

Please note that preclusions stated in the Graduate Academic Calendar will apply. Students are responsible for being aware of preclusions in the Graduate Academic Calendar for cross-listed undergraduate/graduate courses.

Effective date: January 2006, with graduate course preclusions to be deleted from the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar

CARRIED.

S-200601.08

New Course Approval — CHEM 315-3

Brunt/McGill

That a new course, CHEM 315-3 - Physical Chemistry Lab, be approved as proposed.

Effective date: September 2006

CARRIED.

S-200601.09

Course Deletions — CHEM 313-1.5 and CHEM 314-1.5

Brunt/ McGill

That CHEM 313-1.5 and CHEM 314-1.5 be deleted from the calendar, and that all references to these courses in the calendar be deleted (Chemistry major, Chemistry minor, Joint Chemistry/Physics major, BSc General).

Effective date: September 2006

CARRIED.

S-200601.10

Change to Degree Requirements — BSc General

Brunt/McGill

That CHEM 315-3 - Physical Chemistry Lab be added to, and CHEM 313-1.5 - Physical Chemistry Lab I and CHEM 314-1.5 - Physical Chemistry Lab II be deleted from, the BSc General on page 72 of the 2005-2006 Calendar.

Effective date: September 2006

CARRIED.

S-200601.11

Change to Program Requirements — Chemistry Major

Brunt/ Mandy

That CHEM 315-3 - Physical Chemistry Lab be added to, and CHEM 313-1.5 - Physical Chemistry Lab I and CHEM 314-1.5 - Physical Chemistry Lab II be deleted from, the Chemistry major on page 84 of the 2005-2006 Calendar.

Effective date: September 2006

CARRIED.

S-200601.12

Change to Program Requirements — Joint Chemistry / Physics Major

Brunt/Hutchings

That CHEM 315-3 - Physical Chemistry Lab be added to, and CHEM 313-1.5 - Physical Chemistry Lab I and CHEM 314-1.5 - Physical Chemistry Lab II be deleted from, the Joint Chemistry / Physics major on page 87 of the 2005-2006 Calendar.

Effective date: September 2006

CARRIED.

S-200601.13

Change to Program Requirements — Chemistry Minor

Brunt/McGill

That the Chemistry minor be changed as follows (new or revised text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

- Minor in Chemistry

The minor in Chemistry is designed to provide students with a solid grounding and a core of study in one or more of the subdisciplines of Chemistry. Thus, some flexibility is permitted in satisfying the requirements for a minor. Students have the option to study a range of subdisciplines at the 300 level while counting the 200 level prerequisites toward the minor or to focus on particular subdisciplines through to the 400 level. ~~A maximum of six courses (14 credit hours) of the 100 and 200 level courses used to fulfill requirements for a major (or another minor) may also be used toward a minor in Chemistry.~~

A maximum of six courses (14 credit hours) of the 100 and 200 level courses used to fulfill requirements for a major (or another minor) may also be used toward a minor in Chemistry.

The minimum requirement for completion of the minor in Chemistry is 29 credit hours.

100 Level

CHEM 100-3 General Chemistry I
CHEM 101-3 General Chemistry II
CHEM 120-1 General Chemistry Lab I
CHEM 121-1 General Chemistry Lab II

200 Level

At least nine credit hours from:

CHEM 200-3 Physical Chemistry I
CHEM 201-3~~3~~ Organic Chemistry I
CHEM 202-3 Inorganic Chemistry I
CHEM 203-3~~3~~ Organic Chemistry II
CHEM 204-3~~3~~ Introductory Biochemistry
CHEM 210-3 Analytical Chemistry I
CHEM 250-1 Organic Chemistry Lab I
CHEM 251-1 Organic Chemistry Lab II

~~*Note: Students required to take CHEM 220-3 (Organic and Biochemistry) and CHEM 221-1 (Organic and Biochemistry Lab) for their majors program should substitute CHEM 201-3 (Organic Chemistry I), CHEM 203-3 (Organic Chemistry II) and CHEM 204-3 (Introductory Biochemistry). Four of these credit hours would count toward a major, and the rest toward the Chemistry minor.~~

**Note: selections made should incorporate prerequisites for intended upper division courses.*

300 and 400 Level

At least 12 credit hours from:

Approval of New Degree — Bachelor of Health Sciences

Brunt/Randall

That the new degree of Bachelor of Health Sciences be approved as proposed, the Calendar entry describing the program to read as follows:

Health Sciences (BHSc Programs)

Bachelor of Health Sciences (Biomedical Studies)

Bachelor of Health Sciences (Community and Population Health - Aboriginal and Rural Health)

Bachelor of Health Sciences (Community and Population Health - Environmental Health)

Henry Harder, Associate Professor and Chair

The Bachelor of Health Sciences degree is a four year program consisting of a range of courses that relates directly to the science of health, in the recognition that health is a complex entity defying a simple explanation or a single disciplinary perspective. The courses identified within the Program offer learning opportunities from a variety of disciplines, including the Life Sciences, Social Sciences, Behavioural Sciences, and Ethics and Law, to enable students to develop a body of knowledge and understanding relating to the dimensions of Health. Some of these courses are considered to be 'core' and therefore central to the basic understandings of health, while others offer the student opportunities to learn about a specific health perspective that is focused on one of three Majors: (i) Biomedical Studies, (ii) Community and Population Health - Environmental Health, or, (iii) Community and Population Health - Aboriginal and Rural Health. Graduation from either of the Community and Population Health Majors enables students to embark on careers or graduate programs related to health care management, administration, information systems or public health.

Students pursuing the Biomedical Studies Major are required to complete a set of courses that enables them to be better prepared for application to professional programs, for example, in medicine, nursing, pharmacy, occupational therapy, dentistry, speech pathology or physiotherapy. This major provides a foundational knowledge base that is focused more on the natural and physical sciences, thus enabling those students to be better prepared to undertake health-related research or to work in scientific laboratories.

All students graduating with the Bachelor of Health Sciences degree will have developed critical analytical skills, life-long learning skills, and the ability to work from the evidence of best practice.

General Requirements

To be awarded the BHSc degree students are required to complete 120 credit hours of University-level courses. This consists of 57 credit hours of common requirements for all BHSc students, with the remainder coming from the following Majors, and electives, as follows:

- Biomedical Studies - 48 credit hours of courses from the Biomedical Studies major and 15 elective credit

- hours.
- Community and Population Health – Aboriginal and Rural Health: 33 credit hours from the common course requirements for both Community and Population Health Majors, as well as a minimum of 12 credit hours (6 specified, 6 with some choice) in Aboriginal and Rural Health-related courses, thus adding to a focus of knowledge and understanding of this specific subject material. The remaining 18 credit hours are obtained from elective credit hours.
- Community and Population Health – Environmental Health: 33 credit hours from the common course requirements for both Community and Population Health Majors, as well as a minimum of 12 credit hours (6 specified, 6 with some choice) in Environmental Health-related courses, thus adding to a focus of knowledge and understanding of this specific subject material. The remaining 18 credit hours are obtained from elective credit hours.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires all students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants listed on page 65 of the Calendar. Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirement or as part of their elective requirement, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the Bachelor of Health Sciences program is based on academic qualifications and available space. At the time of application, students must specify whether they intend to specialize in either the Biomedical Studies Major or one of the two Community and Population Health Majors. Priority admission is given to students who meet admission criteria and apply by the deadline of March 1st. Applications received after the deadline may be reviewed based on available space in the program. Self-identified Aboriginal applicants who meet or exceed the minimum requirements for admission to the program are given priority for up to twenty percent (20%) of the first-year seats for the Bachelor of Health Sciences program.

Applicants from BC and Yukon secondary schools must:

- meet the basic UNBC admission requirements, and
- have completed Principles of Mathematics 11, English 12 and other approved Grade 12 courses as specified in the Admissions sections of the Undergraduate Calendar.

Other Applicants must:

- meet UNBC admission requirements, and
- have completed the equivalent of Principles of Mathematics 11, English 12, and other approved Grade 12 courses as specified in the Admissions sections of the Undergraduate Calendar with a minimum of C+ (65%) in each course.

Students interested in specializing in the Biomedical Studies Major are strongly encouraged to take Principles of Mathematics 12, Chemistry 12 and Biology 12 before entering the Program.

Common Requirements: All Majors

In order to meet the graduation requirements for a BHSc all students must successfully complete the following common requirements consisting of 57 credit hours. It is recommended that students take the courses listed below in the year of study indicated:

1st year - 15 credits

FNST 100-3	The Aboriginal Peoples of Canada
HHSC 101-3	Introduction to Health Science I: Issues and Controversies
HHSC 103-3	Health Care Systems
PSYC 101-3	Psychology as a Science
PSYC 102-3	Psychology and Human Problems

2nd year - 15 credits

HHSC 111-3 Anatomy and Physiology I
HHSC 112-3 Anatomy and Physiology II
HHSC 201-3 Ethics and Law in Health Care
HHSC 311-3 Nutrition
MATH 242-3 Statistics for Social and Health Sciences or ECON 205-3 Statistics for the Social and Management Sciences

3rd year - 15 credits

FNST 302-3 First Nations Health and Healing
HHSC 350-3 Introduction to Epidemiology
HHSC 351-3 Research Design and Methods for Health Sciences
PSYC 309-3 Introduction to Health Psychology
PSYC 345-3 Lifespan Development or SOCW 421-3 Human Growth and Development

4th year - 12 credits

HHSC 451-3 Health Sciences Research Project
HHSC 471-3 Aboriginal Health and Chronic Disease
POLS 403-3 Social and Health Policy and Administration
PSYC 409-3 Advanced Health Psychology

Major in Biomedical Studies

Students pursuing a major in Biomedical Studies are required to complete the following 48 credit hours of courses. It is recommended that students take the courses listed below in the year of study indicated:

1st year - 22 credits

BIOL 101-4 Introductory Biology I
BIOL 102-4 Introductory Biology II
CHEM 100-3 General Chemistry I
CHEM 120-1 General Chemistry Lab I
CHEM 101-3 General Chemistry II
CHEM 121-1 General Chemistry Lab II

Two of:

ENGL 100-3 Introduction to Literary Structures
ENGL 102-3 Introduction to Poetry
ENGL 103-3 Introduction to Fiction
ENGL 104-3 Introduction to Drama and/or Film

2nd year - 17 credits

BIOL 203-3 Microbiology
BIOL 210-3 Genetics
CHEM 201-3 Organic Chemistry I
CHEM 250-1 Organic Chemistry Lab I
CHEM 203-3 Organic Chemistry II
CHEM 251-1 Organic Chemistry Lab II
CHEM 204-3 Introductory Biochemistry

3rd and 4th years - 9 credits

BIOL 311-3 Cell and Molecular Biology
CHEM 306-3 Intermediary Metabolism
CHEM 307-3 Proteins

Note: Students intending to apply to professional health degree programs are encouraged to take as electives the following courses: PHYS 110-4, PHYS 111-4, MATH 100-3 and MATH 101-3.

Majors in Community and Population Health

Students pursuing a major in either Community and Population Health – Aboriginal and Rural Health, or Community and Population Health – Environmental Health, are required to complete the following 33 credit hours. It is recommended that students take the courses listed below in the year of study indicated:

1st year - 9 credits

CHEM 110-3 Chemistry of Everyday Life or CHEM 100-3 General Chemistry I
ECON 110-3 Introduction to Health Economics and Policy
One of:
ENGL 100-3 Introduction to Literary Structures
ENGL 102-3 Introduction to Poetry
ENGL 103-3 Introduction to Fiction
ENGL 104-3 Introduction to Drama and/or Film

2nd year - 6 credits

HHSC 102-3 Introduction to Health Science II: Rural and Aboriginal Issues
HHSC 110-3 Basic Microbiology
or BIOL 203-3 Microbiology

3rd year - 12 credits

NURS 301-3 Advanced Pathophysiology
HHSC 330-3 Health Information Management Technology
HHSC 370-3 Occupational Health
SOCW 444-3 Social Work Critical Issues in Aging

4th year -6 credits

HHSC 421-3 Medical Geography
NURS 402-3 Health Promotion

In addition to the 33 credit hours listed above, students pursuing a major in either Community and Population Health – Aboriginal and Rural Health, or Community and Population Health – Environmental Health, are required to complete 12 credit hours focused in either Aboriginal and Rural Health or Environmental Health, specific to their major, as listed below.

Major in Community and Population Health - Aboriginal and Rural Health

Students must take:

ENPL 313-3 Rural Community Economic Development
FNST 315-3 Aboriginal Health Management

Students must take an additional 6 credit hours from the following list (please note that some of these courses may require additional prerequisites):

ANTH 200-3 Biological Anthropology
ANTH 201-3 Medical Anthropology
ECON 410-3 Health Economics
PSYC 417-3 Behaviour Modification
SOCW 440-3 Social Work and Mental Health
SOCW 441-3 Social Work and Substance Abuse
SOCW 443-3 Medical Social Work

Major in Community and Population Health - Environmental Health

Students must take:

ENPL 205-3 Environment and Society
ENSC 308-3 Northern Contaminated Environments

Students must take an additional 6 credit hours from the following list (please note that some of these courses may require additional prerequisites):

ECON 410-3 Health Economics
ENPL 208-3 First Nations Community and Environmental Planning
ENPL 304-3 Mediation, Negotiation and Public Participation
ENVS 306-3 Human Ecology

HIST 360-3 An Introduction to Environmental History
INTS 470-3 International Environmental Policy
NREM 306-3 Society, Policy and Administration or POLS 334-3 Society, Policy and Administration of Natural Resources

Elective Requirement for all BHSC Majors

Electives at any level sufficient to ensure completion of a minimum 120 credit hours.

Effective date: September 2006

Dean Randall noted that the preparation of this degree proposal had been a lengthy process involving players from within UNBC and outside, and involving a great deal of comparative study. Pedagogically, offering a blend of the program closest to that proposed was at the University of Calgary. While the degree was not intended to be “all things to all people,” and had been streamlined as much as possible, the appeal was thought to be national, so that a healthy demand was expected. In response to a question from Dr. Rapaport, he noted that there were no “hidden prerequisites” in the motions before Senate.

Dr. Mandy asked what guarantees could be offered that students could complete the program in a timely fashion. Dean Randall said that the University did all that it could in that regard, mounting extra sections of courses if necessary. He pointed out, however, that this program was not pursued on a cohort model and that some flexibility in the order in which courses could be taken had been built-in. A Cross-College Curriculum Committee would anticipate demand and support smooth delivery of the program. With direct admission to the degree program, followed by a declaration of Major within the program after one year, it would be possible to plan in advance for student numbers.

Ms. Burkinshaw wondered whether students currently studying at UNBC could enter the program. Dean Randall said that the program would be “rolled-out” on a year by year basis, so that students already at UNBC might not be able to meet the program requirements in a timely fashion. As well, he noted, assessment for admission to the program would be based on the content of high school transcripts. At present there was no policy in place specifically addressing admissions criteria for post-high school students.

Degree Requirement Change — BA in Resource Based Tourism (Major)

Brunt/McGill

That the calendar be changed to reflect changes in the BA in Resource Based Tourism (Major) as follows (added or changed text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Resource-Based Tourism (BA Program)

Gail Fondahl, Program Chair
John Shultis, Associate Professor
Pam Wright, Associate Professor
Anne Hardy, Assistant Professor
Pat Maher, Assistant Professor
Gordon Borgstrom, Adjunct Professor
Mike Murtha, Adjunct Professor
Sanjay Nepal, Adjunct Professor
~~Kim Lemky, Instructor~~

Website: <http://www.unbc.ca/rrt>

~~The BA in Resource Based Tourism recognizes that tourism has become the largest industry and employer in the world. Moreover, one of the fastest growing sectors in tourism is those attractions, activities, and experiences involving an interaction with natural and heritage resources. Accordingly, this curriculum examines the various components of the tourism phenomenon including planning, operations, marketing, resource management and environmental considerations, First Nations concerns, economic aspects, and business and entrepreneurial perspectives. Tourism has become the largest industry and employer in the world. One of the most important and fastest growing sectors in tourism is resource-based tourism, which comprises attractions, activities and experiences involving an interaction with natural and cultural resources (e.g., ecotourism, adventure tourism, indigenous tourism). This degree examines the various components of the resource-based tourism system, giving emphasis to the entrepreneurial perspectives and sustainability issues in the industry. Students also choose to specialize in other content areas and disciplines closely related to resource-based tourism, such as tourism marketing, indigenous tourism, geography, international studies, environmental planning, political science, and natural resource management.~~

Major in Resource-Based Tourism

Undergraduate students are required to complete a minimum of ~~eleven (11)~~ thirteen (13) Resource Recreation Tourism courses (~~34~~ 39 credit hours).

The minimum requirement for completion of a Bachelor of Arts with a major in Resource-Based Tourism is ~~42~~ 122 credit hours.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants listed on page 65 of the Calendar. Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirements or as part of their elective requirements, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

Degree Requirement Change — BSc in Natural Resource Management – Major in Resource Recreation

Brunt/Hurtubise

That the calendar be changed to reflect changes in the BSc in Natural Resource Management – Major in Resource Recreation as follows (added or changed text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Major in Resource Recreation

This BSc Major in Resource Recreation focuses on the natural and social dimensions of outdoor recreation planning and management, using an integrated resource management framework. Emphasis in this major is placed on planning and managing environmentally and culturally sensitive recreation opportunities in natural environment settings.

Northern British Columbia provides an unparalleled setting for learning, teaching and researching the various aspects of resource recreation management. British Columbia has a large land base and a range of natural ~~has~~ wilderness areas, Regional, Provincial and National Parks, provincial forests, First Nations territories, lands and environments that support a vast array of dispersed and concentrated outdoor recreation opportunities. The program ~~examines~~ ~~looks at~~ the components of planning and managing developing and/or maximizing recreation potential through scrutiny of subject areas such as management of recreation opportunities through the study of such subject areas as ecology, integrated resource management, planning, protected areas management, tourism management, environmental studies and geography (e.g., GIS), marketing, facilities, interpretation and research.

Undergraduate students are required to take ~~13~~ 12 Resource Recreation and Tourism courses (~~40~~ 36 credit hours). Of these, ~~11~~ 9 courses ~~must~~ are ~~be~~ upper division.

The minimum requirement for the completion of a Bachelor of Science with a major in Resource Recreation is ~~132~~ 120 credit hours.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants listed on page 65 of the Calendar. Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirements or as part of their elective requirements, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

The meeting commenced at 3:33 p.m.

1.0 S-200602.01

Approval of the Agenda

Hutchings/Hyndman

That the Agenda for the February 8, 2006 Public Session of Senate be approved as presented.

CARRIED

2.0 Senate Minutes

S-200602.02

Approval of the Minutes of the January 11, 2006 Public Session

Mandy/Rapaport

That the Minutes of the Public Session of Senate of January 11, 2006 be approved as presented.

It was noted that, in the paragraph under agenda item 7.4, the second sentence should correctly reference "IB courses" and not "AB courses."

2.1 Review of the Role and Purpose of Senate Minutes

Mr. DeGrace drew Senators' attention to the content of the minutes, which since September 2003 had been much more inclusive of the content of motions than had been the case previously. The purpose was to make the minutes much more easily searchable. Previously it would have been necessary for a reader to access the original Senate meeting package to determine the content of many motions, and that was no longer practical as the University had grown in size and complexity, and the history of Senate had lengthened.

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

3.1 Motions to Rescind Senate Motion S-200512.10 and to Effect Corrected Changes to Degree Requirements

S-200602.03

Rescindment of Motion S-200512.10 (Change to Degree Requirements — Philosophy Minor)

Rapaport/Mandy

That Motion S-200512.10 be rescinded.

Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate

CARRIED

S-200602.04

Motion to Effect Corrected Changes to Degree Requirements — Philosophy Minor

Mandy/Reed

That the Minor in Philosophy as set out on p. 148 of the 2005-2006 Undergraduate Calendar be revised as follows (changed or added text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

A minor in philosophy requires students to take PHIL 205-3 and POLS 317-3 in addition to 12 ~~45~~ credit hours chosen from courses listed below. A ~~minimum~~ total of 12 must be at the 300 or 400 level.

A maximum of two courses (six credit hours) used to fulfill program requirements for a major or another minor may also be used to fulfill requirements for a minor in Philosophy.

Required:

PHIL 205-3: Introduction to the History of Philosophy

POLS 317-3: Ethics

One of:

ECON 202-3 History of Economic Thought

ENGL 200-3 Gender and Literary Theory

PHIL 200-3 Critical Thinking

PHIL 201-3 Philosophy of Science

PHIL 202-3 Comparative Religion

POLS 270-3 Political Philosophy: Plato to Locke

Three ~~Four~~ of:

COMM 332-3 Business and Professional Ethics

ENGL 300-3 Theory

FNST 303-3 First Nations Religion and Philosophy

FNST 304-3 First Nations Environmental Philosophy and Knowledge

HIST 300-3 Historiography: The Nature of the Historical Discipline

~~POLS 317-3: Politics and Ethics~~

POLS 370-3 Political Philosophy: Locke to Marx

WMST 311-3 History of Feminism

ANTH 401-3 - Anthropological Perspectives on Inequality

ANTH 405-3 - Topics in Landscapes and Place

ANTH 406 - Feminist Perspectives in Anthropology

ENGL 400-3 Contemporary Theory

ENVS 414-3 Environmental and Professional Ethics

Mr. DeGrace noted that, at its meeting of 14 December 2005, Senate had approved amendments to the Philosophy Minor. Those amendments should have been based upon the contents of the program as of its most recent revision, namely that of 9 March 2005. In the event, the amendments brought to Senate on December 2005 were based only partially upon the Minor as approved in March. Senate had been invited to rescind the motion carried in December and to entertain this motion in order that the record be absolutely clear.

Effective date: September 2006

4.0 President's Report

Dr. Jago noted that the University was revising its five-year Capital Plan in spite of the fact that the current plan was only two years old, because recent events had rendered it out-of date. The new Plan would have to be submitted to Government by May or June. The University Act gave Senate a role, advisory to the Board, in such matters, so that Senators could expect to see a draft Plan in due course, hopefully before the end of the current academic year. Planning for the Northern Sport Centre was in its final stages, and it was hoped to have construction underway by April or May. Board approval had been given to an understanding whereby, with construction of the Northern Sport Centre, the UNBC Fitness Centre would be renovated to create a Student Centre, subject to approval by the student body.

Responding to a question from Dr. Mandy, the President noted that the construction of the Sport Centre would begin before the completion of the Teaching and Learning Building, and that there would be construction traffic implications. He noted, however, that the location of the Sport Centre was such that impact on the "ring road" would be minimal.

Dr. Rapaport wondered where the requests for space were originating. Dr. Jago said that a summary could be provided, and that space requests had come from all of the Deans on behalf of their academic units, from the Vice-President Research, and from every major administrative unit in the University.

4.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. Brunt reported that the Academic Visioning consultations had ended before the New Year, and that comments had been received on a draft report. Preparation of the final report had been delayed by timing pressures to do with contract negotiations.

6.0 Question Period

There were no questions.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning

S-200602.05

Approval of Student Exchange Agreement Between the University of Applied Sciences in Solothurn, Northwestern Switzerland and the University of Northern British Columbia

Randall/Scholefield

That the student exchange agreement between the University of Applied Sciences in Solothurn, Northwestern Switzerland and the University of Northern British Columbia be approved as proposed.

Change to Program Requirements — Biochemistry and Molecular Biology Major

Randall/McGill

That the Biochemistry and Molecular Biology Major as set out on p. 75-76 of the 2005-2006 Undergraduate Calendar be amended as follows (changed or added text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

• Major in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology

The major in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology requires students to take at least ~~84~~ 85 credit hours of Biology and Chemistry courses, of which ~~39~~ 42 credit hours must be upper division (i.e. 300 or 400 level).

The minimum requirement for completion of a Bachelor of Science with a major in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology is ~~128~~ 129 credit hours.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants listed on page 65 of the Calendar. Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirements or as part of their elective requirements, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

Change to Program Requirements — Biology Minor

Randall/Hutchings

That the paragraphs under the heading “Minor in Biology” on p. 77 of the 2005-2006 Calendar be amended as follows (changed or added text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

The minor in Biology offers students in other disciplines the opportunity to gain a solid foundation in the diversity of life and biological processes.

The minor in Biology requires the completion of 26 credit hours, of which 12 credit hours must be at the upper division (i.e., 300 or 400 level). ~~A maximum of six credit hours at the 200 level or beyond used to fulfill requirements for a major (or another minor) may also be used to fulfill program requirements for a minor in Biology.~~

A maximum of four courses (consisting of 100 level courses plus two courses at the 200 level or beyond to a maximum of 14 credit hours) which are used to fulfill requirements for a major or another minor may also be used to fulfill program requirements for a minor in Biology.

Effective date: September 1999 (retroactive as per Senate motion S-199912.09), or September 2005

By way of clarification of the ambiguity in the proposed effective date, Mr. DeGrace noted that the changes proposed in this Motion had been approved by Senate in 1999, but by a clerical error had not been included in the hard copy Calendar. In 2003 the current Calendar was benchmarked as being “correct,” so that it was necessary to bring forward a new motion to effect the change. Academic advisors had been advising students according to the 1999-approved requirement since that date.

New Course Approval — HIST 181-3

Randall/Mandy

That a new course, HIST 181-3 War, Terror & Society II, be approved as proposed.

Effective date: January 2008

Dean Randall noted that the Breadth Requirements currently were under comprehensive review, so that there was not at present a proposal that these courses be included as meeting that requirement. He agreed to refer to the History program the question of whether the Calendar Course Description should refer to “wars in Iraq” rather than “war in Iraq.”

~~Ralf Peters, Lecturer~~
Cristian Ivanescu, Adjunct Assistant Professor
Anamaria Savu, Adjunct Professor

The Mathematics Program provides undergraduate and post-graduate instruction and training in pure mathematics, applied mathematics, and statistics. A Bachelor of Science degree is available in Mathematics, as well as joint BSc degrees in Mathematics and Physics, Economics and Mathematics, Chemistry and Mathematics, and Computer Science and Mathematics. In addition, there are two minors in Mathematics. A graduate degree (MSc – Mathematical, Computer, and Physical Sciences) is also supported by the mathematics program. Students interested in graduate studies are advised to consult the UNBC Graduate Calendar for further information.

The Mathematics Program offers Mathematics and Statistics service courses to students in the biological sciences, health sciences, management, economics, social sciences, and other areas.

Some sections of introductory calculus are enhanced through the use of computer software which provides exceptional computational power and high-quality graphical display. Introductory statistics courses teach the use of statistical analysis software to analyze data.

An important feature of the Mathematics degree program is the early emphasis on the development of abstract reasoning and the relation of the abstract to the concrete. The degree requirements have been chosen so as to provide students with a broad background in Mathematics while still leaving them room to pursue individual interests.

For more information please visit our website at www.unbc.ca/math.

• Major in Mathematics

A major in Mathematics requires 19 mathematics courses (57 credit hours), at least 30 credit hours of which must be upper division courses and of those upper division credits, at least 12 must be taken at the 400 level. ~~No more than 66 credit hours of mathematics may be taken without approval of the Program Chair.~~
MATH 342-3 (Biostatistics) may not be used for credit towards any Mathematics major, minor, or joint major.

MATH 150-3 (Finite Mathematics for Business and Economics) may not be used for credit towards any Mathematics major or joint major.

The minimum requirement for completion of a Bachelor of Science with a major in Mathematics is 120 credit hours.

Change to Admission Requirements — Social Work Program

Randall/Hemingway

That the first paragraph under the heading "Admission" on page 162 of the 2005-2006 Undergraduate Calendar be amended as follows (changed or added text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Admission Requirements

~~Admission to the Bachelor of Social Work program is by selection. This is a two-stage approach whereby applicants must apply and be accepted to UNBC. Once accepted, they may then apply to the BSW program.~~ Admission to the Bachelor of Social Work program is limited and is based on academic qualifications and available space. Students will normally complete 60 credit hours of study and achieve a minimum grade point average of 2.67 (B-) (calculated on a student's most recent 60 credit hours of study) and meet other selection criteria prior to program entry. More information about these criteria can be found in the BSW Supplementary Application for Admission form.

Calendar Description Change — Social Work Program (Social Work Codes of Ethics)

Randall/Mandy

That the Second paragraph under the Social Work Faculty listing on p. 162 of the 2005-2006 Undergraduate Calendar be amended as follows (changed or added text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

The Bachelor of Social Work at UNBC is designed to prepare students for beginning level generalised social work practice with individuals, families, groups and communities. The program's orientation places emphasis on ~~social work~~ Social Work in northern and remote areas, First Nations, women and the human services, and community practice and research. Analyses of class, gender and race relations are considered central to the Social Work program. As mandated by its accrediting body, the Canadian Association of Schools of Social Work (CASSW), and the ~~Social Work Code of Ethics~~ relevant Social Work Codes of Ethics, Social Work at UNBC provides a professional program that advocates for justice and equality, and equips graduates with the intellectual, analytical, practical and professional skills needed to promote beneficial change.

Field Placements

Every effort will be made to secure appropriate field placements for students in the Social Work Program. However, the location and type of placement are subject to availability.

Costs Associated with the Social Work Program

Costs associated with study in the Social Work Program are the responsibility of the individual student, including transportation costs and any expenses involved in academic studies, lab, and field placement. In some circumstances, students may complete field experiences at sites other than their campus of registration. Provision for all travel, accommodation, and living expenses associated with field education is the sole responsibility of the student.

Calendar Description Change — Social Work Program

Randall/Hemingway

That the following text be added to p. 163 of the 2005-2006 Undergraduate Calendar immediately following the Breadth Requirement statement (changed or added text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Standards of Professional Conduct

All students are expected to abide by professional standards as set forth by the Canadian Association of Schools of Social Work (CASSW) and the relevant Social Work Codes of Ethics. Violation of professional standards may result in suspension or dismissal from the program or the educational institution.

Academic Performance

Students may repeat a Social Work course once. Students who fail a required Social Work course twice are required to withdraw from the program.

Qualification for Degree

It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that his/her degree requirements are met. Graduation requirements are found in the Regulations and Policies section of this Calendar. To fulfill the requirements of graduation, the student must:

- attain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.33 (C+) on courses for credit towards the Social Work degree
- obtain a minimum passing grade of 2.0 (C) in every Social Work course for credit towards the degree
- complete all requirements for the BSW program within eight years of admission into the program or from the first Social Work course used for credit towards the degree.

Transfer Credit

All transfer credit for course work taken prior to admission to the BSW program will be evaluated, and applied at the time of initial registration in the program. After students have been admitted to the Social Work program, course work taken in other institutions for transfer credit towards the degree requires a letter of permission prior to registration in the course.

Removal of Preclusions Related to Graduate Courses from the Undergraduate Calendar

Blouw/Hutchings

That preclusions related to graduate courses be removed from the Undergraduate Calendar generally, and that the paragraphs under the heading "Permission for Undergraduates to Take Graduate course Work" on page 21 of the 2005-2006 Undergraduate Academic Calendar be amended as follows (changed or added text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Students in their final year of a Bachelor's degree program at the University of Northern British Columbia who have a grade point average of at least 3.33 (B+) in the last 30 credit hours of course work attempted may be permitted to register in a maximum of six credit hours of graduate courses on the recommendation of the program concerned and with the consent of the Dean of Graduate Studies. If a student is subsequently admitted to a Graduate program, graduate courses used for credit toward ~~their~~ the undergraduate program cannot be used for credit toward a the graduate program.

This policy gives academically strong undergraduate students the opportunity to experience graduate level instruction without commitments being made by either the student or the University about admission into graduate programs, or academic credit being awarded for the courses if a student is subsequently admitted to a graduate program. Please note that preclusions stated in the Graduate Academic Calendar will apply. Students are responsible for being aware of preclusions in the Graduate Academic Calendar for cross-listed undergraduate/graduate courses.

Please see the Graduate Studies Officer for further information.

Simultaneous enrolment in a graduate program and an undergraduate or certificate program is not permitted.

Effective date: January 2006, with graduate course preclusions to be deleted from the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar

No Business Arising.

4.0 President's Report

4.1 Presentation on Northern Sport Centre

The President advised Senate that the Board of Governors had approved measures that would lead to the construction of the Northern Sport Centre on a guaranteed-price basis with construction activities to begin very shortly. He provided an overview of the facility plans and spoke of the benefits that would accrue to the University: a first-class sports facility, enhanced ability to attract students and athletes – including world-class athletes - to the University, the promotion of education in health and wellness, and expanded educational opportunities generally. With the completion of the Sport Centre the existing Fitness Centre on campus could be turned to other purposes, and discussions were underway with the Northern Undergraduate Student Society that might lead to the space being leased by NUGSS for renovation into a student centre.

In response to questions from Senators, Dr. Jago noted that there would not be an indoors connected to the main campus. And that there would be, as was for the existing Fitness Centre, a membership fee which might be modestly increased from the present fee. Some 126 parking stalls would be included in the plan, with main campus parking used for overflow at major events. The spaces would be costed and paid-for separately from the other campus lots, but details remained to be worked out with the City.

The President noted that the availability of the new facility would have an immediate and positive benefit for the Education programs, and might be a stimulus to the development of new academic programs. The Centre would allow convocations and other major ceremonies finally to be held on the University campus.

Dr. Jago said that the new facility would be part of a municipal collection of sports facilities that would make the city attractive as an Olympic training venue. For example, while the facility would have some groomed cross-country trails and would link to trails in Forests for the World, the prime cross-country venue in Prince George would be the Otway Ski Park. The marketing effort in conjunction with the Centre would be to promote the Sport Centre and City as the main training center for all of northern BC.

4.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. Brunt reported that the annual budget process was nearing completion, and attention would shortly be returned to the Academic Visioning Initiative, with hope for an update at the next meeting of Senate. He noted that, at the end of the year, FTE enrolments were about 10 per cent below the Provincial target and about 4 ½ per cent below the previous year. As for the coming year, he said that the formal deadline for applications had just passed, but pointed out that the University would consider applications until very late in the annual cycle notwithstanding the deadline. The University was putting more resources towards student recruitment and retention, and had a “special initiative” underway to encourage summer enrolments. Additional initiatives were being taken in Vancouver, Kamloops and Kelowna, and both the northeast and northwest areas of the Province. The decline in enrolments that UNBC was experiencing was a general occurrence in the BC secondary sector, he said, relating to changing demographics and expanded work opportunities. To this, Mr. Berthiaume added the greater difficulty (according to students) of securing educational funding, and increasing tuition fees.

6.0 Question Period

Dr. Casperson asked when final recommendations for course scheduling would be forthcoming, and when the next review of the core schedule would be. Dr. Brunt said that base schedules were being established at present, and that feedback on these schedules would be sought on an annual basis. Base schedules were being established for first year courses only, but it was hoped to extend the practice to higher levels. Dr. Casperson asked about the “draft recommendations” that were to have been provided by L. Arnold and N. Lavoie, and Dr. Brunt said that he would report back under “Business Arising” at the next meeting.

Dr. Hyndman asked about the role of Senate in approving new courses, and in particular whether, in giving approval, Senate was addressing only the academic soundness of the offering or associated resource issues as well. Dr. Jago said that, in approving a new academic program for offering, it was approving its academic soundness. By designating UNBC as a “self-accrediting” institution the Provincial Government was expressing confidence in that judgment. The Board of governors, however, had the responsibility to assess the financial soundness of a proposed new offering. Dr. Brunt added that the matter of providing resources for the offering of new courses fell under the purview of the Dean and, in bringing a proposed new course to Senate, the assumption was made that the deliverability of the course had been assured through the appropriate processes beginning at the level of the Colleges.

That amendments to the Physics minor as set out on p. 150 of the 2005-2006 Calendar be approved as follows (changed or added text underlined, deletions ~~struck through~~):
Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate.

- Minor in Physics

Students interested in obtaining a minor in Physics must complete 27 credit hours of Physics, of which 12 must be at the upper level.

~~A maximum of two courses (six credit hours) used to fulfill program requirements for a major or another minor may also be used to fulfill requirements for a minor in Physics.~~

A maximum of four courses (consisting of two 100 level courses plus two courses at the 200 level or beyond to a maximum of 15 credit hours) which are used to fulfill requirements for a major (or another minor) may also be used to fulfill program requirements for a minor in Physics.

The following courses are required:

PHYS 110-4 Introductory Physics I: Mechanics

PHYS 111-4 Introductory Physics II: Waves and Electricity

PHYS 202-4 Electromagnetism and Optics

PHYS 205-3 Modern Physics I

Twelve credit hours of 300 or 400 level PHYS

The ~~other~~ upper division courses are selected in consultation with an advisor from the Physics program to reflect the student's specific interests. PHYS 307-3 (Selected Topics in Environmental Physics) may not be used as Physics credit toward any Physics major, minor, or joint major.

New Section in Graduate Academic Calendar—“Integrated Delivery” Graduate and Undergraduate Courses

Tait/Mandy

That a new Section be added to the “Graduate Studies: Admissions and Regulations” Section of the 2005-2006 Graduate Calendar, following Section 1.7 (with subsequent sections renumbered accordingly), as follows (changed or added text underlined, deletions ~~struck through~~):

Effective date: Upon approval by Senate

1.8 “Integrated Delivery” Graduate and Undergraduate Courses

- 1.8.1. An “integrated delivery” course is one in which a graduate course is co-taught with a 400-level undergraduate course which in turn is indicated as being offered at an advanced level. At the graduate level, normally learning experiences qualitatively and quantitatively distinctive from the undergraduate experience build upon the undergraduate course content. Nevertheless, courses taken specifically to meet the registration requirements of professional bodies may have the same content at each level.
- 1.8.2. All courses which are integrated on a continuing basis are so indicated in the Graduate Calendar by way of stated preclusions.
- 1.8.3. Integrated delivery courses are taught by faculty members who are approved to teach graduate level courses.

...and that a new section be added to Section 4.0, “Academic Standards for Master’s Degree Programs,” following Section 4.1.3, “Coursework and research” (with subsequent sections renumbered accordingly), as follows:

4.1.4 Integrated Courses

Normally, Master’s students enrolled in thesis programs should complete at least six credit hours of graduate course work in addition to any integrated delivery courses that may be taken.

...and that a new section be added to Section 7.0, “Regulations Covering Doctoral Programs,” following Section 7.5 (with subsequent sections renumbered accordingly), as follows:

7.6 Integrated Courses

Doctoral students will not receive degree credit for more than six credit hours of integrated delivery course work (see Section 1.8.1).

Dr. Casperson noted that proposed Section 1.8.1 emphasised the difference between undergraduate and graduate courses, and yet in practice, frequently, it was not practical to differentiate between the two. He suggested that an appropriate wording for inclusion might be “courses should be of graduate level.” Dean Tait said that the language proposed in the motion should be adequate.

While it was not uncommon for undergraduate participants to contribute to research and to write papers, nevertheless graduate students should be given a more challenging course experience. Dr. Hyndman was concerned that she might have to lower course requirements for all undergraduate students in “integrated delivery” courses, and asked whether inclusion of the word “normally” would accommodate exceptions. Dr. Tait assured her that this was the case.

Calendar Description Change—Disability Management Program Application for Admission Deadline

Tait/Randall

That the deadline for application for admission to the Disability Management Program be changed from April 15 to March 15 in the 2006 / 2007 Sessional Dates [Senate motion S-200601.04], and that the first paragraph under the heading “Admission,” currently found on p. 65 of the 2005-2006 Graduate Calendar, be amended as follows (changed or added text underlined, deletions ~~struck through~~):

Effective date: September 2006

Admission

The program accepts students for the September Semester, and has an application deadline of ~~April~~ March 15th. In addition to the admission application requirements outlined in Section 1.0 of the Graduate Studies Admissions and Regulations, applicants are required to undergo a criminal records search and provide evidence of this prior to their admission being considered.

Dr. Hyndman questioned the proposed effective date, “Immediately upon approval by Senate,” and it was generally agreed that this should read “September 2006” so as not to affect the 2005-2006 academic year.

CARRIED

S-200603.17

Calendar Description Change—Disability Management Program Delivery Modes

Tait/Randall

That the Disability Management Program Calendar Description, beginning at the end of the second paragraph on p. 65 of the 2005-2006 Graduate Calendar, be amended to reflect two delivery modes, either face-to-face mode or distance mode, and that both modes have two options for students to complete their degree, either a thesis option or a comprehensive examination option, as follows (changed or added text underlined, deletions ~~struck through~~):

Effective date: September 2006

Delivery Modes

There are ~~three options~~ two modes of delivery for the Disability Management (~~MA Program~~), (MA Program), ~~the MA with Thesis, MA without Thesis, and MA Distance Option~~ face to face and distance. Both have a thesis option or a comprehensive examination option. Each option is described separately below; courses for each delivery mode follow the description.

MA with Thesis Thesis Option:

~~The MA with Thesis option is available only to those students who are taking the program full time. The MA with Thesis Option consists of four components:~~

Core courses in Disability Management	9 12 credits
Research methods courses	6 credits
Electives	12 9 credits
Thesis	9 credits
Total	36 credits

All students in the Thesis Option will be required to write a letter outlining their practical experience. If their experience is considered insufficient by the program they will be required to do a practicum in addition to all requirements listed above.

MA without Thesis Comprehensive Examination Option:

~~The MA without Thesis~~ Comprehensive Examination Option consists of five components:

Core courses in Disability Management	12 9 credits
Research methods courses	6 credits
Electives	12 9 credits
Practicum or Major Paper	6 credits
Research Project Comprehensive Exam	3 credits
Total	36 credits

Students in the comprehensive examination option will be required to do a practicum unless they have significant experience in the field already. In this case they will write a letter outlining their experience and request that they are allowed to prepare a Major Paper in place of a Practicum.

S-200603.18

Change to Degree Requirements—Disability Management, Deletion of DISM 797-3 Tait/ Mandy

That p. 66 and 67 of the 2005-2006 Graduate Calendar be amended to indicate the deletion of DISM 797-3 Research Project as a choice for the completion of degree requirements in Disability Management be approved as follows (changed or added text underlined, deletions ~~struck through~~):

Effective date: September 2006

Practicum or Thesis

DISM 795-6	Master of Arts: Disability Management Practicum
DISM 797-3	Master of Arts Disability Management Project
DISM 799-9	Master of Arts: Disability Management Thesis

Practicum

Students are involved in field-based learning activities for the purpose of pursuing and developing research/policy/administration/practice skills within a related employment area. The practicum component stresses independent learning and permits students to test or develop theory in the context of fieldwork. The form of field practice components varies widely in accordance with the learning needs of the students. The practicum leads to a written report that reflects students' critical analysis of their practice settings.

The report further demonstrates a deepening of professional competence, analytical skills, and professional judgment and represents a contribution to the knowledge and skill base of the profession. The duration of this component is a three-month continuous term.

~~Research Project~~

~~The project is a research exercise involving the collection and evaluation of evidence according to scientific criteria and results in an article length manuscript. Students must develop theoretically defensible innovations in disability management practice. These may include innovative retraining programs, intervention strategies, the development of new human resource policies, or counselling practices. The efficacy of the innovations must be evaluated and the results reported as a part of a formal report of the project.~~

Thesis

The thesis option is only available to full-time students. Oral examination is required as per University regulation. Normally students who complete a thesis option are not required to also do a practicum. However, students who do not have a strong background in the field may be required to take the practicum course in addition to the program requirements.

Practicum

Students are involved in field-based learning activities for the purpose of pursuing and developing research/policy/administration/practice skills within a related employment area. The practicum component stresses independent learning and permits students to test or develop theory in the context of fieldwork. The form of field practice components varies widely in accordance with the learning needs of the students. The practicum leads to a written report that reflects students' critical analysis of their practice settings.

The report further demonstrates a deepening of professional competence, analytical skills, and professional judgment and represents a contribution to the knowledge and skill base of the profession. The duration of this component is equivalent to a three-month continuous term three months full-time employment.

Research Project

~~The project is a research exercise involving the collection and evaluation of evidence according to scientific criteria and results in an article length manuscript. Students must develop theoretically defensible innovations in disability management practice. These may include innovative retraining programs, intervention strategies, the development of new human resource policies, or counselling practices. The efficacy of the innovations must be evaluated and the results reported as a part of a formal report of the project. (approved by 03.18)~~

Major Paper

The Major Paper (MP) option is for those students who have written a letter outlining their experience in the disability management field and obtained permission allowing them to prepare a Major Paper in place of a Practicum (6 credits). It is the aim of the MP to acquaint students with the practice of scholarship. Such acquaintance will normally entail a critical treatment of relevant academic literature using theoretical or philosophical methods. If the student wishes to pursue empirical research, either quantitative or qualitative, the thesis option must be selected.

Comprehensive Examination

The comprehensive examination option of study requires the successful completion of a comprehensive examination that evaluates a candidate's knowledge of theory, research and practice in his/her field of study.

Thesis

~~The thesis option is only available to full-time students. An oral Oral examination is required as per University regulations. Normally students who complete a thesis option are not required to also do a practicum. However, students who do not have a strong background in the field may be required to take the~~ ~~practicum course in addition to the program requirements.~~ All students taking the thesis option will be required to be in Prince George for the oral examination.

Mr. Macknak said that problems with the program had not yet been resolved to the point that formal proposals for changes could be brought to Senate. Dean Randall added that the changes indicated had simply been brought to the Committee for discussion. Mr. Michel added that the names of individual students contained in this section of the report should not have been included, and Dr. Jago added that the Committee report was, itself, a compilation of internal reports.

The Chair suggested that, in future, Senate might wish to have the Regional Chairs present to respond to questions that might arise from their individual reports. It was generally agreed that this would be worthwhile. Dr. Hemingway thought that it would be helpful for the same report to be given to the College councils by way of a formal presentation. Dr. Casperson thought that, in future, the Committee submission might be divided into sections such the reports from the regions could be discussed individually.

CARRIED      1 opposed

2.0 President's Report

2.1      2006 / 2007 Budget Review and Discussion

2.1.1    Presentation of Budget by President Jago

Dr. Jago reported on the University budget that was to be presented to the Board of Governors on 1 April for their consideration. Two important contextual items were that, during the 2005/06 fiscal year, Universities had begun a new fiscal arrangement with the Provincial Government, and there had been a significant drop in student enrolment (and therefore in tuition fee revenues).

On the new fiscal arrangement, UNBC had received a base-grant adjustment of $1.2 million for 2005/06 which would be carried forward to 2006/07 and beyond, and full funding for targeted FTEs (for example Nursing) would be provided. As a major departure from past practice, the Universities would be fully-compensated for salary increases approved by the Public Sector Employers' Council (PSEC).

A decrease in enrolment, however, meant that in 2005/06 tuition revenues were about $500,000 below expectations, meaning that the revenue base for 2006-07 was reduced by that much.

For 2006/07 the UNBC government operating grant (excluding the Northern Medical Program, which was funded separately) would be $37,057,472 - an increase of 4.4% over the previous year.

Areas of "good news" included a 29 per cent increase in federal funding received for indirect research costs, increased faculty success generally in accessing funding from the Granting Councils, and funding received for five new Canada Research Chairs. In addition the Dr. Donald Rix/BC Leadership Chair, and the FRBC Chair in Landscape Ecology, would be funded.

For 2006/07 a two per cent increase in tuition fees was proposed, with 10 per cent of the fee increase revenues to be allocated to scholarships, bursaries and financial aid. Both the undergraduate and graduate student "student service fees" would be increased, as would the athletic fee.

In developing the budget proposal, the University had had to take into account cost pressures that were not funded by the Province, including certain salary costs, computer infrastructure costs, and increased utilities and operating costs. All in all, the two Vice-Presidents' Budget Councils faced the challenge of reducing their expenditures by 1.5 per cent and, in the context of an overall reduction, seeking ways to fund new initiatives.

Some budgetary resources were redeployed, resulting in two layoffs, but in general the University continued to build its strengths and enhance its services. A full-time Senior Lab Instructor would be placed in environmental engineering, a student recruiter would be placed in Vancouver, and staffing in the Office of the Registrar would be enhanced. Staff support for the Health and Wellness Centre would be increased (funded out of the increased student service fee), and support systems in Finance and Purchasing would be augmented.

A major initiative would be the institution of an "automatic scholarship" of $750 for all transfer students coming to UNBC with average grades of A- or better on 30 or more transferable credit hours, and registering as full-time students.

The University's total 2006/07 proposed budget, excluding the Northern Medical program, was balanced in the amount of $54,469,696. Dr. Jago noted that the University had now reached the point where budget planning three to four years in advance was appropriate, and he passed this suggestion on to the new President with the expectation that it would be integrated into the Academic Visioning Initiative currently being led by the Vice-President (Academic).

2.1.2 S-20060328.02

Report from the Senate Committee on the University Budget

Annis/Mandy

That the 2006 Annual Report from the Senate Committee on the University Budget be received.

CARRIED

Dr. Casperson was not in favour of receiving the report since very little time before the meeting of Senate had been available for its review.

Dr. Espiritu summarized the contents of the Report of the Senate committee on the University Budget. She referred to morale issues on the campus, but noted that all parties still worked together effectively to “get the job done.” Referring to morale issues, she felt that the resolution would come with more effective communication between the University administration, faculty and staff. She endorsed the President’s suggestion of a multi-year budget planning process linked to the Academic Visioning Initiative.

The Committee was concerned that some instructional positions were being made temporary or sessional rather than tenure-track, and she hoped that tenure track faculty would be recruited to them once the University budget position stabilized.

The Committee encouraged the re-packaging or reconfiguring of academic programs in order to make them more attractive to potential students.

2.1.3 Senate Discussion

Dr. Jago noted that this was a public meeting of Senate. Even though the documents in the Senate meeting package were marked “confidential,” once the meeting was underway they no longer need be treated that way.

Responding to a question from Dr. Mandy, Ms. Smith said that there were no new fees relating to LCD video projection equipment rentals. The reference to “internal” users was for UNBC employees wanting to access University equipment for their own personal use.

Ms. Sahaydak asked whether the current enrolment statistics indicated that the budget was on a solid footing. Dr. Jago acknowledged that this was an area of vulnerability. Dr. Brunt added that application and registration statistics were being tracked weekly. Although applications were down, the University was responding to applications much more quickly than previously, and was following-up with more correspondence than before. Newspaper and radio advertising had been stepped-up, and summer registrations in particular were being promoted. At present it was difficult to say what would be the University’s position in September.

Referring to the proposed College Transfer Student Scholarship, it was confirmed that the $750 amount was correct and not the $500 amount provided in documentation. Calculations to arrive at the final amount had not been completed until after printing of the documentation. Dr. Jago said that the proposed scholarship would be sent to the Committee on Scholarships and Bursaries for review, and would then come to Senate for final approval.

Referring to the "Staffing Model" given in Appendix 7, Ms. Smith noted that sessional lecturers were not included. In response to a question from Dr. Casperson, she said that the personnel referred-to in the model were those paid-for out of Units' budgets. He pointed out that Computer Science personnel also served in Mathematics and Physics; and Ms. Smith said that she would follow-up on the issue. Dr. Brunt said that sabbatical leave funds were included in the budget of the Vice-President (Academic).

2.2     S-20060328.03

2006/07 – 2008/09 Annual Three Year Institutional Service Plan

Hemingway/Randall

That the 2006/07 – 2008/09 Annual Three Year Institutional Service Plan be approved in principle.

Dr. Jago noted that the institutional Service Plan was required by government annually as part of its "accountability framework." This year's plan was similar to the previous one, but it also reflected some aspects of the Academic Visioning Initiative underway at present. The report's destination was the Board of Governors for approval, after which it would be endorsed by the President and Chair.

Dr. Casperson pointed out that this material had been received only the day previously, giving Senators little time to absorb the contents. Dr. Jago explained there was no intent to deny Senators time to review materials, but the preparation process was such that little time was left, after preparation, for distribution. He hoped that, with the beginning of a multi-year budget process, time constraints would become less a problem.

Dr. Hyndman noted that the University's motto, represented in the Calendar as "En cha huná," was rendered in the Service Plan as "En cha khuná." It was pointed out that a Carrier language instructor had been consulted on the matter, and that "khuná" was the more correct rendering.

In response to a question from Dr. Hemingway, Dr. Jago said that some of the stated "Performance Targets" in the Accountability Framework were government's, and others were the University's. In particular, reference to "allied health programs" was a part of the government template. Under "Goals related to Region and Access," the objective to increase the number of Web courses was a government mandate for which the University was funded.

It was noted that, on the cover page of the Draft Final Report of the Academic Visioning Initiative, the version date should read "March 16, 2006."

CARRIED

2.3     2006 – 2011 Five Year Capital Plan (Presentation and Discussion)

Referring to the 2006 5-year Capital Plan, Dr. Jago noted in particular that this plan marked the beginning of Phase 3 of UNBC campus development. Phase 1, from 1990-1996, was the construction of the original core campus. Phase 2 was campus expansion that would end with the next round of renovations to the Library; and the construction of the Teaching and Learning Centre, the Northern Undergraduate Student Centre and the Northern Sport Centre – at which point students would have at their disposal all of the facilities that they should expect to find in a University. Also as part of Phase 3, construction and renovation of facilities had been done in the Regions to support the University's activities there.

In the Planning Committee process, great attention had been paid to space needs and allocation. In the context of government formulae, UNBC was now at only 50 per cent of the estimated need for administrative space, with overall inventory at 70 percent of estimated need. With the completion of Phase 2 construction, by 2007/08, the University would be at close to 100 per cent of the estimated need, making government funding for future expansion more difficult to secure. Nevertheless, the Committee's opinion was that the space standards applied were generally inadequate, and this was particularly true in the respect of research space.

With the completion of construction, the non-academic units would have their needs met for the next five years, even though space allocation might be less than ideal. With the Northern Undergraduate Student Society moving to its own facility, Student Services would take over NUGSS' current space.

Capital activities to come included the construction of new academic building(s) on campus (linked to new program development), student housing expansion, parking expansion, and further expansion in the Regions – especially in Fort St. John. The long term use of the UNBC Downtown Centre needed to be addressed. To fully secure University lands, it was recommended that the University take steps to acquire a free Crown grant of lands currently held by the University on a twenty-year reserve basis.

In response to a question from Dr. Mandy, Dr. Jago said that classrooms now at ground level behind the Library would remain in use for that purpose after Library expansion. Any maintenance issues in respect of these rooms needed to be documented to Facilities.

Dr. Hyndman made reference to inconvenient timetabling issues and in that context wondered what was the long-term classroom plan? Dr. Mandy added that the back-to-back scheduling of some classes made it next to impossible to return and sign out audio visual equipment as needed. Dr. Jago reiterated that, as of now, it would be difficult to make the case for more classrooms than were currently planned. Dr. Brunt noted that the Office of the registrar was in the process of developing a "master schedule" that should alleviate some of the problems.

Dr. Casperson called attention to a particular reality of campus construction that, as costs escalate during the construction process, concomitant cuts in the construction plan are made and the revisions become permanent. Dr. Jago agreed that this was an important issue, and one that was at present being faced in the Teaching and Learning Building. In most cases, making revisions or cuts as planning and construction progressed was the norm.

Approval of the Minutes of the March 8, 2006 Public Session

Mandy / Hyndman

That the Minutes of the Public Session of Senate of March 8, 2006 be approved as presented.

CARRIED.

A few minor typographical errors were identified, which the University Secretary indicated would be corrected.

A question was raised regarding the motion S-200603.10 (New Course Approval—HIST 707), and whether it was Business Arising, given the matter had been referred to the History Department. It was agreed that the matter would come back to Senate only if and when there was anything further to report.

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

3.1 2006 – 2011 Five Year Capital Plan — Documentation Regarding UNBC Base Schedule and Draft Recommendations for Course Scheduling

Dr. Brunt provided this document, stating that it was provided in relation to the Question Period from the past meeting, not from the Five Year Capital Plan discussion.

Dr. Brunt indicated that he had attempted to obtain further information, but that the scheduler had been on holidays and then had resigned, and had now left the University. Dr. Casperson asked about an action statement from a previous report similar to this in which it was stated that a draft set of guidelines would be prepared, and asked if that had been completed. Dr. Brunt responded that the “Base Schedule” provided was the result of that action statement. Dr. Wagner requested that the wording in “Recommendation 2” from the report be revised, and Dr. Brunt asked Dr. Wagner to send him the recommended wording.

With regard to “Recommendation 3,” Dr. Mandy asked whether classroom changes would be accommodated with appropriate justification, and Mr. DeGrace replied that the Office of the Registrar had always made every attempt to do so.

Dr. Jago thanked Senators for their comments, but reminded Senators that the document was already in place, and that any recommendations or questions should be forwarded to Dr. Brunt.

4.0 President’s Report

Jago

Dr. Jago did not provide a report.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Brunt

5.1 Enrolment Report and Presentation — Dr. P. Madak, Dean of Enrolment

Dr. Madak presented an update on the most recent enrolment statistics. Some of the highlights of the report which were discussed included increases in admissions, recruitment activities, and marketing strategies. Dr. Madak added that, although some of the enrolments had decreased since 2005, the numbers had not yet been finalized, and may increase. No questions were posed in relation to the report.

5.2 Academic Visioning Initiative (Presentation)

S-200604.04

Approval of “Final Report: Phase 1 of the Academic Visioning Initiative” Document

Brunt / Blouw

That, on the recommendation of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning (motion SCAPP200604.21 passed at the meeting of April 5, 2006), the Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies (motion SCRG200604.06 passed at the meeting of April 5, 2006), and the Senate Committee on First Nations and Aboriginal Peoples (motion SCFNAP200604.03 passed at the meeting of April 11, 2006), the document entitled “Final Report: Phase 1 of the Academic Visioning Initiative” be approved as proposed and that it serves as the framework for academic planning for the next five years. Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate

CARRIED.

Dr. Brunt provided background to the motion, indicating that the document had been in development for close to a year, and that extensive consultation had taken place in the course of developing the document. He added that it was important to obtain Senate approval for the document, which had not been obtained for previous plans of this nature, and added that the document had been approved by three Senate committees. Dr. Brunt presented the document, and brought Senators’ attention to areas where minor revisions had been made. Finally, Dr. Brunt indicated that much more work would be required, as the next phase would be the implementation of the plan.

Dr. Jago expressed that this was a very significant piece of work, and that he appreciated the contribution that Dr. Brunt, the committee, and the University community had made to this document. The President passed along his hearty congratulations to all who had participated in this endeavour, and in particular, Dr. Brunt.

6.0 Question Period

No questions were posed.

Change to Academic Regulation 48, “Conditions of Academic Standing”

Brunt / Casperson

That Academic Regulation 48 — “Conditions of Academic Standing” on page 62 of the 2005-2006 Undergraduate Calendar be amended as follows (changed or added text underlined, deletions ~~struck through~~):

48. Conditions of Academic Standing

b) Requirement to Withdraw: The following circumstances may result in a requirement to withdraw from UNBC. These are:

- i) Discovery that required documentation for admission was withheld, by the student, from the University;
- ii) Failure to pay for tuition or university services;
- iii) Failure to achieve a Semester GPA (SGPA) of 2.0 or higher after the completion of ~~48~~ 30 credits while on Academic Probation. Normally, in this case, a requirement to withdraw from the University is for three semesters (one full calendar year);
- iv) A decision by the President of the University that the suspension of a student, for reasons of unsatisfactory conduct, unsatisfactory academic performance, or other reasons clearly indicates that withdrawal from UNBC is in the best interest of the University.

In order to apply for re-admission to the University, students must submit an Application for Admission/Re-admission to the Office of the Registrar. Students must provide a letter to the Administrative Registrar, stating their rationale for wishing to return to studies at UNBC and documenting any work completed or experience gained which would better qualify them to complete, successfully, work at UNBC.

Students who are permitted to return to studies at UNBC, return on academic probation, and are subject to the University's policy on academic standing and continuance found in the current calendar.

Effective date: May 2006
CARRIED.

S-200604.06

Calendar Description Change — Co-operative Education Program

Brunt / Casperson

That the changes to the 2006-2007 UNBC Undergraduate Calendar be approved as follows (changed or added text underlined, deletions ~~struck through~~):

Co-operative Education Work Term Credit Challenge

UNBC Co-op Education allows students to challenge a Work Term on the basis of prior, relevant and satisfactory work experience. Students should discuss any potential challenge with the appropriate Co-op Co-ordinator for their major. Work Term Challenges are subject to the following:

1. To begin a Work Term Challenge, an Application for Course Challenge form must be initiated with the student's Co-op Co-ordinator by December 1 in the September term that the student applies to the Co-operative Education option of their program.
2. The UNBC Course Challenge fee will be assessed with the initiation of the Work Term Challenge forms. Current course challenge fees are listed in the UNBC calendar.
3. The Co-op Co-ordinator will assess the Work Term Challenge application and provide recommendations to the Director.
4. Applicants will be advised of the decision within two weeks of the submission.
5. Work Term credit by challenge is limited to the first two Work Term courses within the major.
6. Assessment of the Work Term Challenge will be carried out by the Co-op Department based on the following:
  - o An aggregate of 560 hours (minimum) relevant paid work experience not previously counted toward Work Term credit, practicum, internship and similar options.
  - o Verification, required, of employment and evaluation of performance from the employer(s) ~~is required~~.
  - o Job descriptions outlining prior work experience, providing evidence that the student has acquired professional and personal knowledge and skills appropriate to the discipline or interdisciplinary field.
  - o A ~~work report~~ portfolio appropriate to the discipline or interdisciplinary field which meets UNBC Co-op Education Work Term guidelines.
7. Once the challenge is approved, the result will be entered on the student's academic record on a pass or fail basis.

Parallel Co-op Work Terms

A parallel work term is a model which allows students to complete a work term by working 15 to 20 hours per week for a period not to exceed eight months. For example, a student can now work half-time for eight months rather than full-time for four months. Students are expected to be enrolled in a minimum of two courses for each semester of a parallel work term.

Self-Developed Work Terms

The purpose of the new policy on self-developed work terms is to recognize that some students find some work placements as a result of their own contacts and networks. In the event that a co-op coordinator recommends that a particular work term be acknowledged as self-developed, the student will receive a credit of $75 to be deducted from the work term fees for the fourth work term. Students who wish to discuss whether a particular work term should be declared self-developed should talk to their coordinator before beginning that work term, and consult the co-op student handbook for the criteria used to define a self-developed work term.

The Co-op Process

Once a student is accepted to the Co-op program, he or she has the opportunity of applying for positions with employers. Students are able to choose appropriate employers from posted job descriptions. The interview system is designed to provide maximum freedom for both employers and students.

Student's résumés and transcripts are sent to employers who choose a number of student applicants to interview. After the interviews are completed, employers prepare a list, in order of preference, of students who are acceptable for the job. Co-op students are expected to be flexible and responsive to appropriate work opportunities throughout BC and elsewhere.

UNBC has incorporated Co-operative Education into the following academic programs:

- Anthropology
- Biochemistry & Molecular Biology
- Biology
- Business Administration
  - Accounting
  - Finance
  - General Business
  - International Business
  - Marketing
- Chemistry
- Computer Science
- Economics
- English

- Environmental Engineering
- Environmental Science
- Environmental Studies
- First Nations Studies
- Geography
- History
- International Studies
- Mathematics
- Natural Resources Management
  - Wildlife and Fisheries
  - Forestry
  - Resource Recreation
- Northern Studies
- Physics
- Planning
- Political Science
- Psychology
- Resource-Based Tourism
- Women's Studies

Course descriptions for the Co-op option can be found in the UNBC course finder under the prefix COOP.

Canadian Association for Co-operative Education

Definition of Co-operative Education

UNBC is a member of the Canadian Association for Co-operative Education (CAFCE). A co-operative education program is a program that formally integrates a student's academic studies with work experience in co-operative employer organizations. The usual plan is for the student to alternate periods of experience in appropriate fields of business, industry, government, social services and the professions according to the following criteria.

- Each work situation is developed and/or approved by the co-operative educational institution as a suitable learning situation.
- The co-operative education student is engaged in productive work rather than merely observing.
- The co-operative education student receives remuneration for the work performed.

- The co-operative education student's progress on the job is monitored by the co-operative education institution.
- The co-operative education student's performance on the job is supervised and evaluated by the student's employer.
- The time spent in periods of work experience must be at least thirty percent of the time spent in academic study.

Approval of New Guaranteed Entrance Award for College Transfer Students

That the guaranteed entrance award for college transfer students be approved as proposed.
Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate

It was noted that this motion had already been voted upon electronically, as a result of the urgency of the motion. Dr. Jago indicated that, in his recollection, Senate had never participated in a vote electronically, and added that the matter would be referred to the Steering Committee of Senate for the development of a policy in this regard. He added that this procedure should only be used in extraordinary circumstances. Dr. Casperson recommended that the motion be ratified and the results of the e-vote accepted formally, and requested that minutes from the e-vote be provided at the next meeting of Senate.

That the revisions to the Senate Handbook be approved as follows (excluding Senate Committees; changed or added text underlined, deletions ~~struck through~~, commentary offered in [courier font within square brackets]).

SENATE HANDBOOK

1 • MEMBERSHIP OF SENATE

In accordance with Part 7, Section 35 of the University Act, the Senate shall be composed of the following members:

- (a) The Chancellor;
- (b) The President, who shall be chair;
- (c) the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost;
- (d) the Vice-President Research;
- ~~(e) the Vice-President, Administration and Finance (and Director of Continuing Education);~~
- (e) the Director of Continuing Education (currently the Vice-President Administration and Finance)
- (f) the Deans of Colleges and the Dean of Graduate Studies;
- (g) the University Librarian;
- (h) 9 students elected by the students to ensure representation from each of the undergraduate and graduate student societies, of whom six shall be undergraduate students and three shall be graduate students, with at least one student from each College. (1 year terms);

[The Act is silent, as is the current Senate Handbook, on the distribution of student representation, although Senate's recent, informal, practice is to have five undergraduate and four graduate students based on the distribution of undergraduate and graduate students offering for positions. A 6:3 ratio more closely approximates the true ratio of undergraduate to graduate students while maintaining a good probability that both student groups will be well-represented at any given Senate meeting. Defining formally the number of students from each group will clarify greatly the election process, since NUGSS and GSS separately elect their representatives (see below).

One-year terms are defined for this group of Senators under S. 36(2), and for consistency with other parts of this section of the Handbook they are restated here.

S35(2)(h) requires that "at least one student from each faculty [be] elected. The requirement is re-stated in a UNBC context, above. Referencing "each College" anticipates the possibility of a formal "College of Graduate Studies." ]

- (i) 4 Regional Representatives, at least one of whom should be considered to be representative of the aboriginal communities (3 year terms);

[This reflects S.35(1) of the Act: "additional members the Senate may determine without altering the ratio set out in paragraphs (g) and (h)." Traditionally they have been from the Community Colleges in the North. "Regional Representative" is not defined in the current Handbook, but it may best be left undefined.]

- (j) 18 faculty members (3 year term),
  - (i) 8 of whom shall be elected by faculty members in the College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences, from their number, and
  - (ii) 8 of whom shall be elected by faculty members in the College of Science and Management, from their number, and
  - (iii) 2 of whom shall be elected at large by all faculty members and librarians;
  - (iii) Faculty members not associated with either College may declare themselves associated with the College of their choice for the purpose of candidacy and voting in elections to Senate.

[S.35(g) of the Act specifies "a number of faculty members equal to twice the number provided in paragraphs (a) to (f) of the Act (i.e. senior administrators), to consist of 2 members of each faculty elected by the members of that faculty, and the remainder elected by all the faculty members in the manner that they, in joint meeting, determine." It is assumed that, at some stage, the determination was made that there should be eight faculty representatives from each of the two colleges; and that numbers beyond eight would be elected "at large" to provide the requisite total of 18.

The existing allocation of faculty members leaves open the way in which UNBC faculty members attached to the Northern Medical Program will be considered. At present the unofficial practice is that NMP faculty may "declare themselves" as either CSAM or CASHS faculty for the purpose of election to Senate. This makes as much sense as anything since, depending upon their area of scholarly activity, they may feel closer to one College or the other. Since Librarians are included in the definition of "faculty," the same opportunity would be extended to them. To make it official, however, the practice should be codified in the Handbook.]

- (k) ~~4 persons who are not faculty members~~ Lay Senators, elected by and from the convocation (3 year terms);

[These are the "Lay Senators" defined in the Senate Handbook (3(e)(viii)), appointed under part S.35(2)(1) of the Act, "additional members the Senate may determine without altering the ratio set out in paragraphs (g) and (h)."]

- (l) 1 member to be elected by the governing body of Wilp Wilxo'oskwahl Nisga'a (WWN) (3 year term).

[This again reflects S.35(2)(1) of the Act.]

Note: Notwithstanding the University Act, Senior University Administrators not otherwise elected or appointed to Senate shall be regarded as fully participating non-voting members of Senate.

2 • POWERS OF THE SENATE

The powers of the Senate are identified in Part 7, Section 37 of the University Act.

3 • RULES OF THE SENATE

3 (a) Preamble

- (i) These rules of Senate have been established in accordance with the University Act and shall prevail.
- (ii) ~~The simplified~~ Robert's Rules of Order shall govern Senate procedures in all cases where they are applicable and in which they are consistent with the rules and procedures contained in this document.

[What may have been meant, here, is "Robert's Rules of Order Simplified and Applied." This volume is not as widely available as Robert's Rules of Order, however, and it is to the latter volume that Senators generally refer at need in any case.]

3 (b) Amendments

- (i) Any proposal to amend or change the Rules of the Senate shall be presented in the form of one of the following:
  - (a) A notice signed by at least one-fourth of the members of the Senate (forwarded to the Steering Committee of Senate) or;
  - (b) A notice from a Senate Committee (forwarded to the Steering Committee of Senate) or;
  - (c) A notice from the Steering Committee of Senate acting on its own initiative or;

[This provision is consistent with the mandate of the SCS as it exists at present.]

- (d) A notice made by a member of the Senate during the course of a Senate meeting and approved by a majority of those present and voting at the meeting.

[While there may well be cases in which "a majority of those present" might be expected to approve a motion, in this case what is being asked-for is simply the right to give notice and have a matter relating to the rules debated at a later time. In that context, not counting abstentions as "no" votes gives the benefit to the possibility of later debate.]

- (ii) Upon presentation of a proposal to amend or change the Rules of Senate, adequate notice shall be given to Senators consistent with 3(t)(ii), and the proposal normally shall be considered at the next regular meeting.

[This subsection simply fills a gap in process as set out in the Handbook. "Normally" covers for the possibility that the Chair of Senate might be absent for the "next regular meeting" and be of the view that the Chair should be present for a debate affecting the Rules.]

- (iii) The amendment or the change shall be considered passed if it is approved by at least two-thirds of the members of the Senate present at the meeting.

3 (c) Officers of the Senate

- (i) The Chair of Senate is empowered and expected to take the actions deemed necessary to ensure the orderly advancement of the legitimate business of the Senate. Senate shall elect a Vice Chair at least annually, who shall chair meetings in the absence of the president; but in no case shall a vice chair serve more than two consecutive terms.

- (ii) The Registrar is the Secretary of Senate. In the absence of the Registrar, the Chair of Senate shall appoint an acting Secretary.
- (iii) In the absence of the Chair and the Vice Chair, the President shall appoint a Senior Academic Administrator and Senator of the University to act as Chair.

3 (d) Terms of Office for Elected Members of the Senate

In accordance with Part 7, Section 36 of the University Act, each elected member shall hold office for his/her designated term "and after that until his/her a successor is appointed or elected."

- (i) Senate
  - (a) Persons elected to the Senate by the faculty members shall take office on the 1st of February for a three year term ending on the 31st of January of the third year or until their successor is appointed;
  - (b) Students elected to Senate by the student societies shall take office on the 1st of July and shall continue as Senators for one year, for the duration of their continuous enrolment at the University excepting the May semester, until their graduation from the University, or until they resign, whichever comes first and, if none of these conditions pertains, after that until a successor is elected.

[The added text reflects the provision of S.36(2) of the Act.]

- (ii) Terms of office for representatives on Committees:
  - (a) "Faculty Member" Representatives on Senate Committees shall be appointed the 1st of February for a three year term ending on the 31st of January of their third year and shall be eligible for reappointment for further terms.
  - (b) "Staff Representatives" on Senate Committees shall be appointed the 1st of February for a three year term ending on the 31st of January of their third year and shall be eligible for reappointment for further terms.
  - (c) "Student" Representatives on Senate Committees shall be appointed the 1st of July. Appointments shall continue for one year, for the duration of their continuous enrolment at the University excepting the May semester, until their graduation from the University, or until they resign, whichever comes first and, if none of these conditions pertains, after that until a successor is elected.

3 (e) Interpretation of the Definitions in the Senate Handbook

With the exception of the following definitions, the interpretations as specified in Part 1 of the University Act shall apply:

- (i) "Student" means a student who is in accordance with Section ~~3 (n)~~ 3 (m) of the UNBC Senate Handbook.
- (ii) "Student Association" ~~is interpreted as~~ means either the Northern Undergraduate Student Society or the Northern British Columbia Graduate Students' Society.
- (iii) "Regional Student Member" means a student who is enrolled predominantly in credit course(s) at a location other than the Prince George Campus, and who is eligible to stand for office in accordance with Section 3 (o) of the UNBC Senate Handbook.
- (iv) "Senior University Administrators" includes the following officers: Vice-President (Academic) and Provost; Vice-President, Administration and Finance; Vice-President Research; Associate Vice-President, Medicine; Dean of Graduate Studies; University Secretary and Registrar; Administrative Registrar; College Deans; Dean of Enrolment; University Librarian, Director of Administrative Computing and Information Services; Director of Computing Telecommunication Services; Director of Cooperative Education; Director of Development; Director of Facilities; Director of Finance and Budgets; Director of First Nations Centre; Director of Human Resources; ~~Director of Institutional Analysis and Planning~~; Director of International Operations; Director of Media and Public Relations; Director of Purchasing, Contracting and Risk Management; Director of Regional Operations and University/College Relations; Director of Student Services.

- (v) "Professional Librarian" means a person whose employment classification at the University includes the term "librarian," and the designations "full-time" and "continuing."
- (vi) "Faculty Member" for the purpose of the University Act means any position where a person holds a University appointment as a Senior Lab Instructor, Instructor I, II, III, IV or V, Part Time Instructor, Lecturer, Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, Professor or Librarian I, II, III or IV, or an equivalent position designated by Senate.

[The Instructor categories were omitted from the current Senate Handbook, but are part of the Definition of "faculty" in the Faculty Handbook, and fully consistent with the definition of "faculty" given in the University Act. Where an instructor holds a teaching appointment on a short-term basis, it seems most unlikely that the instructor would be interested in holding a Senate appointment or that there would be much support for the candidate's nomination - or indeed that there would be many votes for such a candidate were the name to be advanced.]

- (vii) "Faculty Member Serving in the Regions" means a person employed and directly salaried by the University at a location other than the Prince George Campus who has been given a contract for a teaching assignment ~~of one year or more~~, and serves as a Senior Lab Instructor, Instructor, Lecturer, Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, Professor, or in an equivalent position designated by Senate.

[The phrase "one year or more" is not applied to persons serving at the Prince George Campus and, in that context, it is not clear why it should be applied to persons serving at other locations.]

- (viii) "Lay Senator" means a Senator who is not a student and who does not hold an academic appointment at the University of Northern British Columbia.

[Students are excluded from consideration because additional appointments under the Act may not alter "the ratio set out in paragraphs (g) and (h) (S. 35(2)(k))."]

- (ix) "Professional Program" is defined as a program which is:
- (a) accredited, and/or
  - (b) viewed as a professional program.

The following programs are noted as part of the "professional programs": Education, Environmental Engineering, Environmental Planning, Forestry, Nursing, Community Health, Social Work, Disabilities Management, and Medicine.

3 (f) Nominations to Available Seats on Senate

~~Subject to the rules governing nominations:~~ The following rules shall apply to nominations to Senate other than for candidates representing Student Societies, the College Councils and Wilp Wilxo'oskwhl Nisga'a, for which bodies their own regulations shall apply subject to the requirements of the University Act and consistent with the procedures set out in this Handbook:

[This will remove ambiguity as to the responsibility for conducting elections. As a matter of course, constituencies empowered to send representatives to Senate should have under their control the means by which they select them. S. 43(2) of the University Act states that "The registrar must conduct all elections that are required." The "Dictionary of Canadian Law" defines "conduct" as "to manage or lead." In that context it is incumbent on the Registrar to ensure that elections are conducted properly and in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Senate Handbook. Therefore, in the relevant sections which follow, in reporting the results of an election the several constituencies also are required to report the process by which they arrived at the results.

[The Terms of Reference of the Senate Committee on Nominations gives that committee the responsibility to "recommend to Senate the names of people to serve on each Senate Committee." There is no requirement for elections to each Senate committee, nor is it the current practice to hold elections.]

- (i) ~~Except under unusual circumstances~~ Normally, as anticipated vacancies arise on the Senate the nomination and election of members to available seats will be undertaken ~~immediately so as to be concluded before the vacancies have effect, and members shall assume their offices within six weeks of the closing date of the election~~ so as to assure continuity of the composition of the Senate.

[These suggested changes give effect to current practice.]

- (ii) Each faculty and student candidate must complete the appropriate nomination form.

[This form, signed by the candidate, is assurance that they are willing to stand for election and agree to "abide by the Senate rules Governing nominations." ]

- (iii) The Call for Nominations shall be published in any appropriate manner as circumstances require.
- (iv) The election register shall be open to inspection by all members entitled to vote, in the Office of the ~~Registrar~~ University Secretariat, during the period for making nominations, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. (Pacific Time), Monday to Friday, except on holidays.
- (v) Nomination papers for faculty and student elections to the Senate shall be signed by no fewer than three persons, other than the candidate, entitled to vote in the election and shall have the signature of the nominee indicating that the nominee is willing to run for election and agrees to abide by the Senate Rules Governing Nominations.
- (vi) Withdrawal by a person duly nominated as a candidate for election shall be made in writing to the Secretary of Senate and to the constituency conducting the election. Upon receipt of such written notification, the person shall cease forthwith to be a candidate for election. In the event that such written notification is received later than 48 hours following the close of nominations and after the ballots have been prepared, the person's name shall remain on the ballot and the scrutineers shall record the number of votes the person receives but shall disqualify such votes, regardless of the number, when determining which candidates are elected.

3 (g) Regulations Covering Voting for Elections to the Senate ~~or to Senate Committees~~

[As noted above, The Terms of Reference of the Senate Committee on Nominations gives that committee the responsibility to "recommend to Senate the names of people to serve on each Senate Committee." There is no requirement for elections to each Senate committee, nor is it the current practice to hold elections. Nevertheless (see 3(q)(6) below), Senators retain the explicit right to nominate from the floor in respect of Senate Committees.]

In accordance with the University Act the following rules shall apply to elections to Senate other than for candidates representing Student Societies, the College Councils, the Alumni Association (for Lay Senators) and Wilp Wilxo'oskwhl Nisga'a, for which bodies their own regulations shall apply, subject to the requirements of the University Act and consistent with the procedures set out in this Handbook. In reporting the results of elections the Student Societies, the College Councils, the Alumni Association, and Wilp Wilxo'oskwhl Nisga'a shall report as well the procedures followed such that the Registrar is satisfied that the requirements of the Act have been met.

- (i) All elections conducted by the Secretary of Senate shall be by secret ballot.
- (ii) The Secretary of Senate shall be informed fully of all aspects of the conduct and outcome of constituency-based elections, and shall report to the Steering Committee of Senate on any anomalies in the conduct of constituency-based elections.
- (iii) The Secretary of Senate shall fix a date for elections under the Secretary's purview.
- (iv) The final date of all regular student elections to the Senate shall normally be in April.
- (v) The final date of all regular staff and faculty elections to the Senate shall normally be in December.
- (vi) Elections shall be conducted by mail. The definition of mail will be determined by the Steering Committee of Senate to enable the use of emerging technology to conduct elections.
- (vii) The Secretary of Senate must mail the ballots not more than four weeks and not less than two weeks before an election, for elections under the Secretary's purview.
- ~~(viii) Ballots shall be sent to all eligible voters as set out in the election register maintained by the Administrative Registrar at the time of the close of nominations. For students taking classes at the Prince George Campus, ballots will be distributed at the Prince George Campus polling station. For students who are not attending classes at the Prince George Campus, ballots will be distributed by mail. For faculty who are stationed at UNBC campuses, ballots will be distributed in confidence by internal mail. For faculty who are stationed outside UNBC campuses, ballots will be distributed by mail.~~

[Student Societies and College Councils are responsible for conducting their own elections, so as to designate representatives.]

- (ix) Ballots may be returned by mail, by delivery to the Office of the University Secretariat at the Prince George Campus, or by delivery to one of the other UNBC campuses (Fort St. John, Terrace, or Quesnel). It is the responsibility of the person presenting the ballot to ensure that it reaches the Office of the University Secretariat at the Prince George Campus and the appropriate party prior to the deadline for the election.
- (x) Any Candidate for any election to serve on the Senate is entitled to scrutinize the counting of ballots and is entitled to designate up to three other persons to assist in scrutinizing or to act in the Candidate's place.
- (xi) In the event of an equality of votes between two or more candidates on Senate, the final result shall be decided by lot amongst the candidates receiving an equal number of votes, under the direction of the Secretary of Senate.
- (xii) In the event of an equality of votes between two or more candidates ~~on~~ for Senate, the Senate will cast the deciding vote.

[This is required for compliance with S.16(2) of the Act.]

- (xiii) Ballots received after 4:00 p.m. (Pacific time) on the day fixed for the election must be destroyed without being opened.
- (xiv) All ballots and identification envelopes received will be held by the Secretary of Senate for a period of 90 days following the announcement of the election results. At the end of that time all the ballots and identification envelopes will be destroyed.
- (xv) The Secretary of Senate shall report the results of the election to Senate at its first meeting following the election.
- ~~(xvi) In the case of elections to the Senate from the student societies, a list of alternates shall be established to automatically fill vacancies which occur during the specified term. In order to be designated as an alternate, the candidate must be the runner-up in the previous election.~~
- (xvii) In the event that unforeseen or unusual circumstances prevent the carrying out of any of the above procedures, the Secretary of Senate shall exercise discretion in altering the procedures to fit the circumstances, after consultation with the Steering Committee of Senate, and shall report any action taken to Senate at its next regular meeting.

- (xviii) In the event that there are disputes concerning the above procedures, such matters shall be decided on behalf of the Steering Committee of Senate whose decisions shall be final.

3 (h) Vacancies on the Senate

Senate vacancies shall be filled as follows after appropriate consultation, notwithstanding whether the position was occupied by the representative of a constituency:

- (i) If there is a vacancy on the Senate for an elected position the Senate may appoint any person qualified for election to that position to fill the vacancy for the balance of the term of office.
- (ii) Any elections for positions conducted at Senate shall be by secret ballot and the results will be reflected in the minutes.
- (iii) Any elected member of the Senate may be granted a leave of absence for up to three consecutive ordinary meetings of Senate. Any absence without leave for more than three consecutive ordinary meetings shall result in a declaration of a vacancy by the Secretary of Senate.
- (iv) The position of an elected member shall be declared vacant by the Secretary of Senate when notice is received that the member has resigned or, in the case of faculty, that the member is going on leave for a period of more than six months, or that the member has been granted disability leave.
- (v) Faculty members who inform the Secretary of Senate of their intent to remain on campus and to be active in Senate business during their leave shall be exempt from the rule prohibiting membership during faculty leave.
- (vi) If students elected to the Senate do not meet the conditions specified in the above subsections during their term of office, the Secretary of Senate shall report this to the Senate at its next meeting and shall enter a declaration of vacancy in the minutes of that meeting.
- (vii) Regional Representatives to Senate shall be recommended to Senate, as appropriate from time to time, by the Senate Committee on Nominations. Senators shall have the opportunity to nominate candidates from the floor.

[See terms of reference for the Nominating Committee.]

3 (i) Faculty Eligibility to Nominate, Be Nominated, Vote and Serve as a Faculty Member on the Senate

In order to be eligible to nominate, be nominated, vote and serve on the Senate as a faculty member, one must:

- (i) Hold a continuing appointment at UNBC, and
- (ii) Be a "Faculty Member" or a "Faculty Member Serving in the Regions" as defined in Sections 3 (e) (vi) and 3 (e) (vii).

3 (j) Election of Faculty to Senate by Faculty Members Under the University Act

In accordance with the University Act eighteen faculty members are to be elected from and by the faculty members as follows:

- (i) 8 of whom shall be elected by faculty members in the College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences, from among their number, and

- (ii) 8 of whom shall be elected by faculty members in the College of Science and Management, from among their number, and
- (iii) 2 of whom shall be elected at large by all faculty members and librarians.

The election of the faculty members representing the colleges shall be conducted under the direction of the respective College Deans, ~~and the University Librarian~~, as appropriate, and the Deans shall report to the Registrar the process by which the election was conducted.

[The references to "direction of the respective College Deans" and reporting the election process reiterate the provision at the beginning of 3(f). There is not a circumstance under which the University Librarian would direct an election.]

3 (k) Eligibility of Faculty to Be Appointed and Serve as Faculty Members on Senate Committees

In order to be appointed and serve as a faculty member on Senate Committees, one must:

- (i) Hold a continuing appointment at UNBC, and
- (ii) Be a "Faculty Member" or a "Faculty Member Serving in the Regions" as defined in Sections 3 (e) (vi) and 3 (e) (vii).

3 (l) Identification of Faculty to serve as Faculty Members on Senate Committees

Identification of faculty members to serve on Senate Committees shall be done in the following way:

- (i) The Secretary of Senate will annually contact each appropriate unit and request a list of faculty members designated to serve on Senate Committees.
- (ii) A faculty member from a College may also be a Faculty Senator.

3 (m) Student Eligibility to Nominate, and Vote for the in Senate Elections

To meet the definition of a "student" for the purposes of nominating and voting, one must:

- (i) Be a student who is a member of either the Northern Undergraduate Student Society or the Northern British Columbia Graduate Students' Society, and
- (ii) Be an undergraduate student registered in at least one course in the semester in which nominations are due and elections are conducted, or
- (iii) Be registered in at least one course in each of the two previous semesters in which nominations are due and elections are conducted, or
- (iv) Be registered in a co-op work term in the semester in which nominations are due and elections are conducted, or
- (v) Be a graduate student who is currently enrolled in a program leading to a graduate degree.

~~3 (n) Student Eligibility to Serve as a Student Senator~~

~~To maintain eligibility during their term of office, a student Senator must:~~

- ~~(i) Be a student as defined in 3 (m) (i), and~~

- ~~(ii) Be a student in good standing (a student who is in "good standing" is a student who is not on academic probation and does not owe the University monies in excess of $100.00), and~~
- ~~(iii) Be registered in both the September and January semesters of the academic year of service as a Senator at UNBC, and~~
- ~~(iv) As an undergraduate be currently registered in courses leading to an undergraduate credential, or~~
- ~~(v) As a graduate student be currently enrolled in a program leading to a graduate degree, or~~
- ~~(vi) Be registered as a co-op student.~~

~~Students elected to the Senate shall be eligible to serve during the May semester even though they may not be enrolled in any credit courses.~~

3 (o) Eligibility of Students to Be Appointed and Serve as Student Senators or as Student Representatives on Senate Committees

In order to be appointed and serve as a student representative on Senate or Senate Committees, one must:

- (i) Be a student as defined in 3 (m) (i), and
- (ii) Be a student in good standing (a student who is in "good standing" is a student who is not on academic probation and does not owe the University monies in excess of $100.00), and
- (iii) Be an undergraduate student registered in at least one course in the semester in which a vacancy arises and have been registered in the semester immediately preceding the one in which the vacancy arises. Registration in the May semester is not a requirement to meet this condition provided that, if the vacancy arises during the May or September semesters, the student is registered for the September semester and was registered during the preceding January semester.
- ~~(iv) Be registered in at least one course in each of the two previous semesters in which a vacancy arises, or~~

[This subsection, if left in place, apparently would (the grammar is imprecise) allow a past student who is not currently registered to serve on a Committee of Senate. The correction to (iii) above allows students not to be registered during the May semester but still be eligible for appointment in the September semester.]

- (v) Be registered in a co-op work term in the semester in which a vacancy arises, or
- (vi) Be a graduate student who is currently enrolled in a program leading to a graduate degree.

Students elected to the Senate or to Senate Committees shall be eligible to serve during the May semester even though they may not be enrolled in any credit courses.

[3(n) and 3(o) are closely similar, the only difference being the status of current registration. Since a student can be a Senator or serve on a Committee only while remaining a student, and since any student, registered for the January Semester at the time of election can cancel that registration up to the end of the Add/Drop period, it makes little sense to include a two-semester registration requirement for service as a Senator under 3(n)(iii). The final sentence in this subsection is transferred from 3(n), with the possibility of continued membership extended the May semester in respect of

Senate Committees. This is especially important in respect of the Committee on Academic Appeals.]

3 (p) Identification of Students to Serve as Student Members on Senate Committees

Identification of student members to serve on Senate Committees shall be done in the following way:

- (i) In the case of undergraduate student members, the Secretary of Senate will annually contact the ~~Director of University Affairs~~ President of the Northern Undergraduate Student Society, or NUGSS designate, and request a list of students designated to serve on Senate Committees.

[The titles designating NUGSS Officials has changed since the last revision.]

- (ii) In the case of graduate student members, the Secretary of Senate will annually contact the President or Vice-President of the Northern British Columbia Graduate Students' Society and request a list of candidates designated to serve on Senate Committees.
- (iii) For the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals (SCAA), and the Senate Committee on First Nations and Aboriginal Peoples (SCFNAP), the Secretary of Senate will annually contact the President or Vice-President of the T'seba Student Association and request a list of students willing to serve on these committees.

3 (q) Appointment of Student and Faculty Members to Senate Committees

The appointment of student and faculty members to Senate Committees shall be conducted in the following manner:

- (i) Committee recording secretaries will advise the Secretary of Senate of any committee vacancies.
- (ii) The Secretary of Senate shall confirm potential candidates' willingness to serve on a particular Senate Committee. The Secretary of Senate shall recommend to the members of the Senate Committee on Nominations (SCN) by e-mail a slate of consenting candidates to fill any vacancies on Senate Committees.
- (iii) SCN shall develop its own criteria for the review of candidates for Senate Committees.
- (iv) If a member of SCN has a concern regarding a particular recommendation, a meeting of the committee will be called.
- (v) The Secretary of Senate shall give SCN a one week period to give notification of any concerns regarding the stated recommendations.
- (vi) After the one week period has passed for SCN to give their views to the recommendations, the recommendations shall be forwarded to Senate for final approval. Senators shall have the opportunity to nominate candidates from the floor.

[This codifies current practice.]

- (vii) SCN shall submit to Senate, on a monthly basis as appropriate, a report documenting vacancies in committee memberships and proposing candidates to fill vacancies. Senators will have the opportunity to nominate from the floor.

[Reporting need only be in months when there are nominations to report. The list of nominees is circulated with the Senate pre-meeting package, giving Senators time to consider whether to advance other nominations.]

3 (r) Order of Agenda

- (i) Open sessions of Senate shall normally follow this order:

Approval of the agenda
Approval of the minutes of the previous meeting(s)
Business arising from the minutes
Report of the President
Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost
Question Period
Reports of Committees
Information
Report of the Administrative Registrar
Other business
~~Report of the Administrative Registrar~~
~~Information~~

[Committee reports to Senate "for information" normally follow the reports to Senate by SCAPP and SCRGS, and in that context it is logical to place any other information items immediately following the Committee reports. The "Report of the Administrative Registrar" would follow, leaving "Other Business" in the traditional final spot.]

- (ii) The agenda items and order for closed sessions and special meetings of Senate shall be determined by the Steering Committee of Senate.
- (iii) Any matter not already on the Agenda of an ordinary meeting may, at the time of the approval of the agenda, be included in "Other Business" at the request of any member of the Senate.
- (iv) If any member of the Senate presents a case for consideration of a motion at the current meeting, the matter of its inclusion on the agenda shall be decided by a vote in which a two-thirds majority shall be required.
- (v) Any member of the Senate may ask in writing that the Chair include in the Agenda any matter that the member would like considered by the Senate at its next ordinary meeting.
- (vi) When the Senate requests a report for its next meeting from a committee whose chair is not present when the request is made, the Secretary of Senate shall endeavour to notify the committee chair by telephone the next day so that the committee may be convened without delay.
- (vii) When a committee has been requested to prepare a report between one meeting of Senate and the next, the committee presentation will appear as an item on the Agenda for the next meeting even though the report itself may not be available by the due date for Agenda items and background material.

3 (s) Reports to Senate

- (i) Standing committees of Senate, with the exception of the Steering Committee of Senate, will report annually to Senate as designated in their terms of reference. Any standing committee which has recommendations that require ratification of the Senate will report monthly, and will provide the necessary supporting documentation.
- (ii) Ad hoc, temporary or task force committees shall report to Senate in accordance with their terms of reference.
- (iii) Any committee or task force of Senate may be called upon by the Chair of Senate or by affirmative motion of Senate to report to Senate at any time.
- (iv) The Colleges ~~will~~ shall submit an annual report to Senate in September.

- (v) Committee reports to Senate ~~will~~ normally include the following:
  - (a) A statement of actions taken by the committee in accordance with its terms of reference.
  - (b) Committee recommendations ~~will normally be~~ in the form of a ~~motion~~ motions and shall ~~be to be~~ ratified following the normal procedures for such.
  - (c) ~~In these instances~~ Where Senate has delegated powers to a committee, a summary of activity, ~~should be submitted~~ along with any matters (in the form of a ~~motion~~ motions) that require ratification of the full Senate.
- (vi) The Steering Committee of Senate shall allocate an appropriate amount of time on the agenda of Senate to consider the reports of committees.

3 (t) Regular Meetings

- (i) The Senate shall normally meet once per month on the second Wednesday of each month, at 3:30 p.m. local time except under the following circumstances:
  - (a) When the second Wednesday of the month is a holiday or during a final exam week, the meeting shall be held on the next available Wednesday.
  - (b) In exceptional circumstances, the Chair may postpone a regular meeting of Senate and shall instruct the Secretary to inform members of the new date.
  - (c) If in the opinion of the Steering Committee of Senate, there is insufficient business to justify a regular meeting of Senate, the meeting may be canceled and the Secretary instructed to inform members at least nine days in advance.
- (ii) The Secretary of Senate will distribute the notice of meeting and the agenda to the members of Senate at least ~~nine~~ five days prior to the meeting. This information will be made available electronically to the UNBC community by posting to 'facstaff' and 'general.' Supporting papers will be available upon request to the Secretary of Senate.

[This subsection, formerly 3(t)(ii), has been made a subsection in its own right because it has nothing to do with the exceptions itemized in the subsection above. "Five" days' notice reflects current reality.]
- (iii) The open session will normally terminate by 5:30 p.m. except under unusual circumstances where the meeting may be extended by successful motion for extension, requiring a simple affirmative majority of those who vote.

3 (u) Open and Closed Sessions

Meetings of Senate will normally be divided into two sessions: an open session when observers are admitted and, a closed session for the discussion of business deemed to be confidential and in both instances consistent with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act of B.C.

- (i) The closed session will normally follow the open session.
- (ii) In addition to the members and officers of Senate, the Senior University Administrators will be invited to attend the closed session of Senate.
- (iii) The agenda and minutes for both the open and closed sessions shall be public, except in those instances where specific items, portions or categories of information discussed in the closed session are deemed to be exempt for disclosure under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act of B.C.

3 (v) (new) Observers of Senate

[This section consists of the last two subsections previously included under (u) above. A new section is proposed since matters relating to Observers of Senate really are separate from considerations of open and closed sessions.]

- (i) Observers of Senate shall conduct themselves in a manner so as not to interfere with the business of Senate. The Chair shall have the authority to request the removal of observers of Senate who are deemed to be interfering with the business of Senate.
- (ii) In those circumstances where the number of observers of Senate is such that both public safety and/or the ability to conduct the business of Senate is in jeopardy, the Chair may request the closing of Senate Chambers to additional observers and if necessary the removal of an appropriate number of observers from the chambers.

3 (v) Special Meetings

- (i) In exceptional circumstance a special meeting of Senate may be called if:
  - (a) The Chair considers a matter to be of sufficient urgency, or
  - (b) There is a petition of at least seven members of Senate, at least five of whom must be elected, or
  - (c) The Chair receives a special request from the Board of Governors.
- (ii) Business conducted at any special meeting of Senate must be limited to and consistent with the special reason for which the meeting was called.
- (iii) The Secretary of Senate shall have at least seventy-two hours before the scheduled start time for any special meeting of Senate to distribute by mail, telephone, facsimile or electronic mail a notice of meeting, agenda and supporting documents to the members of Senate.

3 (w) Quorum on the Senate

~~Twenty-three members~~ Greater than fifty per cent of the current membership shall constitute quorum for the transaction of business at a regular or special meeting of Senate, ~~The 23 members shall consist of the following~~ provided that the members present include the following:

- (i) The Chair, Vice-Chair or appointed Chair; and the Secretary or acting Secretary;

[Robert's rules requires that meetings be appropriately staffed.]

- (ii) At least 9 members of faculty elected to Senate, and [That is, 50 per cent of the Faculty members of Senate.]

- (iii) At least 5 of whom must be student members elected to Senate, and [That is, at least 50 per cent of the number of student Senators.]

- ~~(iv) At least 4 of whom are among Senior Administrators/Faculty, and~~

- ~~(iii) At least 7 from amongst other members of Senate.~~

- (iv) Sufficient from amongst other members of Senate to constitute greater than fifty per cent of the membership.

3 (x) Conduct of Meetings

- (i) Except as otherwise stated the use of recording devices and cameras is not permitted after a meeting has been called to order, except at the discretion of the Chair.
- (ii) Motions from the floor may be made orally; however, at the request of the Chair or the Secretary, the mover may be required to put the motion in writing.
- (a) Motions may also originate in the following ways:
- From a Committee presenting a report, or
  - From a Committee advising Senate in advance of its intention to bring forth motions at the next regular meeting of Senate, or
  - From a College, if the Steering Committee of Senate considers that the matter does not need to be referred to a Senate Committee, or
  - From a member presenting a notice of motion to be presented at the next regular meeting of Senate.
- (b) Once a motion is moved and seconded, the mover of the motion may speak to it and answer questions from the floor of Senate.
- (c) A motion included on the agenda may be withdrawn before being moved on the floor of Senate.
- (d) A motion may be presented and voted upon with or without discussion.
- (e) A motion on the floor of Senate may be referred to a committee by the carrying of a second motion to this effect, which is debatable and is passed by a simple majority.
- (f) A motion to postpone consideration of a motion on the floor of Senate may be moved at any time. If seconded, a motion to postpone consideration is debatable. If the motion to postpone is carried by simple majority, no further discussion of the original motion is allowed; if the motion to postpone is defeated, debate of the initial motion may continue.
- (g) A motion to lay on the table halts consideration of the pending motion immediately. It must be seconded, is not debatable, and may be passed by a simple majority. It should be employed only when Senate wishes to lay the pending motion aside temporarily when a matter of immediate urgency has arisen.
- (h) A motion to amend a motion on the floor of Senate may be moved at any time. If seconded, the motion to amend may be debated and voted upon, to be passed by simple majority. Regardless of the outcome, debate of the original motion may continue, with further motions of amendments proposed and voted upon. Once all discussions are complete, including voting upon all motions of amendment, the original motion, in amended form if such amendments were carried, is put to a vote in its entirety.
- (i) ~~Upon the agreement of Senate a motion on the floor may be split into two or more parts, is not debatable, and is passed by a simple majority with each part to be debated and voted upon separately. The motion to split the original motion is not debatable and is passed by a simple majority. The defeat of one part of a motion so divided does not automatically defeat the other parts of the split motion.~~
Upon the agreement of Senate by general consent or by motion, a motion on the floor, that is presented in more than one part, may be divided into two or more related parts, and each part voted on as if it were a distinct question; provided that each part, if approved, is separately a question that can be acted upon if none of the other parts is carried.

[This revised text corrects unclear text identified by Senator Hyndman, and brings the process into consistency with Robert's Rules.]

- (j) When a motion on the floor consists of several independent parts, one or more parts must receive separate consideration and vote at the demand of a single member.

[Senate commonly, by general consent of the membership, agrees to consider several motions as an "omnibus" package. This provision makes it clear that any Senator may insist that one or more motions in such a package be dealt with separately.]

- (k) A motion to adjourn may be made at any time. When seconded, it is not debatable, must be voted upon immediately and requires a simple majority vote in the affirmative to pass.

- (iii) Voting at Senate shall be conducted in the following manner:
  - (a) For purpose of elections, all votes will be by ballot. Normally all other votes will be by a show of hands, and a simple affirmative majority or lack thereof will be recorded. In those circumstances where there is a motion passed to have a recorded vote or a vote by ballot, this shall be done and will be reflected in the minutes.
  - (b) The Chair shall not vote except in the case of the equality of votes for and against a motion, in which case the Chair shall cast the deciding vote.
- (iv) Debate at Senate shall be conducted in the following manner:
  - (a) Any member of Senate who wishes to speak must be recognized by the Chair.
  - (b) Any senator who has been recognized to speak by the Chair once on any given question has exhausted their right to speak on that question until all members of Senate have been given the opportunity to speak once. The same principle shall apply to those speaking, two, three, and more times.
- (v) Questions to other Senators, resource persons or visitors to Senate must be directed through the Chair, who will request the response.
- (vi) When a person is a voting member of Senate or a Senate Committee by virtue of their office and is absent, they may appoint an acting officer, who will have the right to vote at Senate or Senate Committee meetings.

3 (y) Minutes

- (i) The minutes of open sessions of Senate shall be a brief summary of the points made in debate and a record of decisions taken.
- (ii) The minutes of closed sessions shall reflect the mover and the seconder of motions and only that information germane to the type of decision being made (e.g. acceptance of the report of the Senate Committee on Honorary Degrees and Other Forms of Special Recognition).
- (iii) The open sessions of Senate shall be audio taped in their entirety, and retained in the University Secretariat until such time as the minutes of the meeting in question have been approved by the Senate, after which meeting the taped record shall be erased. The audio record of all open sessions shall be available in the University Library.

[It is questionable whether Senate should continue taping its meetings. There may once have been a legislative requirement that this be done but, if so, it is no longer in place. Once the minutes of an open session have been approved, they stand as the official document notwithstanding what later review of a tape may show - hence the suggestion that the taped record be erased after the approval of the minutes. To my understanding no challenge to the Minutes of an open session has been made that required the review of tapes, and the Secretary makes no use of them in preparing the minutes. The Secretary polled other University Secretaries to learn their mandates and practices in this regard. To date these are the responses:

University	Tapes Minutes?	Required?	Comments
Concordia	No
Bishop's	Yes	No	Held as an archive, never accessed.
Lakehead	No
Laurier	Yes	No	Sometimes referred-to in preparing the minutes.
Lethbridge	No	No	Sometimes used as an aid to preparing the Minutes.

Manitoba	Yes	No	Used rarely for minutes preparation, erased after 2 years.
McGill	Yes	No	Used occasionally for verification. Destroyed after minutes approved.
McMaster	No		They do tape appeals.
Memorial	No		Taping is prohibited.
Nipissing	No
Prince Edward Is.	No	No
Queen's	Yes	No	...destroyed after approval of minutes.
Regina	No	No	Appeal hearings are taped.
Royal Roads	N/A		...but has never taped.
Saskatchewan	No
Trent	No		...and would not.
Western	Yes	No	...erased after approval of minutes.
Windsor	No
York	No]

- (iv) The supporting papers and minutes of all closed sessions shall be placed in the University archives.
- (v) A copy of the minutes of open sessions shall be distributed to the members of Senate, the northern colleges (CNC, NWCC, NLC), and ~~the Thompson Rivers University~~ and Yukon College, with which UNBC has protocol agreements, and to those external bodies or persons that have requested a copy from the Secretary of Senate. An electronic copy of the minutes of open sessions will be posted on the World Wide Web.

[We do not exchange hard-copy minutes with the other BC Universities, and the TRU reference may be a holdover from when it was UCC. Given the ready availability of the Minutes on-line, there seems little point in mailing hard copy in most cases.]

3 (z) Committees

- (i) In accordance with the University Act, the Senate may establish committees as follows:
- (a) ~~The Senate may create committees.~~
- [This statement is deleted as redundant.]
- (b) Terms of reference shall be established for each committee at the time the committee is created.
- (c) ~~By a two-thirds vote of its members, Senate may delegate to one or more of its Committees those of its powers as it may determine.~~
- [University Act S.37(1)(b).]
- (c) Each committee shall have a Chair and a Secretary.
- (d) The composition and/or method of appointment to a Senate Committee may be established and changed from time to time and if no method of appointment is specified then the Senate shall appoint the members of a committee other than the Chair.
- (e) The Senate may remove or discharge any committee member appointed by them.
- (f) Where a qualification is required for membership on a committee any member ceasing to qualify automatically ceases to be a member.

(g) If any member has failed to attend three consecutive meetings of a committee, the Chair of a Committee may petition the Steering Committee of Senate (SCS), through the Secretary of Senate, by written request, to have the member removed and a replacement sought. In these cases, the Chair should follow the procedure listed below:

- the Chair should discuss the concern with the member.
- if there is no resolution through regular attendance, reasons that are acceptable in the short-term, or the resignation of the member, the Chair may petition SCS to remove and replace the member.
- SCS will advise the member of the request and provide the member with the opportunity to respond.
- SCS will decide on the action to be taken and so advise the chair and the member.
- SCS will report to Senate on such matters in summary form.

(ii) The Chair for each Senate Committee will normally be elected annually in the month of May by the members of each Senate Committee unless the committee has a designated Chair. In those instances where the Committee does not elect a Chair, the Chair of the Senate shall have the authority to do so. By vote, the full Senate may discharge or replace any Chair or member at any time.

(iii) Elected members of Senate are eligible for appointment to membership on any committee of Senate.

(iv) Senior University Administrators are excluded from membership on the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB). With the exception of SCUB, the Secretary of Senate is, ex officio, a non-voting member of all Senate Committees.

[This parallels the practice on the Board of Governors, on which the University Secretary is an ex-officio non-voting member of all Committees. In practice, the Secretary has been an active participant in some Committees - particularly SACPP, SCRGS and SCCC - but not all.]

(v) The Chair of Senate is excluded from membership on the Senate Committee on Academic Appeals (SCAA), the Senate Committee on Student Discipline appeals, the Senate Committee on Admissions and Degrees (except when sitting as the Degree Committee), and the Senate Committee on the University Budget (SCUB).

[S.63(c) of the Act excludes the President from "the standing committee on appeals," and all three of these committees hear appeals.]

(vi) Members of Senate will generally not be asked to serve on more than three committees.

(vii) The Secretary of Senate shall notify, in writing, the members of Senate and the Senate Committees of their various appointments to Committees after Senate has given its approval.

(viii) Members of committees whose terms of office on Senate have ended are generally requested to continue attendance at committee meetings until their successor has been elected.

Effective date: April 2006
CARRIED.

Mr. DeGrace provided background to this motion, suggesting that, since a new President would soon be on board, this was an opportune time to ensure the Senate Handbook continued to remain in accordance with the University Act. He pointed out the substantive changes to the Handbook, including the elections procedures, the ratio of graduate to undergraduate student Senators, and the recording of Senate meetings. Mr. DeGrace added that, if the revisions were approved, a revised copy of the Senate Handbook would be distributed at the next Senate meeting. Dr. Jago congratulated the University Secretary for taking on this project.

Calendar Description Change — Northern Advancement Program Application and Admission Process

Brunt/Mandy

That the application and admission process for the northern Advancement Program sentences be revised under the heading "Admission Process" beginning on p. 67 of the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar as follows (added or revised text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Effective date: September 2006

Application Process

Students are encouraged to begin admission inquiries as soon as possible in the new calendar year.

The deadline for submission of applications, complete with all required documentation, for September registration is June 1. Complete files will be given first preference for acceptance into the program. As spaces available in the program are limited, not all students who are eligible will be admitted.

~~Admission to the program will be a time-consuming process.~~ To be considered for the Northern Advancement program, students must also submit the following with their application form:

- one official transcript from high school and all post-secondary institutions attended (photocopies or facsimiles are not accepted as official);
- a letter of intent outlining their career goals and the importance of the Northern Advancement program in achieving those goals;

- a letter of support from a high school teacher and/or band administrator, education coordinator or sponsoring organization.

~~Where applicable, a statement regarding funding arrangements is also required and must be forwarded to the Coordinator of the Northern Advancement program.~~

Once admitted to UNBC:

- ~~• students should contact the First Nations Centre to arrange a pre-admission interview to review their academic history and the appropriateness of the Northern Advancement program in achieving their educational goals. A transcript or progress report will be required at this point.~~
- students are required to attend a two-week orientation session prior to the first day of classes which includes an off-campus two-day retreat with staff. Course timetables will be provided during orientation week.

Change to Program Requirements and Title — Biochemistry Minor

Brunt/Smith

That the Biochemistry minor be retitled as “Minor in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, and that the minor be moved from the Chemistry program pages to the Biochemistry and Molecular Biology program page section of the Undergraduate Calendar (after the major), and that the requirements for the Minor as set out on p. 76 of the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar be amended as follows (added or amended text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Effective date: September 2006

Minor in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology

The minor in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology is designed to provide students with a core of study in the field of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology. The program of study includes a grounding in ~~organic~~ chemistry and biology since these are the traditional disciplines from which modern Biochemistry and Molecular Biology were ~~was~~ born. ~~Thus, in addition to the required courses in Biochemistry, students will be required to complete six credit hours of organic chemistry at the 200 level and at least two courses in Biology.~~

The minimum requirement for completion of the minor in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology is ~~27~~ 41 credit hours, of which at least 12 credit hours must be at the upper division.

Website: <http://www.unbc.ca/education>

UNBC's BEd program is offered at the Prince George campus and at the Terrace campus. At the Prince George campus, the BEd program is a two-year after-degree program that offers Elementary (grade K-7), and Secondary (grades 8-12) Streams. It is designed for university students who have already completed a first degree and who wish to continue their education in order to become teachers. UNBC's BEd program will provide students with the course work and classroom experience to prepare them to be qualified first year teachers. The BEd degree consists of 73 credit hours in Education and which includes 20 weeks of classroom experience.

At the Terrace campus, the Elementary Stream is offered. There are three routes of entry into the BEd program at the Terrace campus. Students may enter with an acceptable bachelor's degree and complete the two-year after-degree program as described above. Alternatively, students may enter the BEd program after having completed 90 credits of coursework which includes 30 senior level credits in a teachable field. Upon completion of the two-year BEd program, students will graduate with a five-year (163 credit) BEd degree. The third route of entry is with a UNBC Education Diploma in a First Nations Language and Culture (92 credits). Students pursuing this route may be admitted to the two-year BEd degree completion program, which includes an additional 12 senior level credits in a teachable field along with the remainder of the Education coursework needed to complete a five-year (154 credit) BEd degree.

Each model and stream of UNBC's BEd program provides students with the course work and classroom experience to prepare them to be qualified teachers. Upon successful completion of the program, graduates are recommended to the British Columbia College of Teachers (BCCT) for professional certification. Certification by the BCCT is required for employment in the British Columbia public school system. All Education courses within the Elementary and Secondary Streams are required; there are no elective courses offered.

The programs begin in September of each year and the application deadline is March 15. Students needing advice about the application process or about any of the Education courses are encouraged to contact either the Office of the Registrar or the School Experience Office in the Education Program. Students applying to the BEd at the Terrace campus also may contact the Northwest Regional campus.

Elementary (Grade K-7)

The Elementary Stream prepares teacher candidates to work with the unique learning needs of children who are beginning their school years. This model reflects current thinking about optimizing the match between educational theory and children's levels of cognitive and social development. The Elementary Stream is designed to educate teachers to combine pedagogical excellence across disciplinary areas with a learner-centered approach to practice. Philosophically, the program is designed around constructivist principles, and it emphasizes approaches to practice such as inquiry-based learning, strategies for instruction, integration of language across the curriculum, inclusion of diverse learners and perspectives, the development of caring and respectful communities of learners, and reflective practice. Successful applicants to the Elementary Stream will be assigned to a cohort group of ~~approximately 35~~ students and will take ~~all of their~~ Education courses with that cohort group over the two years.

Admission Requirements

Applicants to the Elementary Stream at the Prince George campus must have completed a four-year bachelor's degree with a minimum of ninety (90) credits in Arts, Science, or in other teachable fields relevant to the BC School system. The remaining credits may come from any discipline. Applicants to the Elementary Stream at the Terrace campus must have completed one of: 1) a four-year Bachelor's degree as described above; 2) a minimum of ninety (90) credits in Arts, Science, or in other teachable fields relevant to the BC School system, and including 30 senior level credits in a teachable field; or 3) a UNBC Education Diploma in a First Nations Language and Culture (92 credits).

~~In addition to an acceptable four-year bachelor's degree~~ the entry qualifications described above, ~~applicants must include~~ the following requirements must be met within their program:

1. Six (6) credits of acceptable English literature and composition at any level (three (3) credits of literature and three (3) credits of composition). Courses in linguistics, language study, grammar, technical or business writing, communication, or English as a second language are not acceptable to meet the English requirement.
2. Three (3) credits in mathematics (not including Statistics).
3. Three (3) credits in a laboratory science. Laboratory science credits are normally selected from Biology, Chemistry, Environmental Science, Geography, Health and Human Sciences, or Physics.
4. Six (6) credits of approved Canadian Studies, at any level, applicable to teaching in the British Columbia school curriculum. Credits will normally be selected from Anthropology, First Nations Studies, Geography, History, Northern Studies, or Political Science courses that contain significant Canadian content (upon review, credits from other disciplines may be recognized as meeting the Canadian content requirement).
5. Competence in basic computer applications. In addition to the requirements specified above, applicants must also have the following:

6. Minimum grade point average of “C+” on the most recent 60 credit hours of university credits completed.
7. Successful completion with a “C+” average in the 6 credits/semester hours or equivalent in the undergraduate English composition and literature courses.
8. Submission of the completed application forms that include the Experience with Children and Youth Form, three letters of reference, and the Personal Statement Form.

June 14, 2006
3:30 – 5:30 PM

Room 7-172 Bentley Centre - Prince George Campus

Present:

E. Annis, K. Beeler, J. Safaei Borojeny, H. Brunt (Vice-Chair), D. Casperson, H. Domshy, A. Espiritu, G. Fondahl, H. Heath, J. Holler, C. Hurtubise, J. Hyndman, C. Jago (Chair), E. Jensen, M. Mandy, J. Murphy, E. Prkachin, J. Randall, L. Sahaydak, M. Stephens, M. Thomson, S. Wagner

Regrets:

R. Berthiaume, M. Blouw, B. Burkinshaw, S. Cochran, R. Ellis, D. Hemingway, K. Hutchings, E. Kinghorn, H. Li, J. Li, D. Nyce, C. Opio, E. Rapaport, M. Reed, S. Scholefield, B. Simard, A. Smith, R. Tait

Non-voting members present:

J. DeGrace (Secretary), K. Kielly, P. Michel

Guests:

E. Beveridge, H. Harder, C. Norish

---

The meeting commenced at 3:34 p.m.

The meeting began with the presentation of a gift, to Dr. Jago, of the gavel that he had been using since the inception of his Presidency, packaged in a hand-crafted “denim pine” box created by staff in the Facilities unit of the University.

1.0 S-200606.01
Approval of the Agenda
Mandy/Holler

That the Agenda for the June 14, 2006 Public Session of Senate be approved as presented.

Mr. DeGrace asked that the information item under the Report of the Committee on Academic Policy and Planning be disregarded. The SCAPP motion 200605.05 had been rescinded by the Committee on June 7. Dr. Casperson added that the motion forwarded to SCAPP for consideration was not that which had been approved by College Council in the first instance, and that this had since been corrected.

It was further noted that, in the agenda, the dates of the Annual Report of the Harassment and Discrimination Advisor under item 9.1 should correctly read "(May 5, 2005 – May 7, 2006)."

CARRIED

2.0 S-200606.02
Approval of Senate Public Session Minutes

Mandy/Wagner

That the Minutes of the Public Session of Senate of May 10, 2006 be approved as presented.

Mr. DeGrace noted that the effective date for Motion S-200605.16, referring to the UNBC/UBC Joint Degree in Environmental Engineering should be September 2005 rather than September 2007.

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

3.1 From the Senate Meeting of March 8, 2006 — Clarification of Disability Management motions

Mr. DeGrace explained that the several motions relating to the Disability Management program that had been carried at the meeting of March 8 were all correct in their substantive content but, when combined into a single revision to the Calendar description for the program, did not result in a fully coherent text. The document supplied to Senators provided that text, for the record, as follows:

Henry Harder, Associate Professor, and Program Chair (Health Sciences Programs)

Cindy Hardy, Associate Professor (Psychology)

Shannon Wagner, Assistant Professor

Arlene Ward, Adjunct Professor

Website: <http://www.unbc.ca/disabilitymanagement>

The program provides graduates with the knowledge and skills necessary to assist labour, management, insurance providers, employers, and employees with the development of successful work-entry or return-to-work strategies for persons with disabilities.

The program is attractive to students interested in integrating the fields of economics, community health, social work, psychology, education, and business. The combination of course work, research, and the practical application of knowledge gives students a well-rounded, applied education in the field of Disability Management.

The program is also available at the Prince George campus, either full-time or part-time, or on a part-time basis via distance delivery on the World Wide Web. Please see the information below and our website www.unbc.ca/disabilitymanagement/ for additional details.

Admission

The program accepts students for the September Semester, and has an application deadline of March 15th. In addition to the admission application requirements outlined in Section 1.0 of the Graduate Studies Admissions and Regulations, applicants are required to undergo a criminal records search, and provide evidence of this prior to their admission being considered.

Delivery Modes

There are two modes of delivery for the Disability Management (MA) Program, face to face and distance. Both have a thesis option or a comprehensive examination option. Each option is described separately below; courses for each delivery mode follow the description.

Thesis Option

The Thesis Option consists of four components:

Core courses in Disability Management	12 credits
Research methods courses	6 credits
Electives	9 credits
Thesis	9 credits
Total	36 credits

All students in the Thesis Option are required to write a letter outlining their practical experience. If their experience is considered insufficient by the program they will be required to do a practicum in addition to all requirements listed above. In addition, all students in the Thesis Option are required to travel to the Prince George campus to fulfill some of their thesis requirements.

Comprehensive Examination Option

The Comprehensive Examination Option consists of five components:

Core courses in Disability Management	12 credits
Research methods courses	6 credits
Electives	9 credits
Practicum or Major Paper	6 credits
Comprehensive Exam	3 credits
Total	36 credits

Students in the comprehensive examination option will be required to do a practicum unless they have significant experience in the field already. In this case they will write a letter outlining their experience and request that they are allowed to prepare a Major Paper in place of a Practicum.

Requirements

Face-to-Face Mode

The Face-to-face Mode is available to those students who take the program full or part-time. The courses for the Face-to-face Mode are listed below.

Core Courses

DISM 609-3	Professional Ethics in Health Care Management
DISM 710-3	Foundations in Disability Management
DISM 711-3	Disability Management: Legislation, Policy & Procedures
DISM 712-3	Disability Management Interventions

Other courses may be substituted or added with the approval of the student's Supervisory Committee.

Research Courses

Additional two courses from the following:

EDUC 602-4	Educational Research Data Analysis
EDUC 603-4	Advanced Educational Research Data Analysis
HHSC 603-3	Community Research Methods
NURS 703-3	Health Program Development and Evaluation
PSYC 600-4	Quantitative Methods I
PSYC 605-4	Quantitative Methods II
SOCW 609-3	Advanced Quantitative Research
HHSC 703-3	Advance Qualitative Research Approaches in Health and Human Sciences

Other courses may be substituted or added with the approval of the student's Supervisory Committee.

Elective Courses

Candidates must complete a minimum of 9 credit hours from the following list. Not more than six credit hours can be from any one area other than Disability Management.

COMM 630-3	Organizational Studies
COMM 631-3	Labour Management Relations
DISM 720-3	Special Topics
DISM 798-(3-6)	Directed Studies
ECON 610-3	Health Economics
ECON 611-3	Cost Benefit Analysis
EDUC 613-3	Interpersonal Counselling Skills
HHSC 602-3	Organization and Financing of Canadian Health Care
POLS 603-3	Social and Health Policy and Administration
PSYC 620-3	Health Psychology

PSYC 720-3	Cross-Cultural Communication in Health Care Settings
SOCW 605-3	Community Work/Politics of Change
SOCW 698-3	Special Topics

Other courses may be substituted or added with the approval of the student's Supervisory Committee.

Practicum (or Major Paper) and Comprehensive Examination, or Thesis

DISM 794-6	Disability Management Major Paper
DISM 795-6	Disability Management Practicum
DISM 796-3	Disability Management Comprehensive Examination
DISM 799-9	Disability Management Thesis

Distance Mode

The Distance Mode is available to those students who take the program part-time. Students completing the Distance Mode have a restricted set of electives courses. Courses for the Distance Mode are listed below.

Core Courses

DISM 609-3	Professional Ethics in Health Care Management
DISM 710-3	Foundations in Disability Management
DISM 711-3	Disability Management: Legislation, Policy & Procedures
DISM 712-3	Disability Management Interventions

Other courses may be substituted or added with the approval of the student's Supervisory Committee.

Research Courses

HHSC 603-3	Community Research Methods
NURS 703-3	Health Program Development and Evaluation

Other courses may be substituted or added with the approval of the student's Supervisory Committee.

Elective Courses

Candidates must complete a minimum of 9 credit hours from the following list. Not more than six credit hours can be from any one area other than Disability Management.

DISM 720-3	Special Topics
DISM 798-(3-6)	Directed Studies

POLS 603-3	Social and Health Policy and Administration
PSYC 620-3	Health Psychology
SOCW 605-3	Community Work/Politics of Change

Other courses may be substituted or added with the approval of the student's Supervisory Committee.

Practicum (or Major Paper) and Comprehensive Examination, or Thesis

DISM 794-6	Disability Management Major Paper
DISM 795-6	Disability Management Practicum
DISM 796-3	Disability Management Comprehensive Examination
DISM 799-9	Disability Management Thesis

Practicum

Students are involved in field-based learning activities for the purpose of pursuing and developing research/policy /administration/practice skills within a related employment area. The practicum component stresses independent learning, and permits students to test or develop theory in the context of fieldwork. The form of field practice components varies widely in accordance with the learning needs of the students. The practicum leads to a written report that reflects students' critical analyses of their practice settings.

The report further demonstrates a deepening of professional competence, analytical skills, and professional judgement, and represents a contribution to the knowledge and skill base of the profession. The duration of this component is equivalent to three months full-time employment.

Major Paper

The Major Paper (MP) option is for those students who have written a letter outlining their experience in the disability management field and obtained permission allowing them to prepare a Major Paper in place of a Practicum (6 credits). It is the aim of the MP to acquaint students with the practice of scholarship. Such acquaintance will normally entail a critical treatment of relevant academic literature using theoretical or philosophical methods. If the student wishes to pursue empirical research, either quantitative or qualitative, the thesis option must be selected.

Comprehensive Examination

The comprehensive examination option of study requires the successful completion of a comprehensive examination that evaluates a candidate's knowledge of theory, research and practices in his/her field of study.

Thesis

An oral examination is required as per University regulations. All students taking the thesis option will be required to be in Prince George for the oral examination.

3.2 Change to Semester of First Offering for NURS 607 and NURS 608

Mr. DeGrace advised Senators that new courses NURS 607 and 608, previously approved to be offered first in January 2007 and May 2007 respectively, now would be offered in September 2006 and January 2007 respectively.

4.0 President's Report (Deferred to item 11.0)

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. Brunt reported that, while applications for admission were down compared to the previous year, both offers of admission and registrations for the coming academic year showed an increase. The University was engaged in discussions leading towards joint programming with British Columbia Institute of Technology (BCIT) and Nicola Valley Institute of Technology. Senators could expect to see proposals in that regard early in the academic year.

6.0 Question Period

Referring to the on-line version of the Calendar, Dr. Jensen said that errors which had been pointed out in March 2006 still had not been corrected – specifically that all co-requisite requirements were presented as though they were prerequisites. This presented difficulties for students trying to register, and he asked whether at least a disclaimer could be posted until such time as the problem had been fixed. Dr. Mandy added that students following the on-line requirements might find themselves doing first-year Physics in their second year, making for scheduling conflicts.

Ms. Kielly said that she would look into the problem immediately. She noted, however, that this particular issue had been discovered to be part of a larger problem. Staff were, that week, visiting BCIT to review their system for possible solutions. Dr. Jago asked that the Administrative Registrar, and possibly the Director of Administrative Computing and Information Services, report to Senate at its next meeting.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning

S-200606.03

Change to Name and Calendar Description — BSc (General)

Brunt/Casperson

That the BSc (General) degree be retitled as BSc (Integrated), that the Calendar entry for the program as set out on p. 69-71 of the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar be deleted in its entirety, and that the following text be substituted:

Effective date: September 2006

BSc (Integrated)

The Bachelor of Science (Integrated) provides a broad science base and integrates more than one area of study. The program is built upon a foundation of Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics and Physics. The program allows students to transfer into single-discipline science majors built on a foundation of Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics and Physics, or alternatively to switch from them to the BSc (Integrated). This program may be useful to students planning to pursue studies in various post-baccalaureate professional areas. Students should consult with the appropriate professional school(s) to ensure inclusion of all the required courses to be eligible for entry into programs in the desired professional area. Prior to starting the first year of study, students are strongly encouraged to consult with an appropriate Program Advisor for their anticipated area of concentration.

Areas of upper division concentration are:

1. Biology, Ecology, and Biochemistry & Molecular Biology
2. Chemistry, Biochemistry and Molecular Biology
3. Computer Science
4. Environmental and Earth Sciences
5. Geography (Science) and GIS
6. Mathematics and Statistics
7. Natural Resources and Forestry
8. Physics

Students enrolled in the Integrated major of the Bachelor of Science must successfully complete a total of 120 credit hours including a minimum of 45 credit hours from upper division (300 or 400 level) courses, and not less than 15 credit hours, at any level, from among Programs offering a BA, or Programs in the Arts and Humanities, or Social Sciences quadrants of the Breadth Requirement. Courses used to meet the Arts and Humanities and the Social Science quadrants for the Breadth Requirement may be used as part of the preceding 15 credit hours. Students must complete two areas of upper division concentration listed above. Students must ensure completion of course prerequisites before registering in any course.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants listed under Breadth Requirement in the Calendar. Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirements or as part of their elective requirements, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

Program Requirements

Lower Division Requirement

BIOL 101-4 Introductory Biology I
 BIOL 102-4 Introductory Biology II
 CHEM 100-3 General Chemistry I
 CHEM 101-3 General Chemistry II
 CHEM 120-1 General Chemistry Lab I
 CHEM 121-1 General Chemistry Lab II
 MATH 100-3 Calculus or MATH 105-3 Enriched Calculus

GEOG 414-3 Weathering Processes
NREM 410-3 Watershed Management
PHYS 307-3 Selected Topics in Environmental Physics

5) Eligible courses for the Geography (Science) and GIS concentration

GEOG 300-3 Geographic Information Systems
GEOG 310-3 Hydrology
GEOG 311-3 Concepts in Geomorphology
GEOG 405-3 Fluvial Geomorphology
GEOG 411-3 Advanced Elements in Geomorphology
GEOG 412-3 Geomorphology of Cold Regions
GEOG 413-3 Advanced GIS
GEOG 414-3 Weathering Processes
GEOG 432-3 Remote Sensing
GEOG 457-3 Advanced Remote Sensing

6) Eligible courses for the Mathematics & Statistics concentration

All Upper Division MATH courses except MATH 342-3 Biostatistics

7) Eligible courses for the Natural Resources and Forestry concentration

All Upper Division FSTY courses except FSTY 310-3 Forest Economics

All Upper Division NREM courses except NREM 306-3 Society, Policy and Administration

All Upper Division NRES courses

8) Eligible courses for the Physics concentration

All Upper Division PHYS courses except PHYS 307-3

Effective date: September 2006

- Minor in Mathematics

The minor in Mathematics requires students to take 27 credit hours, 12 of which must be upper division credits.

There is no limit to the number of courses that may be used to fulfill program requirements for a major (or another minor) and also a minor in Mathematics.

~~MATH 342-3 (Biostatistics) may not be used for credit towards any Mathematics major or joint major.~~

MATH 342-3 (Biostatistics) may not be used for credit towards the 12 credit hours of upper division Mathematics course requirements for the Mathematics minor.

Requirements

100 Level

CPSC 141-3 Discrete Computational Mathematics

MATH 100-3 Calculus I

or MATH 105-3 Enriched Calculus

MATH 101-3 Calculus II

Effective date: September 2006

Requirements

Students in the PhD program are required to complete a minimum of 16 credit hours of coursework consisting of two graduate seminars:

PSYC 800-2 Graduate Seminar I
PSYC 801-2 Graduate Seminar II

~~a research practicum:~~ 6 credits of research practica

PSYC 860-~~6~~ (3-6) Research Practicum and two courses from:

PSYC 610-3 Cognitive Neuroscience
PSYC 615-3 Social Psychology
PSYC 620-3 Health Psychology
PSYC 631-3 Psychopathology
PSYC 635-3 Cognition and Learning
PSYC 645-3 Developmental Psychology
PSYC 720-3 Cross-Cultural Communication in Health Care Settings
PSYC 725-3 Cognitive Neuropsychological Assessment
PSYC 726-3 Personality Assessment
PSYC 730-3 Psychological Interventions
PSYC 805-3 Advanced Topics in Quantitative Psychology

These courses ~~will~~ provide students with the basic foundations upon which to build their PhD research. In addition, all students are required to successfully complete a comprehensive examination and a PhD dissertation (PSYC 890-12). The comprehensive examination is tailored to ensure the student is adequately prepared to begin work on the PhD dissertation. Students must have a cumulative GPA of B+ or greater by the end of their second semester of registration and maintain it at B+ or greater thereafter. Students may be required to address deficiencies within their background preparation in Psychology or in their area of concentration that are identified by the Psychology Graduate Committee. Additional courses may be required. Normally, students ~~will~~ take a comprehensive examination by the end of the first year in the program (or 12 credit hours for part-time students). Upon successfully completing the comprehensive examination and presenting an acceptable dissertation proposal to their supervisory committee, a student is granted PhD Candidate status, and embarks upon completion of the dissertation under the supervision of a Faculty Academic Supervisor. Normally, it is expected that the defence of the dissertation by full-time PhD Candidates will take place within three years of acceptance into the program.

Randall/Mandy

That the SCAPP and SCRGS Subcommittee on Curriculum and Calendar be empowered to revise Calendar Course Descriptions in the Undergraduate Calendar for consistency of style and presentation and to report to Senate, through SCAPP, by way of “information” upon completion.

Effective date: June 14, 2006

Dr. Jago said that the review of all Calendar Course Descriptions would be an “iterative process” by which Programs would be consulted and revisions brought to Senate “for information” through SCAPP. Dr. Mandy pointed out that, in cases in which Graduate and undergraduate courses were cross-referenced, Graduate Studies would need to be involved. In addition, she suggested that during the process on-line and hard-copy text should be compared and any discrepancies addressed.

11.0 President’s Report

Dr. Jago reported that, the day previously, he had attended a meeting of The University Presidents’ Council (TUPC), consisting of the four “research intensive” universities with the recent additions of Royal Roads University and Thompson Rivers University. He reported that a provincial “20-20” review of post-secondary education in BC was expected to begin shortly. By way of preparation, TUPC had reviewed an Ontario study document which, in part, attempted to define the principal characteristics of a University – because degree granting authority alone did not make for this designation.

An important component of a true university was institutional autonomy, and over the eleven years of his Presidency that issue had been among the most important. Self-governance was linked to academic freedom and to its protection, which was essential if Universities were to create, preserve and transmit knowledge. In the Canadian bi-cameral system of governance, Senates play the most essential role in preserving and exercising autonomy. Generally, when governments attempt to intrude upon institutional autonomy, they do so in the areas of jurisdiction of Boards of Governors rather than Senates.

Dr. Jago said that it had been his honour and his privilege to have chaired this Senate under both the UNBC Act and the University Act. What this Senate had accomplished was critically important to the institution, and he was very grateful to Senators for the care and attention that they had shown over the years in the development and revision of programs, policies and procedures. He urged Senators never to lose sight of the importance of this body to the future of the University.

Approval of Senate Public Session Minutes

Brunt/Mandy

That the Minutes of the June 14, 2006 Public Session of Senate be approved as presented.

CARRIED

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

The Secretary suggested to Senators, that, in general, when the desire is to delay consideration of a motion until a later date or indefinitely, a motion “to postpone” rather than “to table” would be appropriate. A motion to table, he noted, should be applied when there is an urgent need to delay – such as the mover having to leave the meeting – and is not debatable. A tabled motion “dies” if not taken from the table at the following meeting. A motion to postpone, on the other hand, is debatable and offers more flexibility as to the timing of reconsideration.

4.0 President’s Report

President Cozzetto made reference to the “Embracing Change/Promoting Excellence” document that he had circulated shortly after assuming office, and noted that it formed the basis of a major initiative being coordinated by Vice-President (Academic) and Provost Senator Brunt. The six areas of focus defined in the document would be critical for the University over the coming three years, he said; and key to the discussions would be the optimal allocation of institutional resources. He noted that he had given presentations relating to the document at several venues, locally and throughout the region, to give others a perspective on the issues facing the University; and responses generally had been favourable.

The President reported that an organizational review of the University had been initiated, and a consultant retained to facilitate the process. Initial meetings with President’s Executive Council and the senior leadership would be held shortly. In the most general terms the intent of the review would be to determine whether the University was well-structured to respond to its mandate, and whether resources were being used to best effect.

Finally, President Cozzetto reported briefly on the “Northlink” concept, which upon implementation would enhance the availability throughout the region of multimedia technology for instruction, research, and liaison with the business community.

4.1 Introduction of New Student Senators

The Secretary introduced to Senate several new Student Senators, as follows:

Graduate Student Senators Monika Gorzelak and Kerensa Medhurst

Undergraduate Student Senators Emily Pratt, Dacia Kimmie, Katharine McKnight, Hoda Samadi, and Shawn Rennebohm,

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Senator Brunt noted that the Academic Visioning Initiative (AVI) would be central to responding to the “Embracing Change/Promoting Excellence” document, and that Senate would be seeing all proposals arising from it. He said that the University, along with the entire post-secondary sector in the Province, was now engaged in Government’s “Campus 20/20” initiative. The University would be trying to present the best advice possible to Government, along with making the best case for UNBC. Finally, he noted that a review of graduate studies at the University was underway, and more discussion at Senate was likely.

6.0 Question Period

Referring to a question from Senator Casperson, Senator Brunt said that the AVI Committees, among others, were being restructured into operating committees as part of the “Embracing Change” process. Templates had been created to direct progress in all six areas. Senator Smith wanted to be sure that the pedagogical aspects of AVI would be discussed; Senator Brunt acknowledged this concern, and said that the Steering Committee would determine the process in that regard. The “driver” in the process was the timeline for completion by the end of 2006. Responding to a question from Senator Hemingway, he noted that the regional mandate of the institution, and the idea of a “multi-campus” University, was central to the process as was the “Northlink” concept. Senator Hemingway thought that faculty regionally active programs should be directly involved in the process. Senator Hyndman wondered how faculty, generally, could become involved; and Senator Brunt said that this matter would be discussed by the Steering Committee during the coming week.

Senator Casperson referred to the base timetable that was being introduced in the current academic year. He thought that some of the assumptions underlying the timetable were incorrect and needed adjustment, and that the Senior Lab Instructors should be involved in its preparation. Ms. Kielly said that in July she had circulated a memo soliciting comment, but none had been received; and that she would do so again by way of a memo to CASHS and CSAM.

Senator Hyndman was concerned that Northlink not be implemented without a sound pedagogical underpinning to the technology being introduced. Senator Brunt agreed that the technology was relatively straightforward and that major the challenge would be in adapting it to pedagogy.

Bachelor of Planning

~~Accredited by the Canadian Institute of Planners and the Planning Institute of British Columbia.~~

~~The Bachelor of Planning degree provides a broad general education in professional planning, in addition to the requirement for specialization in one of the following themes:~~

- ~~● Northern and Rural Community Planning~~
- ~~● First Nations Planning~~
- ~~● Natural Resources Planning~~

~~This course of studies will be useful to students intending to seek employment as accredited professional planners and to students planning to pursue studies in various post baccalaureate professional programs, including advanced degrees in planning.~~

~~Students enrolled in this degree program must successfully complete 122 credit hours including a minimum of 53 credit hours of upper division courses. Theme specialization and elective course requirements must also be met. Students must ensure that they complete course prerequisites before registering in any course.~~

~~Degree requirements: 69 credit hours~~

~~Theme credits: 39-41 credit hours~~

~~Elective credit hours sufficient to ensure completion of 122 credit hours.~~

The Bachelor of Planning degree provides a broad education in environmental planning. The focus is on understanding the relationship between people and the environment and on reducing the environmental impact of human activities.

The study of planning examines public processes that improve the quality of decisions affecting the environment. Responsible planning integrates various private and public interests and identifies viable, workable options. Planners play a vital role in decisions about the future of human settlements, resource management, environmental protection, human health and well-being, economic development, and many other areas. Ultimately, the work of planners becomes part of or a catalyst to public policy.

To achieve its purposes, Environmental Planning offers a comprehensive program of courses, such as environmental assessment, ecological design, economic development, First Nations planning, land use planning, and sustainable communities. Each course provides a creative and challenging learning environment for students to tackle today's most contentious issues such as sustainability, climate change, biodiversity, environmental stewardship, and urban sprawl. Environmental Planning offers unique perspectives on a rapidly evolving field of study and solutions for an increasingly complex world.

Environmental Planning is dedicated to upholding professional standards of practice and is accredited by the Canadian Institute of Planners (CIP) and the Planning Institute of British Columbia (PIBC). Accreditation is a system for promoting national standards of education in planning and for recognizing educational institutions for a level of performance, integrity, and quality.

Accreditation benefits students in Environmental Planning in three ways.

- Current students can apply for Student Membership in PIBC;
- Graduates are eligible for Full Membership in PIBC and CIP after only two years of professional planning experience; and
- Employers in the planning field look for students graduating from an accredited planning program, thus significantly improving graduates' job prospects.

Three majors are available to students completing the Bachelor of Planning:

- Northern and Rural Community Planning
- First Nations Planning
- Natural Resources Planning

Planning students complete a set of general program requirements in addition to completing specialized requirements for each Major.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants listed in the Calendar. Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirements or as part of their elective requirements, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

~~Theme Specialization~~ Major Requirements

Students must specialize in one ~~theme~~ major. All course requirements in the ~~theme~~ major must be completed.

~~Energy Specialization~~

~~An energy specialization is offered at the UNBC Fort St. John campus. This specialization deals with energy and energy alternatives including oil and gas exploration, production, transportation, and site remediation within the context of energy planning. For further information, contact the Chair of Planning in Prince George or staff at the Fort St. John campus.~~

~~H:~~ Major in Northern and Rural Community Planning Theme

The focus of this ~~theme~~ major is to promote an understanding of the complexity and diversity of environmental problems, to develop an appreciation of community change processes, and to provide planners with knowledge which will improve the quality of the built environment and reduce the impact of human activities on the natural world. The unique planning requirements of smaller communities and rural regions demand a grounding in both physical and social science methods and an understanding of the relationship between northern communities and surrounding rural resource regions. Environmental planning necessitates strategic thought and action combined with knowledge grounded in professional practice.

The northern rural and community planning ~~theme~~ major combines concepts such as bioregionalism, sustainability, and landscape design within the context of physical land use planning, social planning and community economic development.

Northern and Rural Community Planning is the application of environmental planning principles and practices to the often unique social, economic, and ecological issues confronting northern and circumpolar communities in Canada and elsewhere in the northern hemisphere. Successfully addressing these issues requires an appreciation of how and why communities change, an understanding of relationships between northern communities and surrounding rural resource regions, an understanding of the place and function of northern communities and rural regions in the global environment, and a grounding in both physical and social science methods of research and analysis.

Students enrolled in the Northern and Rural Community Planning Major must successfully complete 120 credit hours, including a minimum of 57 credit hours of upper division courses. Major and elective course requirements must also be met. Students must ensure that they complete course prerequisites before registering in any course.

Breadth and general requirement: 72 credit hours

Major requirement: 39 credit hours

Elective requirement: 9 credit hours

The minimum requirement for a Bachelor of Planning with a Major in Northern and Rural Community Planning is 120 credit hours.

III: Major in First Nations Planning Theme

First Nation communities have significant, and growing, demands for qualified planners. As many First Nations move to define land claims in Canada, potentially giving First Nations significant responsibilities for land and community planning, and as others work to build upon existing treaties, the availability of skilled planners becomes essential. However, planning by, and with, First Nations requires specific skills and abilities in the planners, whether or not they themselves are First Nation.

For most First Nation communities few distinctions are made between ecological/environmental planning and planning for social and cultural needs. Cultural and social needs are developed from within, and are grounded in, the ecosystem. First Nations planning must necessarily integrate all. ~~However, few~~ First Nations wish to remain grounded in tradition; ~~most~~ and seek to move into the future through sound community economic development and skilled land management. Most, finally, face significant community development needs, including infrastructure development, housing, and health planning. Students will need not just a sound grasp of planning principles, but will need to understand the protocols, history, ~~sociology~~ social structure ~~anthropology~~ and ecology of Canadian First Nations. Further, cross cultural translation skills, community participation techniques, and a sound grounding in ethics will be required.

Students enrolled in the First Nations Planning Major must successfully complete 121 credit hours, including a minimum of 49 credit hours of upper division courses. Major and elective course requirements must also be met. Students must ensure that they complete course prerequisites before registering in any course.

Breadth and general requirement: 72 credit hours

Major requirement: 40 credit hours

Elective requirement: 9 credit hours

The minimum requirement for a Bachelor of Planning with a Major in First Nations Planning is 121 credit hours.

Major in Natural Resources Planning Theme

The theme major in Natural Resources Planning is designed to provide students with an understanding of the complexities of including the natural and cultural environment in planning decision-making. The theme major is intended to address both project level and large-scale environmental planning issues that occur in developments that impact the natural environment.

The objective of this theme major is to familiarize students with planning and decision-making in a variety of sectors that include provincial land use planning, environmental assessment, watershed planning and integrated resource and environmental management. These areas of planning are characterised by complex and intricate problems that revolve around how to use our natural resources and who should decide. The multidimensional aspects of environmental management include natural and cultural complexity, different desired futures, value differences, assessment and monitoring tools, and integration methods. This theme major emphasizes understanding planning in both the substantive realm (natural and social sciences), and the procedural realm (the process of including people in the decision-making process).

Students enrolled in the Natural Resources Planning Major must successfully complete 121 credit hours, including a minimum of 46 credit hours of upper division courses. Major and elective course requirements must also be met. Students must ensure that they complete course prerequisites before registering in any course.

Breadth and general requirement: 72 credit hours

Major requirement: 40 credit hours

Elective requirement: 9 credit hours

The minimum requirement for a Bachelor of Planning with a Major in Natural Resource Planning is 121 credit hours.

Effective date: September 2006

Transfers

Transfers into the program (~~into year two and beyond~~) are allowed as long as provided that the prerequisite courses or articulated courses are completed, and ~~there is space~~ is available in the program. Acceptance of transfers into the program will be based upon GPA, with priority given to those with the highest GPA. Regardless of the articulated courses transferred, ~~students must complete a minimum of 30 credit hours of their program at each of the granting~~

~~institutions (at UBC and at UNBC) students must satisfy the residency requirement (see above).~~

~~GPA Calculation for Transfer Students~~

~~Only transfer courses used in meeting degree requirements will be used in the calculation of GPA and CGPA for continuance, progression and graduation, as described above.~~

Ms Kielly noted that the proposed effective date of September 2006 meant that, in practice, the change would apply to students seeking admission to the program in September 2007.

New Degree Approval — Master of Arts in Development Economics

Tait/Mandy

That a Master of Arts degree in Development Economics be approved, with the Graduate Calendar entry to be as follows:
Effective date: September 2007

Development Economics (MA Program)

Economic development remains a critical issue for more than three-quarters of the world's population who reside in countries classified as "low income" or "middle income." The causes and consequences of economic development remain contested issues. This academic program considers the changing global, regional and national contexts for economic development; the policy lessons that can be learned from comparative studies; and the tools required to enable development economists to contribute to the development process.

Economic development cannot be studied in isolation from other dimensions of development. An understanding of poverty, for example, requires not only economic analysis but also an understanding of the insights provided by other social and health sciences. The training of a development economist must therefore expose students to interdisciplinary approaches to development.

The Master of Arts degree in Development Economics is available on a full-time or part-time basis, involving coursework and the mandatory completion of a graduate project. Upon admission into the Development Economics MA program, each student will be assigned a supervisor, who will work closely with the students to monitor their program of study and progress. In consultation with the supervisor, students will choose courses designed to complement and inform their areas of interest.

Admission Requirements

Applicants to the UNBC Development Economics MA program must follow the admission requirements outlined in Section 1.0 of the UNBC Graduate Academic Calendar. Applicants normally should have a four-year undergraduate degree that is equivalent to a UNBC degree in Economics. In addition to these requirements, applicants must also provide a sample of written work (usually a senior-level undergraduate essay or research paper) as part of their application. Entrance to the MA will be competitive: only applicants with a record of excellence in undergraduate work, strong letters of academic recommendation, and strong letters of intent will be considered. In their letters of intent, applicants should demonstrate evidence of interest in the MA's areas of specialization (Development Economics). The deadline for receipt of all application material is February 15; successful applicants will enter the MA program the following September (at the beginning of the Fall semester).

Requirements

The course of study is composed of a minimum total of 24 credit hours of work. First, students are required to complete 5 courses totalling 15 credit hours. Second, students are required to produce both a detailed project proposal and bibliography and to defend, in a formal oral examination, a 9-credit project of a maximum of 50 pages in length.

Required Courses

ECON 601-3 The Global Economy
ECON 604-3 Poverty, Inequality and Development
ECON 710-3 Macroeconomic Policy for Development
ECON 712-3 Applied Econometrics

Required Project

ECON 798-9 MA Project

In addition, any student who does not, at the time of entry to the program, have a course in advanced microeconomics at the undergraduate level will be required to take ECON 451-3 (Advanced Microeconomics).

Elective Course

The elective course is normally selected from graduate level Economics courses offered at UNBC and must be approved by the supervisor.

Senator Hyndman referred to the stated "operating requirements" for the program, which included two FTE TAs, and asked whether this would be achieved through acquiring new resources or a redeployment of existing resources, or whether the specification was in fact merely a desired outcome. Invited to speak, Senator Bowles said that this was a "requested" addition; and Senator Randall called attention to the phrases "would benefit from" and "would be desirable." Senator Tait added that the program did not require the addition of two TAs in order to proceed.

Revision to Senate Handbook — Senate Voting by E-mail

Rapaport/Hemingway

That Section 3 (v) "Special Meetings" in the Senate Handbook be retitled "Special Meetings and Decisions by E-mail," and that a new subsection 3 (v) (iv) be added as follows (added text underlined):

Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate

3 (v) Special Meetings and Decisions by E-mail

- (i) In exceptional circumstance a special meeting of Senate may be called if:
- (a) The Chair considers a matter to be of sufficient urgency, or
  - (b) There is a petition of at least seven members of Senate, at least five of whom must be elected, or
  - (c) The Chair receives a special request from the Board of Governors.
- (ii) Business conducted at any special meeting of Senate must be limited to and consistent with the special reason for which the meeting was called.
- (iii) The Secretary of Senate shall have at least seventy-two hours before the scheduled start time for any special meeting of Senate to distribute by mail, telephone, facsimile or electronic mail a notice of meeting, agenda and supporting documents to the members of Senate.
- (iv) Consistent with subsections (i) to (iii), a vote may be called using e-mail when it is impractical for Senate to meet as a body. E-mail votes shall offer the choices "Yes," "No," or "Hold," where a combined vote of "No" and "Hold" of greater than 50% causes the motion to be tabled until the next in-person meeting. Electronic ballots must be received directly from the Secretary, and returned to the Secretary from the electronic address to which it was delivered by the date specified in the call for the vote.

Mr. DeGrace explained that electronic voting by Senate was rare, but that Robert's Rules were explicit that such voting should only be carried out using procedures that had been approved by the body and that met the requirements for voting by mail, namely

- That the mailing list used corresponds exactly to the official roll of voting members.
- That there be a ballot containing space for the voter's signature.
- That the marked ballot be returned to a person designated to receive it.

Consistent with the practice of some organizations, the vote of "hold" on an electronic ballot could be used to force consideration at the next regular meeting of Senate without defeating the motion in an electronic vote. He noted as well the 72-hour notice specified under part 3 (v) (iii).

Senator Hemingway wondered whether the same regulation would apply to Committee in the event of an electronic vote, and Mr. Degrace said that it would.

Senator Casperson pointed out that what was contemplated in an electronic decision such as this was not really a vote, but rather a form of electronic meeting, at which normally discussion is invited. In that context he thought that the option of voting "no" or "hold" was a good one.

It was generally agreed that a revised motion should be brought back to Senate once the opinions of Senators had been received by the Secretary. In that spirit, the mover and seconder withdrew the motion.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

S-200609.19

Approval of Policy — Research Involving Human Subjects

Wagner/Jensen

That the policy entitled “Research Involving Human Participants” be approved as proposed.

Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate

Mr. DeGrace explained that this policy and the following one to come under consideration were brought to Senate because the principle had been accepted that policies having institutional effect were, in the end, the “property” of the Senate or Board.

Senator Tait wondered why the policies in question had not been referred to the Committee on Research and Graduate Studies before coming to Senate.

Motion: Casperson/Mandy

That the policies under S-200609.19 and S-200609.20 be referred to the Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies.

Senator Mandy pointed out that the research community would have to comply with these policies, and that therefore they needed consideration through the usual Senate process. Senator Brunt pointed out that the policies already had been dealt with at many levels and examined thoroughly, and that it was certainly permissible for motions to come directly to Senate without first having been reviewed by Senate committees.

DEFEATED

On the main motion, referring to S. 8.4, Senator Mandy noted that, as stated, the Research Ethics Board (REB) did not normally conduct scholarly reviews; and she asked for clarification. Invited to Speak, Ms. Miley said that the Tri-Councils normally conducted scholarly reviews through the peer review process, and the REB never reviewed a proposal before the completion of scholarly review. In the case of projects not funded by the Tri-Councils, the Board did not, itself, conduct scholarly reviews and other options would be followed.

Senator Smith expressed some frustration in that new and revised material in the policy before Senate had not been highlighted. Ms. Miley said that the policies had been revised so completely that most of the material was new, and it would have been very difficult to decipher the changes if the conventional presentation had been used. Senator Tait added that there had been many changes over the years, and that the policy as presented had been “nicely integrated” to conform to the regulation. Having made his point on process, he supported the main motion.

The Secretary noted that Senator Brunt had completed his second one-year term as Vice-Chair and, as set out in the University Act, could not serve a third consecutive term. He called for nominations from the floor for the position of Vice-Chair, for a one year term ending September 2007.

Senator Mandy, seconded by Senator Opio, nominated Senator Robert Tait. There being no further nominations, Senator Tait was declared elected.

CARRIED AS AMENDED

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

3.1 Disbursement of Funds from Dissolution of Scholefield Family Bursary

Ms. McIntyre reported that, upon dissolution of a scholarship or bursary, the matter of subsequent disposition of any funds remaining was a matter for discussion, on a case-by-case basis, between the donor and the Development Office.

3.2 Senate Voting by E-Mail

The Secretary reminded Senators that the motion on this matter at the previous meeting had been withdrawn so that Senators could have the opportunity to offer comment that would result in an improved motion coming forward later. To date, however, no comments had been received. He reported that, at a Board of Governors meeting the previous week, a similar motion had been put and withdrawn, with the comment that its reintroduction should be after consideration had been given to setting up a secure web site for voting purposes. He indicated that he would be giving similar consideration in the context of a motion which would come back to Senate for consideration.

4.0 President's Report

Dr. Cozzetto indicated that he had been discussing with senior administrators the possibility of introducing a four-year guaranteed scholarship for first-entry students, and that he wanted to pursue the matter aggressively as an important factor in student retention. While the University offered "President's Scholarships" to the very top students, these new scholarships would be aimed at very good students who otherwise might not find financial support. Continuation of the scholarships, year to year, would be based on the maintenance of a minimum threshold grade on a minimum number of credit hours completed in an academic year. The Board had supported the concept, and he wanted to be sure that Senators also thought that this would be a good idea, in principle. While the process for the award of such scholarships had yet to be decided, he wondered whether the present Committee structure provided an adequate framework.

Bursaries would not be affected, he said, but there might be a redistribution of existing scholarship monies in establishing a new program. The completed proposed framework for the scholarships would be brought back to Senate for consideration.

Senators were generally in favour of the idea, and pointed out several other institutions that offered similar scholarships. By a show of hands they unanimously approved the pursuing of the initiative.

UNBC's BEd program is offered at the Prince George campus and at the Terrace campus. At the Prince George campus, the BEd program is a two-year after-degree program that offers Elementary (grade K-7), and Secondary (grades 8-12) Streams. It is designed for university students who have already completed a first degree and who wish to continue their education in order to become teachers. The BEd degree consists of 73 credit hours in Education ~~which includes 20 weeks of~~ which 20 credit hours is classroom experience.

[unaltered text omitted]

Admission Requirements

Applicants to the Elementary Stream at the Prince George campus must have completed a four-year bachelor's degree (120 credits) or the equivalent with a minimum of ninety (90) credits in Arts, Science, or in other teachable fields relevant to the BC School system. The remaining credits may come from any discipline. Applicants to the Elementary Stream at the Terrace campus must have completed one of: 1) a four-year Bachelor's degree (120 credits) or the equivalent as described above; 2) a minimum of ninety (90) credits in Arts, Science, or in other teachable fields relevant to the BC School system, and including 30 senior level credits in a teachable field; or 3) a UNBC Education Diploma in a First Nations Language and Culture (92 credits).

In addition to the entry qualifications described above, the following requirements must be met:

1. Six (6) credits of acceptable English literature and composition at any level (three (3) credits of literature and three (3) credits of composition or six (6) credits of acceptable English literature). Courses in linguistics, language study, grammar, technical or business writing, communication, or English as a second language are not acceptable to meet the English requirement.

Diploma and BEd Academic Regulations

For the purpose of determining eligibility for recommending a teacher candidate for certification by the BCCT, the minimum requirements include successful completion of the education program with a "C+" on each education course taken while enrolled in the Program. Courses for which a grade of ~~"C"~~ lower than a "C+" was received must be repeated.

[unaltered text omitted]

BEd Graduation Requirements

To be eligible for a Bachelor of Education degree the candidate must normally have earned:

- a passing grade in each of the courses comprising the degree program, and no lower than a ~~“C”~~ “C+” grade on all Education courses; and,
- a minimum “C+” GPA.

[unaltered text omitted]

Senator Mandy asked whether reference to “senior level credits” in the second paragraph of the Education Calendar entry referred to fourth-year courses or Upper division courses. Senator Nyce thought that the reference was to Upper Division. Senator Casperson noted that, at the SCAPP meeting at which this motion was discussed, some concern had been expressed over the removal of the requirement for “three credits of mathematics” from the Admission Requirements.

Senator Beeler noted that, whereas under the “BEd Graduation Requirements” heading a grade of “no lower than C+” on all Education courses was mandated, under the heading “Denial and Withdrawal” unsatisfactory course work was described as “below ‘C’.” Dean Randall suggested that, lacking a representative from Education to speak to these issues, consideration of the motion be postponed.

MOTION: Rapaport/Mandy: That consideration of Senate motion S-200610.07 be postponed.

Senator Rapaport asked that, before the motion was brought to Senate again, any other comments by Senators be brought to the attention of SCAPP. For his part, he thought that the phrase “significant amount of Canadian content” needed clarification. Senator Hyndman said that she wanted clarification on the rationale for removing the mathematics requirement from the admission criteria.

Proposed Revision to Academic Regulations 2 and 21 — General Requirements for a Degree and Declaring a Major

Randall/Casperson

That Academic Regulation 2, "General Requirements for a Degree," and Academic Regulation 21, "Declaring a Major," be revised as follows (changed or added text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):
Effective date: Upon approval by Senate

2. General Requirements for a Degree With a Major

First-entry undergraduate degree programs require a minimum 120 credit hours with (except for the BA General and BSc General Integrated degrees, and professional programs) a major subject. A Major is a set of academic credits that, taken together, offers a strong concentration in a particular subject area or discipline as defined by the University Senate. Special regulations apply to individual degree programs and to honours degrees, the requirements for which should be consulted as well.

21. Declaring a Major

All undergraduate students, other than students enrolled in professional programs or general/Integrated degrees (for whom Majors do not apply), are required to declare a program of study (Major) Major before the end of the semester in which they will complete 30 credit hours (See Academic Regulation 2). A student who transfers into the University with 30 or more credit hours must declare a program Major during the first semester in which he/she registers at the time of application. Declaration of Major forms are available from the Office of the Registrar.

Students must contact a program advisor in their area of study to declare or to change a program of study Major.

Mr. DeGrace said that the motion arose from the concern that, whereas the Academic Regulations clearly defined what the general requirements for a Minor were, nowhere was there a similar Regulation relating to the Major. Moreover, he could not determine that the Senate had ever addressed the issue.

It was agreed, by way of a "friendly amendment," to change the words "program of study" to "Major" in the second paragraph under Regulation 21, and this is reflected in the motion as set out above.

Senator Smith noted that errors had been found in an earlier version of the Table included in the "Rationale" section. Mr. DeGrace said that some had been pointed out to him and had been corrected before the document came to Senate. The Table had been prepared for the purpose of determining whether there were obvious boundaries that could be placed around existing Major requirements that could be written into a Regulation - and there were none.

SCAPP200609.15

Course Title and Calendar Description Change — PSYC 200-3

The title of PSYC 200-3 - Contemporary Issues in Psychology was changed to PSYC 200-3 - Current Topics, and the statement “This course may be repeated for a maximum of 6 credit hours” was added to the Calendar course Description.

Effective date: September 2007

Dean Randall suggested that the insertion of the word “and” before the final item of the list in the second sentence of the Calendar Course Description would clarify the wording. Referring to the sentence “This course may be repeated for a maximum of 6 credit hours,” Senator Casperson pointed out that this could be interpreted as referencing variable credit, or up to one repetition of a three-hour course. Clarification was needed. Senator H. Li said that if the course was re-taken the content would have to be different and a different title placed on the student’s transcript. It was noted that, in any case, the same course could not be repeated and credit given twice. Senator Holler thought that, for clarity, courses like this should bear the notation “3 to 6.”

MOTION: Rapaport/Wagner: That the motion SCAPP200609.15 be reconsidered by SCAPP.

DEFEATED

MOTION: Mandy/Domshy: That the Calendar Course Description of PSYC 200-3 be amended by adding to the final sentence the words “provided that the content of the courses is sufficiently different as determined by the Program Chair.”

Senator Rapaport asked what assurance could be given that Chairs would actually see these cases so as to make a determination. Senator Hemingway pointed out that it was incumbent on students to be aware of, and to follow, the academic regulations.

CARRIED

MOTION: Holler/Casperson: that the Committee on Academic Policy and Planning work with the Office of the Registrar to issue a definitive policy on the assignment of the notation "3-6" as hours of credit, which policy would be brought to Senate for consideration.

Mandy/Annis

That the Terms and Conditions for the Canadian Citizenship Celebration Scholarships be approved as proposed and activated for September 2006.

Effective date: September 2006

Senator Mandy thought that the second of the "Conditions" was ambiguous, and suggested revised text.

MOTION: Mandy/Casperson: That the second "Condition" be amended to read as follows (changed or added text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Neither parent of the applicant, at or prior to the date of ~~his or her~~ the applicant's birth, shall be or shall have been ~~(or at any time shall have been)~~ a citizen of either Canada or the United States of America.

Senator Hemingway thought that the intent had been to reference the time of the parent's birth rather than the applicant's. Senator Ellis was not comfortable with the lengthy criteria for administration of the scholarship, and had some concern over possible human rights implications. Senator Hemingway thought that, rather than the terms being modified on the floor of Senate, Senators' concerns should be relayed to the Development Office and a reconsideration requested.

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

Dr. Cozzetto asked that, at a subsequent meeting, Senate discuss the role of Senate in approving scholarships and bursaries as set out under S. 37 (i)(j) of the University Act. He was not concerned about Senate's responsibility to approve the academic criteria of scholarships, but he did have issues around the "advancement aspects" of approvals, and especially when Senate's involvement went to the level of the specifics of an endowment or the wishes of the donors. It was problematic when, having accepted gifts in respect of scholarships, they then had to be sent back to the donors for further consideration. At the previous meeting this had happened with the Canadian Citizenship Scholarship. Senate needed to consider a procedure which would not harm donor relations, he said.

Senator Mandy said that, at the previous meeting, the issues that were raised had to do with Senators' confusion over the interpretation of the terms. Senator Beeler noted that, as well, Senate had been concerned that, as worded, students would not be able to determine whether or not they were eligible to apply.

Calendar Description Change — Bachelor of Education Degree

That the changes to the Bachelor of Education Degree be approved as proposed, and that the text under the heading "Education (BEEd Program)" beginning on p. 94 of the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar, be amended.

Effective date: January 2007

This motion had been postponed at the previous meeting, and was now taken up for discussion again in light of additional information that had been provided by the Education program. Senator Mandy thought that, for Education Students to read the Calendar properly, they should also have at hand the BC College of Teachers Guidelines; and she wondered whether specific reference to the Guidelines should be made in the Calendar. Invited to speak, Dr. Chasteauneuf said that such a reference could certainly be made. He noted that reference to "Senior Level" in the Guidelines could apply to 200-level courses; and that his preferred course would be to consider the best way to reference the BCCT, and to return to Senate later with a second round of amendments.

Mr. DeGrace called attention to a typographical error under the heading "Denial and Withdrawal," where "C+" should have been indicated rather than "C." Senators accepted this adjustment as a "friendly amendment."

4.0 President's Report

Referring to the Provincial Government's "Campus 20/20" review, the President said that

Geoff Plante's group would be in Prince George on 21 November. The University President's Council had met with Mr. Plante on 24 October. The President and Dr. Brunt had just returned from a meeting with Mr. Plante, and Dr. Blouw was part of a system-wide committee charged with developing a collective response to the review. The outcome of the 20/20 review could, the President said, be "transformative" for BC post-secondary education.

Dr. Blouw said that, to date, the flow of information had all been "one-way" to Mr. Plante, with very little response in return. He noted that contributions were invited on the Campus 20/20 web site. Dr. Brunt added that lifelong learning, the use of technology, and First Nations issues were all very much on the radar as discussions progressed.

At this point the President left the meeting, and Senator Tait took the Chair.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. Brunt said that development of the "Northlink" concept was continuing, and that discussions regarding the involvement with the colleges were now underway. Good progress was being made surrounding the "Embracing Change/Promoting Excellence" document, and the Vice-President noted that much of the work surrounding the issues raised in the document would find their way to the floor of Senate. Finally, he noted that there was a good deal of discussion underway on the interface between not-for-credit and for-credit offerings, with the aim of improving accessibility to post-secondary education.

Senator Mandy asked whether there were further developments on using Continuing Education to deliver professional upgrading courses. She pointed out that the University would, shortly, be graduating its first Environmental Engineering students, and that those of them who chose to build their careers in the north would need professional development. Dr. Brunt said that this was certainly the case so far in health education, and he added that moving Continuing Education to Regional Operations had been helpful.

Change to Degree Requirements — Applied Mathematics Minor

Brunt/Mandy

That changes to the Applied Mathematics Minor as set out on p. 136 of the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar be approved as follows (added or amended text underlined, deleted text struck through):

Effective date: January 2007

• Minor in Applied Mathematics

The minor in Applied Mathematics ~~will serve to~~ serves to complement the studies of a student working in a major field where more sophisticated quantitative methods are required. Completion of such a minor should enhance a student's appreciation of the power of the interdisciplinary approach and of the importance of modern mathematical techniques in a great variety of disciplines.

~~The minor in Applied Mathematics requires students to complete 8 to 10 courses (25-30 credit hours) in Mathematics.~~

The minor in Applied Mathematics requires students to complete a minimum of 24 credit hours, 12 of which must be upper division Mathematics.

There is no limit to the number of courses that may be used to fulfill program requirements for a major (or another minor) and also a minor in Applied Mathematics.

~~MATH 342-3 (Biostatistics) may not be used for credit towards any Mathematics major, minor, or joint major.~~

MATH 342-3 (Biostatistics) may not be used for credit towards the 12 credit hours of upper division Mathematics course requirements for the Applied Mathematics minor.

The Natural Resources Management program offers students an integrated resource management approach with specialization through majors in Forestry, Wildlife and Fisheries, and ~~Resource Recreation~~ Outdoor Recreation and Conservation.

The recognition that management of any natural resource has implications for all other natural resources is a primary driving factor in the undergraduate curriculum for this degree program. Multiple and sustainable resource management is emphasized. The Forestry major is accredited by the Canadian Forestry Accreditation Board and meets certification requirements for the BC Forest Professional. ~~In addition the Resource Recreation major is designed to meet the accreditation standards of the National Recreation and Parks Association.~~

Government, industry and private experts assist in course presentations. The University has two research forests available to students in this program.

Major in ~~Resource Recreation~~ Outdoor Recreation and Conservation

This BSc Major in ~~Resource Recreation~~ Outdoor Recreation and Conservation focuses on the natural and social dimensions of outdoor recreation planning and management, using an integrated resource management framework. Emphasis in this major is placed on planning and managing environmentally and culturally sensitive recreation opportunities in natural environment settings.

Northern British Columbia provides an unparalleled setting for learning, teaching, and researching the various aspects of ~~resource recreation~~ outdoor recreation and conservation management. British Columbia has a large land base and a range of natural environments that support a vast array of dispersed and concentrated outdoor recreation opportunities. The program examines the components of planning and managing recreation opportunities through the study of such subject areas as ecology, integrated resource management, planning, protected areas management, tourism management, environmental studies and geography (e.g., GIS).

Undergraduate students are required to take 12 ~~Resource Recreation and Tourism~~ Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Management courses (36 credit hours). Of these, 9 courses are upper division.

The minimum requirement for the completion of a Bachelor of Science with a major in ~~Resource Recreation~~ Outdoor Recreation and Conservation is 120 credit hours.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants (see Breadth Requirement). Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirements or as part of their elective requirements, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

Tourism has become the largest industry and employer in the world. ~~One~~ One of the most important and fastest growing sectors in tourism is ~~nature-resource~~ nature-resource-based tourism, which comprises attractions, activities and experiences involving ~~and~~ interaction with natural and cultural resources (e.g., ecotourism, adventure tourism, indigenous tourism). This degree examines the various components of the ~~nature-resource~~ nature-resource-based tourism system, giving emphasis to the entrepreneurial perspectives and sustainability issues in the industry. Students also choose to specialize in other content areas and disciplines closely related to ~~nature-resource~~ nature-resource-based tourism, such as tourism marketing, indigenous tourism, geography, international studies, environmental planning, political science, and natural resource management.

Major in ~~Nature-Resource~~ Nature-Resource-Based Tourism Management

Undergraduate students are required to complete a minimum of thirteen (13) ~~Resource Recreation Tourism~~ Outdoor Recreation & Tourism Management courses (39 credit hours).

The minimum requirement for completion of a Bachelor of Arts with a major in ~~Nature-Resource~~ Nature-Resource-Based Tourism Management is 122 credit hours.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants (see Breadth Requirement). Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirements or as part of their elective requirements, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

Calendar Description Change — Women's Studies Program

Brunt/Hyndman

That the general program description for Women's Studies as set out on p. 164 of the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar be amended as follows (added or amended text underlined, deleted text struck through):

Effective date: September 2007

~~The program in Women's Studies provides an interdisciplinary study of women and gender relations with an emphasis on women's history, social and cultural contributions, contemporary roles, and the structures and processes of gender differentiation. The program is designed to provide students with a systematic knowledge of scholarship by, for and about women.~~

~~Additionally, the program develops students' awareness of the gendered nature of society through the analysis of changing ideals and practices that underlie social perceptions of womanhood, femininity, and female and male relations.~~

~~Finally, the Women's Studies program develops students' capacity to analyze their own gendered identities by questioning the underlying assumptions of their everyday world.~~

~~Women's Studies develops students' skills in critical thinking and oral and written expression as they study the complexity of social life, the inter-relationships among different cultures, and the connections between gender, sexuality, race and class. The program enhance students' qualifications for careers in the public, para public, and private sectors: in business, education, international relations, government, communications, the sciences and/or social sciences. It also prepares students for post-graduate Women's or Gender Studies.~~

Women's Studies is an interdisciplinary field dedicated to studying the historical, cultural, literary, and societal role of women and gender. UNBC's program has strengths in areas such as women's and gender history; gender, literature, and literary theory; gender, colonialism, and postcolonialism; gender and globalization; feminism, justice, and ethics; gender and health; and gender and international studies.

The Women's Studies program offers majors and minors in Women's Studies and, in cooperation with other programs, four joint majors. At the graduate level, the program offers a Master's degree in Gender Studies.

McGill/Randall

That opening paragraphs the Gender Studies Program as set out on p. 70 of the 2006-2007 Graduate Calendar be amended as follows (added or amended text underlined, deleted text struck through):

Effective date: September 2007

~~The Gender Studies program is an innovative interdisciplinary program designed for students to optimize their research, learning and teaching interests within the fields of feminism and gender studies. This program prepares students both for the workforce and for further postgraduate studies at the doctoral level. In consultation with a Gender Studies faculty advisor, students are expected to take the initiative in creating a program of study that will combine a feminist methodological and theoretical approach to questions of gender, race, class, sexuality, ethnicity, and nationalism with their key area(s) of concentration.~~

~~The Gender Studies program includes the following areas: Feminist Literary and Cultural Studies, Feminist Postcolonial and Critical Theory, Feminist Jurisprudence, First Nations Women, Feminist Ethics, Lesbian and Gay Studies, and Feminist Perspectives on Science and Technology.~~

The Gender Studies MA program at UNBC offers the opportunity to work with scholars in a variety of disciplines who share a focus on women and/or gender as a category of analysis.

The program has particular strengths in areas such as gender, literature, and cultural studies; gender, history, and anthropology; gender, colonialism, and postcolonialism; gender and globalization; feminism, justice, and ethics; gender and health; and gender and international studies. Gender Studies MA students have the opportunity to design a course of study that incorporates gender- or feminism-based methodologies and interdisciplinarity while developing expertise in an area of concentration. While providing a transnational frame of reference, we also pay attention to the national and regional; students will therefore emerge from the program with both a broad analytical framework and a well-developed focus.

2006 Annual Report of the College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences (CASHS)

Randall/Rapaport

That the 2006 Annual Report (July 1, 2005 to June 30, 2006) of the College of Arts, Social and Health Sciences (CASHS) be received.

Effective date: November 8, 2006

Senator Casperson wondered what steps might be taken to encourage more faculty interaction between disciplines once many faculty offices were redeployed to the new Teaching and Learning Building. Dr. Randall agreed that many University initiatives over the years had arisen from the informal interactions of faculty, and that strategies needed to be evolved in that area. Dr. Brunt noted that, with the coming transformation of the Graduate Student Lounge into a Faculty Lounge, such interaction might be encouraged.

8.3 January 2007 Senate Meeting Date

The Secretary noted that the January meeting date for Senate was set as Wednesday, 10 January. He pointed out that, with a Christmas break of almost two weeks between the December and January meetings, it was very difficult to schedule committee meetings, generate background materials, and prepare and distribute Senate meeting packages in adequate time. A one-week delay in the January Senate meeting would, however, allow the process to proceed more smoothly. He asked that, for 2007, the January meeting be set back one week, to 17 January; and he indicated that, if the change was successful, he would recommend a change to the Senate Handbook which would make the change long-term.

Motion: Nussbaumer/Mandy: That the January 2007 meeting of Senate be held on Wednesday, 17 January.

3.0 Business Arising from Previous Meetings of Senate

S-200612.03

Revision to Senate Handbook — Senate Voting by E-mail

That Section 3 (v) "Special Meetings" in the Senate Handbook be retitled "Special Meetings and Decisions by E-mail," and that a new subsection 3 (v) (iv) be added as proposed.

Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate

The Secretary asked that this Motion not be brought forward at present. That afternoon he had received a number of comments on the proposal which merited attention and discussion before a revised motion was presented to Senate.

4.0 President's Report

Dr. Cozzetto reported that, earlier that day, he had presented budget issues to a meeting of President's Council and Program Chairs, and that he would be giving a similar presentation to a "town hall" meeting of the University community the following day. A growing budget challenge called for dialogue within that community, and a mechanism had been set in place to develop a budget plan - including engagement with the Senate Committee on the University Budget. Additional input to the planning process would be sought from the Board of Governors at its meeting on 27 January 2007.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Dr. Brunt noted that, coming to future Senate meetings, would be an innovative proposal for offering academic credit for certain courses in Continuing Studies, and a proposal for offering dual High School/University credit for certain first-year UNBC courses. The University was actively looking for more international exchange agreements, and Senate could expect to see a number of these. Finally, in his view it was necessary to find ways to remove barriers to transfer to UNBC, and in that regard proposals would be coming forward.

The University's proposal on "Northlink" was moving forward, and more information was expected to be available early in the New Year.

Finally, Dr. Brunt reported that the "Campus 20/20" consultations would be completed by the end of the following week, and the outcomes should be made known early in the New Year.

Senator Mandy asked what was expected to follow the recent series of meetings on the Academic Visioning Initiative. Dr. Brunt said that the several reports under the AVI were now being assembled into a "penultimate phase" report, which would be presented to the Community in early January. Each reporting group had been asked to consider its recommendations from a budgetary perspective.

6.0 Question Period

Senator Casperson was concerned that, once he had submitted a grade sheet electronically, he was not able to access it electronically again, and he received no confirmation of its receipt. Senator Hemingway said that the Chairs experienced the same difficulty when they electronically “signed off” on grade reports. Ms Kielly said that she would investigate and report at the next meeting.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning

S-200612.04

Amendment to Breadth Requirements

Brunt/Randall

Effective date: September 2007

That the text under the heading “Breadth Requirements” as set out on p. 64 of the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar be deleted, and replaced in the 2009-2010 Calendar by the following text (underlined):

University Learning Outcomes

Graduates from the University of Northern British Columbia will demonstrate knowledge, skills and abilities appropriate for their degree in the following areas:

- Academic breadth and depth
- Analytical, critical, and creative thought
- Liberality, inclusiveness and an appreciation of diversity
- Personal growth, leadership skills and effective communication
- Engaged citizenship from the local to the global level
- Lifelong learning and intellectual development

Each academic degree Program, individually, is structured so as to address these outcomes.

...And that Academic Regulation 3 (Breadth Requirement) be deleted from the Undergraduate Calendar, the subsequent Regulations to be renumbered accordingly;

...And that the paragraphs headed “Breadth Requirement” as associated with academic program descriptions throughout the Calendar all be deleted – specifically, on pages 69 (twice), 72, 73, 75, 77,79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 102, 103, 104, 105, 109, 112, 114, 115, 122 (twice), 126, 129, 130 (twice), 131, 133, 134, 135, 137, 138, 139, 140, 149, 150, 154 (twice), 156, 159, 160, and 165;

...And that all other references to the Breadth requirement be deleted – specifically p. 71 under “Elective Requirement” in the BSc General Program;

...And that the Academic Programs, individually, (or, in the case of Joint Majors, in collaboration between the partner academic programs) will review the content of their programs and propose amendments - not later than December 2008 - that address the specified learning outcomes, for reference to Senate, in a manner satisfactory to the Committee on Academic Policy and Planning.

Dean Randall said that the matter of Breadth in student University outcomes had occupied a good deal of the Committee's time over the previous year and that, in addition to consideration at regular meetings, a Subcommittee had been struck to examine the matter in depth and it had been the subject of a special meeting of SCAPP as well. Over that time considerations had shifted from addressing Breadth in terms of disciplinary-based content to desired student learning outcomes. It was recognized, however, that the academic Programs would need time to define the implementation of these outcomes in the context of their own academic disciplines. Dr. Brunt added that a major element of the Academic Visioning Initiative would be working at the Programs on pedagogic outcomes, so that much further discussion of the matter was expected.

Proposed Revisions to Academic Regulation 38

Brunt/Mandy

That, on the recommendation of the Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning, Academic Regulation 38 b. (Examinations) in the Undergraduate Calendar be amended as follows (added or amended text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Effective date: January 2007

38. Examinations

- a. No final examinations may count for more than 50% (fifty per cent) of the total course marks.
- b. With the exception of laboratory, clinical or practicum-based final examinations, tests worth, in aggregate, more than 10% of the final grade must not be administered during the final week of classes. Major papers or projects must not be newly assigned during the last two weeks of classes. ~~Courses with laboratory, clinical, or practica-based final examinations may schedule such assessments or examinations during the final week of classes.~~
- c. Program Chairs may make exceptions to parts a) or b) of this policy in extraordinary cases. Such exception must be made before the first day of scheduled classes and have the approval of the Dean.
- d. Students are required to write no more than two final exams in any one 24 hour period. When a course has a final examination, it must be administered during the scheduled examination period.
- e. Final exams are no longer than three hours in duration. Exceptions must be approved by the program chair.

The Secretary indicated that the proposed wording change was solely in the interest of clarity and not for the purpose of changing the intent of the Regulation. It was agreed, as a "friendly amendment" and for further clarity, to insert the word "newly" before "assigned" in part b), as indicated above.

2007 – 2008 Sessional Dates

Brunt/Randall

That the Undergraduate Sessional Dates for 2007-2008 be approved.

Effective date: For inclusion in the 2007 – 2008 Calendar

Senator Jensen noted that, as proposed, there would be no break between the last day of classes and the first day of exams in the September Semester. Ms Kielly said that this had been necessary in order to allow an additional Monday class to compensate for Monday having been given as a non-teaching day in lieu of Remembrance Day. A sufficient number of days to process and distribute grades and other end-of-semester notices was still required, however. To set both the first and last day of exams back by even a day would be problematic. The previous year, when Friday had been taken as a day of in lieu of Remembrance Day, there had been problems in the discordance with the practice followed outside the University.

Amendment Mandy/Hyndman: That the examination period for the September 2007 Semester be set as beginning Wednesday, 5 December and ending Monday, 17 December.

Change to Calendar Description — BA General

Brunt/Randall

That the Calendar listing for the BA General be modified to include the standard list of courses considered Humanities and Social Sciences for the purpose of this Program, as follows (added or amended text underlined, deleted text ~~struck through~~):

Effective date: January 2007

The Bachelor of Arts (General) degree provides a broad education in the arts. Students are required to complete 120 credit hours including a minimum of 60 credit hours of upper division course work. Ninety credit hours (including 30 credit hours at the upper level) must consist of Humanities and Social Science courses. For the purpose of the Bachelor of Arts (General) all courses from the following areas are considered Humanities or Social Science:

- Anthropology
- Arts
- Economics
- Education
- English
- Environmental Planning
- Environmental Studies
- First Nations Studies
- History
- International Studies
- Northern Studies
- Philosophy
- Political Science
- Social Work
- Women's Studies

Coursework from Commerce, Geography, Health and Human Sciences, Natural Resource Management, Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Management and Psychology has been approved on a case by case basis depending on its content. Please contact the appropriate program advisor for a list of approved courses in these areas.

The minimum requirement for completion of the Bachelor of Arts (General) is 120 credit hours.

Breadth Requirement

UNBC requires students to gain a breadth of knowledge prior to graduation; this is accomplished, in part, by requiring that all students successfully complete one course from each of the Arts and Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, and Physical Science quadrants (see Breadth Requirement. Students need to ensure they have a course from each of the quadrants as part of their major or minor requirements or as part of their elective requirements, and that they have the total number of credits required for their degree.

Students admitted to UNBC with 45 or more transfer credits are exempt from the Breadth Requirement.

Program Requirements

Lower Division Requirement

Students must complete 54 credit hours of lower division (100 and 200 level) course work.

Upper Division Requirement

Students must complete a minimum of 60 credit hours of upper division (300 and 400 level) course work.

Minor Recommendation

Students are strongly urged to include in their degree a completed minor or a minimum of 18 credit hours from any of those programs within Arts or Social Sciences which offers a BA, or from the Philosophy or Russian Studies minor; i.e.: from the following list:

- Anthropology (BA program)
- Economics (BA program)
- English (BA program)
- Environmental Studies (BA program)
- First Nations Studies (BA program)
- History (BA program)
- Geography (BA program)
- International Studies (BA program)
- Northern Studies (BA program)
- Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Management (BA program)
- Philosophy (Minor program)
- Political Science (BA program)
- ~~Resource Based Tourism (BA program)~~
- Russian Studies (Minor program)
- Women's Studies (BA program)

Approval of New Degree — Bachelor of Fine Arts

Brunt/Wagner

That the new degree of Bachelor of Fine Arts be approved as proposed, the Calendar Description to be as follows:

Effective date: September 2007

Bachelor of Fine Arts (Fine Arts and Creative Writing), University of Northern British Columbia and Emily Carr Institute of Art + Design

Stan Beeler, Associate Professor, and Program Chair

Dee Horne, Professor

Karin Beeler, Associate Professor

Robert Budde, Associate Professor

Kevin Hutchings, Associate Professor, and Canada Research Chair, Romantic Studies: Environment, Culture, and Representation

Lisa Dickson, Assistant Professor

Kristen Guest, Assistant Professor

Maryna Romanets, Assistant Professor

Blanca Schorcht, Assistant Professor

Marian Scholtmeijer, Instructor

Program Advisor: Jennifer Payson

Website: <http://www.unbc.ca/bfa>

The Bachelor of Fine Arts degree is an interdisciplinary four year joint program between the University of Northern British Columbia and the Emily Carr Institute of Art + Design that connects creative writing and studio practice. Courses within the program offer students the opportunity to develop applied, conceptual, and theoretical skills.

The program begins in September of each year and the application deadline is February 1. Anyone needing information about the application process should contact the UNBC Office of the Registrar. Students who want help regarding the required courses are encouraged to contact the Program Advisor.

The UNBC/ECIAD joint degree in Fine Arts and Creative Writing is an interdisciplinary project-based degree that links creative writing and studio practice within a critical context. Studio courses within the degree ensure that students establish foundational skills during their first year, and that they build expertise within several different disciplines in their second and third years. The fourth year of study focuses on work in an independent studio environment. Concurrently, academic courses in theory and creative writing provide a theoretical basis of understanding that enhances and informs studio experience.

Although intended to support students in central northern BC, the unique character of this program may prove to be attractive for students from elsewhere in Canada and around the world. Such exposure will not only allow students to develop and combine a significant range of artistic abilities, it will also cultivate highly transferable skills. While many graduates may elect to pursue careers as practicing artists, others may choose to apply for graduate degrees in English or Fine Arts; to apply for professional degrees, such as law or education, requiring highly developed critical thinking skills; to seek employment in areas such as graphic design, web/computer design, and information based industries.

Students must take 120 credits, whether directly or by transfer, split equally between the University of Northern British Columbia and the Emily Carr Institute of Art + Design.

Students may elect to complete a portion of the required courses at ECIAD's main campus during the summer months. All costs associated with student travel and stay at ECIAD are the responsibility of the student.

Admission Requirement

Admission to the Bachelor of Fine Arts joint degree is competitive by direct entry to UNBC based on academic qualifications, portfolio, and available space. Priority admission will be given to students who meet admission criteria and apply by the deadline of February 01. Applications received after the deadline may be reviewed based on available space in the program.

Applicants from BC and Yukon secondary schools must:

- meet UNBC admission requirements, and
- have completed English 12 and other approved Grade 12 courses as specified in the Admissions section of the Undergraduate Calendar with an admission average of at least 67%, and
- submit a portfolio that includes ten examples of studio art and five pieces of creative writing.

Other applicants must demonstrate that they possess qualifications at least equivalent to the BC and Yukon requirement.

Transfer Credit

Transfer credit and/or advanced standing may be awarded for course work completed at other recognized institutions.

Graduation

It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that his/her degree requirements are met. Students must have a CGPA of at least 2.0 (63%) over all courses at both institutions to graduate.

Student Transfers and Residency

Transfers into the program are allowed as long as the prerequisite courses or articulated courses are completed and there is space available in the program. The deadline for transfer students is the same as all students: February 1. Regardless of the articulated courses transferred, students must complete a minimum of 30 credit hours of their program at each of the granting institutions (at UNBC and at ECIAD).

The minimum residency requirement for graduation is 30 credits at each of UNBC and ECIAD.

Senator Mandy pointed out that, whereas this was a degree program that would give equal weight to Fine Arts and Creative Writing, demand for the program was established only with reference to the Visual Arts. Dean Randall noted that there were few if any programs available against which a direct comparison was possible, and in that context the University was taking a risk. Nevertheless, it was well known that demand was strong in each program area separately, and based on discussions to date it was thought that the demand would translate to the combined areas of study. Programs such as this did exist at the Master's level. Senator Beeler added that the program as proposed would coordinate with media studies courses under development at present.

The Certificate is designed to prepare students for child protection practice with the Ministry of Children and Family Development. Primary focus is on students learning and practicing specialized skills for child welfare practiced in the northern and rural regions of British Columbia. However, certificate graduates will be well prepared to work in all agencies and locations that provide child welfare service. The Certificate consists of 30 credit hours. Admission into the Certificate program is limited. Students must establish their course of study with approval from the Chair of the Social Work Program.

Students will be required to undergo a criminal records search prior to being admitted. Refer to (Academic Regulation #19).

A maximum of 15 credit hours may be transferred from other recognized institutions into the Certificate program.

Standards of Professional Conduct

All students are expected to abide by professional standards as set forth by the Canadian Association of Schools of Social Work (CASSW) and the relevant Social Work Codes of Ethics. Violation of professional standards may result in suspension or dismissal from the program or the educational institution.

Qualification for Certificate

To fulfill the requirements of graduation, the student must:

That a new course, WMST 413-(3-6) - Topics in Aboriginal Women's Studies, be approved as proposed.

Effective date: Immediately upon approval by Senate

Comparing this course to FNST 413, approved earlier in the meeting, Senator Hyndman noted that, apparently, this course could be delivered by distance education whereas the other could not. Dr. Brunt said that he would inquire into the matter, and advise Senate at its next meeting which of the two statements was correct.

It was generally agreed to replace the "X" by "Seminar" opposite "Contact Hours" by "3."

Ms Kielly advised Senators that she and the Secretary had been discussing the appropriate way to represent, in the Calendars, courses that could be worth three or six semester hours of credit, anywhere from three to six hours of credit, or which were worth three hours but could be taken more than once for credit. They had developed a clear notation protocol, but there were some 70 courses in the Undergraduate Calendar alone that needed to be checked with the Programs to clarify exactly what was intended by the current notation before Senate could be approached by way of a motion amending the Calendar text.

4.0 President's Report

Cozzetto

The President reported that the Board of Governors would be holding a planning retreat on January 27, 2007 regarding budget issues surrounding the structural budget imbalances as discussed at the Town Hall meeting. Dr. Brunt would be meeting with the faculty association to provide an update, and further consultation would be undertaken after the Board meeting. Meetings had also been held with the CUPE, Directors, and Exempt groups to apprise them of the situation with the budget. Finally, Dr. Cozzetto indicated that the plan was to communicate outcomes to the University community directly following the Board meeting on January 27, 2007.

Dr. Cozzetto provided an update regarding the Northern Sport Centre and the Teaching and Learning Centre, adding that the Northern Sport Centre was 47% complete and was expected to be opened by September 2007, and the Teaching and Learning Centre would be completed in March. Dr. Cozzetto added that he had toured the TLC, and that it was a beautiful building.

The President noted that the Ministry had indicated they would be providing increased funding for an additional 2500 graduate spaces over a four year period, which will be funded to the amount of $20,000 per FTE. The distribution of the spaces had not yet been determined, but the President mentioned that he would be attending a meeting of The University Presidents' Council the following day, where this item would be discussed, particularly in relation to the parameters for determining the allocation of the positions. Dr. Cozzetto added that this incentive was important for UNBC as a research-intensive university, and that he would provide an update to Senate with regard to this issue at the next meeting of Senate.

5.0 Report of the Vice-President (Academic) and Provost

Brunt

Dr. Brunt followed up on the President's report regarding the budget, indicating that a meeting with staff would be held the following week. He mentioned that a website had been established for communicating information about the budget and receiving feedback. Dr. Brunt stated that the Senate Committee on the University Budget would be brought into the budget process immediately following the Board retreat, as would the Budget Councils. Dr. Brunt concluded with the statement that the budget process would hold significant implications for Senate, given the possible reduction in degrees, Programs, or courses.

6.0 Question Period

Senator Mandy asked Dr. Cozzetto whether the additional 2500 graduate spaces were for five years only, or in addition to the current base. Dr. Cozzetto responded that the spaces were additional, and that 900 of the spaces were redirected from seats the province had funded at the undergraduate level, while 1600 were new graduate FTE's. He added that the positions were required to have a research component to them, and that the University would need to make the argument that the Programs put forward meet these criteria.

Senator Mandy questioned what role the Senate played in the Academic Visioning Initiative, and whether anything would be brought to Senate for approval. Dr. Brunt reminded Senators that the Phase I report had been taken to Senate for approval, and that there were real implications for Senate when being asked to institute new Programs, in order to ensure that they fit within the Academic Visioning Initiative principles. Dr. Brunt added that the plan had been to have the "Embracing Change, Promoting Excellence" document completed and taken to the Board of Governors in January, but budget issues had taken precedence. Dr. Brunt concluded that the plans would be revised based on the new budget realities, and that the Phase II report would be brought to Senate.

Comments were provided and questions were raised with regard to the "report cards" which had been circulated. It was mentioned that there appeared to be inconsistencies in the reporting procedures, and the instructions provided and criteria used to develop the report cards were questioned. Dr. Brunt reported that he and the Deans decided on the method, and added that they recognized that no matter how the report was prepared, anomalies would result, and that the footnotes were therefore just as important as the data. Dr. Brunt indicated that those wishing to provide suggestions about how to improve this process could do so to the Deans. Dean Randall recognized that this was an imprecise tool, but was only one of several used to shape decision-making. Senator Hemingway asked whether it would be possible to be provided with a complete list of the caveats used in the footnotes, and Dr. Cozzetto responded that this was a reasonable request. Dr. Brunt added, in response to a comment regarding interdisciplinarity being "lost" in the report, that the Deans were well aware of these elements, and that, in future, a better job could be done with the metrics.

Action: Dr. Brunt to provide a list of caveats related to the footnotes in the report.
---

Senator Casperson asked whether SCUB intended to report to Senate more frequently than usual, given the situation with the budget. Dr. Cozzetto indicated that, from his perspective, SCUB would be engaged after the January Board of Governors meeting. He added that he would be meeting with SCUB on the Tuesday after the Board meeting, and that they may wish to report at every Senate meeting after that. Dr. Brunt added that SCUB was welcome to schedule their own meetings as frequently as they viewed necessary.

7.0 Committee Reports:

7.1 Senate Committee on Academic Policy and Planning

Brunt

S-200701.04

Calendar Description Change — "Admissions" Section and "Services and Facilities" Sections Continuing Studies Reference

Brunt / Annis

That new sections be added to the 2006-2007 Undergraduate Calendar: Admissions Section (p. 29), immediately following the paragraph headed "British Columbia Adult Graduation Diploma;" Services and Facilities Section (p. 37), immediately following the paragraph headed "Conference and Events Services," as follows (new text underlined); and that the program be overseen as proposed:
Effective date: May 2007

While introducing this motion, Dr. Brunt also introduced motion S-200701.23, a parallel motion which was put to the Senate Committee on Research and Graduate Studies. He pointed out that there was one major difference between the two motions, in that the approval process in the motion approved by SCRGS lay with Senate, while the process in the motion approved by SCAPP was delegated. Senator Macknak pointed out that allowing the approval process to reside outside the full Senate procedure would save time and ensure that Continuing Studies would be able to respond in a timely manner to opportunities arising. Dean Randall suggested that, if this procedure was adopted and was to later become problematic, it could be revisited by Senate at that time. Senator Macknak also outlined the benefits to be derived from offering continuing education courses for credit, including that it would provide greater access to courses for the public, and an opportunity for the university to count these courses toward FTE's. Dr. Cozzetto added that the University was facing several enrolment challenges, and that offering continuing studies courses to non-traditional learners was one of the major components of the University's long-term strategy for enrolment maintenance and growth.

It was pointed out that, other than courses designated toward a professional program, many of the courses in Continuing Studies did not have an evaluative component. Dr. Brunt responded that these issues would have to be worked out. Finally, it was questioned whether students taking Continuing Studies courses for credit would be eligible for access to the benefits received by other students, and Dr. Brunt responded that these students would be treated similarly to the students taking courses under the "Interest Only" category.

With regard to the SCAPP motion, it was proposed that the third sentence on page 3 of the document, which reads "In those cases in which the courses in question fall under the purview of one or another of the Program or School Chairs (Business-related courses for example), the approval of the Chair will be sought" be copied from the rationale and placed directly in the section outlining how the program will be overseen, and that the phrase "(Business-related courses for example)" be removed from the sentence.

In addition, concern was raised that the statement "the approval of the Chair would be sought" was insufficient to compel approval of the Chair. It was thus suggested that the word "sought" be changed to "required."
